TO RUSS-CONQUERED SITE

U.S. Plans Antarctic Trek

SOUTH POLE STATION, Antarctica (AP)—American explorers unveiled plans Saturday for a trek across the Antarctic that will blaze a new trail to the Russian-conquered Point of Inaccessibility—the geographical center of this ice-capped continent.

Jack Long, traverse engineer of the University of Wisconsin, said the route across the Point of Inaccessibility is one of two under consideration. He said the alternate would allow the first check on some mountain peak locations reported in 1911 by Roald Amundsen, the first man to reach the pole.

In either case, he said, the trek would cover 1,500 miles and for the first time would use the South Pole as the jumping off point for a surface traverse. Although the expedition is not scheduled to start before next October, preparations already are under way.

The Point of Inaccessibility, about 625 miles from the South Pole, is the most remote point inland from all coasts on the continent. It was reached by the Russians several years ago after a 3,000-mile journey over trackless territory from their base at Mirny on the Indian Ocean.

The Americans, however, are considering trying to approach it from a different direction, also over unexplored territory, then making a left turn into additional trackless territory and finally returning to the South Pole.

The alternate traverse would first lead to the Horlick Mountains in the quadrant of the continent facing the Pacific Ocean. Then it would make a right turn towards the Filchner Ice Shelf in the quadrant facing South America, and eventually turn back toward the pole.

Long, a veteran of five traverses, said the location of certain peaks on the route to the pole as originally reported by Amundsen still is open to question.

Can Drop Huge K-Bomb Anywhere, Russians Say

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet military leaders Saturday claimed that the Soviet Union has rocket warheads equivalent to 100 million tons of TNT and the missiles to deliver the superbombs to any point on the globe.

They asserted that the Soviet Union is superior to the United States in capabilities for both rocket attack and rocket defense and that the backbone of the Soviet fleet is missile-firing atomic submarines. But it was admitted for the first time publicly that there was a period when the Soviet Union was virtually defenseless against air attack.

The Soviet Union fired a nuclear device of greater than 50 megatons in strength Oct. 30. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said the Russians have developed a 100-megaton bomb—the equivalent of 100 million tons of TNT.

But this was the first time the Soviet Union claimed to have packaged the superbomb in a rocket warhead capable of being fired thousands of miles.

The claim was made by Col. Gen. V. F. Tolubko in the official military newspaper Red Star on the eve of Soviet Artillery Day.

Tolubko added:

"We can assure those across the ocean who like to go in for military adventures that our ballistic rockets have proved themselves so wonderfully that nobody has any doubts in their ability to lift and deliver any warhead to any point on the globe."

In another Red Star article, P. N. Kuleshov, a colonel general of artillery, wrote that "Moscow and the majority of the big objectives in the Soviet Union possess powerful rocket and radar defenses and a chain of airdromes for fighter planes . . . we have successfully solved the problems of destroying various rockets in flight."

Dominican Coup Feared at Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr. as leader of the Dominican armed forces raised fears here Saturday night of a possible coup by two other members of the Trujillo family to set up a new dictatorship in the Caribbean republic.

Official announcement by the government in Ciudad Trujillo that young Trujillo had resigned and left the country followed by a few hours a United States' warning that trouble was impending in the Dominican Republic.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in an extraordinary public statement warned that two members of the Trujillo family may be plotting to seize power and create a new dictatorship.

* * * *

"IN VIEW of the possibility of political disintegration and the dangerous situation which could ensue," Rusk's statement said, "the government of the United States is considering the further measures that unpredictable events might warrant."

Reports from Ciudad Trujillo said departure of young Trujillo from the political scene there was expected to create a political vacuum as dangerous as the one created when his dictator father was assassinated last May 30.

The son had been regarded as the force that helped keep the Dominican military from splitting into groups and scrambling for power after his father's death.

The reported existence of a plot developed from return to the Dominican Republic on Wednesday of Hector and Arismendo Trujillo, brothers of the late dictator. Hector was once Dominican president and Arismendo holds the rank of general. Officials said Arismendo is still believed to have a virtual private army loyal to him in the country.

The two men had been in Bermuda for about two weeks and the U.S. State Department thought they probably had left the Dominican Republic more or less permanently.

Young Trujillo had been cooperating with Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer in introducing political and economic reforms.

The two Trujillo brothers are known in the Dominican Republic and elsewhere as violent opponents of the restoration of democracy in

Carrier FDR Placed on Alert

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt was alerted Saturday, a few hours after returning from operations at sea.

Personnel were summoned back to the carrier early in the afternoon.

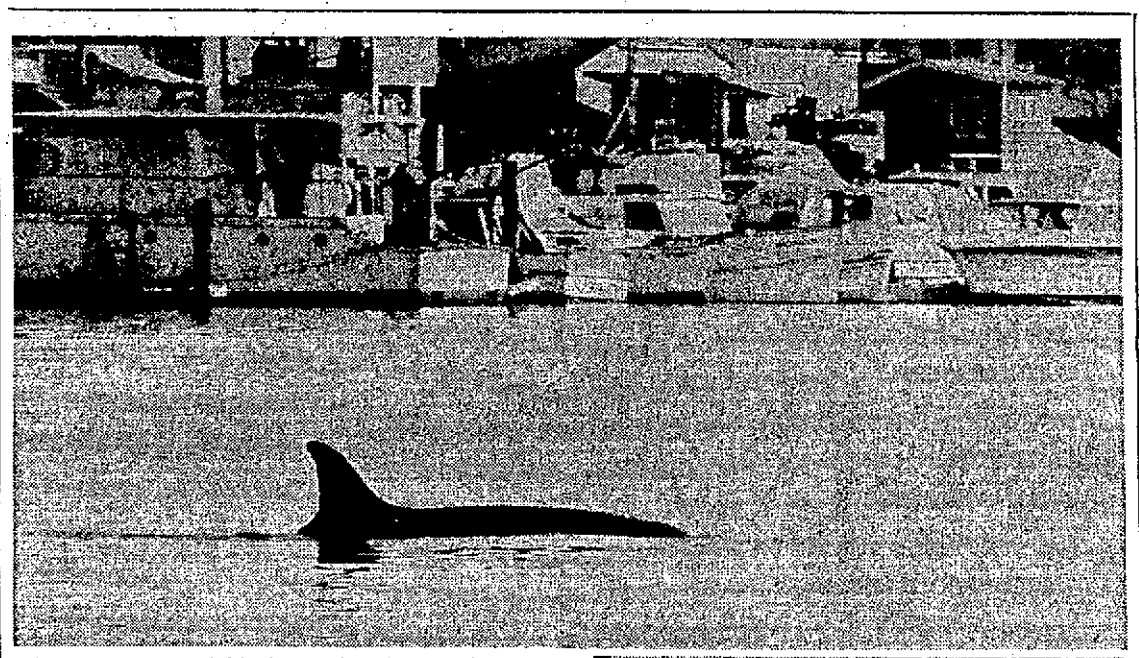

High Navy sources in Washington termed the action "normal training operations." However, the same sources indicated the alert was called by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Flexible Line to Be Urged on Adenauer

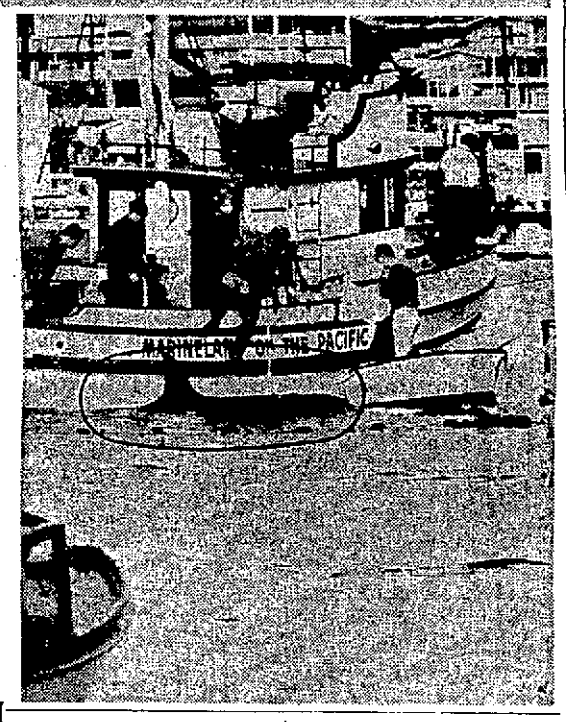

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to urge German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer this week to approve a flexible Western policy for negotiations with Russia on a Berlin settlement.

U.S. officials who reported this U.S. policy line Saturday were vague on details. Evidently it aims at readiness to make limited concessions to the Soviets if they scale down their demands.

Adenauer will fly here today from Bonn, Germany. Kennedy and his advisers are highly uncertain about Adenauer's mood toward the talks, which open Monday and may run through Wednesday.

FIRST LIVE CAPTIVE

Killer Whale Netted in Newport Harbor

By BOB GEIVET

A killer whale, believed the first ever taken alive, was netted in placid Newport Harbor late Saturday after a 24-hour period in which she kept small craft sportsmen at bay.

Captured by crewmen from the Marineland of the Pacific, the 17½-foot monster was loaded aboard a specially rigged truck Saturday night for an overland trip to Marineland. Her weight: 4,500 pounds.

The whale—tabbed Wanda temporarily—was docile as she sloshed about in a few feet of water on the truck's low-bed trailer.

Three times she had broken out of her captors' nylon nets in the battle that began early Saturday morning.

The Marineland crew, working from the 45-foot boat Geronimo, found they had help from numerous boats which carefully—and a bit fearfully—maneuvered to keep her in the north Lido channel.

* * * *

NOT EVERYBODY ASHORE however, was pulling for the crewmen as they drew the net tighter around the errant Wanda. When she broke out, cheers rose from thousands lining the banks. Every time a lookout on the bowsprit missed her snout with his lasso, or broke his line, she got cheers.

And when he fell in, there was pandemonium.

The seaman, elated over his catch after dozens of misses, let himself down from the catwalk into a rowboat where two other Marineland men had been closing the net.

All three crowded the stern to cinch the trap around Wanda—and the man went overboard. For the short distance back to the boat, he probably broke all swimming records.

Generally, however, Wanda was docile. She broke water all over the north channel as she dodged the craft closing in on her.

Her fate was sealed, however, as she tired—and the net drew tighter. Finally, she tangled and was drawn alongside the hunter craft.

60 Bands to Parade Saturday

The 21st annual All-Western Band Review, featuring more than 60 of the west's finest high school bands, will be held here, starting at noon Saturday.

Host unit will be the Millikan High School Ram band, under direction of Michael Pappone, announced Don G. Gill, executive director, who said some 6,000 participants will march westerly along Ocean Boulevard from Falcon Avenue to Cedar Avenue in a three-hour musical extravaganza.

Long Beach schools host the city-sponsored events on a rotating basis. They do not compete for honors.

* * * *

An evening program in Municipal Auditorium will include a concert by the Municipal Band, directed by Charles Payne, and exhibitions of baton twirling by Beverly Miller, three time All-Western majorette champion and a national titleholder, and her 13-year-old brother, Darryl, junior champion of California for the past five years. The Debonaires, state champion corps twirlers, also will perform. Music for a dance following the show will be provided through the Performance Trust Fund, American Federation of Musicians, Local 353.

TITO PROTEST IN CLOUDS GREETS JFK

"No Aid to Tito."

Opponents of aid to Yugoslavia's Communist leader, Tito, have staged several demonstrations in Southern California this week—including a previous sky-written message. The demonstrations began before a shipment of U.S. planes recently left California for Yugoslavia.

Russians Plan to Send Man Around Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — Reports circulated Saturday that the Russians plan to send a man around the moon next January.

It is not planned for him to land.

According to these reports, the "lunanaut" has completed his training and is at the Soviet space base at Baikunur in Kazakhstan waiting for the blast-off signal.

Speech Hits at Extremist 'Crusaders'

2,000 in L.A. Hear President Lash Vigilante Elements

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

LOS ANGELES—President Kennedy crisply attacked fanatical "crusades of suspicion" here Saturday night and depicted the crusaders as a fringe element of society seeking to escape responsibility through slogans and scapegoats.

Kennedy strongly endorsed Gov. Edmond G. Brown for reelection. "He's going to be elected," said the President, "because this state, above all others, must continue to move forward, and Pat Brown's administration is committed to progress."

The President told more than 2,000 at a $100-a-plate-dinner in the Hollywood Paladium that although the fanatics may achieve temporary success, "the basic good sense and stability of the great American consensus has always prevailed."

* * * *

IN OBVIOUS slaps at the John Birch Society, the so-called California Minutemen, the defenders of Gen. Edwin Walker and the current rash of Southern California vigilance meetings, Kennedy said such groups could best be answered with the "different view of our peril" which most Americans take "that it comes from without, not from within."

"There have always been those on the fringes of our society who have sought to escape their own responsibilities by finding a simple solution or a convenient scapegoat," the President said.

* * * *

"FINANCIAL crisis could be explained by the presence of too many immigrants or too few greenbacks. War could be attributed to munition-makers or international bankers. Peace conferences failed because we were duped by the British or tricked by the French or deceived by the Russians.

"It was not the presence of Soviet troops in Eastern Europe that drove it to communism, it was the sellout at Yalta. It was not a civil war that removed China from the Free World, it was treason in high places.

"At times these fanatics have achieved a temporary success among those who lack the will or the wisdom to face the unpleasant facts or un-

L.A.C. Says:

What Would Happen to Investments?

What would happen to their investments in event of a nuclear attack—and the investor surviving—is causing concern to many people. U. S. News gives some interesting predictions and safeguards investors might follow. Some of the suggestions are well worth while for the average investor regardless of a nuclear attack or other situation where his investment is in danger of catastrophic losses from fire, floods, hurricane or earthquake.

We doubt many owners of common stocks and bonds keep a record of certificate numbers. If a share of stock is lost, it means a long—and sometimes expensive—wait to have it replaced. It would be much more quickly done if the issuing company was given the stock certificate number.

In event of complete destruction by a nuclear attack or fire the safest place for such securities would probably be in a safe deposit box. But even such a location might be completely destroyed by a direct hit. But the company issuing the stock—far away—may escape destruction. If it is destroyed—according to U. S. News—the government plans to finance its reconstruction—as was done in England after World War II bomb destruction.

The report says there is no sense in converting such investments into cash and burying it. Strict rationing would follow an attack limiting usefulness of money. If cash was destroyed there would be no replacement by government. Saving and checking accounts would be guaranteed by government although they would be paid out over an extended period. The same protection is indicated for insurance policies, but a record of policy numbers is important.

Officials emphasize the importance of keeping financial records in survival kits—fallout shelters or other safe places. To be included: latest bank statement, bond and stock serial numbers, savings bonds, insurance policy numbers, deeds and mortgages. We would add family birth and marriage certificates.

In Britain, Germany, France and Tokyo where complete industrial plants, homes and business establishments were destroyed by bombers, the government has replaced most of them. This meant strict controls and high taxes on undamaged properties. The destruction was minor compared to what it would be in a nuclear war. But it is probable our government would follow the same pattern in attempting to protect investments of survivors.

It may seem a hopeless prospect. But it is only sound judgment for people to take all reasonable precautions. Many of the people who suffered losses in the recent Los Angeles area fires are now wondering how to replace securities they lost. A little planning and record-keeping would have saved many of them losses and embarrassment. Keep your records in duplicate—one in a safe deposit box and one in a fireproof box at home is good advice regardless of what disaster may occur to you.—L.A.C.

$160,580 Saved on Serum

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state has converted 38,160 units of unusable blood plasma into $160,580 worth of serum for shock treatment—and it didn't cost a cent.

The conversion into serum albumin was done by Courtland Laboratories of Los Angeles for nothing after the state agreed to permit the firm to keep gamma globulin, a by-product of the conversion, as payment. Gamma globulin is used to treat measles.

Gov. Brown said the serum albumin is necessary in civil defense work and praised Director Allan K. Jonas of the California Disaster Office for the deal.

The plasma was bought nine years ago. It cost $1,050,566, of which the state paid $520,283 and the federal government the rest.

Caroline to Get 'GOP House'

SAN JOSE (UPI)—An 89-year-old retired service station operator and life-long Republican, has built a pink and blue doll house for Caroline Kennedy, the daughter of a well-known Democrat.

H. L. Allen, who uses canes to support himself, spent last summer building the 3-room home. It is complete with wall-to-wall carpeting, foam rubber mattresses, drawers and doors that work, and a little blonde doll.

Allen said he spent a great deal of time on the house and had fun while doing it.

U.N. China Seat Delay Hit

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States has run into some resistance in its plan to delay the seating of Red China in the United Nations once more by having the General Assembly set up a special committee to make a year's study of the question.

Diplomatic sources said the resistance came from some countries that recognize Red China but are good friends of the United States.

They said these countries feel they cannot support the plan if it is no more than a dodge to win another postponement; they want to be sure that the United States will back the committee's recommendations even if it recommends that Chinese Communists replace Chinese Nationalists on all U.N. bodies.

The informants said they expect the United States or somebody else would introduce a resolution anyhow to set up a study committee.

They said they were almost certain there would be a proposal also that the Assembly declare a two-thirds vote to be necessary to change China's U.N. representation.

The Soviet Union has introduced a resolution to make such a change and argues that this resolution needs only a simple majority to get through the 103-nation Assembly.

Protestant Group Fears McCormack as Speaker

WASHINGTON (AP)—A predominantly Protestant organization Saturday said there is cause for "justified anxiety about church-state separation" when one surveys the record of Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

McCormack, 69-year-old Boston Roman Catholic, is without known opposition for election as speaker of the House next Jan. 10 to succeed the late Sam Rayburn.

A statement issued by Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, said his group's anxiety is not based on McCormack's Catholicism and added:

"It is a matter of his having been for many years the foremost champion on Capitol Hill of the Catholic Bishops' position on church and state."

The statement said McCormack has advocated federal aid for parochial schools in connection with school-aid legislation.

The Archer statement said:

"He has consistently demanded government support for sectarian schools; he was the leading advocate of the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican; he denounced the Supreme Court's interpretation of the separation of church and state in 1948; and he has been the sponsor of many bills in Congress conferring financial benefits upon his church.

"While President Kennedy and the Supreme Court have sought to uphold and maintain church-state separation, Mr. McCormack has opposed them."

Sukman Good Work Lauded

By BILL JONES

Ike Sukman—an immigrant from Poland in 1913—was honored Saturday night in Long Beach for his citizenship, civic activities and his personal covenant of belief in his fellow man.

Joint Defense Appeal is the fund-raising arm of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

SUCH NOTABLES as actor Everett Sloane praised Sukman for the "enormous strides made by Americans in rejecting prejudice to allow advancement by this nation."

The veteran character actor said in a personal interview that Sukman "reminds us all of the job done and yet to be done against discrimination."

He added: "It has been like fighting a fire and believing the fire is out. Unfortunately, there are still little flareups, little nests of fire going."

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the National Committee of the International Geophysical Year, was more blunt.

* * * *

THE UCLA physics department head, who won the Air Force's Exceptional Service Award, said Sukman's example points out to Americans that they no longer "can afford the luxury of prejudice."

Because of the increasing problems of mankind—such as health, food, air pollution, weather—"man will need the brains of scientists in small nations, minority groups," Kaplan said.

"We require the talent to survive," he said.

But, perhaps, the aging clippings in a newspaper library best tell the story of Sukman.

'LIVING HER OWN LIFE' NOW

New Beverly Aadland —Married Career Girl

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

"I open the show with 'The Lady Is a Tramp' and then I go into a sort of blues routine.

"That's what I'm best at, you know—singing the blues."

"I've got this night-club routine—it's a solo but I usually have a comic with me—and it's going over big in the East. They loved me in Boston and they loved me in Springfield.

"Nobody mentions Errol Flynn any more. Oh, you hear his name now and then, but nobody mentions him to me. We don't even mention his name in the show.

"I suppose people come to see me the first time because they know about him. But if they come back, isn't it because they like me for myself?

"I'm developing into my own personality."

* * * *

"We got married in Los Angeles on June 24, but I had known him for three years, you know."

De Leon, who just resigned as an architect for the Los Angeles Board of Education, reveals they are planning to live in the East, probably in the New York area. He's going to work there as an architect next month.

And how did they meet?

"Ho, ho," she laughs, "he tried to pick me up on the street. Me and this girl friend of mine were walking down the street . . . Western Avenue . . . and he came along with another guy . . ."

"I was with a friend of mine, and she was with a friend of hers," he interrupts hastily. "We said hello to them . . ."

* * * *

MRS. DE LEON laughs again, strokes her husband's hand.

"It's working out very well," she says.

"We're planning on a family . . . ultimately, not right now.

"We've made plans for four children, but every time Maurice sees a pretty baby, he wants more. It looks like I'm going to have to have about 12 to keep him happy."

Beverly Aadland de Leon was in Los Angeles Friday to be relieved of a guardianship that was imposed upon her by court order after she and her mother ran into a great many legal difficulties.

"I'm married now," she reminds, "so I guess we can be our own boss."

She wears her hair in the Lana Turner style, looping waves over one eye. She is five feet and six inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. ("My middle dimension is 20, but we don't talk about the others," the skinny girl adds.)

* * * *

OF HER MOTHER, Beverly says very little.

"How did you like what the court did for your mother?" a reporter asked her.

"Golly, I don't know—What was it they did?"

"Well, the court kept her out of jail."

"Oh, that's very nice, I guess . . ."

Then, sensing a sort of cool stillness that had come into the conversation, Miss Aadland adds:

"You know, I could talk for three weeks about this, but I think it's a lot better if I don't say a thing about it."

Likewise, she refuses comment on a recent book written by her mother and Independent, Press-Telegram staffer Tedd Thomey.

Miss Aadland—like other entertainers she sticks to her best-known name for stage purposes—won't discuss Errol Flynn any more, nor the days when she was his famous protegee.

"Those are the days that are behind me now," she declares. "I've got a life of my own and a career of my own now."

* * * *

"She's booked solid now through January."

She nudges him affectionately with her knee, and squeezes his hand again.

In Boston, she reveals, she was a smash hit at the Revere Beach Frolics, but had some disquieting moments. Because of her age, 19, the show's producer was arrested, but Beverly wasn't involved.

"They had people chasing me all over town," she recalls, "but I guess they never caught up with me."

The matter of her age was finally resolved, she says, at a high-level conference of politicians who finally ruled in her favor. Maybe that's why she likes "Massatoosetts" — that's what she calls it.

"Massatoosetts" likes her, too, her husband declares. "She's been back to the same club three times now—that's a record."

* * * *

WILL SHE EVER return to Southern California?

"Of course we'll be back here on business."

And how about living in this area?

For the first time, in a whirlwind-paced interview, she slows down. She looks at her husband, then replies:

"You know, I was born and raised in this area, and it is a wonderful place—climate and all that.

"But so many things happened to me out here. . . . I just don't know . . ."

Abruptly she notifies her husband:

"I'm starved."

Hand in hand, they stroll down the corridor of the courthouse. An appreciative whistle is heard. She glances back, laughs, and disappears into the new world of Beverly Aadland.

Judge Prosecutor's Son Dies of Leukemia

His son, Danny, 8, died of leukemia in Children's Hospital, Los Angeles, at 11:10 a.m.

For three weeks Stovitz, directing the prosecution in the trial of the Downey judge who is accused of soliciting bribes from young women, had scarcely slept.

BY DAY, he was in Los Angeles Superior Court, where he achieved a reputation as a relentless cross-examiner. At noon recess and at night he was at Children's Hospital, at the side of his son.

His associate in the prosecution is Bernard S. Crossman, a deputy district attorney who is continuing the prosecution.

By Stovitz' own admission, there will be no delay in the case.

His associate, Crossman, said:

"He plunged himself into this case. It seemed as if he had to get his mind off that hospital."

Strike Settled at Aurora Unit of Caterpillar

AURORA, Ill. (UPI)—United Auto Workers Local 145 Saturday approved a new three-year contract with the Caterpillar Tractor Co., ending a strike which has kept the Aurora plant shut for three weeks.

The plant will reopen Monday morning.

The new contract calls for two and one-half per cent or six cents an hour wage increase retroactive to Oct. 2, with the same increase in October of 1962 and 1963. The settlement affects 2,200 workers here.

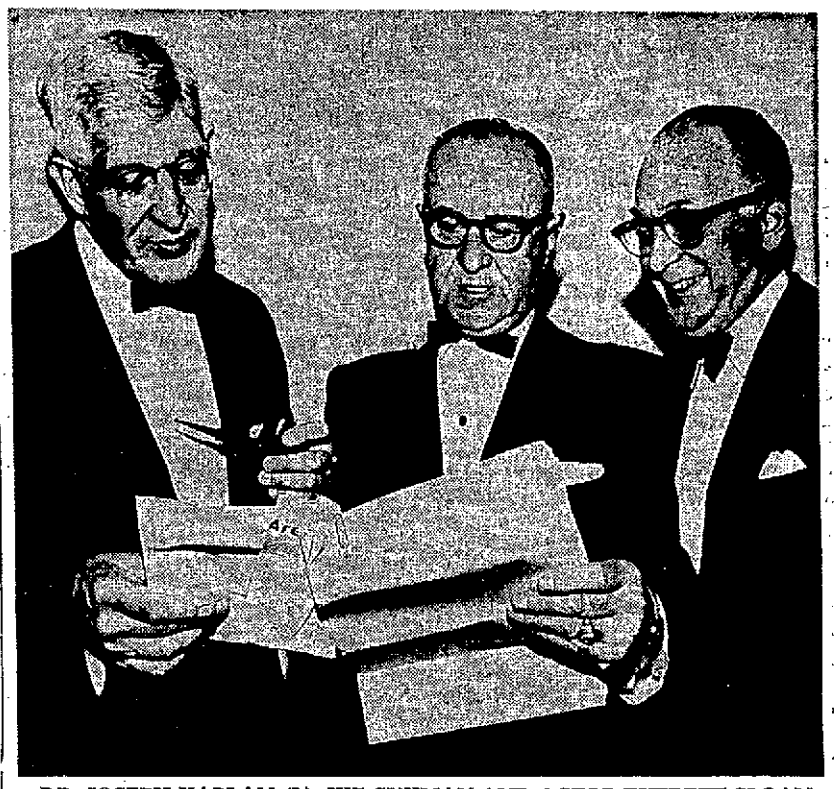

Never Too Late for the Army

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—The Army has directed an 80-year-old traveling salesman to show cause why he shouldn't be assigned to an active ready reserve unit.

George S. Gresham said he received a letter from the Army saying that records indicated he has an "unfilled military obligation."

Gresham has never been in the armed services.

"I am in good health and could dance a jig anytime," he said.

Kennedy Joins 2 Ex-Presidents at Rayburn Rites

BONHAM, Tex. (UPI)—The funeral of House Speaker Sam Rayburn brought President Kennedy and former presidents Truman and Eisenhower all together for the first time Saturday. Herbert Hoover, the other living ex-president, did not attend.

The President and Eisenhower and Truman sat together at the funeral for Rayburn, 79, in Bonham's First Baptist Church. They later joined together during brief rites at Willow Wild Cemetery, where Rayburn was buried.

Kennedy, Eisenhower and Truman sat together on the platform during Kennedy's inaugural last January but Saturday was the first time they had sat together and chatted as friends.

The President interrupted a West Coast tour to fly to the funeral of Rayburn, whom he spoke of affectionately as "my friend."

* * * *

HE FLEW in from Phoenix, Ariz., in a White House jet transport, landed at Perrin Air Force Base, 27 miles from Bonham, and took a helicopter to the Bonham municipal golf course.

Eisenhower came in by plane from Augusta, Ga. He also took a helicopter to the golf course. Truman came to Denison from his home at Independence, Mo., by train. He went by car during the morning to the Rayburn home to condole with the family.

* * * *

* * * *

AT THE cemetery Eisenhower and Kennedy chatted softly. Truman rode to the cemetery with the family. He joined the President and Eisenhower, sitting next to Eisenhower. All three chatted until the brief, final prayer over Rayburn's coffin.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 300 diplomats, government officials and Washington residents attended a memorial service for Speaker Sam Rayburn Saturday at the Washington Cathedral.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Gov. Price Daniel Saturday called a special election for Dec. 23 to name a successor to Speaker Sam Rayburn in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rayburn's Creed in Last Letter

WINONA LAKE, Ind. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn, in what may have been one of the last letters he ever wrote, told students at Grace College how they can best reach success in their lives.

The letter was dated Sept. 30, two days before Mr. Sam entered Baylor Hospital for treatment of cancer and just over six weeks before his death.

Rayburn wrote:

"Energy must go along with ability. There is not so much difference in the native ability of people because most of them have good common sense. It is what they do with it . . . ability without energy and purpose amounts to little."

* * * *

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., examined the letter and said he was almost certain Rayburn had typed it himself. It contained erasures and no secretary's initials.

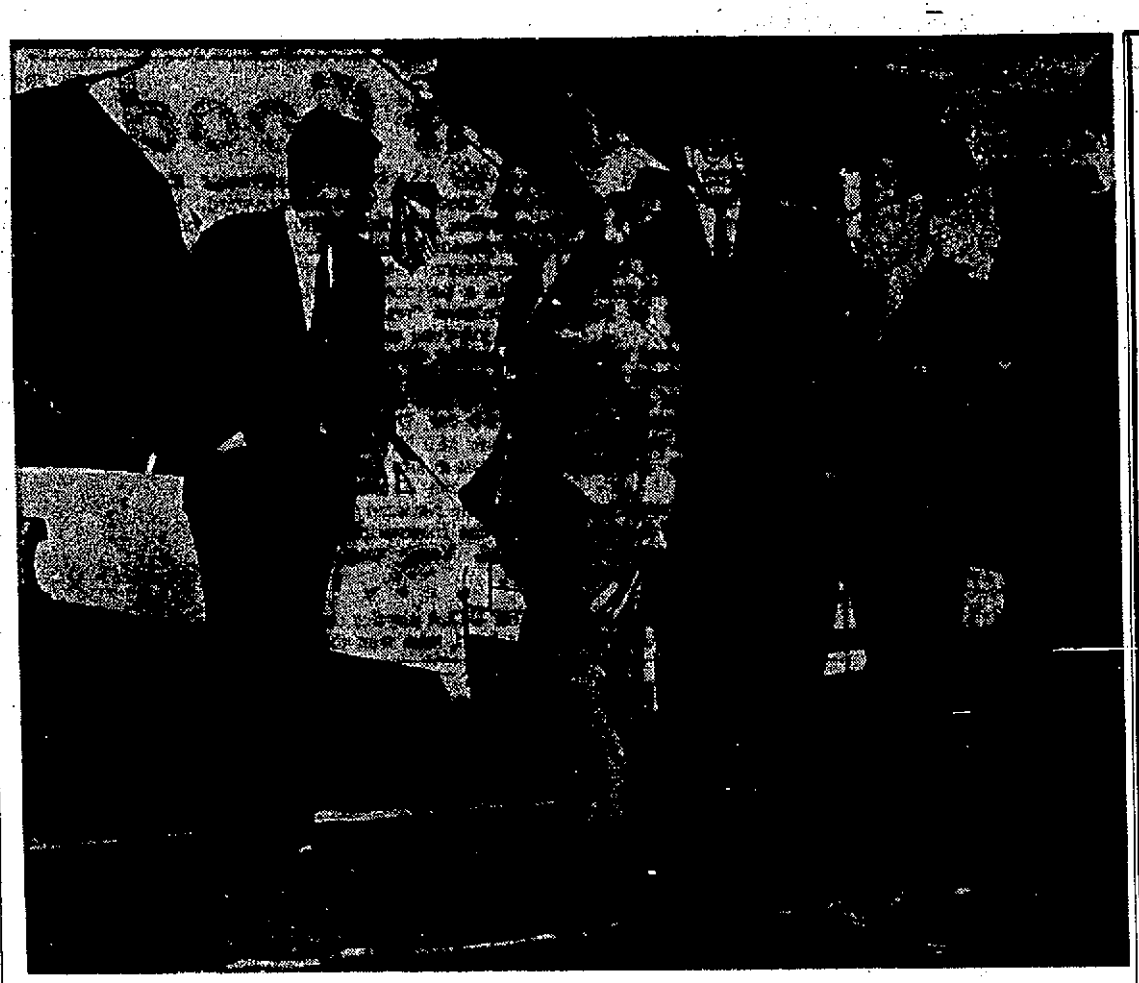

In explaining his love for this country, Rayburn wrote:

"Every American boy and girl should study United States history and government. I say this because I know the more you know about the United States history and government the more loyal you will be to it, because ther is no other government in the world where people have the freedoms that they have in the United States of America."

Wrote Rayburn:

"At an early date in life, a young man should make up his mind on the profession or avocation he intends to follow, and then bend every energy to that point."

He explained how he started running for office when he was 24 and was elected to the House at the age of 29.

BROWN WELCOMES KENNEDY

JFK Hits Extremist 'Crusades'

solved problems. But in time the basic good sense and stability of the great American consensus has always prevailed."

* * * *

IN THE LAST of three Western states speeches before returning to Washington continued, "Now we are face to face once again with a period of heightened peril. The risks are great, the burden heavy, the problems incapable of swift or lasting solution.

"And under the strains and frustrations imposed by constant tension and harassment, the discordant voices of extremism are heard once again in the land. Men who are unwilling to face up to the danger from without are convinced that the real danger comes from within.

"They look suspiciously at their neighbors and their leaders. They call for 'a man on horseback' because they do not trust the people. They find treason in our finest chruches, in our highest court and even in the treatment of our water.

* * * *

THEY EQUATE the Democratic Party with the welfare state, the welfare state with socialism and socialism with communism. They object quite rightly to politics intruding on the military, but they are anxious for the military to engage in politics.

"But you and I and most Americans take a different view of our peril. We know that it comes from without, not from within. It must be met with quiet preparedness, not provocative speeches.

"So let us not heed these examples of fear and suspicion. Let us concentrate more on keeping enemy bombers and missiles away from our shores and concentrate less on keeping neighbors away from our shelters.

"LET US devote more energy to organizing the free and friendly nations of the world, with common trade and strategic goals, and devote less energy to organizing armed bands of civilian guerrillas that are more likely to supply local vigilantes than national vigilance.

"Let our patriotism be reflected in the creation of confidence, rather than crusades of suspicion. Let us prove we think our country great by striving to make it greater. And, above all, let us remember that however serious the outlook, however harsh the task, the one great irreversible trend in world history is on the side of liberty and so, for all time to come, are we."

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY

Kennedy Tots Await Big Day

By HELEN THOMAS

President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy's son will become 1 year old on Nov. 25. Two days later, on Nov. 27, Caroline Kennedy, the best known 3-year-old in the country, will turn 4.

His mother was rushed to Georgetown Hospital for the caesarean birth. His father, then President-elect, had just landed at Palm Beach, Fla. Kennedy immediately flew back to Washington and was notified by radio enroute that he was the father of a "healthy, beautiful" dark haired boy of six pounds, two ounces.

John Jr. is not walking yet but will be soon. He crawls and stands in his crib.

THE BABY LIKES attention. When his nurse and friends are around he's likely to throw his rubber toys out of his crib to get attention. After the toy is retrieved, he throws it out again, squealing delightedly.

Caroline refers affectionately to John as "my brother." When he is taken to the park, she insists on pushing his perambulator.

Marchers for Peace Hail JFK

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A crowd of about 1,500 persons demonstrated peacefully in front of the Hollywood Palladium Saturday and then marched to a nearby parking lot to hear speakers support President Kennedy's peace programs.

The group, known as H-E-L-P (Help Establish Lasting Peace), included Los Angeles educators, professional men and Hollywood stars.

Said actor Martin Balsam, one of HELP's organizers:

"We're meeting to endorse the President's action program for peace. We stand behind his creation of a disarmament agency, his call for a ban on nuclear testing with proper controls and a strengthened United Nations."

* * * *

THE GROUP marched in twos and threes carrying placards that read, "Join the Peace Race," "The Meek Shall Inherit What Earth?", "Neither Red Nor Dead," "A Thanksgiving Wish—Peace."

In the parking lot behind Hollywood's Capitol Records building, the crowd heard actress Rita Moreno describe the effects of radioactive fallout on Japan.

"Mankind insists that the tests be stopped and this is their right," the dark-haired film star said.

* * * *

GARY MERRILL, the actor, said the world's differences must be settled by negotiation.

"We shall not be driven to change our ways by Soviet nuclear threats nor will they be driven to change theirs by our threats," Merrill said. "We must oppose warmongers both in the East and West."

their country.

RUSK IN HIS statement referred to them as figures "who were closely associated with the repressive measures of the former dictatorship."

"It appears that they may be planning an attempt to reassert dictatorial domination of the political and economic life of that country, threatening the recent gains of the Dominican government and people toward democratization," Rusk added.

The Rusk statement said that the U.S. government is ready to move at a moment's notice if "the possibility of political disintegration" in the country becomes a reality.

Direct United States intervention is possible, other officials said, depending upon what happens as well as on whether President Balaguer asks for help.

The possibility that Marines might be sent to the Dominican Republic if necessary was not ruled out.

* * * *

U.S. MARINES would be nothing new there. They were there about eight years, from 1916-24, to police the country and even handled customs collections and payment of the country's debts.

The Dominican Republic is within easy reach of powerful U.S. air forces in Puerto Rico and the U.S. Navy's important base at Guantanamo, on the eastern tip of Cuba. Carriers based in Florida also are within relatively close sailing distance of the Dominican Republic.

New Traffic Control System Speeds Autos

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Another solution to the problem of moving thousands of cars from one point to another with minimum delays is undergoing public tests near Detroit. Results so far look good, both to the users and the developers.

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—A new traffic control system being tried near Detroit has convinced most people who use it they make better time with fewer stops and more safety than they did before the system was installed.

The men responsible for the setup think so, too, but added that it is too soon to make a final judgment.

Officially known as the Traffic Pacer System, the device began operating experimentally Aug. 1 on a four mile stretch of Mound Road, a heavily traveled artery in nearby Macomb County.

Some 15,000 cars use the road daily between 6:30 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 23,000 cover the stretch from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

* * * *

BASICALLY the system consists of a number of overhead signs which tell you how fast to drive and a more than normal amount of the standard red-amber-green traffic signals which prevent intersections from becoming clogged.

If you follow instructions you should be able to clear the four miles without a stop even during heavy traffic. Under the old hit and miss system of lights which had been used, the average car could expect to be stopped by signals three or more times in the four miles during the afternoon rush hour.

* * * *

HERE'S HOW the system operates:

Approaching the start you see an overhead sign, about two feet by four feet, with lighted numbers, much like a football scoreboard. You are supposed to pass under the sign at the speed indicated, anything from 15 to 45 miles per hour, and maintain that speed until you reach the next sign. This will tell you your new speed.

If you have gone too fast, or too slow, you probably will be stopped by the next traffic signal. If you maintain the speed indicated, you'll sail right through.

A major difference in the traffic lights is that each of the nine intersections in the four mile system has a series of pre-signals, located about 200 yards before you get to the cross road.

* * * *

IF YOU clear these lights on green, you can confidently expect to clear the main intersection. If you get stopped, the odds are it will be at one of the pre-signals, leaving the intersection clear for cross traffic and allowing you ample room to pick up speed once the signal turns green.

The system was devised at the General Motors Technical Center, which is bounded on one side by Mound Road, and installed under an agreement with the Macomb County Road Commission. It is modeled on theories used by Dr. Wolfgang von Stein of Dusseldorf, Germany.

Harold Morrison, research engineer in the engineering mechanics department of GM's research laboratories said, "the Germans told us we could expect added safety and speed. So far we know we are getting better speed. Accidents have been negligible."

* * * *

AN EXTENSIVE series of test runs by the Michigan State Highway Department showed the average time through the Pacer System during the morning rush hour was 6 minutes and 25 seconds. With the system turned off and only the intersection lights working, the average time was 8 minutes and 10 seconds.

During the heavier later afternoon the Pacer average was 7 minutes 30 seconds against 9 minutes flat under the old method. Conforming exactly to the posted speed limits, which vary from 30 to 45 miles per hour, a trip would take 6 minutes 10 seconds.

The system operates automatically, with each of the speed signs changing after a predetermined number of seconds.

* * * *

RANDOM questionnaire samples among drivers using the road showed roughly three of every four in favor of the Pacer. And at least 60 per cent said they believed they were making better time with fewer stops and increased safety.

The system now operating is strictly experimental.

Avalon Casino Sets Events

Catalina Island's Casino Ballroom will open for New Year's festivities Dec. 30 and 31 and Jan. 1 for the first time in many years.

Visitors to the Island will be able to dance to the music of the Fletcher Henderson Band, directed by his brother Horace, on Dec. 30 and 31. The Rose Parade and bowl games will be projected on a giant screen in the ballroom on New Year's day.

Hilton Plans to Build Malta Luxury Hotel

VALETTA, Malta (AP) — America's Hilton Hotels International plan to build a 1.5-million-pounds ($4.2 million) luxury hotel in Malta as part of the program the organization is operating or plans to operate in Mediterranean countries.

The new Malta hotel will have 200 rooms and will be built on an as yet undisclosed site.

TOBACCO HOUND

Loot Tracked Down by Rebel and Stormy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Rebel, the German shepherd, is no great shakes as a police dog, but he's good at Sniffing out turkeys. And his colleague, Stormy, is a real tobacco hound.

Rebel and Stormy were put on the trail of three youths who broke into a grocery store and fled with bulging shopping bags. Rebel abandoned the trail after five blocks when he came across a bag containing a turkey, apparently abandoned by the thieves. Stormy continued until he nosed out a second bag, containing 36 cartons of cigarettes.

Brown Picks Committee on Housing

He named Edward P. Eichler, 31, Palo Alto builder, as chairman of the commission created by the 1961 legislature.

Eichler, a Democrat, is a member of Americans for Democratic Action and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The commission is instructed to find ways of providing better housing for the aged, agricultural workers, and low- and middle-income families.

It will make a progress report to the legislature next year, and a final report before the 1963 general session. It has $75,000 for its operations through June 30.

* * * *

THE COMMISSION eventually will have 15 members including four legislators, Assemblyman George E. Brown Jr., D-Monterey Park; Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland, D-La Mesa; Sen. Samuel R. Geddes, D-Napa, and Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael. The legislators were chosen by the Assembly speaker and the Senate Rules Committee.

Gov. Brown said he will appoint two more members later.

* * * *

The Rev. Sutton O. J. Evans, 49, minister of the Macedonia Baptist Church, Los Angeles, a Democrat and former chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Karl L. Falk, 50, professor of economics at Fresno State College and president of a Fresno savings and loan association. A Republican, he is a former chairman of the Fresno City Housing Authority and the Fresno City Relocation Committee.

Albin J. Gruhn, 46, of San Anselmo, president of the California Labor Federation AFL-CIO. A Democrat, he was chairman of the State Commission of Housing, which the new commission succeeds.

S. Jon Kreedman, 40, Beverly Hills contractor, Democrat.

THE RT. REV. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, 65, of Los Angeles, director of the Department of Health and Hospitals of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, also a former chairman of the old state housing commission.

Victor H. Palmieri, 31, of Malibu, attorney and executive of an investment company. A Republican, he has been a member of the Governor's Commission on Metropolitan Area Problems and a director of the Ventura County Economic Development Association.

Charles R. Samario, 46, Los Angeles broker and real estate salesman, Democrat.

William Sidell, 46, of Inglewood, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles County District Council of Carpenters, Democrat.

Red U.N. Home Deal Probed

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said Saturday he is investigating the proposed sale of a luxury mid-Manhattan apartment building to the Russian United Nations delegation.

Lefkowitz said he wants to determine whether the rights of investors who previously contracted to buy co-operative apartments in the building are being protected.

The building originally had been offered to New York investors for more than $1 million for co-operative apartments, but the Russians reportedly offered more than $3 million.

Crackdown on Dope

RANGOON (AP) — Burma is planning an extensive 15-year program designed to control the production of opium and the movement of narcotic drugs throughout the Southeast Asian country.

Police Shot Kills Youth in Fleeing Stolen Auto

WILLOWBROOK (CNS) — A California highway patrolman unintentionally shot and killed a 19-year-old boy riding in a stolen car in the Willowbrook area Saturday afternoon, the sheriff's office reported.

Refugio Mesa Pedrosa, 1621 E. 116th Place, was fatally wounded by a bullet fired by Patrolman Charles H. Nalley who had pursued the car for about two blocks in an attempt to stop it.

Nalley said he spotted the car as it made a boulevard stop on Compton Avenue and 120th Street and noticed it was on the "hot sheet."

The patrolman gave chase and pulled along the driver's side of the car at 118th street. He pulled his revolver and shouted for the driver, Michael Angel Cruz, 16, 12813 Mona Blvd., Compton, to pull over.

Instead, the youth made a sharp right turn and as the motorcycle shot past the vehicle the gun, held in the patrolman's right hand, fired.

The bullet passed through the right arm and chest of young Pedrosa, lodging in the door of the car.

Catholic Bishops Attack Rising Atheism and Apathy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Catholic bishops of the United States warned Saturday that atheism and moral apathy are "on the rise" in America.

They said every Christian has an urgent duty to combat this trend by making "open profession of his religious beliefs and moral convictions."

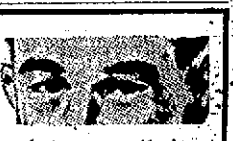

"The Christian today must have a profound sense of mission which will cause him to bear witness to his faith as the early Christians did," the bishops asserted in a 3,000-word joint statement issued at the conclusion of their annual meeting here.

"Like St. Paul, we face a world largely paganized. Like St. Augustine, we see the encroachment of barbarism. Like both, we must be dauntless in proclaiming Christ."

The statement, entitled "unchanging duty in a changing world," was issued in the names of all 228 members of the U.S. hierarchy.

It did not refer directly to the controversy over federal aid to parochial schools but it said the exclusion of religion from public schools has contributed to America's "moral decline."

NATION CD MINDED

Sweden Prepares for Worst

By CARL O. BOLANG

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The peace-loving people of Sweden, who have taken up arms against no one since Napoleon's time, today seem better prepared against nuclear attack than any other Western country.

At this moment Sweden is geared to make a complete shift, within a matter of hours, from peacetime to a wartime society.

The entire populace would begin moving to already prepared rural evacuation sites or into nuclear blast and fallout shelters, some carved into solid rock.

* * * *

DISORDER would be at a minimum because a trained civil defense corps is on duty in every square mile of the nation. Every citizen, if not formally trained, has been advised how to behave and what to do in case of attack.

Nor is there doubt in any Swede's mind about his government's intent.

"If war comes," said a pamphlet delivered to every home in the nation recently, "Sweden can and will defend herself. Every attack against the freedom independence of the country will be met by force. Every report that resistance will cease is false."

* * * *

WHILE SWEDEN has no atomic weapons, an attacker would have to reckon with jet planes of the world's fourth-largest air force roaring out of camouflaged granite hangers. Ships of the royal Swedish navy would steam out of camouflaged granite caves, ready for battle.

And an elaborate, painstaking civil defense program would be all ready for instant implementation.

The pamphlet referred to above spelled out emergency procedures for each family in case of attack. It was signed by Premier Tage Erlander and King Gustaf Adolf VI.

BACK IN 1944 when Europe was pock-marked with bomb craters, neutral Sweden passed a law making every able-bodied citizen between 16 and 65—man and woman, prince and pauper—subject to draft in the civil defense corps.

The law still is in effect, and today the active corps numbers 220,000 men and women.

About 150,000 of them are former servicemen above the age of 48, and about 44,000 are women.

* * * *

OFFICER training requires 60 days, noncommissioned officers train 10 to 14 days, and privates 35 to 60 hours. Training was stepped up last fall when a national CD school was opened near Stockholm.

Sweden, about the size of California, is divided into 25 provinces. Each has a CD director and staff, including a military liaison officer. The provinces in turn are subdivided into CD areas each with a trained CD corps.

These corps are organized into specialized units-rescue, fire, medical, police and protection. The protection units are on guard against nuclear, chemical and bactchiological warfare and are tied in with 14 laboratories and a number of recording stations dotting the country which are set up to detect fallout, gasses and the like.

* * * *

IN ADDITION, 20 motorized rescue units of 450 men each are being organized for placement in strategic spots across the country, ready to move quickly into bombed out areas. Five units will be stationed in Stockholm, three in Goteberg, Sweden's second largest city. The first two units are scheduled to be fully mobilized by next July.

Thus about 3 per cent of the population of Sweden is on active CD duty. The cost to the government is about $76 million a year.

While Sweden's elaborate CD organization began to take shape in 1944, its shelter program dates back even further—to the beginning of World War II.

* * * *

MUCH OF the country's terrain is of solid granite, and the government began at that time blasting out massive subterranean rooms. Today 14 huge shelters have been built in Sweden's nine major cities at an overall cost of $21 million.

All serve some peacetime use, if only as a parking garage, and many eventually will pay for themselves in full.

Sweden's largest community shelter—and probably the world's largest, too—is a 1,500-foot tunnel on three levels located in Stockholm. The shelter is leased to an oil company and contains a service station, a garage for 600 cars and a drive-in bank.

* * * *

THESE 14 shelters can accommodate more than 120,000 persons, and another 130 smaller rock shelters are planned to take care of an additional 400 persons each.

In addition, the country is equipped with more than 30,000 "standard" shelters designed to provide protection from blast and fallout. They are reinforced concrete structures built into every public building constructed since 1945—schools, factories, hospitals, apartment houses.

By law the shelters must be large enough to accommodate all the inhabitants of the building and strong enough to withstand the debris should the building collapse on top of them.

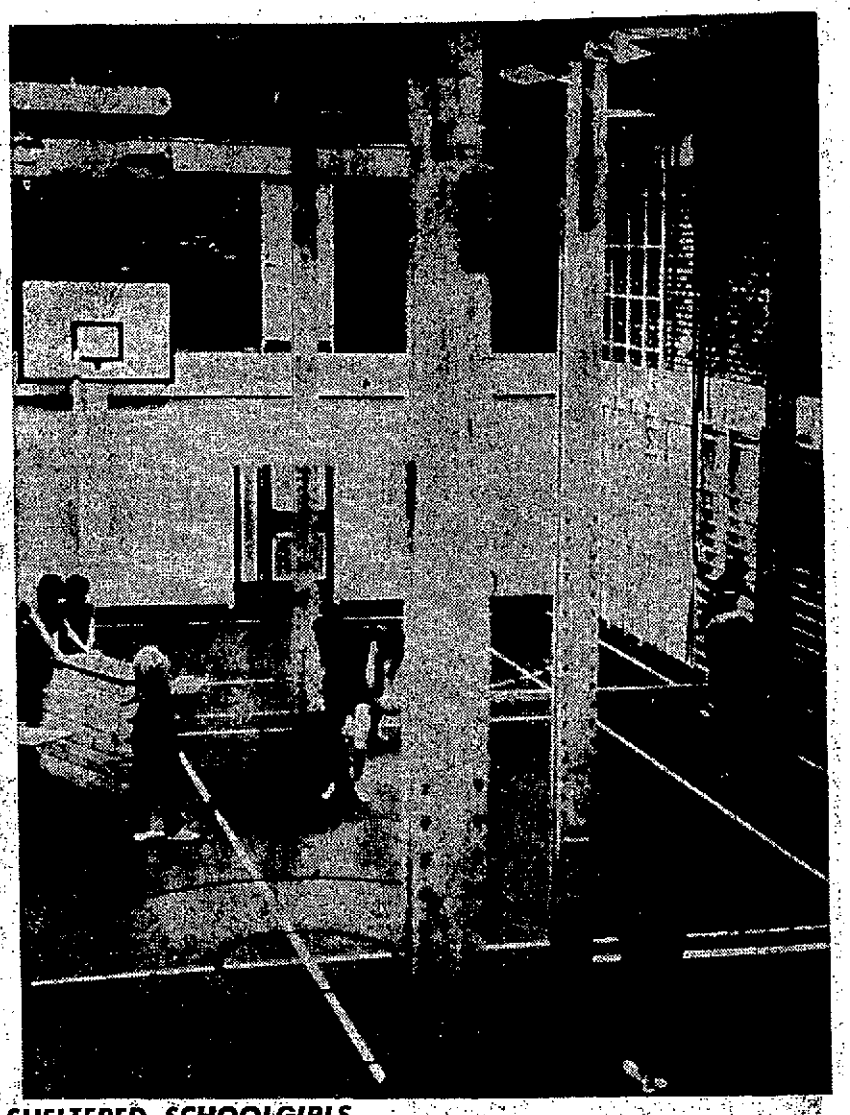

Combined, these standard shelters provide space for about two million persons—more than a quarter of the total population.

They're being built into new and existing buildings at the rate of 2,000 a year, adding 150,000 persons annually to the total.

Birch Bid Refused

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has turned down an invitation to a John Birch Society meeting. He called the right-wing group "antagonistic to the ideals of a well-ordered democracy."

Replying to a letter from Rep. John Rousselot, R.-Calif., a society member, Brown wrote in a letter released Saturday:

"This is also to advise you that it would violate my principles and the trust I hold as governor to attend meetings sponsored or conducted by radicals of the political left or right."

* * * *

THE GOVERNOR criticized the ideas of Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., founder of the society, as "absurd."

Brown concluded:

"As for your assumption that I am confused about the John Birch Society, I can assure you that it is absolutely clear to me from the mail I receive from members of your society and from the published statements of its leader that it is anarchistic in nature and antagonistic to the ideals of a well-ordered democracy."

UC Cancels Lectures on A-Survival

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The University of California Saturday canceled its series of lectures on how to survive a nuclear attack because of what one spokesman called a "disastrous lack of interest."

The university's extension division had planned on 1,500 for its first lecture here Saturday. About 30 showed up.

Kenneth L. Downes of the University said the program was to include such speakers as well-known nuclear physicist Dr. Edward Teller.

One announcement of the series was sent back with "this is madness" scribbled across it, Downes said.

Explosion Critically Burns Man, 46

A 46-year-old man was not expected to survive serious burns suffered in a gas explosion which rocked his hotel room Saturday night.

The victim, Benjamin D. Sadler of 117 E. Third St., was in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital. Doctors said he suffered extensive second and third-degree burns on most of his body. Police said Sadler lighted a cigarette and the match apparently ignited gas from a heater system.

Study Cites Waste of Racialism

ATLANTA (AP)—A bi-racial group reported Saturday that a study showed there was enormous economic waste in Houston, Tex., due to job and social disadvantages imposed on Negroes.

The Southern Regional Council said its report on Houston is the first of several employment studies the council will issue on Southern cities.

The Houston study is based on a survey by Art Gallaher Jr., associate professor of anthropology and sociology at the University of Houston. It says Negroes suffer from job disadvantages because of public schools that "deny them training for work 'not appropriate' in a community 'which regards menial labor as Negro work."

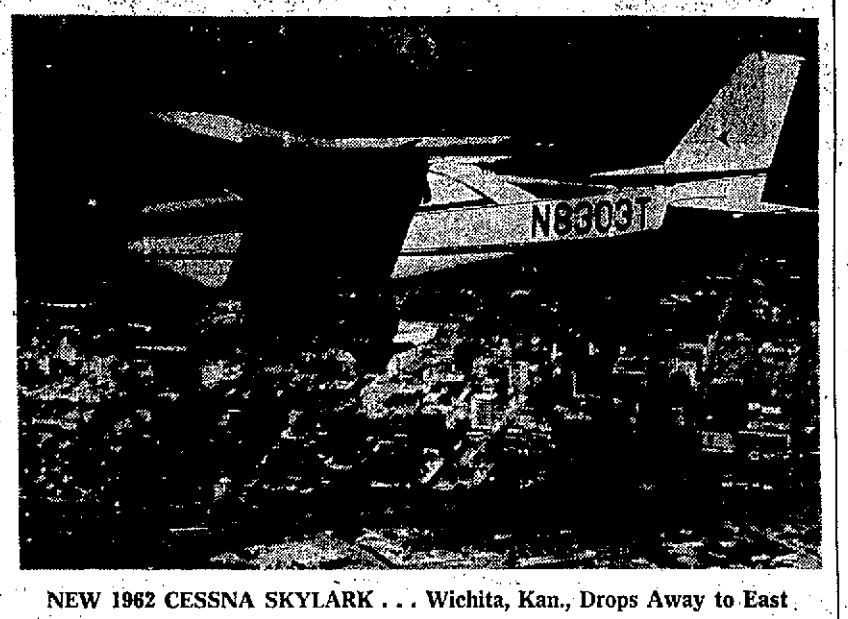

* * * *

IN ANNOUNCING the report, Leslie Dunbar, the council's executive director, said: "The country cannot continue to short-change itself in the development of skills and talent of more than a tenth of its population. Nor can we continue to educate Negroes for jobs which we refuse to let them hold."

Three case histories were cited by the study: "A Negro engineer consigned to work as a garage clean-up man, despite a shortage of engineers in Houston; a young man trained in chemistry, denied job after job as a much-needed laboratory assistant; a young woman, the only Negro in Texas professionally trained as an interior decorator, who could obtain even so much as an interview with only one employee."

Also cited were a few advances: "A Negro lawyer on the U. S. District Attorney's staff; some city process servers; several sales clerks; equal job opportunity and desegregation in several unions."

"Generally, however," the council announcement said, "the report shows Houston's Negro college graduates may expect lesser jobs and less advancement than white high school graduates, are denied advancement and are rarely allowed to work in trades and professions for which they are trained."

NEW 1962 CESSNA SKYLARK . . . Wichita, Kan., Drops Away to East

Low-Level Flight in Cessna Offers Thrills of Countryside

By BOB BECKMAN

There's a new thrill in cross-country flying, even for the veteran of hundreds of long flights in the biggest of airliners.

The thrill: flying in one of the new, improved 1962 models of four-place airplanes at heights just high enough to escape the thermals but low enough to enjoy the scenery.

This writer has flown in the largest jetliners at altitudes up to 29,000 feet and boasted of the beauty of the earth below.

* * * *

BUT IT TOOK a trip from Wichita, Kan., to Long Beach in a 1962 Cessna Skylark at an average height of 7,500 feet to prove that low-level flying permits a more intimate look at Western states' beauty than can be had from jetliner or auto.

At 4 p.m., Bill Norris, sales manager at Air-Oasis Co. of Long Beach; John Sumner, sales representative, and I stepped into a two-tone green Skylark just off Cessna's assembly line in Wichita.

A few minutes later, we were circling the heart of the Kansas industrial oasis and climbing slowly for the first leg of our hop to the coast—to Santa Fe, N.M.

* * * *

PILOTING WAS Norris. John spread out maps for navigational purposes. I was alone in the "back seat," crossed my legs in living-room ease and watched the checker board of Kansas and eastern New Mexico farmland roll along behind us.

The luxurious appointments of our plane, the quiet drone of the 175-horsepower engine and almost-unnoticeable slight wind noise made the few hours' hop to Santa Fe more like a short drive in a limousine.

Sunset came as we passed over Las Vegas, N.M., and soon Santa Fe, its lights blazing in the clear, desert night air, unfolded beneath us.

* * * *

THE OLD MEXICO friendliness of airport workmen as they tied our Skylark down for the night was quickly matched by the hospitality at a quaint, old hotel in the heart of the picturesque cowtown.

A brief walk before breakfast took me to the oldest church in the United States and along a sidewalk wide enough for only one early-riser to saunter past an antique-seeker' paradise.

At 9 a.m., again we were airborne and headed almost due west — over the great lava beds and on to the famed Petrified Forest and Painted Desert.

A FUEL-AND-LUNCH stop at Winslow, Ariz., gave us proof why so many flying enthusiasts pick on this high-altitude community for a weekend of relaxation.

Chasing the setting sun, we passed over Parker Dam and on into the California desert—playing tag with one of the Colorado River aqueducts carrying its precious water into the Los Angeles-Long Beach basin.

Then with nose unashamedly to window, we could see the more familiar sites — Palm Springs, Disneyland with its snow-capped alps and Long Beach Municipal Airport.

Brazil Boosts Orange

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP)—Brazil grew 8,825,200,000 oranges last year and hopes to overtake the United States soon as the world's biggest producer, says the Ministry of Agriculture.

Sales Tax Leads as Source of State's Revenue

CHICAGO (AP) — General sales tax collections furnished the greatest single source of revenue in 30 states during the fiscal year that ended June 30, the Commerce Clearing House reported.

The report said a record $4.5 billion in sales taxes was collected throughout the nation.

State income taxes were the major revenue source in 14 states; gasoline taxes were the major revenue source in 5 states, and 1 state, Louisiana, used severance taxes on natural resources as its major revenue source.

EAST BERLIN GRUMBLES

Trolley Breakdown Starts Dissent Flow

By WERNER ZWICK

BERLIN (UPI) — The street car comes to a screeching halt in one of East Berlin's deserted streets.

"Not again — how long will it take this time?" a disgusted passenger, accustomed to the frequent breakdowns of the Communist public transportation media, remarks.

"Maybe we'd better walk home," a woman says as all passengers are ordered to leave the vehicle.

* * * *

THE PASSENGERS, numbering about 30, gather under a lonely streetlight which barely penetrates the thick fog.

Some are standing in the street, which is not particularly dangerous in East Berlin, however. Only rarely does an automobile pass.

One man and three women form a discussion group at some distance from the other passengers.

"THEY BRAG about the victory of socialism and they can't even provide proper streetcars," the man says.

"Yes, but they sure know how to explode a super bomb—a lot of good that will do us," replies one of the women, who obviously got her information from Western radio stations.

"They just want to prove that they can do everything better, that's why they exploded that bomb," another woman says.

* * * *

"IT WAS a threat for the Americans, that's all," the man suggests in a lower voice, as another person approaches the small group.

"You can't be too careful," he says after the suspicious-looking stranger disappears, "one out of every ten people here listens."

"I just wish more people from West Germany would visit here, so they can see with their own eyes how miserable we live," a third woman comments.

IT IS A cold November night and the poorly dressed passengers are beginning to shiver.

Two other street cars have pulled up behind the broken-down one. Repairmen are busy fixing the machinery.

Finally, the conductor gives the long awaited signal to board the street car again.

"Until the next breakdown," the man says as he climbs aboard.

Moon Probe Engine Tests Successful

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Space Agency said Saturday that a new rocket engine designed for missions to the moon and planets has just passed a significant milestone with successful completion of rigorous preflight test firings.

The engine, known as RL10, is this nation's first liquid hydrogen-liquid oxygen power plant for space vehicles.

"This test," the Space Agency said, "marks a significant milestone in the development of the new engine whose performance is about 30 per cent greater than current rocket engines using conventional fuels such as kerosene.

* * * *

"THIS MAKES possible greater payloads or longer range for United States launch vehicles."

THE RL10 was developed by the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. In a recent five-day period at the company's West Palm Beach, Fla., research center it was put through 20 "captive firings" preliminary to actual flight tests.

Two of the new engines will power the Centaur, an advanced rocket scheduled for flight tests late this year or early next. Later on, clusters of RL10 engines will drive the second stage of a Saturn rocket being developed for missions leading to manned exploration of the moon.

* * * *

THE CENTAUR originally was scheduled for test flights in June 1961. But liquid hydrogen is an extremely skittish and violent substance. Early firing experiments resulted in explosions which delayed the Centaur project.

Apparently these ignition difficulties have been solved. After the recent crucial tests, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said, the engine appeared to be in good condition for continued firing and further tests.

Throughout the tests the engine developed its designed power of 15,000 pounds of thrust. Later liquid-hydrogen engines, also designed for use as upper stages of rocket vehicles, will produce 200,000 pounds of thrust.

* * * *

THE CENTAUR, "married" to the Atlas booster, is scheduled to make gentle landings of instruments on the moon and to launch probes to the nearer planets in 1963. It also will help put in orbit clusters of communication satellites similar to but larger than the huge Echo sphere now criss-crossing the heavens.

In the mid-1960s the RL10 engine will assist in boosting the Aeros weather satellites into equatorial orbits so high above the earth—22,300 miles—that the satellites will seem to stand still in the sky.

Coupled with the Saturn booster, a giant which recently went through its first flight test, the RL10 engines will play a vital role in early orbital flights of experimental versions of the three-man Apollo spacecraft.

Apollo spacecraft are scheduled, some time before 1970, to land three men on the moon with plenty of rocket power for return to earth.

Japan Leads World in Ship Launchings

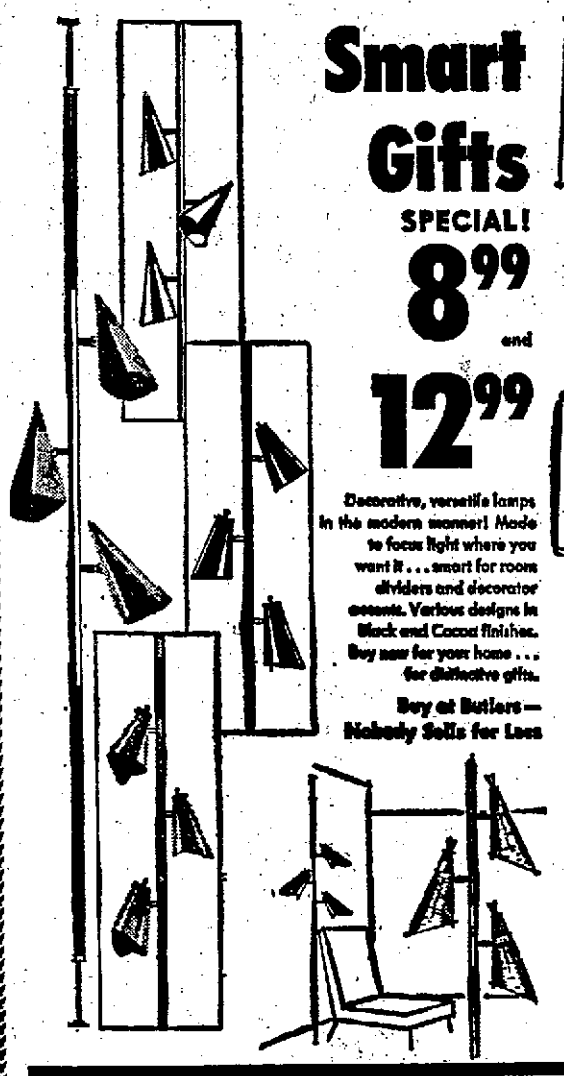

TOKYO (AP) — New ships launched in Japan during a six-month period, from April to September, totaled 1,280,000 gross tons, exceeding the 900,000 gross tons for Britain and 760,000 gross tons for West Germany during the same period.

This record gave Japan top world place for the fifth consecutive year in the tonnage of ships going down the ways during the April-September period, the Transportation Ministry announced.

Meanwhile, from April through October Japanese shipyards received construction orders totaling 1,060,000 gross tons, including 530,000 tons from foreign nations such as Liberia, Greece, the United States and Southeast Asian countries.

U.S. Suffers 2 Space Failures

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (UPI)—United States space scientists suffered twin failures Saturday in efforts in the program ultimately aimed at putting an American on the moon.

Most disheartening disappointment came at Cape Canaveral. There a 670-pound Ranger-2 spacecraft, launched earlier in the day, stayed in a low orbit around earth. It was programmed to probe half a million miles into space. Scientists said it was too early to tell whether the setback would affect plans to try to hit the moon early in 1963 with an equipment-loaded Ranger-3.

The second failure came at this Navy missile-test base, located 160 miles northwest of Los Angeles. A joint NASA-Navy statement said an air-sea search for an 18x23-inch Bios I (Biological Investigation of Space) capsule had been called off.

Due to an inaccurate launch trajectory, the scientists said, data were insufficient to pinpoint the capsules position accurately. The small capsule, boosted aloft by a 62-foot rocket, was loaded with biological specimens.

LOREN A. DAVIS
Aided by 4 Witnesses

Suspect Cleared

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A dental technician was arrested for questioning but quickly cleared Saturday in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Rosalind Bates, Los Angeles attorney and clubwoman.

Police said four witnesses established that Loren A. Davis, 46, was in North Sacramento Monday night, the night Mrs. Bates was slain.

"We can place him up to within approximately an hour of the time of death," said Asst. Chief Howard Jernigan after questioning Davis and other witnesses in the Sacramento County Jail.

"He couldn't be it," Jernigan added. Los Angeles police had asked that Davis, formerly of Burbank, be picked up for questioning. Mrs. Bates once represented his wife in a divorce action.

Can't Assess Rocky's Future

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said Saturday it was too early to know whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's prospective divorce had damaged the New Yorker's chances of winning the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

He told a reporter that the effect of divorce on Rockefeller's political future could not be assessed until after the 1962 election in which the New York governor will be seeking a second term at Albany. He said the state election should indicate whether the divorce was a political liability.

Goldwater Raps JFK 'Buddies'

ATLANTA (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., accused President Kennedy and his administration Saturday of what he called "government by buddy."

In a sweeping attack on the President and his top advisers, Goldwater charged the Democrats with inaction at home and indecision abroad. The administration's series of regional conferences were labeled as "sales talks with the Democrats trying to tell the country what they've done. But the people know what they've done," said Goldwater, "and they don't like it."

Blaze Hits Texas Bank

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A stubborn, spectacular fire burned for 90 minutes Saturday high in the Mercantile National Bank Building, one of Dallas' tallest. The 27th, 28th and 29th floors were damaged.

Firemen hurried up 29 stories of stairs to fight the flames in the 35-story building and rescue Miss Joyce Buckbee, 19, from the elevator she operated.

Here's blessed relief from tortures of vaginal itch, rectal itch, chafing, rash and eczema with an amazing new scientific formula called LANACANE. This fast-acting medicated creme kills harmful bacteria germs while it soothes raw, irritated and inflamed tissue. Stops scratching—so speeds healing. Don't suffer! Get LANACANE at druggists.

Canned Goods to Be Contributed

DOWNEY — Worshipers at the First Presbyterian Church will bring offerings of canned goods to their Thanksgiving services at 9 and 10:30 a.m. today. The food will be distributed to needy families by the church's Board of Deacons.

$15-Million 'Play Port' Projected

Plans for a $15-million marina and play-port development, almost a mile inland from Costa Mesa have been submitted to the city planning commission.

Named "The Keys," the marina will have nearly 1,000 lots, all fronting on the water and it will rival the nearby famed Lido Isle and Newport Harbor, according to Alvin Lester, spokesman for the Louis Lester Enterprises, developing company.

* * * *

THE PROPERTY will be dredged and filled with the ocean connection along the now existing Orange County Flood Control Channel.

The channel, according to Lester wil be widened to 180 feet and will extend 5,000 feet from the ocean to the marina.

Within the marina, a series of 28 channels ranging in width from 70 to 100 feet will make each lot a waterfront property.

The marina will have almost eight miles of waterfront and the lots will be 35 to 80 feet in width.

Lester said the company had not priced the lots as yet but that they would be leased, not sold.

* * * *

AFTER approval of the tract map by the city, the Lester Company spokesman said, the marina will be completed within a year. Approval is expected.

Also planned within the area is a nine-acre community development with shops and boating facilities.

The property was purchased from the U-Tex Oil Company, the Myers family and the Macco construction firm, currently building a housing tract which will overlook part of the marina.

Cystic Fibrosis Kills 2 Sisters; Third One Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strange malady has caused the deaths of two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James McFadden and a third one has the nearly-always-fatal disease.

Joan, 4, died Friday of Cystic Fibrosis. Believed to be a genetic defect, it is characterized by a body-wide thickening of mucous discharges.

Maureen, 2, died in April.

Pat, now 2, suffers from it.

OAKLAND (AP)—Mrs. Gail Duchene, 21 mother of four children, was killed by a shotgun blast in the face Saturday.

Her husband, Richard, told police he accidentally fired the shot when his wife tried to prevent him from leaving the house.

Sixty-Band Review Scheduled Saturday

afternoon competition will vie for the sweepstakes award and six top awards for units from schools of various enrollment sizes.

Largest school in this year's parade, as last year, is Bakersfield High, with a student body of 4908. Smallest school represented will be Parlier whose marching units make up 25 per cent of the school's 170 pupils.

* * * *

First-time entries this year include San Ramon in Danville; Buena in Ventura; Monte Vista, Spring Valley; Hueneme High, Oxnard; Adolfo Camarillo in Camarillo and Banning High, Wilmington. Entry of Banning marks first time in the history of the review that a Los Angeles-system school is wilingly participating.

Long-range weather prediction calls for showers the middle of the week, but clearing Friday and clear and warm for parade day.

Stove Fire Fatal

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mrs. Anna Benninger, 75, a widow burned to death Saturday when a kitchen stove set fire to her clothing.

Russ Chief of Rockets Replaced

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently has replaced its rocket chief, but no formal announcement has been made.

Artillery Day activity started Saturday night. Announcements listed the main speaker as "Chief Marshal of Artillery Sergei Varentsov, commander of rocket forces and artillery."

Up until now, thelisted commander was Marshal Kirill S. Moskalenko. He was appointed Oct. 26, 1960, following the death in an air crash of his predecessor, Marshal Mitrofan Nedelin.

* * * *

MOSKALENKO attended celebrations in the Central Theater of the Red Army and was listed simply as "Marshal of the Soviet Union."

He was present in Red Square at the Nov. 7 parade but took no official part in it.

Moskalenko has been mentioned in Warsaw dispatches as the man who helped Premier Khrushchev to overpower and arrest Secret Police Chief Lavrenti Beria in 1953. Beria later was executed.

S.D. Desaline Plant Ready

By LOU JOBST
Marine Editor

A sea water conversion plant will begin producing sweet water from salt in San Diego later this month.

The $1.6 million desalinization facility was built by the State Department of Water Resources at Pt. Loma.

The plant will produce a million gallons of fresh water daily at a cost of $1 per 1000 gallons. The water will be sold at 20 cents a gallon to the city of San Diego and will partially alleviate the border. city's acute water shortage, according to William E. Warne, water resources department director.

* * * *

THE PLANT, which employs the multistage flash distillation process, will be turned over to the Office of Saline Water, an agency of the Department of Interior in the Kennedy Administration.

Warne is enthusiastic over the success of the pilot project which took 10 months to complete.

"Once the cost factor is licked," he said, "cities along the coast may some day build their own conversion units to provide an unlimited supply of fresh water from the ocean."

THE POINT LOMA installation is the third such plant built under the auspices of the Office of Saline Water. Others are in South Dakota and Texas. Two more will be built. All will be operated as experimental units.

The total installed commercial saline water conversion capacity of the entire world is only about 20 million gallons per day. Forecasts are that by 1970 the total will probably have increased only to 100 million gallons per day.

Besides the flash distillation process several other techniques are under study including ones using heat produced by power stations and freezing processes.

Backyard Boat Fire Kills Man

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Kennedy Langfield, about 39, died at County Hospital early Saturday less than an hour after he had been discovered badly burned on the deck of his boat drydocked in his backyard.

Battalion Fire Chief T. J. Higgins said Langfield, a carpet layer, had apparently tried to escape flames which gutted the cabin of the boat, where he was sleeping.

Finds Big Pearl

ORTONA, Italy (AP) — The furious rash of skindiving activity hereabouts is easily explained: skindiving instructor Luigi Sanvitale recently found a giant oyster containing a black pearl the size of a pea.

DR. HARVEY G. WOLFE
Lectures on Red Spying

Lectures Announced at LBCC

Lectures on Soviet espionage, Africa and four continuing programs are announced for this week by the Long Beach City College General Adult Division. All are open to the public without charge.

Dr. Harvey G. Wolfe, second speaker in the current "Threat of Communism" series, will talk on "The Soviet Agent in America" at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the Long Beach City College auditorium.

* * * *

DR. WOLFE served in Army Intelligence during and after World War II and was also a U.S. liaison officer with Scotland Yard. He is the author of many articles on espionage and serves as a special consultant to business, industry and municipal law enforcement agencies.

Dr. Giles T. Brown, chairman of the social science division at Orange County State College, presents the first of four illustrated talks on Africa at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday in Dewey High School auditorium, Eighth Street and Locust Ave.

Other lectures this week:

LBSC Pair Fight Fungi in Jet Fuel

Scientists at Long Beach State College are searching for a way to halt corrosion in the fual tanks of jet aircraft.

The corrosion is that caused by microorganisms in the jet fuel.

To date, the researchers have found 61 different microorganisms in jet fuel.

The organisms are either bacteria or fungi. Some are involved in the corrosion process itself. Others provide food for the villains.

* * * *

PARTICIPATING in the research project are Douglas Aircraft, Boeing (Seattle and Wichita plants), Gulf Research and Development Co., the Naval Research Laboratory, U.S. Army Chemical Corps Biological Laboratories, the Aeronautical Systems Division of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and Esso Export Co.

Researchers at these various organizations are using a test procedure designed by Dr. Swatek to study the growth rate of the tiny organisms.

At State College, scientists are checking commercial fuel from various sources as well as fuel taken from military aircraft at Ramey Air Force Base in Costa Rica, Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii and March Air Force Base near Riverside.

RESIDENTS of Long Beach's east side are pretty stirred up about the issue of locating the Garden Grove Freeway link through that area. It will be the subject of a hearing Wednesday that will surely jam the Wilson High auditorium. Maybe they ought to move it to the Veterans Stadium.

The freeway alternatives were naturally a hot topic at a meeting of Al[illegible]os Heights residents the other eve, but there was one man there who found he had little choice among the proposed routes.

He discovered that one of them would cut off the back of his house. Another would cut off the front of his house.

He had a moment of hope when somebody came up with a proposal for a third route considerably to the north of the other two. But when he examined the map, he found that route would cut right through the middle of his business establishment.

And you thought you had troubles!

THE old adage about the shoe that fits was aptly illustrated in the aftermath of an item here the other day about a traffic violation.

This story told how a woman made a right turn on a red light without stopping but a traffic officer, right behind her, failed to give chase. Instead, he zoomed across the street and went into a service station rest room.

After the item appeared, three good ladies of the community called this desk, each identifying herself as the offending driver. One in particular said she was sure she was the one, because as she made the turn she saw an officer on a motorcycle and was amazed and relieved when he failed to follow and siren her down.

But neither she, nor either of the others, was the driver in question. Their offenses occurred at intersections far away from that at which the incident was observed.

Evidently, a lot of people are doing right turns on red lights without making the legal stop.

ONE wonders how much the cute little girls who lead the cheers and dance for the music at high school football games really know about what's going on out on the field.

A friend of mine who went to a prep game last weekend raises the issue. He was watching the girls (which is easy to do) when the cheer leader called for a yell that went: "Hey, hey; where? where? We want a touchdown, over there." The accompanying gesture pattern called for the girls to point, at the finish, at the goal line toward which their team was striving.

Two of the girls, he noted, pointed the wrong way on the first try, and a couple of others watched their companions to make sure which way to point.

A little later, after a fumble, the loudspeaker reported new ownership of the ball. Whereupon a sweet little prepper behind him said to a boy seat-mate:

"We have the ball. Does that mean we can make a touchdown?"

THE current trial of a judge in a nearby court on charges of offering leniency for love was bound to put the local gagsters on their mettle.

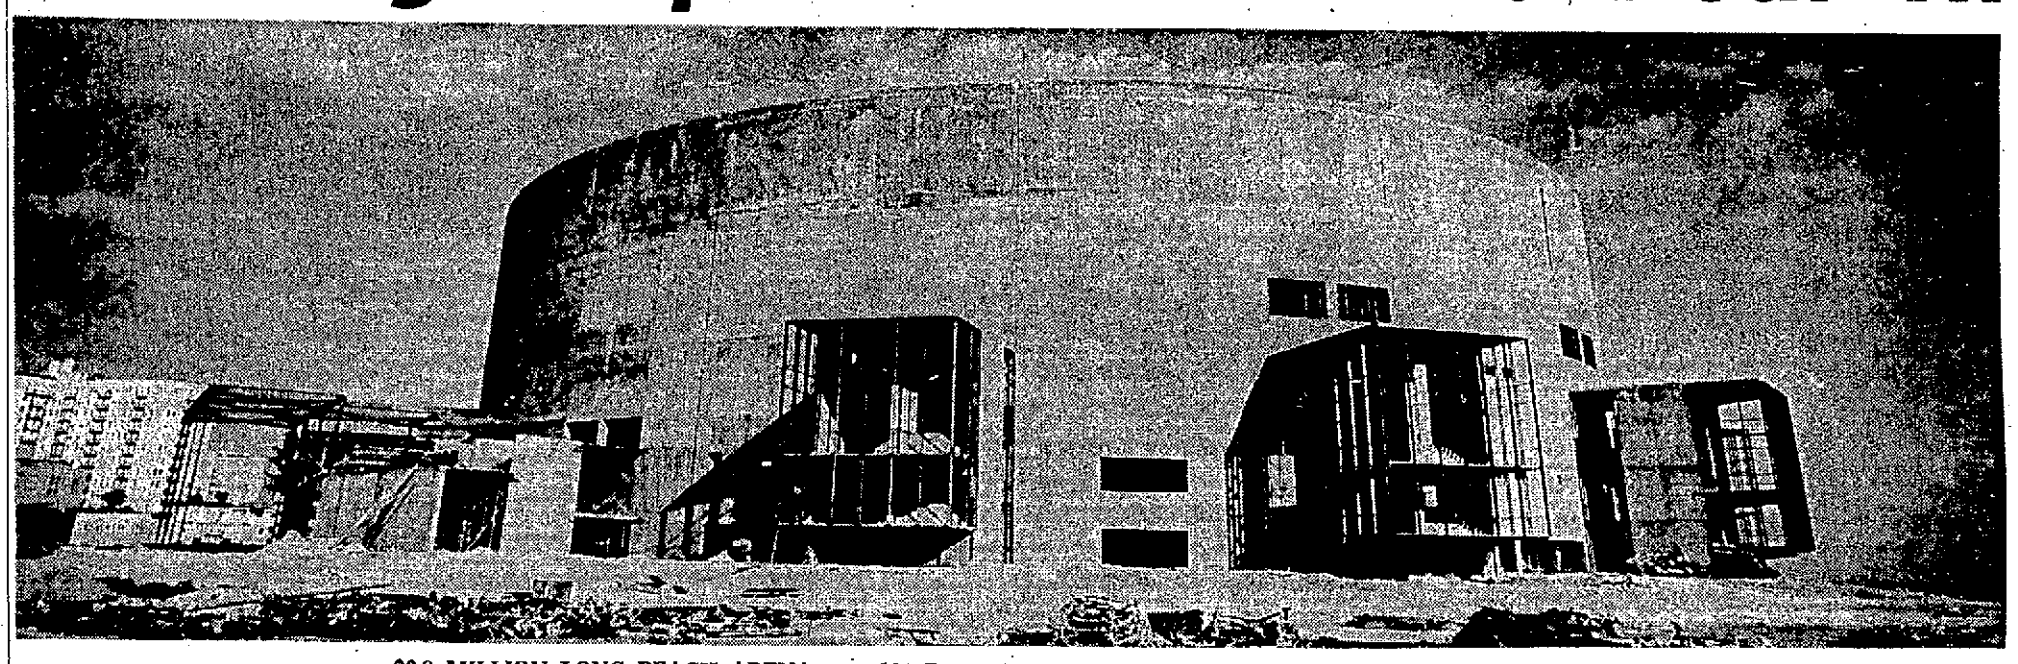

They've come up with a variety of offerings, with perhaps the best one going like this:

A—"You know, if what they say is true, that judge is the most ungrammatical man ever to sit on a bench."

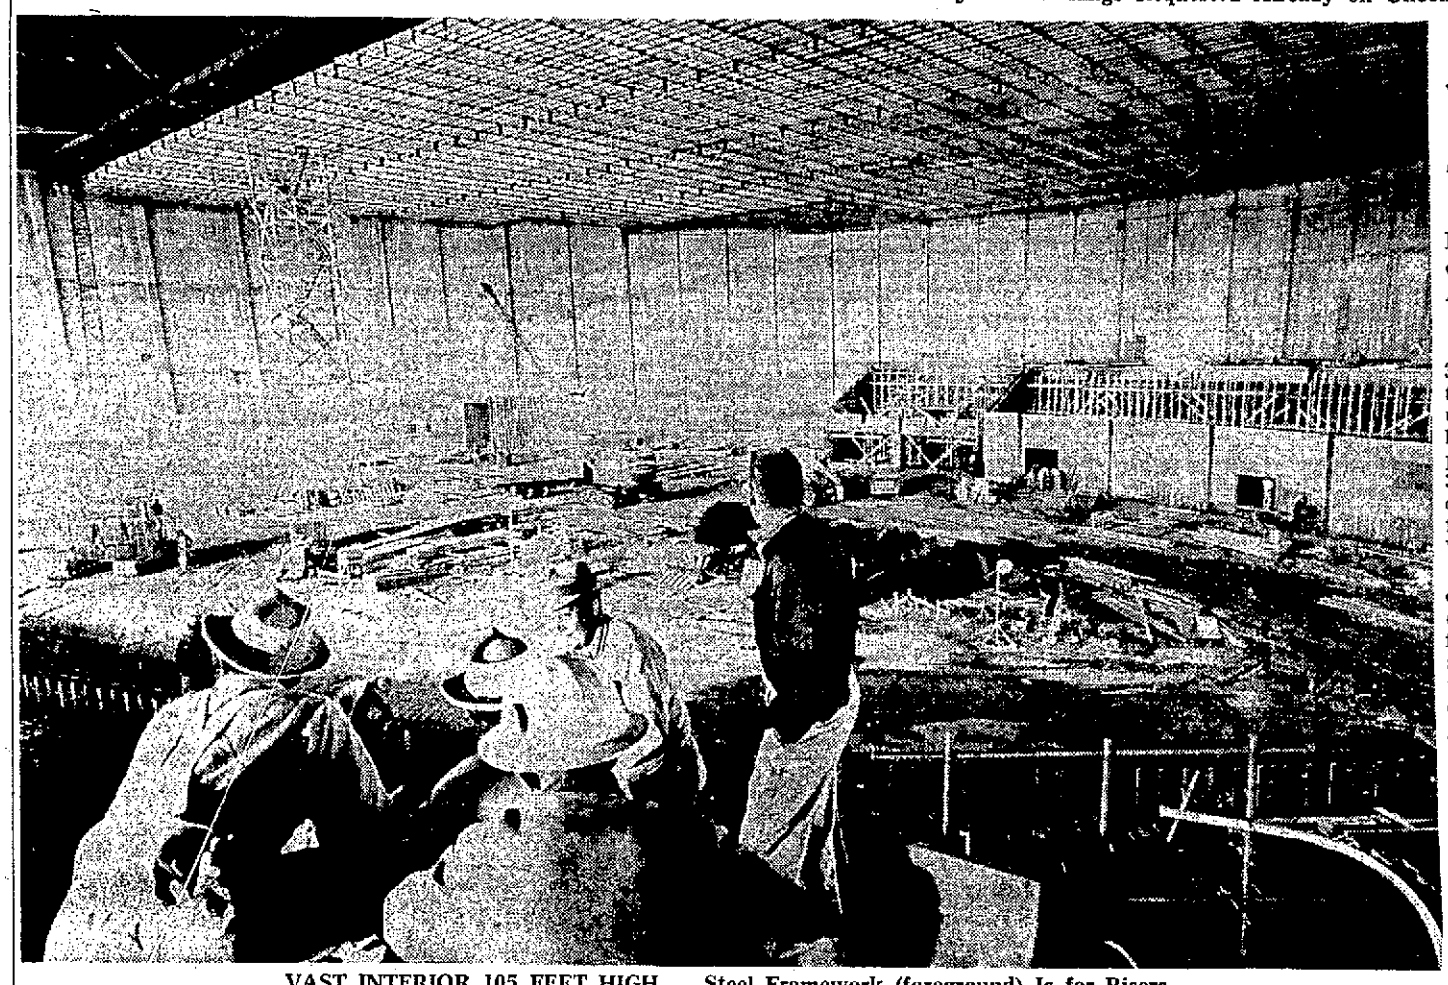

B—"How come?"

Booking Requests for Arena Pour In

$6.8 MILLION LONG BEACH ARENA . . . 181 Days of Boo kings Requested Already on Uncompleted Structure

VAST INTERIOR 105 FEET HIGH . . . Steel Framework (foreground) Is for Risers

Structure to Be Ready by July 1

Seven months from completion, the $6.8 million Long Beach Arena already has requests for 181 days of bookings, Win Hanssen, managing director of the Auditorium, Arena and Stadium Department, said Saturday.

Hansen said the 411 by 360-foot, 105-feet high elliptical structure is now scheduled for completion by or before July 1. Original completion date was delayed by 30 days due to a priority demand against the steel fabricator for a project at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Exterior construction is complete. The poured concrete walls are now being finished for waterproofing and painting. Exterior stair wells are in place. Metal roof decking is installed and fiber glass insulation work is underway.

* * * *

FIRST FLOOR corridors are poured as are first floor maintenance, equipment and storage rooms. Plumbing is in. First floor electrical conduits are in place.

Air-handling units for air conditioning are in place between the 75-foot ceiling and the 105-foot roof. Air conditioning ducts and overhead water pipes for the system are being installed now.

Workmen started Thursday to pour concrete for the chair risers in the 8,768 permanent seat balcony section.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH BOOKINGS for the first three months are being requested, Hanssen said demand has been greatest for the "busy" season Oct. 1, 1962 to May 1, 1963. It is for that 210-day period that bookings for 181 days have been requested. Among them is Ringling Brothers Circus.

Long Beach State College and Poly High School have requested the Arena for graduation exercises if it is completed in June. July dates have been asked for a car club convention, dry cleaners' show, decorators' show and China painters' convention. The International Beauty Congress is scheduled for Aug. 9-18.

Eight visitors may find themselves in narrow seats for Arena events, Hanssen said. Because of the elliptical shape of the building, various gauge seats will be used to accomplish even-ended aisles. This will be done by installing eight 19-inch wide seats; 3,124 20-inch seats; 4,821 21-inch seats and 815 22-inchers.

* * * *

PORTABLE SEATING will expand capacity to 11,218 seats for ice hockey; 11,932 for basketball and 15,000 for wrestling, boxing or stage shows.

Other features include two elevators, now on the grounds but not installed, to carry traffic between the main floor and mezzanine seating area; two escalators and 12 glassed-in stair wells. Some 50,000 square feet of space is provided inside the Arena in the 200 by 300-foot area, minus corners.

Chatfield AFB Chief of Information Flight

Major Edward N. Chatfield Jr., 4401 Graywood Ave., has been named commanding officer of the Long Beach Information Flight at the Long Beach Air Force Base on Municipal Airport.

MAJ. E. N. CHATFIELD JR. Commands Information Flight

The announcement was made by Colonel Claude J. Norton, commanding officer of the 8646th Air Force Reserve Recovery Group, parent organization of the information flight.

In civilian life Major Chatfield is a district manager for the National Automobile Club. He is a veteran of 21 years of active and reserve service with the Air Force. He served in both the European and Pacific theaters of action during World War II.

Driver Killed as Car Plunges From Freeway

John Contrades, 34, of 1419 Kurtz Place, San Pedro, was killed Saturday when his car plunged off the Harbor Freeway in Wilmington and fell 22 feet to a street below.

Police said the auto skidded 105 feet on the Harbor Freeway, crashed through a steel guardrail and then fell to Anaheim Street below.

The falling car narrowly missed landing on top of another passing auto on Anaheim, officers said.

Facts, Not Fervor, Guide to Selection of Freeway Course

HOMEOWNERS and others concerned with the alignment of the proposed Pacific Coast-Garden Grove Freeway link in an easterly section of Long Beach will be given a hearing this week by the state highway division. The meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Wilson High School auditorium will no doubt produce controversy. Otherwise it wouldn't be a typical freeway hearing.

Partisans can spare themselves some useless strain by starting with at least two assumptions: (1) The state intends to go ahead with the project, although actual construction is probably several years in the future. (2) The route will be determined by the California Highway Commission rather than any local agency, including the City Council.

TO BE PERSUASIVE, local presentations will have to accept the need for the traffic link, which is obvious to anyone who has been stymied in traffic on Pacific Coast Highway or Seventh Street; and they will have to be buttressed by facts rather than belligerent outbursts against engineers and officials who are coping with traffic strangulation.

The engineers have outlined five possible routes for the freeway segment between a point near Quincy Avenue on the west and Los Cerritos Channel on the east. Because of distance and cost factors, however, the choice appears to have narrowed to one of two alternatives. The public is within its rights in proposing other possibilities. To get much attention, the suggestions must offer some advantages as measured by these principal criteria established by the highway division:

1. The degree to which the alternate will fulfill both existing and future traffic demands in the area.

2. The initial cost of the project, including construction and rights of way.

3. The benefits to be derived by the community as a whole.

LATEST ENGINEERING and economic figures presented by state engineers for the two main alternates show:

Blue Route, generally along Sixth Street through sections of Alamitos Heights and Recreation Park, 2.8 miles costing $15.6 million, including the necessity of acquiring 152 family residential units and 16 other parcels.

Orange Route, southwest from Seventh Street, along the south side of Colorado Street and thence northwest along Appian Way, 3 miles, $13.7 million, 27 family units and 23 other parcels.

THE FIGURES appear to speak for themselves. Certainly the disruption of a well-established residential area and a recreation facility, as required by the Blue Route, is a legitimate cause for concern when an alternate through largely undeveloped land is available.

Thus far, the state engineers have committed themselves only to the extent of saying that both the Orange and Blue lines are considered feasible.

As the highway division points out, the planning of a number of privately sponsored improvements in the marina area makes it advisable to select a route at an early date. This doesn't foreclose the possibility of a second hearing. It does mean that citizens are on fair notice to get ready to speak their views.

DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S., Neutrals In High-Stakes Game

WASHINGTON — What do all these visits by foreign dignitaries—Prime Minister Nehru, among others—really mean? Of what value is the artificial "friendship" with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, and what do the lengthy conferences here with several heads of state in recent weeks amount to? What is back of it all?

LAWRENCE

These questions are in the minds of many people as they wonder whether the United States is being "played for a sucker" by so-called neutrals.

But the truth is that it is a game with high stakes. While mistakes have been made, the United States, under the leadership of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy, has actually proceeded with self-restraint, caution and common sense in handling most of the many delicate situations involved.

* * * *

TAKE, for instance, the problem of India. President Kennedy knows as well as anybody else in the West that India's delegation to the United Nations has been aiding the maneuvers of the Soviet Union.

American public opinion lately, moreover, has got a bit fed up with Marshal Tito, who also has been going along with the Soviet Union.

What has happened lately is that some recipients of foreign aid who have been cuddling up to the Communists have been getting the criticism they deserve, and have become so worried about it that they have begun to see that something must be done to allay suspicion in this country. It's the United States, therefore, that's now getting some of the buttering up.

* * * *

THE NEUTRALISTS know full well that it is the United States which dishes out the big money and that the Soviets are long on promises but short on fulfillment, while the conditions exacted by Khrushchev are far more onerous than the requests for cooperation made by this country.

It's tough going, to be sure, for the neutrals when they try to play both ends against the middle, and it's tough for the President and Secretary of State, who certainly cannot afford to break off with these neutrals just because for the time being they pursue mistaken policies.

It is a game that calls for skill and patience. It is coincidentally helpful that steady pressure is applied through openly expressed criticisms by the peoples of free countries like America.

'HERE WE GO AGAIN'

WALTHEIER

DREW PEARSON

Solon Rejected One Junket; Now He's On Swankier Trip

WASHINGTON — Congressman J. Irving Whalley, Pennsylvania Republican, announced recently that he was turning down a free junket to the Far East. This was quite a switch, considering the world-hopping of other congressmen, and some people couldn't believe it.

PEARSON

However, it appeared that Whalley was indeed a man among men. He stated in a news interview that he was passing up the Far East trip because he was "needed" at home. The Pennsylvania Republican also put out a news letter declaring that he would be "kept busy" in his district tending to the interests of constituents while Congress was idle.

What his constituents didn't know, however, was that their congressman at the very time of his announcement was making arrangements for a much bigger and swankier junket —around the world.

* * * *

LAST WEEK, without any announcement, he left quietly for Paris to attend the NATO Parliamentarians' Conference as an "observer" for the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Following this he will take off on a grand tour of Pakistan, India, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Okinawa, Japan and Hawaii—all at the taxpayers' expense.

Apparently, Whalley, a congressional freshman, figured he had better get in a junket while the getting was good. He may be redistricted out of office next year.

Meanwhile he should send a telegram of condolence to the families of the 74 recruits killed in Richmond, Va., when ferried by the Defense Department in a 15-year-old plane.

GNARLED elder statesman Konrad Adenauer confers with President Kennedy this week regarding the city which could set the world on fire. He has been looking over Kennedy's shoulder for weeks, giving him long-distance cues on Berlin. Now he will talk to Kennedy about Berlin face-to-face.

Undoubtedly, history will record Adenauer as one of the great men of the post-war period. He took the war-ravaged republic of West Germany, led it to a miraculous comeback, required it to pay reparations to Israel for the 6 million Jews murdered in Nazi gas chambers, has done his best to wipe out anti-Semitism, and built a new, virile democracy in place of a sordid dictatorship.

However, all men are mortal and what some of Germany's current allies and eastern neighbors worry about is what happens after Adenauer.

* * * *

ALREADY there has been a move toward reviving German militarism that worries Germans themselves. There has also been an increase in outcroppings of Nazism. Here are a few telltale signs:

1. This month a Yugoslav official who had killed Nazi troops occupying Yugoslavia during World War II was arrested as a war criminal while traveling through Germany. This was equivalent to arresting Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota who three times parachuted into Yugoslavia during the war to conduct undercover war against Nazis for the U.S. Army.

After Chancellor Adenauer heard of the arrest, the Yugoslav official was released. But some people are asking what happens after Adenauer.

2. Gen. Friedrich Foertsch, the Nazi commander at Leningrad, was given 25 years as a war criminal after the war. His siege of Leningrad was one of the cruelest of the war, with half a million Russians dying of starvation.

Premier Khrushchev finally released him from a Russian war crimes prison on the promise of the West German government that he would not be permitted to participate in any military role in the future.

3. Various meetings of Germans have been held proposing that the Sudetenland, now part of Czechoslovakia, be returned to Germany. It was Hitler's march into the Sudetenland which helped precipitate World War II. There has also been discussion among some Germans of returning Upper Silesia, now part of Poland, to Germany.

These factors aren't usually mentioned when a settlement of Berlin is discussed. But they are very important and very much in the background.

NOTE—New Foreign Minister Schroder, who is accompanying Adenauer to Washington, was once a member of the Nazi party but is not considered pro-Nazi. He joined the party in 1933, the year Hitler came into power, because as a young lawyer it was considered necessary to join to get some law practice. He left the party in 1941 when he married a girl partly Jewish.

IT DOESN'T pay to carry out federal government orders on school integration—if you want to get contracts from the federal government. This is what Lloyd Rittner, former president of the New Orleans school board, has discovered in dealing with the National Space Agency.

When he was head of the New Orleans school board, Rittner got all sorts of criticism from his fellow citizens for insisting that a federal court order for school integration be obeyed. He also got a threatening letter from Martin Gurtler, head of the White Citizens' Council, warning that he would not get any more contracts from either him, Gurtler or the government. Gurtler is a big contractor and Rittner depends on subcontracts for his company.

Last month the National Space Agency gave Gurtler, the man who opposed integration, a very profitable $700,000 contract to renovate the Saturn rocket plant in New Orleans — even though two other companies submitted lower bids. Gurtler promptly froze out Rittner.

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS

Famous Bathtub Hoax

Q. What was the famous bathtub hoax? A. K.

A. Late in 1917 Henry L. Mencken wrote a newspaper article in which he described the introduction of the first bathtub into the United States in a fascinating story which was nevertheless made up "out of whole cloth." He told how laws were passed against the bathtub, how it was regarded as dangerous, wicked and unnecessary. Unfortunately the story was widely reprinted, even in serious journals, and still persists, despite the fact that Mencken admitted his hoax in a syndicated column in 1926 and again in the following year.

'I'll Sue the Governor,' Said Mrs. Becker, and Did—Twice!

WHEN ADRIENNE BECKER hosts Democratic State Central Committee members at her home tonight she will, by her own admission, be one step removed from a political lame duck. By design and wish she'll be a dead duck.

Thus, the only woman in recallable history to have sued two California governors in pursuit of what she believed to be the best interests of her party, will cash in her political chips.

"I am resigning and retiring from all forms of political activity," she said, "because of obligations to my family. My husband has been ill and there are other family problems I must attend to."

The resignation immediately involves her cochairmanship, with Dick Cartwright, of the 18th District State Central Committee, membership on the advisory board of the Democratic Women's Forum, member of the executive board of the California Democratic Council and of the 44th Assembly District Council, and her role as founder and parliamentarian of the New Frontier Democratic Club.

REPUBLICANS printed up some Knight envelopes in one of those "Democrats for Knight" causes. They bore the return address, "18th District Democrats, Wilton Hotel." And that's where 72,000 of the envelopes were delivered—to Democratic HQ. Down the hall in the Wilton, Knight Republicans wondered what happened to their shipment. When they found out, Adrienne locked the door.

Then she filed suit against Governor Knight and others to enjoin the GOP from using the envelopes. She lost the suit but tied up the envelopes long enough so that they couldn't be used.

Her second gubernatorial set-to was with Governor Brown. She was one of three Long Beach people on Brown's delegation to the Demo national convention in Los Angeles. When it became clear Brown would take himself out of the race as a favorite son candidate, Adrienne filed suit to test the election code and to force Brown to submit at least to the first ballot at the convention.

A STATE district court of appeal denied the plea and it was rushed by air to the State Supreme Court, which also denied the writ of mandate. Brown was highly critical of the action then, but Adrienne says now: "I'm a terrific admirer of Governor Brown and hope he's reelected. He may have made political errors but not administrative errors. His record is excellent if only more people learn about it."

She describes herself as a liberal whose senatorial heroes include Morse, Douglas, Humphrey and Clark. She was for Adlai Stevenson at the convention.

She is a member of the NAACP, Long Beach Chapter of the Council on Human Relations and of the board of regents of Friendly House. The latter is sponsored by the Friendly Hand Foundation for the rehabilitation of women alcoholics. She was on the multiple sclerosis drive boards the last two years.

"I'M ALWAYS wrapped up in causes," she said, "alcoholics, unionism or the Democratic Party. And I've never known what it meant to be bored."

When current pressures are relieved and she's caught up in her family obligations, she may one day do something again in politics but is somewhat reluctant because. "I'm accident prone in that field. Even if I should get into it again, I'm thinking the Indians can do more than the chiefs, and maybe that's what I'll be."

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Dorin

The word "Communist" is translated into most languages in some form similar to the original word, as first used in Karl Marx's Communist Manifesto, published in 1847 (in England!).

It first was used as a German word, Kommunist, and in most languages it is spelled in a similar fashion, viz: Russian, Kommunist; Greek, Kommunistis; French, Communiste; Italian and Spanish, Comunista; Swedish, Kommunist; Polish, Czech and Hungarian, Komunista.

However, some Eastern languages have rendered this term in their own way, possibly to disguise its Western origin or to make it more palatable or homegrown for the local population.

In Chinese it is gung-chan-tung—"together property ideology person." In Arabic, shuyuaei (for a man) and shuyuaeiet (for a woman), meaning "supporter of common use." In Urdu it is ishtraki, "sharer among the people."

WALTER LIPPMANN

Trade Fight Looms at Coming Session

IT NOW SEEMS certain that the administration will go to Congress in the coming session to ask for new powers in order to negotiate about tariffs and trade arrangements with the European Common Market. This is a bold decision, and not without considerable risk. It was taken because of a feeling in the highest councils of government that a beginning cannot be put off.

LIPPMANN

This sense of urgency is due only in part to the fact that the Trade Agreements Act expires next summer. More than that, the Western Community and the United States in particular need a momentum which has been lacking in recent months. Preparation for the "giant step" into the new trading world will, one may hope, give a sense of moving forward again.

* * * *

THE DECISION to move forward now rather than in 1963 is risky, not only because 1962 is an election year when, as the saying goes, the tariff becomes a local issue in each district.

An even greater difficulty, it seems to me, is that Congress and the country will not have before them as a going concern the new Common Market which will be created when Great Britain and other European powers join the original six members. It may not be easy to make the country understand what the enlarged Common Market is going to be in the future, when in fact it is not yet in existence.

A mighty effort of public education is going to be needed to make the country realize how revolutionary the change is going to be. The enlarged Common Market will be the biggest trading area in the world. It will soon have free trade within it and a common tariff against us and all the other nations around it. This gigantic industrial complex is now growing at a rate which is twice our own average since the Korean War.

* * * *

AS THE REALITIES become visible to us, we shall find that we must reappraise assumptions which this generation of Americans have become used to taking for granted. Primarily, there is the assumption that in our relations with Europe we are the givers and they are the receivers, that it depends on us, therefore, how much or how little we shall participate in the affairs of Europe.

This assumption is ceasing to be valid as Western Europe, with its amazingly rapid economic growth, draws closely together toward economic and political union.

This means that the Common Market is not merely a profitable economic arrangement. It is also the substance of a political union which is being forged into a new great power in the world. In this century we have seen great powers die. Now, it would seem, we are witnessing the birth of a new great power.

* * * *

WHAT THE world knows as the Common Market and as the European Economic Community is not, as the names suggest, merely an enlightened device for promoting prosperity. It is that. But the inner motive and resolve of the leaders of the Common Market is to make Europe again, as it was for so many centuries—until the World Wars of our times—a great center of power and influence around the globe.

That is why when Britain decided to apply for membership, the crucial question was not how to safeguard the economic interests of the Commonwealth. That is quite manageable. The crucial question has been whether Great Britain was renouncing its political separation from the Continent, and whether it would then participate in the political purposes of the Continental countries.

* * * *

AFTER THE British have settled their relationships, it will be our turn to begin to negotiate over our trade relations with the enlarged Common Market. But even before formal negotiations have begun, our intention to be part of a broader liberal trade area, announced in the very convincing form of the President's coming legislative proposals to the Congress, may have helped the smaller European powers and the Commonwealth countries to reach an accommodation with the Common Market. Our influence, too, will protect the interests of Latin America and Japan.

Despite this beneficent influence we may not find Europe over-eager to strike a bargain with us. We shall then have to argue that generalized free trade throughout the Atlantic Community need not impair the closer political union of Europe,

Would Have Stores Close Every Sunday

EDITOR:

Many of us are concerned about so many stores being open on Sunday. I wrote to Congressman Hosmer and he referred me to the city manager. I received very nice letters from both men, but they say we do not have any laws prohibiting this.

We may not have laws, but there is one way we can stop it. That is to boycott every store open on Sunday. I'm afraid we Christians have brought this on ourselves because of our shopping on Sundays. And I also mean grocery stores. I for one have stopped shopping on Sunday.

MRS. SARAH HAMILTON
Long Career Ends

Funeral Here Tuesday for L.B. Missionary, 101

Funeral service for 101-year-old Mrs. Sarah P. Hamilton, 1211 E. Third St., a former missionary, will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Patterson & Snively Mortuary.

Mrs. Hamilton, who died Thursday at her home, served at one time on the faculty of Louisiana State Normal College. She was born in Homer, La., May 30, 1860.

While serving as a missionary in Brazil she met the late Rev. James Hamilton, formerly of Long Beach. They were married and spent 20 years in Brazil before returning to the United States.

The couple settled in Long Beach in 1919 and were active in the Moore Memorial Methodist Church.

On her 99th birthday Mrs. Hamilton memorized 99 Biblical verses, was baptized again at the North Long Beach Church of the Nazarene and spoke to the congregation on her early church work.

She was a charter member of the American Bible Society and a graduate of Louisiana State Normal.

There are no known immediate survivors.

SEC Action Broadened for Investors

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in a series of recent actions has significantly broadened its efforts to protect the investing public.

The expansion of SEC activity reflects an increased number of trouble spots in the stock market, which last week set new price records. The expansion also reflects a tougher agency attitude toward questionable practices in the securities field.

Here are some examples of the areas into which the commission has moved in recent weeks:

* * * *

—FOR THE first time, it has disciplined a broker for capitalizing on "inside information" not available to the public. The broker sold 7,000 shares of Curtiss-Wright stock after hearing from a director that the dividend was to be cut sharply.

—The commission is in the process of adopting a series of new rules governing the affairs of investment advisers —those who sell stock market advice or manage investments for a fee. Starting Jan. 1, it will begin policing advertising by advisers to eliminate pie-in-the-sky claims and misleading testimonials.

—On Oct. 31 it accused two large New York firms, Sutro Bros. and Co. and Schweickert & Co., of arranging for the financing of customers' stock purchases in violation of credit restrictions. This is the first major case in this area in recent years.

* * * *

A TOUGHER commission attitude was first indicated last May when the FCC ordered a special investigation of the American stock exchange. This inquiry, the first of its kind in 22 years, was launched after the SEC expelled two exchange members, Jerry and Gerard Re, for alleged market rigging and illegal stock sales.

The SEC later argued strongly for congressional authority to undertake a broader investigation of all stock markets, including the New York Stock Exchange and the over-the-counter market. This inquiry is just beginning and will continue for more than a year.

The two investigations and many other recent moves by the SEC reflect the fact that the greatest bull market in history has been in progress for 13 years without any broad study of the special problems it has raised.

* * * *

IN EFFECT, the present SEC is brand new since four of its five members were appointed by President Kennedy. The fact that the new group takes a somewhat different attitude toward commission affairs has been pointed up by public statements by two commissioners who expressed misgivings about penalties imposed in certain cases settled by their predecessors. J. Allen Frear Jr. said penalties were too lenient in two cases and in one of these, Chairman William L. Cary said he found great merit in Frear's position.

Because the agency has faced a rapidly increasing workload with a fairly stable staff, it has been under pressure to settle cases by mutual agreement and thus avoid lengthy public hearings. In order to win settlements, however, the commission has had to agree in advance on the maximum penalties.

The SEC currently is expanding its staff and may not be under as much pressure in future settlements.

* * * *

A SETTLEMENT was reached in the case involving use of "inside" information by a broker before the Kennedy appointees took office. However, those appointees produced the opinion which formalized the settlement.

The broker involved was Robert M. Gintel of Cady, Roberts and Co., who was ordered suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for 20 days.

In its opinion, the present commission expressed the view that a broker who receives information from corporate officials which would affect the price of a stock, were it generally known, should avoid dealing in the security or disclose the information.

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes of business turned sharply toward 1962 last week and what they saw was pleasing.

Important segments of the economy made predicitions on the outlook for next year. The consensus was that business will improve but won't attain boom proportions.

A forecast that the gross national product—total value of all goods and services—will climb to $557 billion in 1962 from $520 billion in 1961 came out of a meeting of 150 economists at the University of Michigan.

* * * *

THEY BASED their opinion on expected increases in defense spending, inventory accumulation and automobile buying.

A 15 to 20 per cent increase in steel production is likely in January, an industry publication, Iron Age, said. Steel users are expected to expand their orders to meet demands of improving business and to build up inventories as a hedge against a possible steelworkers' strike later next year.

General Motors Corp.'s declaration of a 50-cent extra year-end dividend has been interpreted earlier as a strong indication that the automobile industry will have a banner year in 1962.

* * * *

ABOUT two-thirds of 1,400 retailers surveyed said they expected their business to be 5 to 10 per cent better in the first half of next year.

Predictions made by leading industrialists at the annual meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board in Detroit included:

The machinery industry will parallel the economy in a gradual recovery from recession levels.

The outlook for the television appliance industry is good and a sales increase of about 8 per cent is expected.

The construction industry should operate at even higher levels than in 1961.

* * * *

PROSPECTS of better business impressed investors and the stock market racked up all-time highs, as measured by the popular averages, on three successive days this week.

The automobiles sales picture has brightened considerably and some dealers complained they weren't getting enough cars to satisfy the demand.

Sales of new cars boomed to a record 196,225 in the first 10 days of November. This prompted Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of Ford Motor Co., to predict an industry sales record of 570,000 passenger cars, including imported models, for November.

The industry built its 4.5 millionth car of the year this week and expected to reach 5.5 million by the year's end. Production for the week rose to an estimated 155,000 cars, compared with 152,376 last week and 149,866 a year ago.

* * * *

STEEL production inched upward last week to 2,046,000 tons from 2,044,000 the previous week. This brought production for the first 45 weeks of the year to 82,811,000 tons, down from 88,972,000 tons for the comparable period of last year.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the Kennedy Administration intends to take new steps to create jobs if unemployment fails to decline substantially in the coming months. He did not spell out what action might be taken.

But he said the administration was confident that continuing recovery in the months ahead will significantly reduce unemployment.

THE PRESIDENT appointed a panel of six educators and economists to check up on compilation procedures used in determining the number of unemployed. There has been criticism that present methods make the picture look darker than it actually is.

Thousands of oil men gathered in Chicago for the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute. They were told by John M. Kelly, assistant secretary of the interior and a former oil man, to quit looking to the federal government to solve the industry's problems. He suggested they increase efforts to cut costs and to develop new uses for petroleum.

Briefly around the business scene: The new coin-operated dry cleaning industry expects to gross more than $300 million in 1962. . . . The per capita consumption of cigarettes rose to 2,540 in 1960. . . . Experimental packing of tuna in aluminum cans is being carried on by the Van Camp Sea Food Co., American Can Co. and Reynolds Metals Co. . . . The United States cotton surplus is expected to rise to 7.6 million bales by next Aug. 1 from 7.2 million bales a year earlier.

TREE DOCTOR

Has Finger on Pulse of Yule Mart

Lentini, who began his medical practice here 20 years ago, is chief of staff at Cheboygan Community Memorial Hospital. But more important, at least during the yule season, is his position as a bonafide Christmas tree tycoon.

Lentini became interested in the Christmas tree business six years ago. Today, he is the owner of 2.5 million Yule trees and president of Sno-Kist Tree Co.

* * * *

Lack of business is no problem to Lentini, but finding trees of sufficient quality has posed a problem.

The trees are grown on 2,500 acres of land he owns in Hemet, Cheboygan and Ostego counties at the extreme northern tip of lower Michigan. In addition, Lentini grows trees on another 2,000 acres owned by other persons who market their crop through his firm.

* * * *

LENTINI, 49, was born in Detroit, but grew up on a farm in nearby Emmet county. He started out in the Christmas tree business in 1955 on a small scale and increased his business each year through the use of a hardhitting advertising campaign in newspapers, trade magazines and through direct mail.

U.S. Pushes Trade Ties With Africa

By GEORGE WEEKS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is placing "greatest importance" on winning friends and business in Africa through increased trade ties.

The Commerce Department underscored this by its decision to participate in five African trade fairs next year.

"The Sino-Soviet bloc is steadily increasing its efforts at economic and political penetration in this vast continent," said L. Edward Scriven, director of the department's International Business Operations. "It is significant that, in this effort, the Communist bloc is making increasing use of trade fairs and 'cultural' expositions to achieve their objectives."

* * * *

THE UNITED STATES expects to participate in fairs in Libya, Morocco, United Arab Republic, Nigeria and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

The first exhibition in West Africa is scheduled to open Friday in Accra, Ghana.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce for International Affairs Rowland Burnstan, commenting on the exhibition in Ghana, said: "Of course we want their business, but more important, we want their friendship."

He said "all of these new nations have a passionate yearning for social and economic progress" and are looking increasingly to the United States and other advanced nations for help.

* * * *

U. S. OFFICIALS contend much of this help should be through private capital investment and increased trade.

"Overall prospects in the next decade range from grey to very bright," a department report said. "Tomorrow's Africa should be viewed not as a single market but as an infinite number of markets—some expanding, some remaining static, and many others as yet underdeveloped."

The value of U. S. direct private investments in Africa totaled $925 million at the end of 1960, compared with $287 million a decade earlier.

MVD Seeks Therapy for Violators

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Saturday proposed group therapy for wayward drivers.

The Department of Motor Vehicles hopes to put the new program into effect by the beginning of next year, said Director Tom Bright.

Here's how it will work:

Motorists with an increasing number of violations will be brought together in groups of not more than 15. A DMV driver improvement analyst, a person trained in breaking bad motoring habits, will lead the discussions. Tests designed to reveal the drivers' attitudes will be given and members of the group will review their records with the analyst.

Those guilty of outright negligent driving will go through the present hearing procedure for revocation or suspension of their licenses.

In addition, said a department spokesman, those found "to have an aggressive attitude" in the group sessions will also face a formal revocation or suspension hearing.

How About Brakes?

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—What's the latest gimmick to cope with collisions on ski slopes? Electrically powered ski poles with a button on the handle to work a horn signal. They are on display at a sporting goods fair.

Car Thieves Busy

OSLO, Norway (AP) — It's been a record year for car thefts in Oslo. More were stolen in the first 10 months of 1961 than during any previous 12-month period — a total of 1,582. The 1960 total was 1,187.

W6MK RETURNS TO 924 PINE

Veteran 'Ham' Recalls Sending to Antarctic

By GEORGE ERES

W6MK recently moved back to living quarters at 924 Pine Ave.—an address that brings back memories of the Byrd expedition to the South Pole in 1928.

W6MK are the call letters of Foster Strong, 67.

Strong didn't go to the South Pole—but he was closer to the Byrd expedition than most Americans. Every Wednesday night at 9 he was on the air sending and receiving messages to and from Byrd's men.

* * * *

"IT WAS MOSTLY chit-chat—messages from mothers, fathers, wives and children—telling the members of the expedition of the birth of a child; what the weather was like and such," said Strong.

Strong had a 50-watt set in a trunk closet at the Pine Avenue address then and over a period of about nine months he would send and receive the messages and relay them on to other amateur radio enthusiasts for delivery in various parts of the country.

Strong first came to Long Beach in 1906 and the first World War found him a "fly boy" operating "Jennies" "Nieuports" and other flying machines of the day. He wound up as an instructor of flying in the air force of the day. After the war he lived in Mississippi for a time, returning to Long Beach in 1926.

W6MK 'ON THE AIR'

* * * *

HE WENT TO work for the city as a radio technician and dispatcher in the Police Department, installing the first municipal two-way radio system in police cars west of the Mississippi. He retired after 27 years with the city.

Strong first got interested in "wireless" voice transmission when Teddy Roosevelt's Great White Fleet was on its round-the-world voyage.

"Four or five of the ships in the fleet had wireless," said Strong, "and a group of us here used to talk to the ships."

* * * *

FRED SNELL, a Chicago man, talked the Byrd expedition into taking him on as short wave operator in 1928, said Strong. He went back into active duty to take the assignment. He'd relay the news through a series of station ships.

"I used to listen to the reports to the New York Times from the Byrd expedition, then I'd go on to send and receive messages."

"The Times got the news ahead of the Navy Department," said Strong. "I used to listen, but I couldn't report the information. There are laws governing listening in and repeating conversations heard on short wave just as there are laws governing wire-tapping.

"THE RADIO operator would finish exactly at 9 p.m. with WHD (the Times) and then give me a call and dump about 18 messages for me to forward."

Strong doesn't recall any important message—except, of course, as they affected the individuals they were addressed to—but he did have an interesting experience in 1933.

"I was talking to an operator in Chicago when my tower fell over.

"The Chicago man wondered what had happened to me," said Strong. "He read about it the next day in his newspaper. It was our big earthquake. When my tower fell, it took a two-story brick building along with it."

Chest Lauds Groups That Win Quotas

At the end of the week, 12 of the 83 separate groups in the drive had passed the 100 per cent mark.

Newest sections to achieve their goals: medical group under the leadership of Dr. Richard Nixon; Dominguez industrial plants, headed by James E. Gibson; Los Altos residential teams, led by Mrs. Zeddie Marsh and Mrs. F. B. Perkins; Jack W. Plantz' committee soliciting the dairy, meat, and baking companies; and advertising and printing establishments chairmaned by Dr. Owen J. Cook.

* * * *

CROOKER SAID that previously the public school employes, furniture dealers, private schools, manufacturing, westside residential area, one of the oil teams, and one of the major gifts sections had made quotas.

Mrs. Francis Lowry, residential division chairman, announced that the advance gifts committee under Mrs. Llewellyn Bixby had raised more than their $15,300 quota to bring the entire division within $5,673 of their $92,920 quota.

She reported that area teams still at work to complete their assignments are: Los Cerritos-Bixby Knolls, 95.9 per cent; North Long Beach 88; Belmont Shore-Heights, 87; northeast 86; Lakewood, 84; and central, 73.

* * * *

IN THE three days following the Awards dinner Tuesday, volunteers had brought in $6,000 to bring the campaign total to $862,764.

Lakewood Students to Run City Friday

Eighty-six high school seniors will take over their town Friday in the seventh annual Lakewood Youth Day.

The students, selected from Lakewood and Mayfair High Schools, will be acting officials and observers in the top posts of city government, business and industry.

Honorary mayor will be Jerry Eynon, 17-year-old Mayfair High student-body president. The honorary city administrator will be Mike Sterbentz, Lakewood High student-body president.

The program is sponsored by the Lakewood Rotary Club in cooperation with the city and schools.

YOUTH DAY will start with a mock city council session in Lakewood City Hall. Students serving with "Mayor" Eynon will be four "councilwomen," Margo Lu Hansen, Diane DeYoung, Sande Dunwoodie and Olive Hassell.

After the council session, the students will tour the City Hall and then go to their various assignments with the community leaders whose places they take.

All the students and the adult office-holders will be guests at a Rotary Club luncheon in Lakewood Country Club.

SPEAKER AT the luncheon will be Dr. Wayne Young, chairman of the secondary education department at Long Beach State College.

Parchment certificates will be presented to the participating students by principals Vernon Hinze of Lakewood and Dick Oswald of Mayfair.

S.F. Crab Boat Strike Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—The marketing dispute that kept San Francisco's crab boat fleet in harbor a week after the season's scheduled opening was settled Saturday with a compromise on price.

The wholesalers accepted the fishermen's offer to sell at 20 cents a pound. Fishermen had demanded 25 cents; the wholesalers had offered 18.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME

Are you one of the hundreds of thousands of sufferers who feel old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages? Does this condition cause frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes result in Backache? If so, you owe it to yourself to try NEW IMPROVED CYSTEX at once.

OTHER SYMPTOMS

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

OLD, TIRED, WORN OUT FEELING MAY RESULT

If frequent urination worries you, and hits you at the most embarrassing moments, you're bound to feel tense and nervous. Then if your sleep is disturbed by getting up nights and you can't get much rest and you wake up feeling tired and grogsy—yes, you really begin to feel old. And if your back aches you feel grouchy—hard to get along with—and your work is a burden.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non-specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves to your brain that help is needed. Heed this warning now and you may easily avoid many anxious, worrisome hours and days.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

NEW IMPROVED CYSTEX releases a gentle, soothing bacteriostat in acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. CYSTEX also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. Thousands have been amazed to discover how quickly CYSTEX helped them to combat such irritations thus feel cleansed and refreshed, and because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger.

So get CYSTEX from your druggist today. Fresh up and cheer up and feel better fast.

Actress Sparks Play on Community Stage

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

Mary Ann Anderson, about five feet of pure nuclear energy, is the best thing to happen to the United States space program since the invention of gunpowder. She is also the best thing happening in "Roman Candle," which opened this weekend at the Community Theater. Without her, the whole thing might have fizzled on the pad.

"Roman Candle" is only incidentally about rockets and space probes. It is really about something mysterious and a lot more fun. Esp, as one of the characters calls it. E.S.P. Extra-sensory perception.

With a little esp, Miss Anderson, playing Elizabeth Brown, causes chaoes among the missiles, but she puts the scientist in charge into orbit. In the proces she puts the audience into stitches, too. No wonder her nickname is Roman Candle.

* * * *

THE REST of the cast are pretty useful around the launching site, too. Jerry Brady plays the scientist, who is naturally a bit skeptical about all the hanky panky until he is esped into and then out of a precarious situation or two. Most of the time he looks a little hewildered, and with good reason.

The military brass who complicate the whole mess are Val Deaser, Ed Christensen and James Baltzell. They manage to make the Army and Navy seem somewhat silly upon occasion. James Oliphant as the sergeant makes the Army no less silly but somehow more attractive, and J. Glenn Knox is an amusing doctor.

Gail Cason as the scientist's intended and Ken Harkey as her senator father round out the principal players. Others in the cast are Joey Astone, Molly Boyd, James Roach and Marland Proctor. Larry Jones directed.

* * * *

"ROMAN CANDLE" is an amusing and engaging bit of nonsense, but the kind of play which in unskillful hands can seem five hours long. This production, fortunately, never bogs down, largely because of Miss Anderson, whose energy infuses the whole theater. From the moment she steps onstage the play comes alive and stays that way.

Maybe there's something to this esp after all.

The show continues on weekends through mid-January. Curtain is 7:45 on Thursdays, 8:30 Fridays and Saturdays.

S. Viet Nam Dooms Red Rebels to Death

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The government announced Saturday a military tribunal has sentenced two Viet Cong Communist rebels to death.

They were convicted of murdering three hamlet chiefs and a young woman member of the National Youth Corps.

Bourguiba Vows Fight for Bizerte

TUNIS (UPI) — President Habib Bourguiba Saturday said Tunisia was prepared to fight again for the French Navy base at Bizerte if necessary.

He said a French note on the subject of eventually turning back the base to Tunisia was expected Monday, "and I hope it is positive."

A blockade of the big base by Tunisians in July touched off a three-day battle in which French soldiers killed 1,000 Tunisians.

Pilots Ever on Alert for Flying Objects

By FRANK PITMAN

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An airliner trying to make up lost time. A wandering private plane. Reflections of city lights against the coluds. A nearby planet. Shooting stars. Whales.

Those are some of the things that send the nation's fighter intercepter pilots into the wild blue yonder about a dozen times a day for a close check of unidentified objects in the sky.

The birdmen, who guide craft at twice the speed of sound, have never yet found what they're going up for, and are not sorry. It would be an inbound hostile plane or missile.

* * * *

ATTACHED to some 80 squadrons of the continent's defense line, the pilots fly at the instant a radar screen or ground observer picks up an object that can't be identified. Most unidentified objects turn out to be simply planes outside their flight patterns.

Inbound commercial flights from overseas are the most common cause of false alarms, officials at North American Air Defense Command said. Favorable or unfavorable winds cause the airliner's schedule to vary, and observers using radar and radio are unable to correlate the craft with its flight plan. That calls for visible check by a fighter intercepter.

* * * *

POOR FLYING weather contributes to the number of false alarms. Under those conditions, commercial and private pilots are hardpressed to stay precisly within their flight plan.

The slightest variance immeditely classifies the plane as an unidentified object and touches off an alarm at a fighter intercepter base.

Now and then radar is fooled. Once a radar screen projected a blip that turned out to be three whales lolling in the Atlantic.

Ground observers are most likely to be deceived by reflections of lights against unusual cloud formations or the proximity of a planet like Mars or Venus.

* * * *

ONCE AN interceptor flight investigated a strange combination of lights sweeping rhythmically across the sky. It turned out to be three Navy planes maneuvering in formation with all running lights blazing. The sweeps of the precision flight resembled a flying saucer.

On an average day some 25 or 30 unidentified objects set off preliminary alerts at the guardian bases. The identity of half of them is cleared up in the few minutes before the fighter intercepter is airborne. Once the plane is aloft, it's hardly seconds before it is alongside and identifies the object.

Algerian Rebel Fasts 18 Days

PARIS (AP) — Mohammed Ben Bella was in the 18th day of his hunger strike Saturday, with no indication that he soon would abandon this protest against French policy in Algeria.

The captive vice premier of the Algerian government in exile and two rebel ministers with him in a heavily guarded hospital in suburban Garches were refusing intervention by a team of French medical experts.

Prison administrative authorities said their condition still was not alarming, although they were somewhat weaker.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

'How to Succeed' Star Was Salesman Flop

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—It may be true or it may be a Broadway fable, but we are solemnly assured that young Bobby Morse is kept in ignorance of the arrival of celebrities to see "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" these nights for fear that he might have an attack of nerves and go all to pieces.

That makes it difficult to picture him in his younger days—back when he was 20 or so—as a Fuller Brush Man or a cookie salesman.

"I dropped all my brushes and everything in the middle of Lexington Avenue one day and quit," Bobby says concerning the era when he wasn't succeeding in big business at all.

* * * *

"AND THE cookie business," he'll tell you, almost wringing his hands as he remembers, "Oh-h-h-h!

"Suppose the cookies were 25c a pound and somebody wanted an eighth of a pound. Now how do you figure what an eighth of a quarter is? I suppose there's some way to do it.

"But I couldn't, and I had people standing in line waiting till I figured what something cost. I would just guess at it—'55 cents,' I'd say about some article. A woman would say 'But last week I got the same thing for 45 cents.'

* * * *

AND THAT'S how Bobby didn't work his way up to the presidency and board chairmanship as he does in the great Feuer & Martin and Abe Burrows hit. "They shuffled me around from store to store and job to job," he claims.

Bobby got into "The Matchmaker," "Say, Darling" and "Take Me Along"—and he credits Ruth Gordon of the former and Jackie Gleason of the latter with teaching him a lot.

"Jackie taught me something important about criticism," Bobby recalled. "One day I was very low about a review of a TV show.

* * * *

"Jackie said 'Let me tell you about criticism. It is just an opinion. It doesn't make it true because somebody says so. You know yourself whether you were good or bad, and if you were bad you probably know why you were bad or it could be that the writer of the review was drunk or doesn't have the integrity to write what he really feels.'"

Everybody asks Bobby what'll happen when he gets 35 and still looks as he does now.

He brushes it aside. "Maybe this show'll run forever," he says. "It could, you know. If everybody who's in business comes to see it, we really might be here forever."

* * * *

THE WEEK-END WINDUP . . . Jersey Joe Walcott, who'll referee the Floyd Patterson-Tom McNeeley bout, says, "Every time I see one of those fellows get hit I ask myself how I ever did it for 23 years" . . . Switch: Darryl Zanuck, filming "The Longest Day," is hoping for BAD weather—for battle scenes . . . Otto Preminger stomped into the Colony Record Shop, demanded the name of a best-selling young singer; they mentioned Bobby Rydell. (For a movie?) . . . George Jessel and George Raft opened their Beverly Hills travel agency, so now you can travel, by George.

Delores Del Rio saw Katyna Ranieri at the Persian Rm., promised to give a party for her in Mexico City . . . Harold Robbins, author of the best-selling "Carpetbaggers," says his next is about a sexy sculptress . . . Kyle Rote's "Game of the Week" TV'er may be shown in Japan, which is getting football-happy . . . The Manhattan phone listed to "Hugo von Eggchreme" belongs to producer Herb Morrison.

* * * *

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A football coach boasted that he never alibis his defeats: "I merely explain that it's poor sportsmanship to mention those bad breaks and terrible officiating."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Description of a woman's shopping tour: "She goes out with a big bundle—and comes back with a lot of little ones."

Shelly Berman mentioned proudly to his grandfather that he'll go to Europe to do TV. "What's so wonderful?" shrugged the old man. "I came from there." That's earl, brother.

$ Millions Bid on 'My Fair Lady'

"My Fair Lady $5,500,000 (X)

"(X) manufacturer's suggested retail price."

Unsigned, the ads later were disclosed to be the puckish work of that master of screen satire, Director Billy Wilder.

Devilish or not, the ads accented the astronomical bidding for the movie rights to the famed broadway and international musical hit. Warners made a firm offer of $5,000,000 for the show, an offer still unaccepted.

* * * *

OTHER THAN the owners of the show, the happiest person in town because of the record bidding is British actor Michael Evans.

Until the asking price got publicized, only two names were mentioned for the casting of the star role of Prof. Henry Higgins—Rex Harrison and Cary Grant.

Harrison, because he created the role on Broadway, and Grant, because he sells tickets at movie boxoffices.

But the high price of the property suddenly has made Evans the dark horse candidate for the Higgins' role. He played Higgins in the national company of the show both in the United States and the 10 week tour of Russia.

* * * *

HIS 1,200 performances in the role even surpassed those of Harrison in the New York and London versions. Many who have seen all think the younger Evans was the best Higgins of the lot—even better than Harrison.

Comedian Jim Backus says that "Fair Lady" producer Herman Levin told him Evans was the best.

Talent alone doesn't always get choice movie roles—but sometimes money does. One top Warner source, who saw Evans in the Los Angeles company, confirms that he is very much in the running—if the studio gets the property. The executive's reasoning:

* * * *

"IT'S ALL a matter of economics. No star name is needed to sell 'My Fair Lady.' Say the property does sell for $5,500,000. It will take more than that to make it—maybe even $10,000,000.

"Grant's cut, usually a hefty percentage off the top, would add another million or two.

Light Opera to Audition for 'Moon'

Auditions for Long Beach Civic Light Opera Association's next production of "New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg will be held at 1 p.m. next Sunday in Concert Hall at Municipal Auditorium.

Harvey Waggoner, general manager of the association, said the production requires a large cast, and that auditions are open to all talented non-professionals.

Memorable tunes in "New Moon" include "Softly, As in a Morning Sunrise," "Stouthearted Men," "One Kiss," "Wanting You," "Marianne" and "Lover, Come Back to Me."

STELLA STEVENS . . . Paramount's Pride

Lee Remick Plans to 'Strike' for Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lee Remick has one more picture to make and then she's going on strike against a casting system which has placed her in some of filmland's most downbeat roles.

Miss Remick currently is playing a frightened bank teller in "Experiment in Terror" and from there she becomes a make-believe alcoholic for "The Days of Wine and Roses" with Jack Lemmon.

In all the time Miss Remick has been making pictures, she's never been cast in anything light or comical.

"After 'Wine and Roses', I'm going to do a comedy," she insisted. "I won't move until I do either a comedy or a musical, nothing else.

"I've done enough of the heavy parts."

* * * *

SITTING ON a couch in a dressing room off the set at Columbia Studios, Miss Remick spoke of her husband, Director Bill Colleran, and her two children, Kate, 2, and Matthew, five months.

"It seems I go from baby to picture, baby to picture," she said, referring to the fact that she went almost from the maternity ward into films. "But, no more babies for awhile, just pictures.

"I want to do at least two pictures a year. I don't believe in the theory that you have to remain on the screen all the time. You have to live a little in between pictures so you'll have something to draw from."

* * * *

"There's not much life for me outside of the picture when I'm working on one," she said. "When I'm making a picture, I work 12 hours a day.

"I go home after a day at the studio and I'm so tired I barely eat dinner before heading for bed. I only get to see the children about half an hour a day and on weekends when I'm making a picture.

"So for that reason, I don't want to work all the time. And, I don't believe in running all over the world making pictures, leaving the children behind."

Deputy Police Chief, 2 Children Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP)—The Springfield deputy chief of police and two of his grandchildren were killed Saturday when their car hit an embankment and overturned on Route 11.

Killed were Herbert D. Fullam, 62, Neal Abbott, 8, and Shirley Burton, 3. In critical condition in Springfield Hospital is Shirley's brother, James, 5.

SHE'S GOT EVERYTHING

Stella Chased by Producer

By RICK DU BROW

She's it. The only actress the powerful studio has under pact.

And the betting around town is that Paramount may well build her into a star of Marilyn Monroe-Elizabeth Taylor importance.

She has everything: Blonde beauty, talent, humor, intelligence — and flamboyance. She was born in a town called Hot Coffee, Miss.—and no press agent could do better than that.

* * * *

BUT IT'S her flamboyance that has the film colony talking.

It's now a legend about how she was approached by a person who told her, "Did you know you look like Marilyn Monroe?"

"No," replied Miss Stevens, but my mother does."

Paramount is so intent on building her in the "sex star" image of Jean Harlow and Lana Turner that it has refused to let her accept outside roles in such movies as "Advise and Consent," because they don't emphasize her in the right way.

* * * *

Before leaving this weekend for London for the world premiere of her latest film, "Too Late Blues," in which Bobby Darin is her co-star, a top studio executive called her in for a pep talk and told her:

"Think positively."

"All right," said Miss Stevens, "but what do I tell the press over there when they ask me what my next picture will be?"

"Well," the executive hedged, "we've got some projects we're thinking about, Stella."

* * * *

"ALL RIGHT," said Miss Stevens, "I'll tell them I positively enjoy the climate, I positively like traveling—and I positively have no idea what I'll be doing next."

Another time, Miss Stevens, who was reared in Memphis, Tenn., was approached at lunch by a producer who said:

"Have you read the script yet, sweetie?"

"No," she replied.

"Well, you know, sweetie, baby," the producer said, "Kim Novak would love to do the role."

"Yeah, I know," said Miss Stevens. "She wants to do all my parts."

STILL ANOTHER TIME, she was introduced at lunch in the Paramount commissary to a producer who promptly told her:

"I know you're in love with me, or else you wouldn't ask to be introduced to me."

"No, I'm not," Miss Stevens replied, explaining she was brought over to meet him by another executive.

"It takes more courage to be in love than not to be," the producer persisted.

That night, when Miss Stevens returned home, she found the producer on her doorstep armed with champagne and roses. He followed her inside and chased her around the living room.

"It's a good thing my maid and son came home," she said. "I was getting tired."

NO ONE GUESSED

'Doll' Tells News —She's Expecting

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Actress Constance Towers last week finished a seven weeks local stand in "Guys and Dolls," and announced that she's expecting a baby in two months.

No one in the cast, except Dan Dailey, knew it—and neither did the audience. Connie played Sarah Brown, the rescue mission gal.

"I had to tell Dan (who played Sky Masterson) so he would be gentle in our knockabout dance scene."

Said Dailey: "I know the show must go on—now I know why."

SULTAN AND CUTLASS MEET

F-85 Cutlass Visits Vegas

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Last week-end was the zenith, the ultimate, the very top. Referring to our dining experience at the luxurious Sultan's Table of the plush Dunes Hotel in fabulous (so, what other word fits?) Las Vegas.

We've done many motorlog tours over the past three years—this was No. 46, to be exact—it's been our lucky lot to visit the posh hotels and scintillating spas of the Southland, but this dinner at the Dunes topped everything we've ever experienced.

Here's the picture. You're sitting there in this lavishly decorated, softly-lit dining room. The light of your life is by your side while martinis set the mood. Now from a revolving dias in the center of the floor comes the music of two grand pianos and 11 violins played to perfection by musicians in white ties and tails.

Arturo Romero and his Magic Violins are the artists and they're the talk of the Vegas Strip by those who like their melodies from the masters.

And the food was in keeping with the lavish surroundings, we found, as we dawdled over succulent steaks, sparkling wine and crepe suzettes for our most memorable dining-out event ever.

FOUR IN PARTY

There were four of us made the tour to Vegas last week-end; John and Lou Schwoerer our longtime friends here, accompanying us to never-never land. And our conveyance was a cute, classy and comfortable Cutlass convertible which, as you know, is Oldsmobile's F-85, compact brother to the famed "88" and "98" models. A good-looking white job with red interior, the Cutlass had comfortable bucket seats, plenty of interior and trunk room and Oldsmobile's new 185 h. p. aluminum V-8 which performed quietly and effortlessly on the 302-mile trip.

It was impeccable Ivy-leaguer Bill Blankenship, sales manager of Dick Browning Oldsmobile, who loaned us the Cutlass for the Friday evening jaunt to the city of revelry. Several new freeway improvements have cut driving time considerably on the Las Vegas run and four hours and 40 minutes after we left the Browning agency Driver Schwoerer eased the F-85 to a stop at the Sultan-crowned Dunes.

With our accommodations arranged through the hotel's Beverly Hills office, we were shown to spacious adjoining rooms on the second floor overlooking one of the Dunes' three huge pools. Hi-Fi, remote-control TV and a Sultan-size bed were included in the furnishings for lavish living in the Las Vegas mode.

GET EVEN, MAYBE?

ACTION ALWAYS

Well, in "Lost Wages," as some cynics are prone to call the place, there's never any lack of action. Arriving too late for the Dunes' 8 o'clock dinner show, we sampled the bountiful buffet in the hotel's Aladdin Dining Room where you feast on a variety of at least 50 tasty items, all you wish to eat, including drink and dessert for $2.50.

Then it was time for the midnight show in the breath-taking Arabian Room where Steve Parker's giant spectacular, "Philippine Festival," played to a packed house. Conceived and created in Manila, the show features over 100 Filipino players in a tableau of island activities.

Show over, we watched the activity in the Sindbad Lounge where top stars perform adjacent to the gambling tables. Here the comic Fraim Brothers were knocking themselves out for the many patrons taking a breather from the casino activities.

We retired early (5:30 a.m. is early, wouldn't you say) and were enjoying a hearty room-service breakfast at 4 p.m. next day in our dining alcove overlooking the pool.

STRIP TOUR

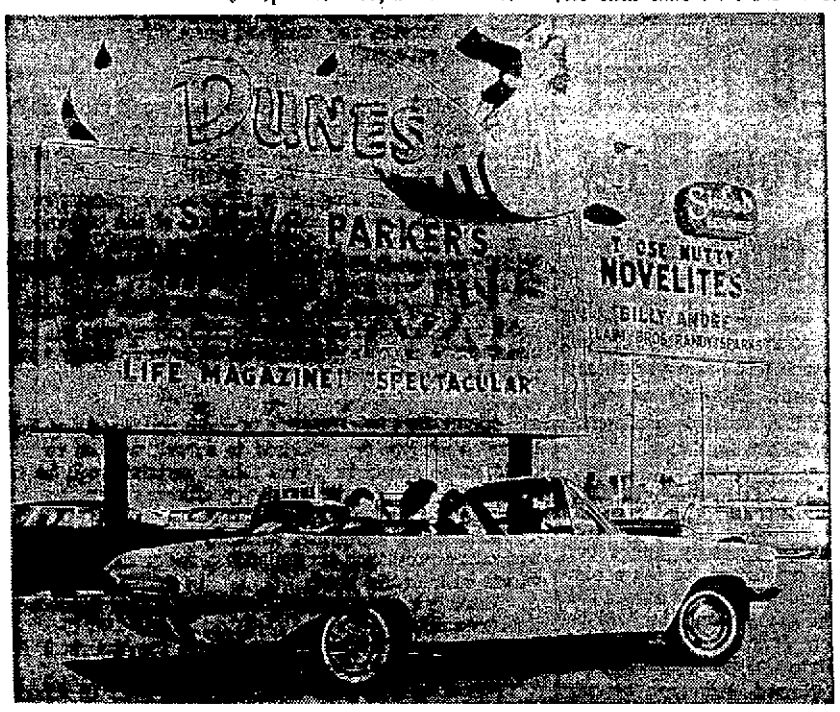

You seldom sit still in Las Vegas and we followed the usual pattern. Back in our Olds Cutlass for a tour of the bustling Strip, we sampled the lounge entertainment in a variety of name hotels. Although the big names like Sinatra, Danny Kaye, Kay Starr, didn't appear till the dinner shows, we did enjoy the talents of Roberta Lynn, the De Castro Sisters, Harry James and a few other lesser names in the entertainment world.

Then it was time for that gourmet dinner delight at the Sultan's Table which I described earlier in the article and after that, anything in glitterville suffered by comparison.

Suddenly, our two days in Las Vegas were gone. Late Sunday afternoon found our foursome once more in our smart F-85, beach-bound.

Checking gas mileage at Browning's 1227 L. B. Blvd. plant Monday morning the F-85 speedometer showed we had gone 629 miles while using 34.5 gallons of gas for an average of 18.2 miles per gallon. This in a brand new Olds with automatic transmission at top-speed driving nearly every mile. Seems like a creditable performance.

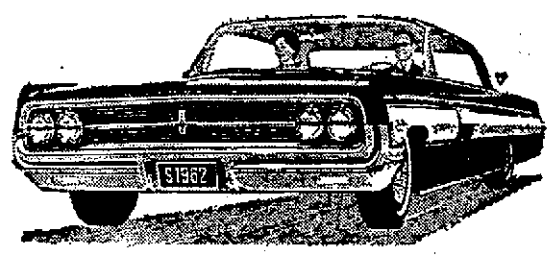

As to Las Vegas and the Dunes Hotel . . . fun, fantastic . . . and for the seventh or eleventh time . . . fabulous!

ELECTED QUEEN

Carol Plumlee, 20, daughter of Navy Capt. and Mrs. C. H. Plumlee, Long Beach Naval Station, has been elected 1961 Pomona College Homecoming queen. She reigned over festivities Saturday.

L.B. Theater Group Plans Conference

The Council of Living Theater, organization of Long Beach legitimate theater groups, Saturday moved to hold a one-day conference-workshop on drama.

Dr. David W. Sievers, elected chairman of the organization, named a five-man committee to study and report on a program for the conference. The Council agreed that the event should be held before June and at Long Beach State College if possible.

* * * *

COMMITTEE appointed by Sievers, professor of drama at State, to make recommendations to the full council includes Gerald Brown, managing director of Magnolia Theatre; Eleanor Shibley, president, Off - Broadway Theatre; James White, drama director at Long Beach City College, Business & Technical Division; Paap and Mrs. Irwin Cohen, of the Jewish Community Center Players, who will be chairman of the group.

The committee is scheduled to report to the full council at its next meeting Jan. 6.

Orange, U.S. Disagree on Swamp Cost

A proposal to convert swamp land at Sunset Beach into a small-craft harbor is at a standstill after the County of Orange and the Federal Government failed to agree on the appraised value of 63 acres of surplus Navy land.

Kenneth Sampson, county harbor manager, reported there is a 300-per-cent difference in appraised values on the swamp land. He said federal and county appraisers couldn't agree on the price to be paid for the property.

The county seeks to develop a small craft harbor and beach recreation area in the slough area.

County appraisers, according to Sampson, have valued the property at $3,750 an acre and county officials have indicated the price is right. However, General Services Administration appraisers set the price at $11,000 an acre.

This leaves negotiations at an impasse, Sampon said.

The Orange County Board of Supervisors has instructed Sampson to call in a third party to act as an independent appraiser in order to save the plan and reach an agreement on the price.

Seat Belt Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. says seat belts are catching on. Delivery of belts to its dealers has jumped more than 255 per cent—from an average of 6,000 a month last year to about 21,300 a month in recent months.

GRADE CARD

English and the Humanities Basic

By HARRY KARNS
School Research Associates

"Why do I have to take English? I'm not going to be a writer or an English teacher. I'm going to be a businessman."

To English teachers those lines are as familiar and irritating as the sound of a fingernail screeching across the blackboard.

Teachers of the humanities regularly encounter resistance from students who think engineering or business have nothing to do with such subjects as language and history.

Successful businessmen and engineers are among the first to tell those students otherwise.

HOWARD MARGENS is not an English teacher. He is a highly successful businessman—president of Procter & Gamble. Here's what he has to say on the subject:

"Tomorrow's managers—who will be so very important to society—can learn much from the humanities. They can certainly profit by an understanding of history, of political philosophy, of both the social and the natural sciences. The great literature and the great religions of the world can contribute much to their understanding of people and of human values.

"Professional training is, of course, absolutely vital in these times, but professional training alone can never really solves the problems of the world. So let's never forget to nourish the study of humanities both in and out of the colleges."

BY DEFT footwork a student can avoid most of the the courses in the humanities. But sooner or later, in college, if not in high school, he will be exposed to some basic courses in the English language.

Knowledge of English is important in almost every field. In fact, a fairly good command of the language is required to get into a field in the first place. You must be able to explain to a prospective employer what you can do and why you want the job.

After you get a job, you must know the language in order to understand orders that come down from the boss and to communicate your own views to your fellow workmen and subordinates.

SKILL IN LANGUAGE will make you stand out from others when you are required to submit written reports or to make speeches. These things certainly will be required of you as you assume positions of greater importance in your chosen field.

Languages, literature, philosophy, history, painting, and music provide a person with a wider range of ideas to use in his daily work.

These are the practical, bread-and-butter aspects of the humanities.

They should offer an incentive to the student if the sheer joy of a well-rounded education does not.

(Want to help your child do good work in school? Mail questions and requests to Harry Karns, Room 403, Independent, Press-Telegram. Letters cannot be answered individually, but some will be answered in the "Grade Card" column.)

MEDICINE AND YOU

Weather Effect on Heart Told

By BEN ZINSER and GEORGE X. TRIMBLE, M.D.

Additional evidence that weather and climate influence the heart-attack rate has been reported by Tulane University researchers.

Drs. N. P. DePasquale and G. E. Burch studied the seasonal incidence of acute coronary heart attacks in New Orleans for the period of 1952 through 1955.

They did this by checking the records of 1,582 heart-attack patients admitted to Charity Hospital of Louisiana in New Orleans.

Most attacks, they found, occurred in August, the city's hottest and most humid month. The fewest attacks were seen in December.

The incidence of heart attacks declined gradually from January to June, they report. It increased in July and August. Then it declined again.

The doctors say that heat stress appears to have a cumulative effect. Although June is a hot and humid month, there was no increase until July.

"The influence of weather and climate (in heart attacks) cannot be ignored," the doctors state in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

The finding is that of Drs. C. O. Carter and K. A. Evans of the Hospital for Sick Children in London, England.

They studied 642 mongols born between 1944 and 1955 and found that the younger the mother, the greater the likelihood of her bearing more than one mongol child.

Specifically, the British study shows:

- If a mother with one mongol child is under 25, there's a 50-fold risk she'll bear another child similarly afflicted.
- If the mother is between 25 and 34 years old, the risk of having a second mongol child is fivefold.
- Over 35, there's no increased risk.

ANIMAL BITES are up from 16,609 to 18,658 a year in Los Angeles City, health authorities disclose.

Here's a run-down on some of the unusual bites reported the past year:

Ape 4, badger 1, bear 1, chinchilla 1, chipmunk 16, coatimundi 3, coyote 2, deer 1, donkey 7, fox 4, goat 5, gopher 91, guinea pig 52, hamster 347, kinkajou 3, ocelot 7, opossum 16, otter 1, raccoon 4, rat 224, skunk 13, squirrels 93, weasel 6, mole 3, bat 4.

The greatest number of bites (15,180) were inflicted by dogs. Next in line were cat bites—2,078.

Bites reported during the previous year—but not in 1961—include eland 1, leopard 2, mink 1, parrot 4.

AN AUTHORITATIVE study of the structure and function of the human body has been prepared for public distribution by the American Medical Association.

Entitled "The Wonderful Human Machine," the 56-page book describes in detail—but in easy-to-read language—the composition and functions of the skeleton, muscles, nerves, heart, lungs, skin, digestive system and sense organs.

Illustrated in color, the book was written for the layman. It's authoritative enough to serve as a basic reference work for a beginning biology class.

As a public service, the AMA is distributing the book for a price less than the cost of producing and handling it.

For your copy, send $1 to the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago 10, Ill.

Masai to Send Kennedy Thanks

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—The 8,000 primintive Masai tribesmen will send President Kennedy a tribal shield and spear as thanks for saving them from starvation. The tribe has been kept alive in its drought-stricken preserve for three months by U.S. famine-relief corn.

The corn has helped to clothe as well as feed the tribesmen. Masai children wear dresses made of the corn sacks, which bear the message: "Corn Donated by the People of the United States."

Skipper of Prince's Yacht Shot to Death

LONDON (UPI)—The skipper of Prince Philip's racing yacht Bluebottle, Clive Smith, 30, was found shot to death in his home Saturday with a shotgun by his side, police reported.

They said foul play was not suspected.

Man Leaves Prison, Then Stabs Wife

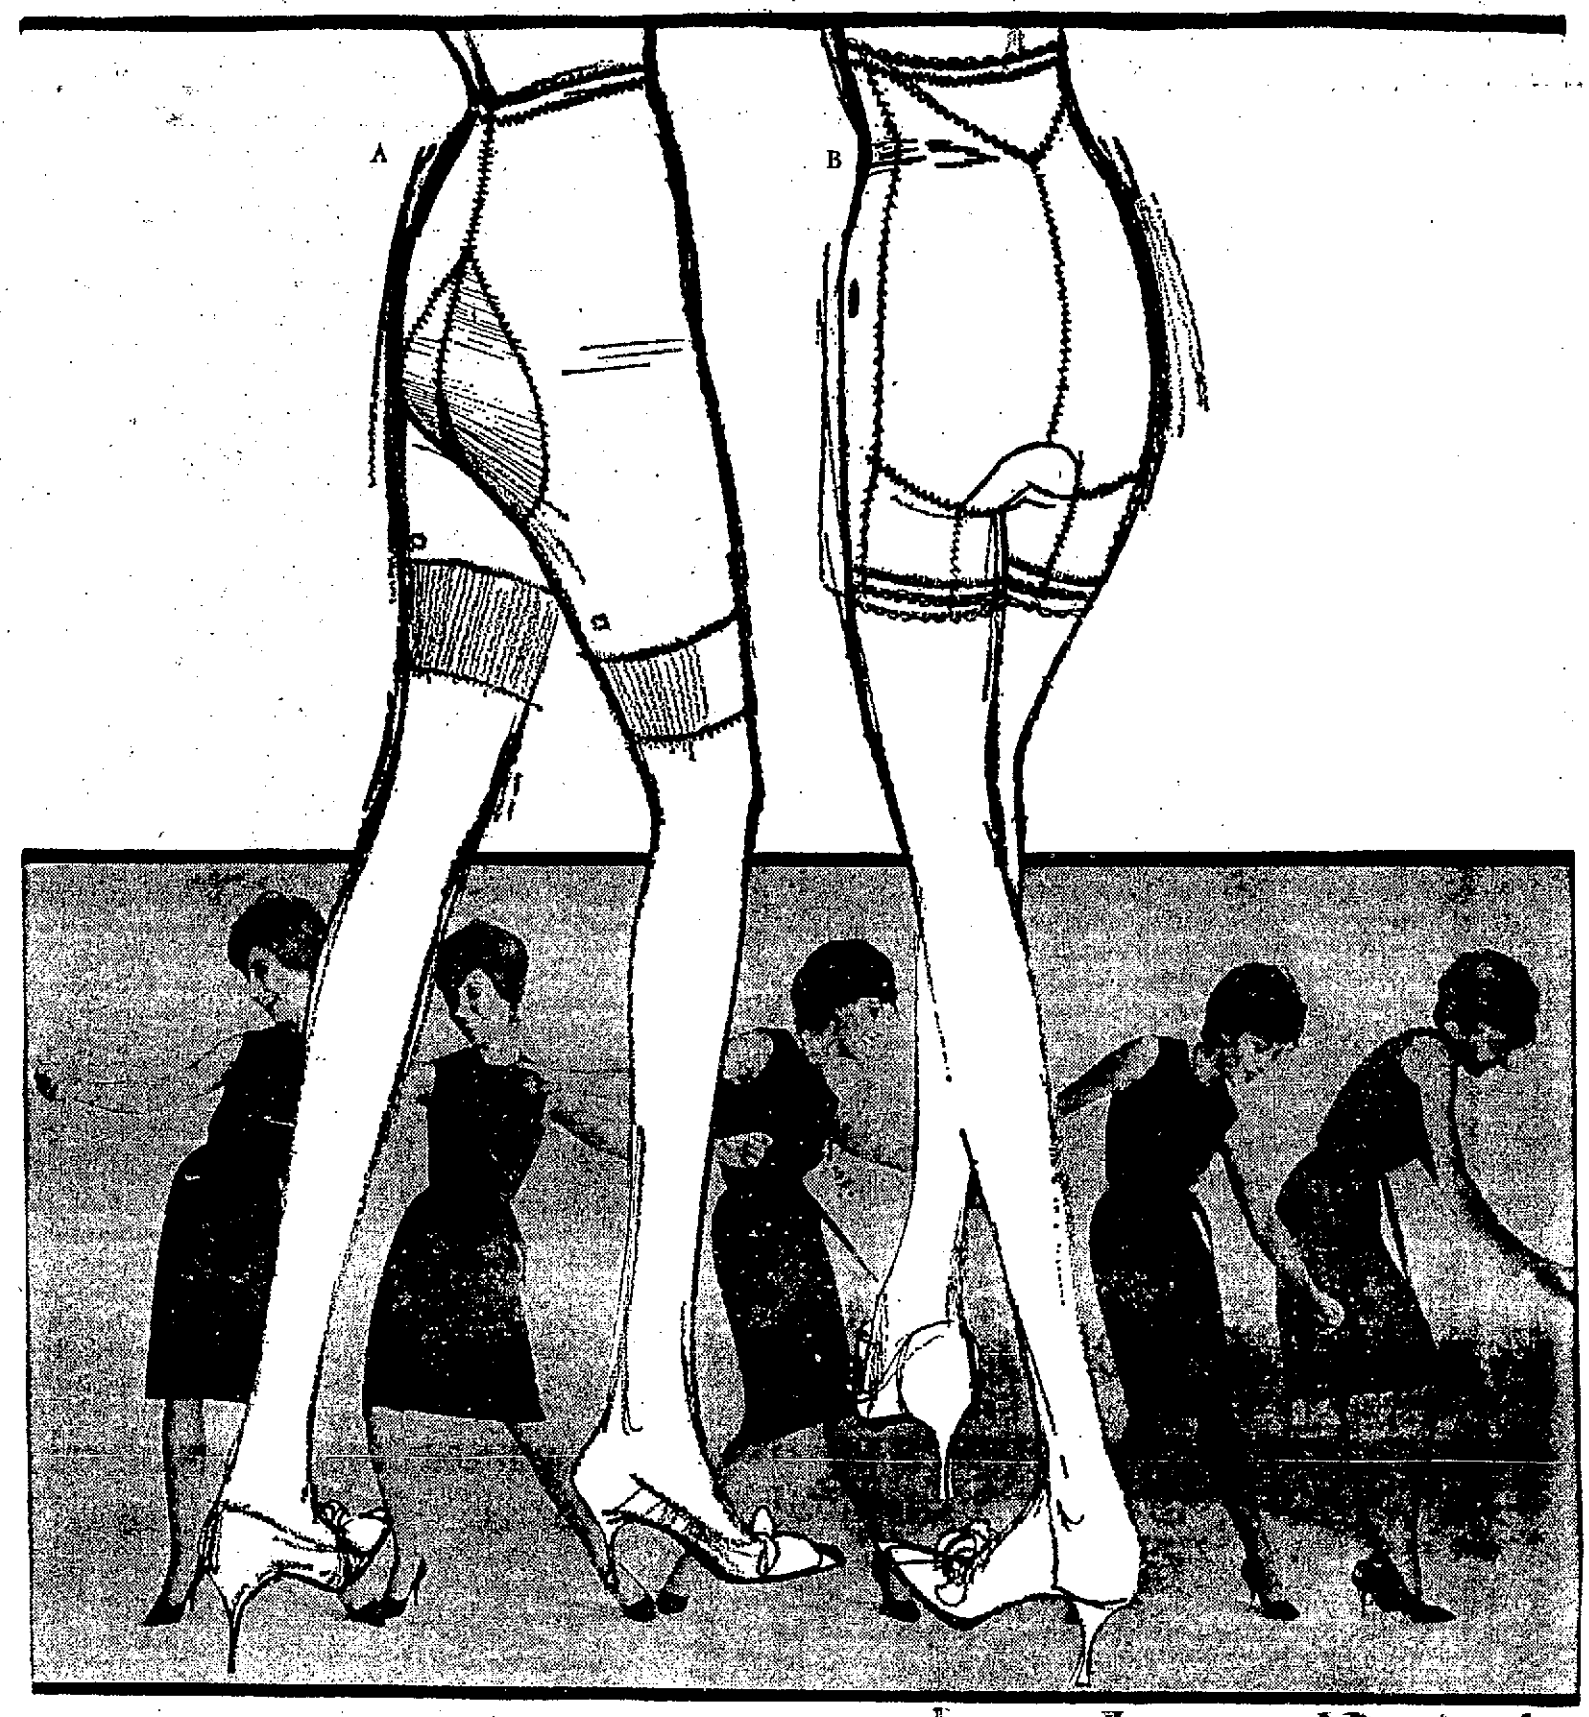

NAPLES, Italy (UPI)—Francesco Carrino walked out of prison after serving a term for fraud and immediately stabbed his wife, waiting outside the gates.

She was rushed to a hospital and Carrino escaped.

Buffum Fete Brings Aid to City of Hope

FUNDS FOR CITY OF HOPE

President Morris Singer of the Long Beach Sponsors Club receives a check for $30,412.48 from Harry Buffum for the City of Hope. The money was contributed by many who joined in sponsoring a portfolio of recognition to Buffum for his help for the City of Hope.

Another $30,412.48 has gone to the City of Hope thanks to the Long Beach Sponsors Club and Harry Buffum.

Buffum recently was honorer with the Torch of Hope Award at a dinner organized by a steering committee of the Sponsors Club. The award was for the great assistance Buffum has been in helping finance the City of Hope.

Wednesday night the club held a dinner to honor the steering committee for the success of the Buffum affair and during the evening Buffum presented club president Morris Singer with a check for $30,412.48. The sum represented donations made by people who joined in sponsoring a portfolio in recognition to Buffum.

Aaron Schultz, past president of the club, awarded plaques of recognition to the committee who directed the Buffum-fete. They went to V.G. Young, honorary chairman; H. E. Ridings Jr., chairman, Sam Cameron, Henry Clock, Darrell Neighbors and Robert L. Irvin.

The Sponsors Club is devoted to sponsoring financial help to the City of Hope.

NOTES OF BUSINESS

Van Camp Testing Aluminum Tuna Can

Experimental packing of limited quantities of tuna in aluminum cans is under way as part of a research program in which Van Camp Sea Food Co., Long Beach, is cooperating with the American Can Co. and Reynolds Metals Co.

The research project involves cans of the half-pound or regular size. The containers used in the testing program were manufactured at the Wilmington plant of American Can. The aluminum for the cans was supplied from Reynolds plant in Alabama.

* * * *

OFFICIALS SAID that the pilot pack in aluminum cans is part of Van Camp's continuing program of research and development in a variety of fields involving laboratory studies and test marketing to determine consumer reactions. The firm's commercial volume of tuna in the half-pound or regular size continues to be packed in conventional tinplate cans.

The aluminum half-pound container in experimental use is a drawn seamless round can. Van Camp is the first seafood packer to test market tuna in aluminum cans. Officials said the market test will continue for several months.

THE REAL ESTATE firm of Walker & Lee, Inc. represented buyers or sellers in four recent transactions totaling $4,060,000, Frank R. Hart, executive vice president, announced.

"Walker & Lee represented the Cypress Mines Corp. in in the $2,500,000 purchase of the Forest Cox property in Phoenix, from the trust department of Valley National Bank in that city," Hart said.

The property will continue to be developed as a residential subdivision, following plans of the previous owner who was killed in an airplane crash early this year.

In the second sale, the firm represented the Isabel Lewis Co. Inc., in a 3,300-acre transaction for $1,000,000. The property is contiguous from the north entrance at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

In Ventura County, Walker & Lee obtained a 46-acre parcel for $560,000 for the building firm of Davies, Keusder & Brown Construction Co.

In an exchange of property worth $500,000, Sam Neville, manager of the Walker & Lee commercial and industrial division, represented both buyer and seller.

Southland Growth Over 1,000 Daily

Southern California's population is estimated to have increased by 377,600 during the 12-month period ended July 1, 1961, Security First National Bank's research department reports.

Only four years — 1951-52, 1955-56, 1956-57—have registered greater numerical gains.

* * * *

THE STATE as a whole had a population increase of approximately 585,000 in the 1960-61 period, with the 14 southernmost counties accounting for nearly 65 per cent of the gain, Security Bank said.

Counties having the largest numerical gains were: Los Angeles, 155,600; Orange, 72,000; San Diego, 66,800; Santa Barbara, 14,600; Riverside, 14,400; Ventura, 12,600; and San Bernardino, 12,400.

Couties showing largest percentage increases were: Orange, +10%; Santa Barbara, +8.5%; San Diego, +6.4%; Ventura, +6.2%; San Luis Obispo, +4.8%; Riverside, +4.6%; and Kings, +4.2%.

Palm City Opening Is Continued Today

Grand opening of the second unit continues this weekend at Palm City, the $30 million desert retirement community near Palm Springs, following special ceremonies held Nov. 11-12.

An estimated 8,000 people visited the city-size senior citizens project during the first week of the new unit's opening, according to developer Nels Severin.

In addition to a tree-planting ceremony Nov. 11, refreshments were served to visitors, free packages of dates were given away, community singing was led by television personality Art Baker.

VISITORS TOURED the seven furnished model homes, the cooperative apartments, recreation center, assembly hall, two swimming pools, therapeutic pool, shuffleboard courts, horseshoe pits, and patio and picnic areas.

HE NOTED that the first unit of 450 homes, opened last March, was nearly sold out before opening of the No. 2 section.

The second unit will consist of 463 two- and three-bedroom homes, offered in 31 exteriors. Also 184 cooperative apartments will be built.

The homes, many of which have two bathrooms, are moderately priced, starting at $12,995. One member of each family must be 50 years of age of over, and children under 18 are not allowed, except as visitors.

Sales agent is Tom Key Realty, Inc.

Palm City is located 16 miles southeast of Palm Springs, and a few miles north of Hwy. 111.

Dollar Display Weight Problem

The biggest bugaboo may be the weight problem. The million would weigh about 63,000 pounds—heavy enough to collapse an ordinary floor.

Family Wins $100 in Toys at Sears

The Sidney Engel family of 2006 W. Spring St. won $100 worth of toys of their choice in a drawing held Nov. 11 at Sears, Roebuck & Co., Fifth and Long Beach Blvd.

The Engels have a son, Allan, who showed typical 13-year-old excitement and enthusiasm over the fun of picking his toys.

However, the real excitement was that of a foster child, who is in their charge, 8½-year-old Gabriel Drapel, a refugee from Cuba. His parents are small shop owners in Cuba who sent the boy here for his safety. The Engels took over his care through a charitable organization. Young Gabriel was extremely excited in this marvelous world of toys and was especially grateful in view of the fact that he has had very few toys of his own.

Clark Staves Realty Speaker

Bill Ballard, program chairman for the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Clark Staves, vice president and chief titleofficer of Security Title Insurance Co., will be the guest speaker at the breakfast meeting at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday, at the Crown Cafeteria. His topic will be 'Automatic Subordination.'

WIN $100 IN TOYS

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Engel and their son, Allen, 13, and Gabriel Drapel, a Cuban refugee lad in their care, are pictured in Sears where they picked up $100 in toys of their own selection. They won the toys in an award Nov. 11.

Marine Terrace Homes Selling at Rapid Pace

ELEGANCE IS KEYNOTE
This living room in a Marine Terrace Home features the floor-to-ceiling fireplace of Palos Verdes stone, beautiful paneling and wall-to-wall carpeting as well as big picture windows. Elegance is the keynote throughout the homes.

Large, luxury homes in Marine Terrace, in the heart of the Palos Verdes Peninsula, are selling at a record pace and the 112 homes should all be gone in a short time, Crest Realty, sales agents, announced.

As of Saturday only 44 of the homes remained to be sold but they still provide buyers with a full selection of the models offered in the development.

Beautifully situated on Palos Verdes Drive West, Marine Terrace is just 1½ miles west of Marineland. The homes, designed for gracious living and entertainment, front toward the Pacific Ocean and majestic cliffs.

* * * *

Offering three or four bedrooms and two or two and a half baths, most of the homes have separate dining areas and contain from 1,900 to 2,000 square feet of living space plus large garages.

There is wall-to-wall carpeting throughout, central vacuum cleaning system, forced-air heating. The Medallion all-electric homes have complete built-in electric kitchens with range, double oven, dishwasher, disposal and the cabinets are in natural ash.

* * * *

BEAUTIFUL Palos Verdes stone fireplaces, slate entryways, covered patios and private dressing rooms are among other features of these luxury homes which are priced from $31,500 to $39,600.

Although in a secluded setting these big homes are only minutes from downtown Long Beach. From here they may be reached by driving west to Western Ave., turning right on Palos Verdes Dr. West and to the models.

Tiny Schools Still in Use

NASHVILLE (AP)—The traditional one-room school isn't completely removed from Tennessee. In 1960 there were 364 serving 7,280 students in the state. Tennessee education commissioner Joe Morgan says, however, this is only a fifth of the number which taught 21,980 students 10 years ago.

Garden Park Estates Sales Hit $10 Million

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE

Showing of Garden Park Estates' "1962 Series" of architect-designed luxury homes coincides with the report that the $10 million mark in sales has just been passed in this home community at Knott Ave., and Garden Grove Freeway, W. R. Effinger, sales director, announced.

Current opening introduces all-new designs, new features, new "everything but the quality construction," Effinger said.

Even the financing is new. Veterans are now offered VA loans with a "move-in" of $97.97 with monthly payments from $97.97, including principal and interest, and along with Cal-Vet and good conventional loans, buyers now have the new 35-year FHA loans. Full prices are from $17,450.

Built by S & S Construction Co., well-known Southland builders noted for quality construction, the homes have been individually styled. Exteriors embrace a range of architectural elevations that include Ranch, Modern, Conventional and handsome Contemporary. Flexible and spacious, the plans are designed with three and four bedrooms with dining area and family room and two luxurious baths as well as big two-car garage.

All plans are designed around a convenient center hallway anad all have entry halls. In many there are master bedroom suites and separate service porches. The garages provide extra storage space, and an Orange County "first," there are concrete driveways.

* * * *

AMONG THE many fine features are wood-burning fireplaces, sliding glass doors to the garden-patio areas, forced air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch, attractive baths with colored plumbing fixtures and pullman lavatories, new decorator selected lighting fixtures and sound conventional construction with genuine lath and plaster walls and ceilings.

Furnished model display is reached by driving from Long Beach east on Seventh Street past Long Beach State College, straight to Knott Avenue, and the models.

Spanish Style Home Is Proving Popular

IN GOLDEN WEST ESTATES

The Spanish-style plan also includes a secluded side patio, with both patios accessible from the spacious kitchen-family-living room complex, he said.

PRICED from $17,500, the homes include three or four bedrooms, family room, two baths, and a large two-car garage. Available are outstanding new 35-year, 5¼ per cent FHA terms. FHA down payments are from $800. Also offered are VA no-down-payment terms, as well as conventional terms with down payments from $695.

Quality features of the Golden West homes include modern breakfast bars, natural ash kitchen cabinets, sliding glass doors, forced-air heating, stall showers, large service areas, exhaust fan in kitchen and baths, center entry halls.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by driving east on Seventh St. to Golden West St., then right to furnished models.

The meeting will be held at the Long Beach Elks Lodge.

Two Model Homes Now on Market

The final two model homes of the popular Anawood development in West Anaheim will be put up for sale today to close out the well located development, the builders reported.

The two landscaped and fenced models will bring to the buyer who wants immediate occupancy a choice of a three-bedroom home with family room or a four-bedroom home with family room, the Anawood builders explained.

* * * *

FLEXIBLE TERMS and occupancy within a few days is promised on either home. Both have built-in kitchens, custom cabinets, mural wallpapers, attractive fireplaces, wood paneling and many other features.

The four-bedroom home has wool carpet throughout and is fully custom draped.

To visit the Anawood model homes, drive east on Seventh street to Beach Boulevard and turn north to Katella, then east to Euclid and north to the models.

Right Words Aid Business

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) —Don't say "off season." Say "thrift season" or "economy season."

This can make all the difference in the world for a summer resort, G. Raymond Wood, executive director of the Southern New Jersey Development Council, told a civic group.

"The phrase 'off season has an indication that there is nothing doing," he said.

ON BOARD

James B. Taylor, 3925 Pacific Ave., general manager of the gas department of Signal Oil, has been named to the board of directors of the National LP-Gas Council, the sales promotion and public relations arm of the liquified petroleum gas industry.

Big Pacesetter Homes in Mesa Verde Development in Demand

Sales in Unit 2 of Pacesetter Homes, exclusive Mesa Verde development, have already zoomed to the half-million dollar mark, although the first of these newest luxury homes won't be ready for occupancy until late November or early December.

That's the word from John Klug and Walter Gayner, partners in Orange County's fast-paced Pacesetter joint venture, and builders of Units No. 1 and 2 of the present subdivision.

* * * *

THE MESA VERDE homes, under construction in Costa Mesa's Mesa Verde Country Club district, represent only one of several fine home developments which have been initiated under the Pacesetter banner, and are responsible for an outstanding sales record thus far, according to Klug.

The development, which features a limited edition of custom-styled homes, offers a choice of four models, 15 exteriors and several floor plans. Unit 1, recently completed, still affords the purchaser who is interested in immediate occupancy, a limited choice of styles, sales manager George Niederauer reported.

According to Niederauer, an unusually popular drawing card seems to be the smog-free climate which the Harbor Area enjoys. "We're getting buyers from as far away as San Fernando Valley," he said.

Prices on the three and four-bedroom homes begin at $25,650 with $1450 down and conventional financing.

Pacesetter Homes are located on Mesa Verde Drive just off Adams Street in Costa Mesa. They may be reached from the Santa Ana Freeway by taking either Harbor Boulevard or Brookhurst Avenue to Adams Street in Costa Mesa.

Grand Opening Today for East Orange Grand Highlands

Grand opening of Highland Gardens in East Orange will be held starting today with furnished models open for inspection, according to Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent.

The suburban area should please many families with children, with its quiet, tree-lined streets, yet Highland Gardens is within easy distance of many fine shopping areas, new schools and churches, Hayes says. The Newport Freeway, now under construction, is just a few blocks away and connects with both the Santa Ana and the Riverside Freeways for fast, efficient traveling to employment and the fun centers.

* * * *

AMONG MANY fine features, Highland Gardens homes have unique "living ceilings," which capture and reflect light; wall-to-wall carpets, built-in range and oven, forced-air heat, spacious living rooms, fireplace, kitchen cabinets in natural finish, exteriors richly embellished with stone, plus a host of other features tailored to the modern family's needs.

The three and four bedroom, and ¾ bath homes are priced at $16,995 with just $95 down, and are easily reached from the Santa Ana Freeway by taking the Chapman Avenue turnoffs east through the city of Orange to Alameda St., two miles east of Tustin Ave. Turn north on Alameda to Bond St. and the model homes in East Orange.

Setting Fast Pace for Sales

Fullerton West, walled community by Park Village Homes, reports its third unit one-third sold shortly after the grand opening.

The unusual public response is attributed by sales agents Walker & Lee to "the right house in the right location at the right prices and terms."

The development, while in a residential setting, is a couple of minutes from entry to the Santa Ana Freeway, and 25 minutes from Los Angeles Civic Center. Strategically located in the western section of the city of Fullerton, it is close to elementary and high schools, colleges, shopping centers, and major employment plants.

* * * *

A WIDE CHOICE of three and four-bedroom and family room plans is available. Massive stone fireplaces and sliding walls of glass to patio and garden area are features of dramatic living rooms, many of the step-down variety.

Another popular feature is select oak hardwood floors over tongue and groove subfloors. Wrought iron railings, hardwood paneling, decorator wallpaper and shake and shingle roofs are other Fullerton West highlights.

Homes are fully priced from $18,250, and may be purchased on a variety of terms, including "VA-No Down" and FHA.

Big Niguel Terrace Sites Hold Appeal

HOME HAS PLAYGROUND
This Niguel Terrace home has a large playground showing how large the sites are for the homes.

Large lots on which homes in Niguel Terrace are being erected, have been meeting wide approval of home viewers.

To show the extra space provided in these luxury homes in Laguna Niguel, one of the model homes now open has a special play yard in the rear, in addition to a large patio.

Niguel Terrace and Monarch Bay are the first sections to be developed in this ultimate community of homes and apartments, shopping centers and churches, schools and recreational facilities, scheduled for completion in 10 years.

* * * *

OVER TWO million dollars in land and homes has been sold since July, with many homes completed or under construction. Thirty homes completed or under construction. Thirty homes will be available shortly.

More than adequate water has been provided for the entire project. The golf course is being landscaped for play next summer.

Houses with lot, start at $40,000. Lots are priced from $10,500.

Laguna Niguel may be reached via the Santa Ana-San Diego Freeway to Capistrano Beach, then north two miles on 101A Pacific Coast Highway or through South Laguna to 32802 Pacific Cst. Hwy.

"THANKS TO REAL ESTATE, MY SON'S GOING TO COLLEGE,"

says Mr. Martinez

"We've always hoped we'd be able to send our boy to college," Mr. Martinez told us. "That's why, years ago, I started saving a dollar here, a dollar there. The only trouble was, it wasn't adding up very fast... not until a friend told us the secret of how to save."

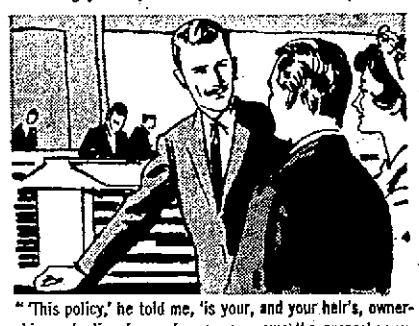

"'The secret,' he said, 'is California's own—California land. Over the years, it has increased in value. So, when you buy it by the month, you're actually forcing yourself to save a certain amount every month, and you're buying something you may be able to sell later for a profit.'"

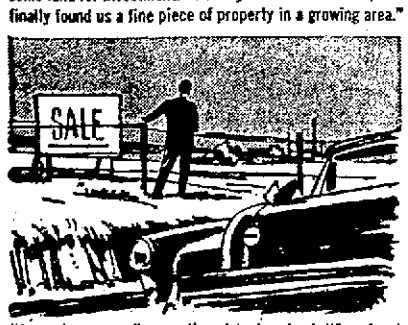

"For once in my life, I took some good advice. When we had a couple of hundred dollars saved, we went to a realtor and told him we wanted to make a down payment on some land for investment. He really worked hard for us, and finally found us a fine piece of property in a growing area."

"With his help, we arranged for financing, and a few days later the seller and I opened an escrow. The escrow officer was a real help, too. In addition to handling all the paperwork, he recommended that we protect our ownership rights with a Title Insurance and Trust Company title policy."

"'This policy,' he told me, 'is your, and your heir's, ownership protection for as long as you own the property you buy. And, of all title companies, T.I. has the best facilities for searching the titles of California property. That's why I recommend T.I. to all my customers,' he said."

"Over the years, I've continued to buy land. When I get one piece paid for, I sell it for a profit and use the money as a down payment on another. The last piece I sold gave us enough money to finance my son's entire college education. California land's certainly been good to us."

"And, with every purchase, I've had my title searched and insured by T.I. They've got up-to-date land records plus the largest staff of title experts. That's why their service is so fast and low-in-cost. Take some good advice from me. When you sell or buy, specify T.I."

MANY CUSTOM FEATURES OFFERED

Desirable location near several of Southern California's most popular beaches, moderate prices and award-winning floor plans designed for family living are attracting increasing crowds to Dutch Haven's Unit 19, on Edinger Ave. near Bolsa Chica in Huntington Beach.

Previewed two weeks ago, the new community of "American Homes Series" residences is experiencing steady sales increases and all present signs point to an early sellout.

Edward S. Boyd, sales agent for Unit 19 said that another important factor contributing to the community's immediate success is the decision of developers to maintain previously established selling prices, while still offering custom features identical with those shown at prior Dutch Haven communities.

* * * *

UNIT 19 is the third Huntington Beach unit opened since May by Luxury Homes, Inc., developers of Dutch Haven communities. The other two units, No. 17 and 18, are on Bolsa Chica and on Beach Blvd.

The opening of Unit 19 places Dutch Haven development plans in the Huntington Beach area six to eight months ahead of original schedules. Speed-up of proposed plans resulted from unprecedented buyer response to Units 17 and 18.

* * * *

SEVERAL FLOOR plans being featured at Unit 19 have won national recognition in home magazines. There are 16 exterior elevations, including the Dutch Provincial, Ranch House, Colonial and Hawaiian modern styles which have been best-sellers at previous Dutch Haven communities.

Homes are three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. Prices start at $14,950 with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at the newly authorized 5¼ per cent interest rate are also available. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments, the spokesman declared.

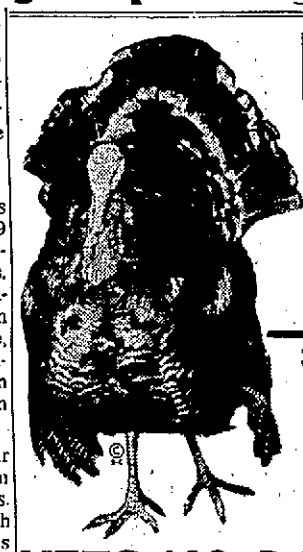

To visit the homes from Long Beach, drive east on Seventh St. to Beach Blvd. then right to the models.

NEW 35-YEAR—5¼% FHA TERMS!

Sunkist Plaza FHA Terms Boost Sales

New FHA terms at Sunkist Plaza have inspired a countless number of sales, according to a spokesman at this Huntington Beach development.

The new terms incorporate a 35-year loan plan which in many cases has been the allowing factor for purchase of these homes.

Immediate occupancy at Sunkist Plaza has been another contributing factor toward the heavy sales of these homes.

This is the first phase of a proposed 2,200 unit development which consists of more than 100 contemporary-designed homes. The new homes feature the finest in construction and also four convenient floor plans along with 25 exteriors.

* * * *

THE PLANS include three or four bedrooms, family room, two baths, built-in gas range and oven, wall-to-wall carpeting, slump stone or brick wood burning fireplaces, and thermostatically controlled forced-air heating.

Other desired features include color coordinated range, hood and light, with electric fan, disposals, lavish ash cabinets, coved Formica counters throughout, matico vinyl-asbestos tile, pullman cabinets in bathrooms, rock wool insulation over entire ceiling, and 100 amp. electric service.

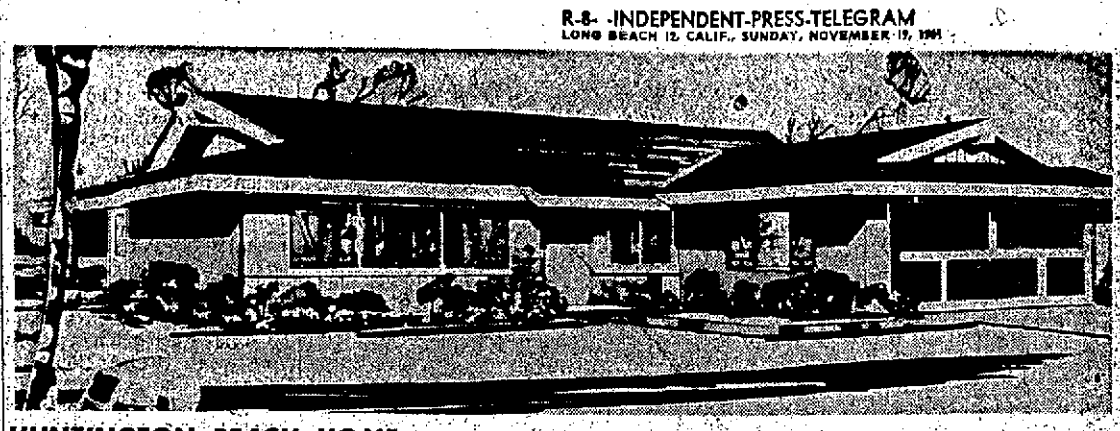

Other terms at Sunkist Plaza include Cal-Vet, along with VA terms of no down payment and just $95 total move-in cost.

* * * *

FULL PRICE of these spacious homes is as low as $17,450. Monthly payments are as low as $96.28, principal and interest.

According to Sy Bram, general manager, "Huntington Beach is the fastest growing area along the south coast." Bram reports that the community concept insures the buyer that every convenience and service is furnished. New shopping centers and schools, expanding local employment and recreational facilities are particularly suited to meet the needs of the growing family.

HUNTINGTON BEACH HOME
This is one of the models in Sunkist Plaza in Huntington Beach where new FHA terms incorporating a 35-year loan plan are offered. The homes are priced from $17,450.

Now Selling Las Lomas Apartments

The first of a series of projects in an extensive upgrading and rehabilitation program will be open to viewers today in residential Long Beach, announced a spokesman for the Mills Construction Co.

Situated in Park Estates, the Las Lomas Apartments project is part of an improvement program which will total three-quarters of a million dollars when completed, the spokesman said. Completely remodeled and refurnished by the Mills Construction Co., the apartments are already 50 per cent sold to investors.

* * * *

ATTRACTIVENESS of the apartments lies in a combination of interior roominess, spacious grounds, and a favorable location in an area known as the "Beverly Hills of Long Beach," he said.

Las Lomas Apartments are situated just across from Recreation Park golf links, with easy access to inviting Pacific Coast beaches. Nearby are Long Beach State College and the Long Beach Marina.

Will Direct Home Sales

Costa Pacifica Inc., home building firm, has signed a contract with the real estate firm of Walker & Lee, Inc. to handle sales of four pilot model houses in Newport Harbor area, William O. Thagard, vice-president of the sales organization, announces.

Ted. E. Gildred and Dick Hoerger, partner-owners of the construction firm, said the four pilot houses will be ready for occupancy in the Newport Heights section of Orange County by Dec. 10. The models may be viewed at 2050-2054-2058 Aliso St. and 2059 Paloma Drive. In addition the firm announces 44 homes in the City of Orange will be completed by early spring of 1962," Thagard said.

Washington's L.B. Victory Jinx Holds

By DAVE LEWIS

The Washington Huskies came snarling out of their "lucky" Long Beach camp Saturday to hand the UCLA Bruins a jolting 17-13 setback before 33,969 fans in the Coliseum and salvage a so-so season for Jim Owens' crew from Seattle which had earlier been eliminated from a third straight bid to the Rose Bowl through a loss to California and a tie with USC.

Despite the defeat the Bruins are still very much alive for the AAWU title and Rose Bowl bid, however. They can still salvage both honors next Saturday with a victory over USC, but the loss has ruled out an "automatic" conference crown and bowl bid through a tie with USC. They must win now to finish in front.

* * * *

UCLA IS 2-1 in conference play to USC's 2-0-1 and Washington's 2-1-1.

It was a nightmarish afternoon for the Bruins from the opening kickoff, which Charlie Mitchell returned 90 yards for a touchdown, to the final seconds of play when Ezell Singleton's pass to Don Vena in the end zone for what would have been the winning score was knocked out of the Bruin receiver's hands at the last instant by Washington halfback Nat Witmyer.

The Huskies had 10 points on the scoreboard before UCLA was able to run off one play successfully due to Mitchell's "blastoff" and a field goal by sophomore Rick Smidt from the 11-yard line following a Bruin fumble.

However, the Bruins fought back to regain a 13-10 halftime lead when they opened up with their long-absent aerial game for two touchdowns in the second quarter, but yielded the deciding TD to Washington at the outset of the fourth period when they were unable to claw their way out of the hole after penalties had shoved them back almost to their goal line.

* * * *

THREE successive penalties —a five and two 15-yarders— on the first five plays of the final session pushed the Bruins from their own 37 back to the seven and annulled a 52-yard punt to the Husky 40 that might have enabled them to work their way out of danger.

But when the Bruins finally kicked out to their own 40, it took the Huskies just three plays to strike the death blow.

Quarterback Kermit Jorgensen raced eight yards around right end, passed seven yards to Mitchell on the 25, and then pitched out to sophomore halfback Bill Siler, who cut back inside right end and slashed his way through a broken field for the tally at 2:08 of the concluding quarter. Smidt's second PAT produced the final count.

* * * *

UCLA MOVED out to the 49 after the kickoff before being stopped a foot shy of a first down and losing the ball to the Huskies at that point.

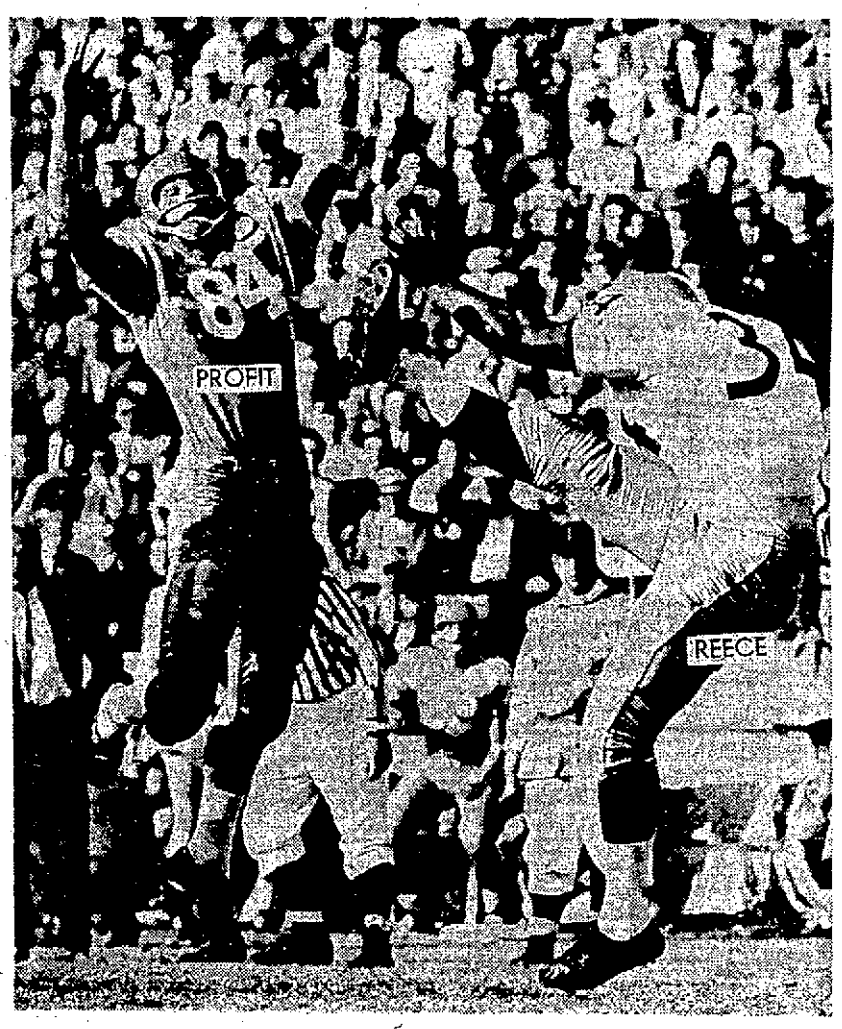

But the Bruins held tight and got the ball again with six minutes to go on their seven-yard line.

It looked like it was all over seconds later when Mike Haffner's pass was picked off by Jorgensen on the UCLA 32. But again the Bruins held, taking over on their 24 with three minutes left.

And the Bruins almost made it to pay dirt this time.

49ers Sink Peps, 22-15

By AL LARSON

Ron Bridwell barreled 27 yards for a touchdown on the opening play and Steve Hartman capped two second-half drives with short scoring bursts to highlight Long Beach State's 22-15 victory over Pepperdine Saturday night at Inglewood's Sentinel Field.

Rolling unchecked on the ground to the tune of 322 yards, the 49ers put the damper on Pepperdine's homecoming festivities and pulled their season record to 5-5. For the Peps, it ended a frustrating year of nine losses in 10 games.

* * * *

LONG BEACH jolted the partisan crowd of 1,500 when Mike Arntz recovered Gene Wilson's opening kickoff fumble on the Waves' 27. On the first play from scrimmage, Bridwell did his own version of the Twist when he followed a murderous wave of blockers into the end zone. Tom Turrill converted to give LBSC a 7-0 lead with only 10 seconds gone.

But for the next 29 minutes it was a case of blown opportunities as the 49ers had three scoring drives shortcircuited by two fumbles and an interception.

The Peps came up with key recoveries on their own 9 and 25-yard lines in the first period while Wilson swiped Pete Yoder's pass on his own 20 to kill another drive in the second period.

Bill Clark electrified Pepperdine fans when he raced 57 yards with a punt, enabling the Waves to tie the count at 7-7 after eight minutes had elapsed.

Henry Edney dashed 67 yards to set up Long Beach's go-ahead TD in the third quarter. Six plays later Hartman dived the final yard and Turrill added the PAT.

LBSC's final score was touched off by Curt Bennett's 20-yard punt return midway in the final period. With Don Briscoe carrying the brunt of the attack, Hartman scored his fifth TD of the year, this time from the two. Yoder passed to Bennet for two points to give State a 22-7 margin.

LBSC	7	0	7	8—22
Pepperdine	7	0	0	8—15

LBSC scoring: Bridwell (27 run), Hartman 2 (1 run, 2 run), PAT Turrill 2 (kick), Bennett (pass from Yoder).

LSU BREAKS RACE BARRIER FOR ANY BOWL

BATON ROUGE (AP)— The ghost of a segregation barrier faded away Saturday in the face of Louisiana State's desire to play football in any post-season bowl game offered.

The LSU Board of Supervisors unanimously reaffirmed a 1956 policy, unchanged through five years of legal and legislative battles over desegregation, saying the university would schedule varsity athletic contests with "major institutions of this and other sections of the country."

The action cleared the way for LSU to compete with any team, racially integrated or not, in the Orange Bowl or the Rose Bowl.

Weather Cold, Trojans Colder, 10-9

By JEROME HALL
L. P.-T. Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH—It was too cold to play football here Saturday, so the USC Trojans didn't.

In a game totally devoid of finesse but liberally spiced with turning points and debatable plays, the Pitt Panthers sneaked through with a 10-9 victory that the world will little note nor long remember, but one that the Trojan coaches won't soon forget.

TROY FUMBLED THE BALL away three times inside the Pitt 20 and missed a two-point conversion play by inches in the closing minutes that would have saved the day and sent them into next weekend's Rose Bowl showdown with at least more wins than losses.

But the Trojans showed an absence of offense to go with their lack of defense and played what coach John McKay said "had to be our worst game of the year."

The temperature was 36 degrees, but 34,820 showed up to watch the 7-point favored Panthers win their third game of the year against six losses. Troy is 4-4-1.

USC had a good chance for a tie in the final minutes when it scored on a 27-yard pass from QB Bill Nelsen to end Hal Bedsole. Trailing by one point, the Trojans went for the win just as they did in that comeback against Iowa.

And the margin of the miss was just about the same this time. Nelsen tried to throw a pass to Willie Brown in the corner. But Rick Leeson, Pitt's leading runner, batted it down. The ball fell just beyond the reach of Troy reserve end Hal Arnest. He may even have touched it.

"This was too far to come for a tie," said the crushed Trojan coach.

McKay said the cold weather "had nothing to do with it. We were just bad. If we play that way against UCLA it will be 50-0."

The Trojan passing game was kayoed when regular QB Pete Beathard was held out because of a broken rib, which had been kept a secret. Beathard was in long enough to throw three incomplete passes and lose seven yards running.

Troy went into the game praying for no injuries and had the prayers answered. But the Trojans came cast with so many ailments that five of the seven starting linemen were sophomores.

Willie Brown, the early-season star, played throughout the game—but as a flanker back. Only time he got hold of the ball was on kickoff returns. He ran two back 32 yards. He was not thrown any passes . . . until the vital conversion play.

In spite of the fizzle on offense, a USC passing record was tied. Bedsole's TD reception was his sixth, tying "noblest" Morley Drury, set in 1925. Two other Trojan passing records have fallen.

The Trojans showed only brief flashes of effectiveness. They had the breaks all the way. Pitt lost three fumbles, too. And Nelsen halted two Pitt drives with pass interceptions.

THE USC TOUCHDOWN DRIVE started when linebacker Warren Stephenson recovered a fumble at the Pitt 37. Nelsen gained 8, Wilson 2 and Nelsen threw 27 to Bedsole who made his only catch of the day. He caught it on the three and wiggled loose.

The Trojans started out as if to take command, moving quickly to the Pitt one and one-half yard line where they were stopped six inches short of a first down because Nelsen slipped in the soft turf on a fourth-down keeper.

Then the Trojans came right back for a field goal four minutes before the end of the first quarter. Little Carl Skvarna kicked the three-pointer from an angle at the 15 and it never was doubtful.

But things switched in a hurry. From that point Pitt took control and ran up a 171 to 40 yard total-offense

L.B. Charm Worked Again!

Long Beach's good-luck charm twirled a fourth consecutive time for its Seattle brethren Saturday—and the people who jammed into the Washington dressing room after the upset 17-13 conquest of UCLA began to suspicion we use some sort of alchemy on the Huskies when they come down here.

"I'm beginning to think there's something to our staying in Long Beach," laughed headman Jim Owens after the battle. "Our four best wins in two years came after staying in Long Beach."

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Be that as it may, the Huskies put forth their best effort of the season in completely throttling UCLA's touted ground game (the Bruins gained only 44 yards rushing all afternoon).

"We knew we'd have to stop UCLA at its strongest point if we expected to beat them," explained Owens. "Our idea was to have our ends turn in all the Bruin sweeps and let the others get to the ball carrier.

"And our ends — Bernardi, Alkire and Locknane —did a tremendous job.

"But in stopping UCLA's strong suit, we let them get away with something else—and that almost beat us."

Indeed it did. Ridiculed because it ordinarily played Stone Age, grind-it-out football, UCLA completed 12 passes for a whopping 241 yards against Washington.

Two words on the Bruin blackboard, "Kill White," spelled out Owens' last statement. The words were scrawled there by a player and referred to assistant coach Don White, who had scouted UCLA and returned with this report: "Forget their passing. They won't throw much!"

UCLA POPPED OUT with a terrific pass play off a fake quick kick that murdered Washington continually. Did this catch the Huskies by surprise?

"Nope," declared Owens. "We knew they had it, but we gambled on the quick kick and let the passing go. It's a heckuva play to defense, so our gambles cost us some yardage."

Washington's two touchdown plays naturally elated Owens.

"UCLA misjudged Charlie Mitchell's speed on that 90-yard run of the opening kickoff," chuckled the big boss from Oklahoma. "Usually we get a lot of blocking on our kickoffs, but we didn't on this one. Charlie just ran right past everybody.

"Siler (Bill) ran right by everybody on that 25-yard cutback, too. Give that boy lots of credit. He faked everybody toward the sidelines, then cut back before they knew what hit 'em."

DIPLOMATIC MR. OWENS rated USC and UCLA even, but his players gave UCLA a pronounced edge, even though the Trojans tied the Huskies in Seattle.

"Don't use my name because coach will get mad at me," commented one Husky, "but UCLA was twice as tough as USC. All those UCLA guys crack you hard, USC sort of bounces off."

A half-dozen other semi-nude Huskies chorused the same sentiment.

What's Owens going to do this New Year's Day, since his club earlier was knocked out of Rose Bowl contention?

"I'm going to sit in the Pasadena stands, smoke a big cigar and let the other guys worry," chuckled Owens, who was content to have his moment of Southland glory on Nov. 18 instead of the usual Jan. 1.

"It's bad enough to get beat, but when you get beat up like we did, it's too much," moaned Barnes, usually a composed man, win or lose. "Golly, were we lousy! My kids are more beat up today than they've been all season. This Washington team plays for keeps."

Barnes was so upset he dashed into the officials' quarters to learn why his punter, Keith Jensen, had been ousted in the final period.

"They said he used his elbow illegally after he had punted," sighed Barnes. "If I don't lose these kids one way, I lose them another."

I was about to ask Barnes to emulate Owens and spend the holidays in Long Beach if he got over USC next week. I didn't get the chance. He was banging his fists against a wall and I certainly didn't want to interrupt THAT!

DAZZLING DEE OFF AGAIN

Dee Reels Off 4 TDs in 58-6 LBCC Frolic

By BOB SHIBLEY

Rather, he rewrote one and in the process paced the Vikings to a record-setting 58-6 conquest of Valley at Veterans Stadium.

Andrews established five individual marks and tied another. As a team, the Vikes set a pair of standards.

* * * *

TEAM MARKS were for most points in a game, breaking the 54 scored against Santa Monica in 1950, and a season rushing average of 6.3 yards per carry. The 1950 squad averaged 6.2.

Fittingly, the final touchdown came on Long Beach's last play, a one-yard pass from Ed Reddick to Ev Jarred.

Despite the great team performance, it was Andrews who was the main attraction. For the Dazzler, it was the capper on a sparkling two-year jaycee career.

Dee's record included most yards in a game (262), most points in a game (28), most yards in two seasons (2,039), most points in one season (110) and most points in two seasons (170).

* * * *

ANDREWS' final carry in a Long Beach uniform was for a two-point conversion after he had gone 18 yards around right end for the touchdown with 10 minutes left. Four minutes later, Andrews and Willie Martin—who ended his tenure with two touchdowns and 81 yards on four carries —were given a standing ovation as they left the field.

The Dazzler came close to setting two more records. He finished the season with a total of 1,140 yards and a game average of 126.7. George Van Zant set both records (1,286 and 128.6) in 1950.

Long Beach scored two touchdowns in the first seven minutes and had a 14-0 lead almost before the crowd had settled. Andrews gained 24 yards on his first attempt and it was an indication of things to come.

* * * *

THE VIKINGS amassed a season high of 392 yards on the ground and a total offense of 516.

Despite staging the greatest one-man exhibition ever seen in the stadium, Andrews, ironically, cannot be selected Viking of the week due to a rule which prohibits a player from being given that honor more than once in a season.

Bears Crumbled by Kansas, 53-7

BERKELEY (AP) — Bulldozing halfback Curtis McClinton smashed over four touchdowns Saturday, pacing the Kansas Jayhawks to a crushing 53-7 victory over California.

Handing the Bears their worst loss since 1955 and scoring the most points against them since 1930, the Kansans posted their sixth straight 1961 victory and kept alive their hopes of an invitation to the Orange Bowl.

The 212-pound McClinton, a senior from Wichita, plunged from the three, two, six and two as he accounted for 24 points.

A CROWD OF 30,000 in Memorial Stadium saw McClinton tally touchdowns the first two times the Jayhawks controlled the ball this sunny afternoon as the hard-charging visitors' line throttled Cal until late in the game.

The 53-point total was the most by a Kansas team since Jack Mitchell took over as head coach four years ago. It was the most scored against California since Southern California beat the Bears, 74-0, 31 years ago, and the margin was the biggest since UCLA won, 47-0, in 1955.

The first time the Bears had the ball Saturday Jon Mason fumbled at his 17 and Phil Dougity recovered for Kansas. Four plays later, McClinton had his first touchdown.

Kansas netted two more touchdowns before the halftime intermission and led 28-0. Quarterback John Hadl pitched 15 yards to end Jay Roberts for one and McClinton added the other on his six-yard burst.

Mulleavy replaces Clay Bryant, who will succeed Goldie Holt as pitching coach in the Dodgers' farm system. Holt is now with the Chicago Cubs.

BLADES' RALLY SHY

Calgary Picks Up 5-4 WL Rink Win

The Los Angeles Blades rallied in the third period, but a last-minute drive by Calgary defenseman Fred Hucul gave the Stampeders a 5-4 Western Hockey League victory Saturday night at the Sports Arena.

At the start of the final period, Calgary held a 4-1 advantage, but a one-man effort by Blades center Gerry Goyer brought them up even with five minutes to go.

Goyer figured in all three scores, getting an assist just as the period got under way, then slamming in successive shots to give him the "hat trick" for the evening. He scored his first goal in the second period.

Oregon State Breezes Over Brigham Young

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP) — Oregon State scored on early drives of 70, 46 and 40 yards, then toyed with lighter, outmanned Brigham Young University in downing the helpless Cougars 35-0 Saturday.

A solid ground attack keyed all three first half drives, a pass interception set up the fourth score, and a recovered lateral accounted for the final Oregon State touchdown.

Brigham Young was not able to make any worthwhile gains until the second half. The Cougars gained only 60 yards in the first two quarters.

Ortiz Decisions Rosi, Earns Shot at Brown

The victory earned Ortiz a March, 1962, shot at world lightweight titleholder Joe Brown.

The decision was unanimous, but close.

Stanford Crushed by Cougars, 30-0

STANFORD (AP) — Senior quarterback Mel Melin, returning to his sensational 1960 passing form, threw two touchdown passes to Hugh Campbell, the nation's leading receiver, as Washington State crushed an injury-weakened Stanford team 30-0.

Melin also guided the Cougars on another touchdown drive, kicked a 22-yard field goal and booted three conversions.

The Cougars, who had lost six of their first seven games, now have won two in a row and own a 3-6 record. Stanford, 3-6, lost its fifth straight.

The Indians, weakened by injuries, went into the game without four of their regular starting players and had two more carried off the field.

Stanford managed just five first downs all day, only one of them in the first half when the Cougars took a 14-0 lead.

CANDIDATES LISTED FOR PREP CONTEST

The annual Independent, Press-Telegram-sponsored "Most Popular Prep Player" contest begins Tuesday and will run through midnight next Sunday.

Candidates are Bill Robinson (Wilson), Rick Bryson (Poly), Jim Fountaine (Jordan), Randy Valenzuela (Millikan), Jim Parks (Lakewood) and Homer Williams (St. Anthony). All were picked by team vote or by their coaching staff.

A special ballot will appear in the I,P-T every day beginning Tuesday through Thursday afternoon. Only these ballots will be counted as votes. Send them to "Most Popular Player" in care of the sports department of this newspaper.

No votes will be accepted after midnight Sunday.

Texas Halted by Spoiler TCU, 6-0

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Christian's spoiler Horned Frogs toppled No. 1 ranked Texas 6-0 Saturday on a 50-yard touchdown pass by towering quarterback Sonny Gibbs to end Buddy Iles.

The upset ended Texas' victory string at eight games and put a big kink in the Longhorns' Cotton Bowl plans.

Gibbs connected for the touchdown in the second period after Texas had marched to the Horned Frog one-yard line before a rugged TCU defense headed by Tommy Crutcher, Gary Thomas, Bill Phillips and Iles held on downs.

* * * *

THE LOSS dropped Texas into a tie for the Southwest Conference leadership with Arkansas.

Texas coach Darrell Royal's face was pale, his voice soft as he said, "I kept thinking we were going to get one (a touchdown) in there, somehow or other . . ."

The "somehow or other" never came for the top-ranked Longhorns.

The big blank on the scoreboard was crushing for Texas. The powerful Longhorns had averaged better than four touchdowns a game while running up eight consecutive victories.

"The touchdown play was nothing new," Royal said. His team had practiced against it, but couldn't stop it. Gibbs just fooled them with a phony line buck and found Iles all alone.

"This was a lifetime opportunity and we didn't come through, but we've still got one to play," Texas all-America candidate James Saxton concluded. Texas goes against Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day in a season finale.

Texas Christian coach Abe Martin called the victory the "finest" of his career.

"Texas has a great team and deserved the number one in the nation billing," he said. "They may have let down some out there, and we took advantage of that."

* * * *

MARTIN SAID he was afraid Saxton would break the game wide open at any minute.

"Don't ever think he's not a great back," he said.

Saxton led the ground gainers with 85 yards on 17 carries despite being knocked out twice.

'Bama Scents Roses; Bowls Over Tech

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Alabama cleared its ninth hurdle Saturday toward an unbeaten football season and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl by following the furious running of fullback Mike Fracchia to a 10-0 triumph over Georgia Tech.

The nation's No. 2 power mixed its matchless defense with Fracchia's charges and the poised passing and running of quarterback Pat Trammel for a decisive victory.

* * * *

ALABAMA, with Auburn still to come, has a 9-0 record and ranks high on the list of every bowl in the country, including the Rose Bowl. Alabama's victory combined with Texas defeat will probably move the Crimson Tide to the top of the nation's grid polls.

Fracchia put the first points on the board in the bruising Southeastern Conference clash when he turned right end behind halfback Billy Richardson's savage block and raced 16 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Sophomore specialist Tim Davis converted and added a 32-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Gophers Stave Off Purdue

Washington Jinx Intact

Singleton made four at left end and Smith three more at right end to put the ball on the 17, third down and three with just 70 seconds to go.

* * * *

Vena went high in the air to get his fingertips on the ball, but Whitmyer made a desperate lunge to knock it loose from his clutch.

There was still one more down, but Smith never got a chance to get a pass off . . . being trapped for a 14-yard loss on the 31 where the Huskies took over to run out the clock and record their third straight victory over UCLA and post their fourth triumph on Southern California fields since using the Lafayette Hotel here for their pre-game headquarters.

Previous victims were Wisconsin and Minnesota in the Rose Bowl and USC in a regular-season game last year.

* * * *

THE HUSKIES got a big lift at the very beginning when Mitchell, healthy for the first time since the opening game of the season, took the kickoff on the 10 and roared 90 yards straight up the middle. Not a single Bruin touched him on the scoring jaunt.

Smidt kicked the PAT and it was 7-0 after only 10 seconds.

On the first play after the next kickoff, Bruin fullback Almose Thompson fumbled and guard Dave Phillips recovered for the Huskies on the 22-yard line. When they stalled on the four on the next series of downs, Smidt was sent in to boot a field goal from the 11 at 3:16.

Late in the first period the Huskies threatened to lengthen their lead after recovering a Bruin fumble at midfield and booming to the 24 before being held for downs.

* * * *

THINGS WERE different in the second quarter. The Bruins came to life with a vengance when they turned loose their passing game.

The tide turned suddenly at the outset of the stanza when Mitch Dimkich intercepted Pete Ohler's pass at midfield and got back to the Husky 46.

A 36-yard pass from Haffner to Tom Gutman opened the gates for the Bruins. Gutman made a sensational catch between two Husky defenders on the six-yard line . . . and two plays later Haffner swept five yards around right end for the score at 3:40. Bobby Smith's PAT made it 10-7.

It was turnabout for the Bruins on the first play after the kickoff when Mel Profit recovered fullback Tony Kopay's fumble on the 32. This offset the similar break Washington received in the first quarter.

Smith promptly passed 27 yards to Hicks on the five and two plays later Haffner carried it in from the one for the lead TD at 5:57. Smith's conversion was wide.

Stephens Stars in 10-7 Victory

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Sandy Stephens became the first Minnesota back since Paul Giel to gain more than 1,000 yards as he guided the fourth-ranked Gophers past Purdue, 10-7, Saturday to remain unbeaten in the Big Ten football race.

It was the seventh straight victory for the defending national champions after their opening 6-0 loss to Missouri. The Gophers have a 6-0 conference record.

* * * *

Stephens recorded 106 yards passing and rushing for 1,041 yards for the season with one game left. Giel went over the 1,000-yard mark in 1951 when he set the school record of 1,473 yards in total offense.

Stephens scored the Gophers' lone touchdown on a four-yard sprint in the closing minutes of the first half. He also chipped in a 16-yard key run on the series which led to the first Minnesota score, a 35-yard field goal by tackle Tom Loechler. That came only minutes before the Minnesota touchdown.

Alternate quarterback Gary Hogan set up the Purdue touchdown with a 53-yard have to Jack Elwell with five minutes left in the game. The toss carried the ball to the Minnesota three and Hogan banged into the end zone from the one on fourth down.

TOROS' NAGY IN 300 GAME

CHICAGO (AP)—Steve Nagy, a 48-year-old veteran from Los Angeles, stole the scoring spotlight Saturday as he rolled the third 300 game in the five-year history of the world's invitational bowling tournament.

Nagy, captain of the Los Angeles Toros of the National Bowling League, didn't benefit too much from the perfect game roiled as he finished with a 2,385 total. This was 15 pins short of a 200 average and well behind the leader.

LSU Gets Scare, Also 14-6 Victory

BATON ROUGE, La.—Fullback Earl Gros picked off a desperation Mississippi State pass and set up a touchdown with a 49-yard run in the final minutes Saturday night as fourth-ranked Louisiana State tamed the tenacious Bulldogs 14-6 before 58,000 fans.

For the Bayou Bengals, the target of several bowls, it was their eighth victory of the season after a season-opening loss to Rice.

The latest post-season bowl, the National Trophy Bowl at Washington, D.C., tendered an invitation to LSU Saturday for the game to be played Dec. 30. LSU cannot accept any bid until the regular season has ended.

The Bulldogs, dropping their fourth decision in nine games, furnished surprisingly strong opposition and the scoreboard showed a scoreless tie at halftime.

TROJANS FALL—

advantage for the first half, with Pitt totaling 300 yards to 179.

The Pitt touchdown came with 23 seconds remaining in the half. The drive went 61 yards in 10 quick plays. Fullback Rick Leeson's running and QB Jim Traficant's passes and runs were the weapons.

THE TD WAS BY LEESON in a burst through guard from the two. Fred Cox kicked the point.

The second half started as a study in Trojan frustration, with the Californians driving to the 12 where they fumbled it to Pitt. Then on the next play Pitt fumbled back to USC and Troy had it on the Panther 23.

In five plays USC got to the three . . . where FB Hal Tobin fumbled and Pitt recovered. So, after eight minutes of the third period, Troy had possessed the ball for 20 plays, had moved forward a total of 90 yards (while Pitt had had only one play) but USC had scored no points.

But don't go away. That wasn't the end of the Troy-frustration.

Try this one for laughs: USC made a good defensive stand at midfield that took the ball away when Pitt ran a plunge with fourth and six inches and got only three inches. From the Pitt 49, Troy moved to the 19 where Ben Wilson dropped the ball. You can guess which team recovered it. You're right.

Pitt took over on the 19, drove to the USC 10 and then moved backward to the 26. So, from the 33, Cox kicked a 43-yard field goal to add to his previous efforts of 45, 47 and 52 yards that add up to a school record. Cox already has been drafted by the Cleveland Browns.

If you want a final laugh, USC's best pass receiver of the day was an interior lineman—Frank Buncom on two tackle-eligible plays that went 35 yards.

Oh well, it was nothing new. The Trojans haven't won an intersectional game away from home since 1956.

Amazing Irish Finish Trips Syracuse, 17-15

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Notre Dame's Joe Perkowski, who hardly ever plays football except to place kick, booted a 41-yard field goal after time had run out Saturday to beat Syracuse 17-15. The defeat probably knocked the Orangemen out of a bowl berth.

Perkowski had two chances to kick the game-winning three points. He missed the first time.

He tried first from the Syracuse 46, with 3 seconds to play and was wild but a personal foul was called on Syracuse. This time George Sefcik put the ball down on the 31. Perkowski booted it fast, high and straight.

Passing was the key for both clubs and aerials almost—but not quite—won for the Orange. The Irish started fast, moving into a 14-0 lead on two scoring throws by sophomore quarterback Frank Budka.

But Syracuse wasn't shaken. The crack quarterback of the Orange, Dave Sarette, on a good gamble on a fourth and one on the Orange 43, threw a liner to end John Mackey for a touchdown.

Sarette then passed to Dick Easterly for a two-point conversion to give the Orange a chance to win with another touchdown. They got it.

Sarette's sophomore replacement, Bob Lelli, took over and gambled, too. On another fourth and one to goal, he rolled out to his right, then flipped a scoring pass to Easterly to tie the score.

Dicu Ericson placekicked the conversion and the Orange had the lead with 10 minutes to play.

Once Over Lightly

Brisk Inter-League Trading Expected

Success of the Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers the past season, due in a large part to trades with clubs in rival loops, undoubtedly will spur brisk dealing between the two major circuits when the inter-league trading season opens this week.

Every club is reported to be ready to make a major deal. However, when it comes down to actual dealing, less than half are ready to make a trade of any consequence.

BOB ALLISON
Sought by Dodgers

Majority of the deals likely will involve second-line players, who will be moved around in the extreme hope by some club that one or two might have a big year left in him to supply a spark that would help his new team move up a notch or two.

With the talent spread thinner than ever before with a total of 20 clubs operating next season, front-line players are getting harder to come by and the various clubs are reluctant to give up a regular.

However, it would take only about a half-dozen deals, maybe even fewer than that, to change the entire major league picture next season.

In the American League, of course, none of the clubs is conceded much of a chance of landing enough help via trades to overhaul the Yankees.

THE YANKEES THEMSELVES figure to be quite active on the trading front . . . and only wholesale losses to Uncle Sam figure to stop them. And that doesn't appear likely at this time.

Detroit and Cleveland appear to have the best chance of pulling off helpful deals and build to mount challenges to the Yanks.

The White Sox are ready to deal off a half-dozen or more of their veteran stars and undoubtedly will make several trades, but it is doubtful if they can get enough in return to offer more than a token run at the Yanks at best.

Baltimore began wheeling and dealing Thursday when it obtained Johnny Temple from Cleveland to plug an infield spot which was left open when Ron Hansen was called into the Army. But the Orioles don't appear to be in a position to do much more than exchange a few second-line performers from here on out.

The Yankees, of course, want pitching help . . . and may even go for a shortstop to fill in for Tony Kubek, who was tapped on the shoulder by "Uncle."

REPORTS FROM NEW YORK indicate that a deal of some kind may be brewing, but that any major trade might come with another American League club rather than with a National League team.

Minnesota has revealed that Pedro Ramos, the Cuban pitcher, might be available to the Yanks . . . "for a price." The Yankees have long wanted the Twins' other Cuban hurler, Camilo Pascual, but might settle for Ramos.

Both Ramos and Pascual have remained in the states instead of returning home to play winter ball. Baseball men say this may signal a big year for both of them next season. Pitching the year around has left them tired during the last half of the major league campaign after strong starts in the past. But with a winter's rest they might be much more effective in '62.

The Yanks are offering Hector Lopez, their second-line performers and some high-class minor league talent. And as we pointed out Thursday, they might part with Moose Skowron if necessary.

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE, the Dodgers probably have a better chance of pulling off a major deal than any other club because of the depth of talent on hand.

Biggest need, of course, is a power hitter to insure the '62 pennant. Name most mentioned is Bob Allison of Minnesota . . . possibly in exchange for Charlie Neal. But the Twins are said to be offering Jim Lemon instead of Allison . . . and the Dodgers don't appear to be interested in him.

The Dodgers also might be interested in Roy Sievers of the White Sox . . . along with five or six other clubs.

Cincinnati, considered a "one-shot" club by baseball men, will be after a pitcher or two, a second baseman and an outfielder . . . but so far is not offering enough to interest other teams. After the clobbering by the Yankees in the World Series, the Reds aren't given much chance of beating out the Dodgers next season.

The Milwaukee Braves feel they have a chance of going all the way next year if they can bolster their relief pitching. All efforts will be aimed in that direction. They also would like to pick up another outfielder along the way.

Thus, the next few weeks should provide some interesting manipulating in the trade marts.

Wolverines Blast Iowa

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan, crippled by a series of first half injuries, struck back with a relentless ground and air attack for three second half touchdowns Saturday and crushed Iowa 23-14.

The Wolverines, whipped physically, and apparently beaten at halftime, was aroused by the devastating runs of Dave Raimey, Dave Glinka and third-stringer Harvey Chapman before 61,925 in Michigan Stadium. The Hawkeyes seized a 14-3 lead on a pair of long marches in the first half. But Michigan's line held them to a standstill in the second half and the Michigan backs ran wild.

* * * *

MICHIGAN lost its best runner, halfback Bennie McRae, with a bruised shoulder in the first quarter. His replacement, Jack Stroebel, was hurt in the second period, leaving Chapman, a sophomore, his first Big Ten opportunity.

* * * *

GLINKA rallied the wounded Wolverines at the outset of the second half. He took them 77 yards for a touchdown, running the final 44 himself when he couldn't find a pass receiver downfield.

Chapman set up the next score with a 54-yard run and Glinka passed 20 yards to Bob Brown for the final touchdown.

Miller's Passes Rout Illini, 55-7

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin unloaded a blistering attack spearheaded by the brilliant passing tandem of Ron Miller and Pat Richter and buried hapless Illinois 55-7 Saturday in the biggest rout of a 66-year-old Big Ten football rivalry.

Miller, property of the Rams, completed 11 of 15 passes, including his last 10 in a row, for 183 yards and 3 touchdowns, while Richter grabbed 3 scoring tosses as Wisconsin ran up its biggest conference point total since a 56-0 thumping of Northwestern in 1912.

Buckeyes Roast Ducks

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Unbeaten Ohio State, still nursing faint Rose Bowl hopes, overpowered Oregon, 22-12, in an intersectional football game Saturday behind the running of All-America fullback Bob Ferguson.

The Buckeyes, who won their seventh consecutive game following an opening season tie with Texas Christian, struck for touchdowns in each of the first three periods with the 215-pound Ferguson powering over for two of them.

It was the spectacular play of the Buckeye line that spelled the difference on this cool afternoon before a crowd of 82,073. The line opened holes in the the Oregon line for Ferguson and his mates to run up 370 total yards rushing and kept the speedy Ducks' backs bottled up until the fourth period.

* * * *

FLEET HALFBACK Bobby Klein sent the third-ranked Buckeyes off ahead on the second play from scrimmage with a 72-yard scamper down the sidelines for a touchdown in the first 12 seconds. Ferguson plunged over for two points on the conversion to put Ohio ahead, 8-0.

Ferguson scored again at the beginning of the second period on a seven-yard smash through the middle that climaxed a 40-yard drive in six plays, all on the ground. Dick Vanraaphorst kicked the extra point.

The Buckeyes wasted no time after intermission. Defensive end Sam Tidmore intercepted quarterback Doug Post's pass on the Oregon 46 to set up Ohio State's third touchdown.

Ferguson carried the ball 25 times for the Buckeyes and picked up 101 yards. But he was overshadowed in that department by teammates Klein, who had 103 yards, including a 72-yard touchdown sprint, in six carries, and quarterback John Mummey, who had 116 yards in 14 carries.

Spartans Nod Wildcats in Fumble Battle, 21-13

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State managed to convert more fumbles into touchdowns than Northwestern Saturday to give the ninth-ranked Spartans a 21-13 Big Ten victory over the Wildcats.

The first three scores were set up by fumbles.

Michigan State now is 4-2 in the Big Ten and Northwestern is 2-4.

The game might have looked like a comedy of errors before the 51,403 fans in Spartan Stadium but it wasn't funny to the tensed up MSU and Wildcat players.

* * * *

THE WILDCATS fumbled five times the first half and lost possession four times. Mighigan State fumbled three times and lost possesion twice.

Northwestern led 7-0 at the end of the first period and MSU had an 8-7 lead at the half. Both teams scored in the third period and the Spartans put the game away by passing for one more touchdown in the final quarter.

Sooners Topple Napping Cadets

NEW YORK (AP)—Halfback Mike McClellan sped 75 yards to a touchdown in the opening five minutes on a trickey quick-snap play that caught Army napping and Oklahoma went on to a 14-8 victory over the Cadets at Yankee Stadium Saturday.

* * * *

ARMY PLAYERS, surprised by the maneuver, stood by with their mouths open as McClellan raced to a score. The play was specially designed by Oklahoma scouts to take advantage of Army's slowness in snapping into defensive formation.

Oklahoma added a second touchdown in the final minute of the third period on a 1-yard plunge by quarterback Bob Page, climaxing a 77-yard march.

Army scored with less than five minutes to play on a 56-yard drive, engineered by third string sophomore quarterback Art Lewis. The touchdown came on a 5-yard pass, Joe Blackgrove to end Paul Zmuida.

Sizzling Lakers Stop Hot Celtics

BOSTON (UPI)—Elgin Baylor, making his first and last appearance of the year here before going into the service, scored 32 points Saturday night to lead the streaking Los Angeles Lakers to a skintight 103-101 victory over the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association game. It was their seventh straight win.

Baylor, who a year ago this week set the single game NBA scoring record when he pumped in 71 against New York, paced his firehorse teammates to leads at the end of each quarter of play.

The win, which ended a five-game Boston victory skein, could prove costly to the Lakers, however. Jerry West, their second line scoring ace, was painfully injured in the fourth quarter and had to leave the game. His injury came when teammate Ray Felix accidentally stepped on his ankle. When he left, West had scored 20 points.

BAYLOR NOT only scored crucial baskets each time the Celtics threatened, but he took over the ball with 15 seconds left to play and Boston in a full-court press to dribble out the remaining time and insure the Los Angeles victory.

YOUTH FUND LUAU TICKETS HELD TO 500

Tickets for the Century Club and Nu-Pike Water Polo Club-sponsored Polynesian luau Dec. 8 at the Wilton Hotel remain on sale at many locations, chairman Ron Maury reported Saturday.

Proceeds will go to the Century Club youth fund and to the Water Polo Club fund. The luau will feature authentic Polynesian food, a floor show with top professional entertainment, door prizes featuring two plane tickets to Hawaii and dancing.

Attendance will be limited to 500. Tickets ($6 each) may be obtained at the following locations:

Apple Valley Steak House, Aero Travel Service, Kenny's Sporting Goods, Proctor's Sporting Goods, House of Carving, Import Auto, L.B. Water Ski Club, Wilton Hotel, House of TV, Gay Nineties, Leilani Hut, Kai Loa and the Nu-Pike Office.

Cycles Race at Saugus Today

Dick Hammer of Lakewood and Dick Dorresteyn of upstate San Pablo, 1-2 motorcycle barrier jumpers of the West, are rated co-favorites today in a 15-event AMA-sanctioned steeplechase program at Saugus Stadium.

Racing begins at 2:30 p. m. after qualifying and practice laps at 1 o'clock.

Hammer and Dorresteyn have split main events in the two Saugus programs this year.

L. B. area entries include Jim Goldsmith, Long Beach; Skip Van Leeuwen, Bellflower; and Jack Simmons, Artesia.

Face Packers in Drafty Setting

By JERRY WYNN

GREEN BAY, Wis.—The Los Angeles draft choices play the Green Bay draftees at breezy City Stadium today. Television time on KNXT (2) is 11 a.m.

Pro football to Green Bay is like makeup to a woman. They couldn't face the world without it. Thus, this historic old town on the knob of the Door Peninsula is wild about its Packers, and a capacity crowd of 35,000 will be out to cheer them in their last home appearance of the season.

BART STARR
Leading NFL Passer

And the Packers have given Green Bay plenty to cheer about. Western Division champions last year, they currently are winging to another title with a record of 7-2. The Rams are 3-6.

Said one confident paper mill worker interviewed on Washington St., "the Packers will beat the Rams into a pulp."

However, the Rams are in a haughty mood themselves. Winners of two games in a row, they feel slighted at game odds which show them underdogs by 13 points. They point to four successive victories over the Packers on Wisconsin soil. They feel primed for a repeat performance of last week's prize-winning effort against the 49ers.

Most important is the question of how well the Packers will fare without the services of Private Paul Hornung, their authentic triple-threat halfback. He carried the ball 22 times and scored 19 points last week in Green Bay's 31-28 victory over Chicago. His 130 total points is only 15 shy of the Rams' season output.

Hornung's shoes were so big, the Packers will fill them with two men. Tom Moore will start at left half and newly-acquired Bootin' Ben Agajanian will handle the place-kicking assignments. But there is no man who can give the club the pass-run option threat as did Hornung.

Green Bay also lost flanker back Boyd Dowler and linebacker Ray (Wild Man) Nitschke to Uncle Sam's team, but both have received weekend passes and will be able to play. Star guard Jerry Kramer is through for the season with an ankle fracture.

EVEN WITHOUT HORNUNG, the Packers are an offensive powerhouse with quarterback Bart Starr leading the league in passing, fullback Jim Taylor second in rushing and end Maxie (the Taxi) McGee ninth in pass receiving. Their line is the best in football.

For the Rams, the No. 1 imponderable is the ability of hot-and-cold quarterback Zeke Bratkowski and Frank Ryan. With an expert passing arm to complement the running of Jon Arnett and Dick Bass and the receiving of Red Phillips, the Rams could pack a wallop that could wallop the Packers.

Wichita in Bowl

EL PASO, Tex. (AP)—The University of Wichita Saturday night accepted a bid to be the host team in the Dec. 30 Sun Bowl game at El Paso against Villanova.

Fishing Facts

Pierpoint Landing — 90 anglers on 4 boats snagged 300 bonito, 71 calico bass, 2 black sea bass, 297 rock cod, 115 miscellaneous.

Pacific Landing—37 fishermen on 3 boats hoked 33 halibut, 53 calico bass, 60 bonito, 191 rock cod, 12 black cod, 30 miscellaneous.

Seal Beach—69 passengers on 3 vessels caught 340 barracuda, 323 bonito, 11 kelp bass, 145 rock cod, 17 sole, 19 halibut.

LBCC Basketball Opener Tuesday

Long Beach City College will open its basketball season Tuesday night at 7 against its Alumni in the annual cystic fibrosis benefit game.

Viking coach Bob Hunt said that the game will go for two 25-minute halves straight running time in order that both teams can utilize all their players.

Bill Barnes, former Poly, LBSC and Pepperdine star, will coach the Alumni. Anyone interested in playing for the Grads is asked to contact Barnes at NE 5-6965.

In addition to Barnes, Alumni players already committed are Ed Nichols, Jim Smith, J. R. Smith, Dick Dickinson and Barry Hallamore. Barnes hopes also that ex-LBCC and UCLA stars Bill Ellis and Bob Berry will be able to participate.

Tickets are $1 for adults, 25 cents for youngsters. Student body card-holders will be admitted free, as will children under 12.

Jets Attempt to Corral Steers Today

The Los Angeles Jets will try to even matters with the powerful Kansas City Steers when they tangle this afternoon at 2 at the Olympic Auditorium.

The Steers currently are riding atop the Western Division of the American Basketball League with Bill Sharman's Jets hottest in pursuit, although the Steers cooled 'em off Friday night, 115-109.

Sharman maintains the Steers are the toughest in the league and rightly deserve the top spot; that is, until the Jets overtake them.

UNDEFEATED L.B. KICKERS EYE 6TH WIN

The powerful Long Beach Soccer Club faces its toughest match of the season today in a Pacific Coast League contest with Pico Rivera. Kickoff time is 2:30 at Smith Park, Pico Rivera.

Long Beach, unbeaten in league play, has scored 30 goals and allowed but three in five games. Manager Herb Rogers' club edged the Pico Celtics, 2-1, last week.

Rodgers' second team, fledgling Long Beach United, meets Redondo Oro at Clark Field in Hermosa Beach, also at 2:30. Lynwood downed United, 7-2, last week.

AL, NL Stars Clash Today

Casey Stengel returns to the managerial wars today when he pilots a group of Los Angeles Angels-led American League stars against Gene Mauch's Dodger-sparked National Leaguers in a game for the benefit of the Cerebral Palsy Fund at Casey Stengel Field in Glendale at 1 p.m.

Tickets for the closed-circuit television boxing doubleheaders, Dec. 4, featuring heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's title defense are on sale at two Long Beach locations.

The ducats are available at the Municipal Auditorium and at the West Coast Theater, both places which will screen the fights here.

Patterson will battle Tom McNeeley in the feature bout, while Sonny Liston will tackle Albert Westphal in the second match.

Bruton, Maye in Eagles Lineup Against Rockets

The Long Beach Rockets begin the second round of the Semi-pro Winter Baseball League at Blair Fleld Sunday at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the L.A. Eagles furnishing the opposition.

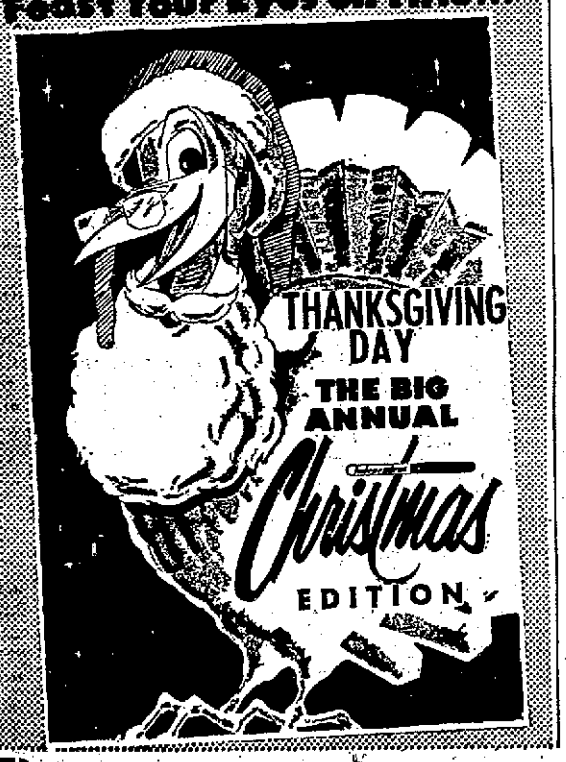

In their first meeting, the Rockets managed to eke out a 7-6 win with Frank Smith supplying a home run in the ninth inning.

The Eagles have been strengthened by the addition of major leaguers Bill Bruton and Lee Maye. Morris Cigar, property of the Angels, probably will start for the visitors with Haywood Babbin and Willie Jeter ready in the bullpen.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Just Correcting the Record

Manning S. Moore Jr., flag-waving stalwart of the Ocean Fish Protective Association, takes exception to two statements in this column last Sunday. In brief, the statements were: (1) Ocean fishermen complain about the trout-planting program which carries its own financing through the trout-stamp program, and (2) Many sportsmen, mostly those who fish, criticize the DFG policy of spending so much money for pheasants for the benefit of such a few.

I might have known that some one from the OFPA would take me apart so I'd rather have Manning do it than anybody else. Here's what Manning has to say:

"The ocean fisherman's position was, is and will be that these programs be self-supporting. Five years ago when the ocean fisherman voiced his loudest objections, hundreds of thousands of dollars were being subsidized by other license buyers.

"YOU SINGLE OUT FISHERMEN, and particularly ocean fishermen, as being objectionists. This is incorrect in that the DFG itself was one of the leaders to put the programs on a self-supporting basis. Without exception, every organization belonging to the California Wildlife Federation favored the same thing.

"Today neither program is self-supporting. All are subsidized by license buyers in general. But the programs now approach a position of being reasonable.

"An example of waste of license funds is the Yosemite Fish Hatchery, where it costs five to six times as much to raise trout as it does in the most efficient hatcheries. There is aesthetic value at this hatchery to the general public, so support should come for this hatchery from the general fund and not the license buyer.

"Sportsmen enjoy better hunting and fishing today because of the actions taken five years ago by organized sportsmen, and, in particular, the Ocean Fish Protective Association."

MANNING'S LETTER, in a sense, seems to be defending the OFPA. There is no need for that, inasmuch as I have been backing the OFPA, CWF, SCCC and heavens knows how many other groups for a period probably longer than Manning has been baiting hooks.

Indeed, I hope that Manning's explanation does much to clarify the ocean fisherman's position. I am one hundred per cent for the sports fisherman who angles in the ocean, the streams, lakes and even the guy who tries for crawdads in the sloughs.

There isn't any easy way to break down the outdoors and make every man pay for his particular sport. It's just better that all of us (fishermen, hunters, campers, boaters, skiers, skindivers and others) learn to live together in harmony.

I might add that the OFPA, of all groups, has been the fullback in some rough going for the sportsmen—and STILL IS!

ALONG SUCH LINES of reasoning, the OFPA, SCCC and CWF had better get together, along with several million fishermen and hunters who don't belong to anything, and prepare to battle a new group—the United Humane Front, which met in convention last weekend at Clear Lake Highlands under the chairmanship of Dr. J. M. Kolisch, of Riverside County. Does that name ring a bell for any one? It should!

Kolisch is one who has been trying to stop deer hunting in California for years. Now he says that the UHF has more than two million members.

The UHF—and we are not talking about ultra-high frequency—condemned the DFG for its deer-hunting policies and adopted as its primary objective "a return to wildlife protection as the basis for the restoration of our deer herds and range rehabilitation as the basis for proper management of wildlife."

THERE ARE SOME HIDDEN CLAWS in this one. Now it's deer that need protection and the UHF says, "We will be most active at the next session of the Legislature."

There are many ANTIs in California just looking for a chance to join any drive that will stop all hunting. They want to "protect" dove, quail and even waterfowl.

Most of us know that the DFG personnel are human; many of them are some of the most human guys in the state. They, like all of us, make mistakes. But I'll be darned if I can understand why the DFG has to be the whipping boy the year 'round for the deer problem. And I think that it's high time that the real sportsmen in this state start giving the DFG an occasional pat on the back, instead of throwing knives.

I am no deer hunter and never expect to be, but I feel that the department is doing a good job in game management!

Show Surf Film at Norway Hall

Admission is $1.25 for adults. Proceeds will go into the Nu-Pike Water Polo Club fund.

SET FOR 'ALAMITOS OPENER

Antlers Trade, owned by Western TV star Dale Robertson, is expected to run in $5,000 Clabbertown G. stakes, feature of Monday's opening quarter horse program at Los Alamitos. Posing with Antlers Trade is Pam Bennett, queen of fall meeting.

Pap Tops 7 Stakes Sprinters

Seven swift sprinters, headed by rugged Pap, the 1961 spring champion and highweight at 128 pounds, have been named to go postward in the $5,000 Clabbertown G. Stakes which opens the 30-day fall quarter horse meeting Monday at Los Alamitos Race Course.

Two stakes originally were scheduled for Monday but the secondary feature, the $5,000 Bardella Stakes for 2-year-olds, failed to fill, most of the owners of the top juveniles electing to wait for the $5,000 Thanksgiving Day Stakes before getting their chargers into action.

* * * *

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Pap will spot his six rivals as much as 12 pounds in the opening day feature. He faces Breeze Bar 122, Table Tennis 122, Antlers Trade 118, Miss Jet Deck 118, Sly Joe 118 and No Butt 116.

The meeting runs through December 23, with nine races daily, except Sunday. First post is 12:45 Saturdays and 1 p.m. weekdays.

Daily double wagering closes five minutes before first post each day.

* * * *

PAP WILL BE trying to repeat his smashing success last spring when he won on opening day and capped a perfect three-for-three by winning the Los Alamitos Championship.

Charles Smith will once again be aboard Pap.

The weight is more than Pap carried at any time during the last meeting, while Breeze Bar carries the same impost he lugged in finishing a nose behind Pap in the championship event last spring.

Air Record Takes Classic Riches, Wins Third Leg

By MAC McGUIRE

F. E. Ross and George F. Sholty's Air Record swept all the honors in the $80,000 American Trotting Classic by winning the third and final leg of the event Saturday as Western Harness Racing Association closed out one of its most successful meetings in history.

Air Record, driven by 109-pound George Sholty, edged out the fast closing Silver Song by a nose. Silver Song won the classic in 1960 in a race-off with Su Mac Lad and Senator Frost, but the 5-year-old son of Silver Song found the going a lot rougher this year. Elaine Rodney was third and Lucky Demon finished fourth, with Harlan Dean a late scratch.

As a result of her victories in the first and third legs and a third place in the second leg, Air Record garnered $31,250 for her efforts. This includes a $5,000 bonus for recording the most points in the three legs—28.

Elaine Rodney, winner of the second heat, won $15,625 during the Classic for runner-up honors and was followed by Silver Song ($10,625), Lucky Demon ($8,125), Duke Rodney ($5,000), Harlan Dean ($5,000), Merrie Duke ($1,875), and Trueheart, who failed to win any money after finishing eighth in the first leg and then sitting out the final two legs.

Sports writers voted Adios Butler, winner of all three legs of the American Pacing Classic, horse of the meeting.

While the daily attendance average was down four per cent for the 35 day meeting, the mutuel handle was up 3.1 per cent over 1960.

Shoe, 'Satan in Futurity Victory

PIMLICO (UPI) — Crimson Satin firmly established himself as one of the leading contenders for 1961 juvenile honors Saturday by romping to a five-length victory over Green Ticket in the $116,920 Pimlico Futurity at Pimlico.

Backed down to 30 cents on a dollar by the crowd of 19,406, Crimson Satan overtook the pacesetting Green Ticket as the field headed for the stretch and easily outdistanced his rival in the run home. Endymion was just another neck back in third place and Smart finished fourth.

Willie Shoemaker guided Crimson Satan over the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:46 2/5 for his third victory in the Futurity and to complete a personal triple on the day.

Crimson Satan paid $2.60 and $2.20 as he moved up to challenge unbeaten Ridan for the 2-year-old crown. There was no show betting.

Polylad, shut out of the winner's circle since taking the Massachusetts Handicap in June, upset seven rivals to capture the $83,400 Gallant Fox Handicap at Aqueduct.

Hillsborough rallied in the final furlong to take second place, three-quarters of a length behind Polylad, and Black Thumper was third after a gallant effort.

(Psst, Santa! It's Only November!)

WHAT! SANTA CLAUS is here before Thanksgiving? Yep. And for a very special reason. He dropped in to help Rick Rackers announce the first of the big, bright holiday parties. Junior auxiliary to Assistance League will spearhead the season with a smart dinner dance benefit on Dec. 2 at the Lafayette Hotel. Shown taking Santa out of gift wraps are (from left) Mmes. Gene Kirkpatrick, Paul R. Parrish, Leslie Weed, Robert H. Lintz and (seated, right) Mrs. Ray Green Jr. His Honor, Kris Kringle (isn't it surprising how much Santa and Patrick B. Phelan favor each other?) enjoys his brief respite from busy chores ahead. Ball chairman is Mrs. Phelan. Her committee includes Mmes. Green, Parrish, Weed and I. S. Runolfsson, Dan B. Welty and Vernon M. Lewis. Invitations have been extended to civic and social leaders of this city.—(Staff photo by Joe Risinger.)

Ball Will Herald Merriest Season

Surprised to see Santa Claus—even before Thanksgiving? Well, Rick Rackers have been keeping him under gift wraps just waiting for this chance to announce the beginning of the season's glamorous holiday parties.

Their 11th annual "Winter Wonderland" ball, to take place Dec. 2 in International Ballroom of Lafayette Hotel, will mark the first major formal function of the Christmas season.

With its reputation as one of the most sparkling social events of winter, the affair is designed to raise funds for Assistance League of Long Beach Girls' Clubs. Rick Rackers is a junior auxiliary to the league.

Music for dancing will be provided by Sammy Weiss and his orchestra.

A city-wide flurry of pre-ball at-home parties are planned with each Rick Racker entertaining individually or joining with another member as co-hostess.

Lovely Mrs. John R. Brennan, chairman of Rick Rackers, will greet her guests in a Don Loper gown of emerald green peau de soie. Blond Mrs. Patrick B. Phelan has chosen a Ceil Chapman party dress of champagne peau de soie and lace with beaded bodice.

A striking Sybil Connolly original will be worn by Mrs. Ethel Severson. The dress, of Irish linen, is grey with pleated floor length skirt. With it she will wear a matching stole with white satin fringe.

ALSO ADDING international couture interest will be Mrs. Reed Williams whose floor length gown of imported silk brocade is from Tokyo and Mrs. Kenneth S. Wing Jr., who will don a dynasty print sheath in red and gold from Hong Kong.

A heady print ball gown in shades of pink, lilac and fuchsia designed by Harvey Berin will be worn by Mrs. Robert A. Wenke.

Mrs. Norman Jaques has chosen a jeweled ice-blue satin gown for the occasion while Mrs. Robert Barmeyer has selected a floor length Ceil Chapman design with slender Grecian lines.

Festivities for the posh and fun-filled evening are to begin at 8:30 p.m.

ARTFUL ARRANGEMENT
Mrs. Mac Alan Freitag demonstrated the art of flower arranging when she entertained members of Tomo-no-yube in her home, 1718 E. Ocean Blvd.

Friends Gather to Talk

By ELISE EMERY
L. P-T Staff Writer

When friends arrived recently to spend an evening with Mrs. Mac Alan Freitag, 1718 E. Ocean Blvd., they bore armloads of fragrant flowers, bright berries, green grasses.

Soon tables and kitchen counters were heaped with carnations, chrysanthemums, lilies, roses. A dozen women gathered round as petite, dark-haired Junko showed them traditional and contemporary techniques of Japanese flower arranging. Then each guest began to create her own beautiful flower composition.

This was a meeting of Tomo-no-yub—a club with no officers, no dues, no formal organization.

There is just one requirement: Members must have lived in Japan.

IT WAS IN TOKYO that Junko studied the Sogetsu style of flower arranging with the master, Shuko. According to tradition, when she achieved a high degree of proficiency she was given a professional name incorporating the last syllable of the master's. She is now entitled to be called Kosen.

Before Junko and her husband, Lt. Col. (ret) Freitag, came to Long Beach they lived for a time in Guadalajara, Mexico. It was there that they learned from friends and from Japanese newspapers of Tomo-no-yube. The club was one of the factors that brought them here.

The group's sole purpose is expressed by its Japanese name which means "Evening With Friends."

"We get together just for the fun of sharing our knowledge of Japan and our experiences there, explains the originator of the club, Mrs. Donald Cannalte, a pretty young matron who lives at 4071 Perlita Ave., Apt. B, Los Angeles.

"MY HUSBAND and I lived for three years in Tokyo when he was working for the U. S. Government. When we returned a year-and-a-half ago, I talked so much about Japan that my friends finally refused to listen any more!"

With the help of her husband, now publicity representative for United Air Lines, the hazel-eyed brownette prepared newspaper notices inviting women who had lived in Japan to meet with her.

"I was amazed at the response. I discovered others who loved Japan and its way of life. We have about 25 members from Santa Monica, North Hollywood, Pasadena, Glendale, Los Angeles and the Long Beach area."

Not only do Tomo-no-yube members share memories of Japan, they also exchange views and discuss experiences in this country.

JUNKO, FOR INSTANCE, became an American citizen in 1959.

Her pride and enthusiasm are so contagious that several friends are now qualifying for citizenship.

Meanwhile, she is improving her English in adult education language classes, learning to shop in supermarkets instead of specialty stores and adapting cooking and dressmaking skills to American ways.

Others in this area who attend Evenings With Friends are Sumiyo Ogawa, 1455 Banning Blvd., Wilmington; Kimiko Stratton, 20817 Double Ave., Torrance; and Yukiye Kanshige, 1907 Galstea Terrace, Corona del Mar.

"We would like to have more members from Long Beach," says Mrs. Cannalte. "With so many Navy persons here, there surely are others who would like to share their Japanese experiences at an Evening With Friends."

Two Belles Accept Rings

Susan Stivers

Jill Hosier

Jill Hosier's engagement to John Michael Uttz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Uttz, South Gate, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ral Hosier, Long Beach.

The bride-elect revealed news of her betrothal to members of Delta Gamma at a recent ceremony in the sorority's LBSC chapter house.

She was graduated from Millikan High where she was a member of Anchor Service Club and from LBSC.

Her fiance, a member of the U.S. Army stationed at Ft. Devins, Mass, also was graduated from LBSC where he was a member of Sigma Pi fraternity. He is a past master counselor of DeMolay.

The wedding will take place late in December.

Stivers-McCarger

The bride-to-be is a senior at Occidental College. She is a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon and president of Occidental Dance Group.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black of Long Beach, was graduated from Wilson High and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo with a degree in acronautical engineering.

During his college years he was a charter member and pledgemaster of Kappa Chi fraternity.

The wedding will take place next July.

Allyn Jefferson and James L. Young Wed

Making their home at 4546 Keever Ave. following a honeymoon motor trip through Arizona and Las Vegas are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Young (Allyn Andrea Jefferson) whose recent wedding took place in North Long Beach Brethren Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Jefferson of Los Alamitos. Her wedding gown was of white peau de soie accented with seed pearl and sequins, its skirt falling into a chapel train. She carried orchids surrounded with tiny rosebuds.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. B. G. Dollar, her sister's matron of honor; Mrs. Thomas C. Creighton, Julie Fedderly and Cynthia Combs. Ring-bearer was Stephen Dollar.

* * * *

Mrs. James L. Young

Both young people were graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was a member of Phi Gamma Chi and Lambda Phi and he of Comus. They also attended LBCC.

PRE-HOLIDAY PANIC?

Here's Help for Hostesses

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you find yourself counting buffet plates and silver instead of sheep before you fall off to sleep, chances are you have the pre-holiday social season quivers.

"The majority of hostesses go through the same pre-party jitters," says clinical psychologist, Dr. Daniel Brower of Montclair, N.J. He advises that you analyze everything from peas to cues beforehand, and you can arive at a formula for those would-be snags to party success.

Some people fear that they will confuse the guests names, because of their bad memory.

* * * *

"THIS shouldn't happen if you memorize the names in advance and use word associations to do it. If you have invited a Mrs. Hall, for example, keep a large empty room in mind when you think of her," he advises. It's unlikely you'll call her "Mrs. Space or Mrs. Empty."

Another tortuous thought for some hostesses is that the party will be dull because the guests won't get along, he says. But you should have thought in advance to invite people who have something in common.

* * * *

"IT'S UP to the host and hostess to steer people into groups, reminding someone that a friend is at the opposite end of the room."

Steering friends to each other can be a trap, of course, Brower admits. Happy little cliques hate to be broken up, never giving a thought to the not-so-well-acquainted guests on the sidelines.

"The host and hostess should move in gently on little groups," he advises. "You don't have to break up the conversation obviously."

* * * *

WHAT to serve guests is another worry, but Brower advises that "most people come to see one another. Don't wear yourself out preparing food. Simple cheese and vegetable relishes should fill the bill."

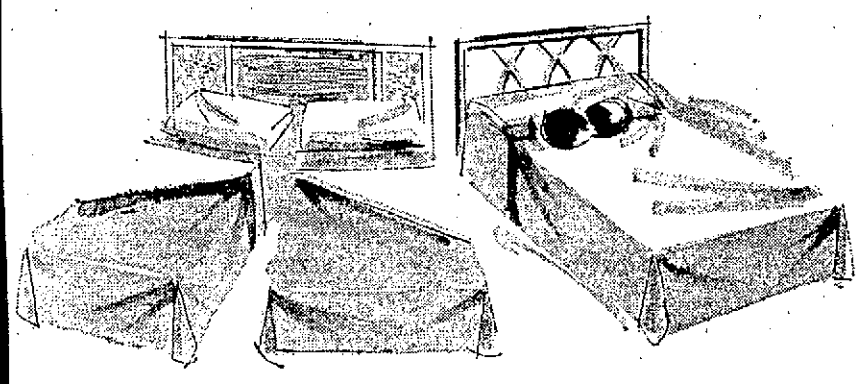

An experienced party giver usually has a well-stocked bar for holiday toasts. But a large group can be a source of concern and expense unless you settle for a punch or one drink for all.

"Keep the bar simple," he suggests. "You can't expect to suit everyone. Some people drink and some do not.

. . . She Gives Credit Where Credit Is Due

By MARY NETH
I-P-T Staff Writer

Virginia Culver holds all the cards when it comes to unpaid gasoline bills.

As head of credit card collections for Signal Oil and Gas Company, she's in charge of mailing reminders to motorists running low on gas—the pay-later way.

Says she, "Most people try to keep up with their bills. Overdue accounts usually are due to loss of work, a budget-draining illness or mere oversight."

So, Miss Culver approaches her job of collecting dollar debts with lots of sense plus optimism and sympathy.

* * * *

AND IT'S NOT the impersonal type of work one might suppose. "People write chatty letters telling me all about their families, work and woes," says she.

Take the case of the lady whose note explained her expenses had doubled. "She included pictures of her two new premature babies as indisputable proof," says Miss Culver. "What could I do but give her extra time to pay?"

Miss Culver doesn't find customers' personal letters and calls a surprise. She's been in the collection business for 14 years here, plus many years in the east.

* * * *

"BUT I'M A RARITY in the field," says she. She is, as far as she knows, the only woman in oil industry holding her type of job.

What kind of person does it take to handle such a position? "One with a happy disposition, sincere regard for others and the ability to write a good letter."

Miss Culver's office includes a staff of six girls, lots of typewriters and plenty of letter openers.

"We send and receive about 700 letters a week." Accounts include service station customers in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Texas, Louisiana and Florida.

"As we aim to retain the customer, we write letters to the point but friendly," she explains.

Results are sometimes puzzling. "The same letter to two persons will get two entirely different reactions. One customer will thank us for the kind note, the other will chide us for being so snippy," says she.

Though reactions are individual, Miss Culver has found that similarities do appear in her mountains of mail. "Handwriting is revealing," she says. "A person deeply trouble and depressed invariably writes his lines with a down to the bottom of the page slant."

* * * *

TO MAINTAIN a good feeling between customer and company, Miss Culver sometimes goes out of her way in willingness to help.

"I hate to turn an account over to a private collection agency," she says. "Sometimes people do need help badly."

Take the time a tearful young mother called Miss Culver. No one would help her, she sobbed. Her husband was in jail and she had no money for bills, rent or food for her three children.

Miss Culver advised the young woman to go to the judge and tell him her story. She also sent the family a box of groceries.

The result, a happy ending for all. The judge commuted the husband's sentence, the babies were fed, and the account went back into the black.

* * * *

SOMETIMES Miss Culver finds her job has turned into a real detective game of follow-that-car nature. When a credit card is stolen and the thief goes on a "free"-way gas spree, she sends out a warning to the service stations.

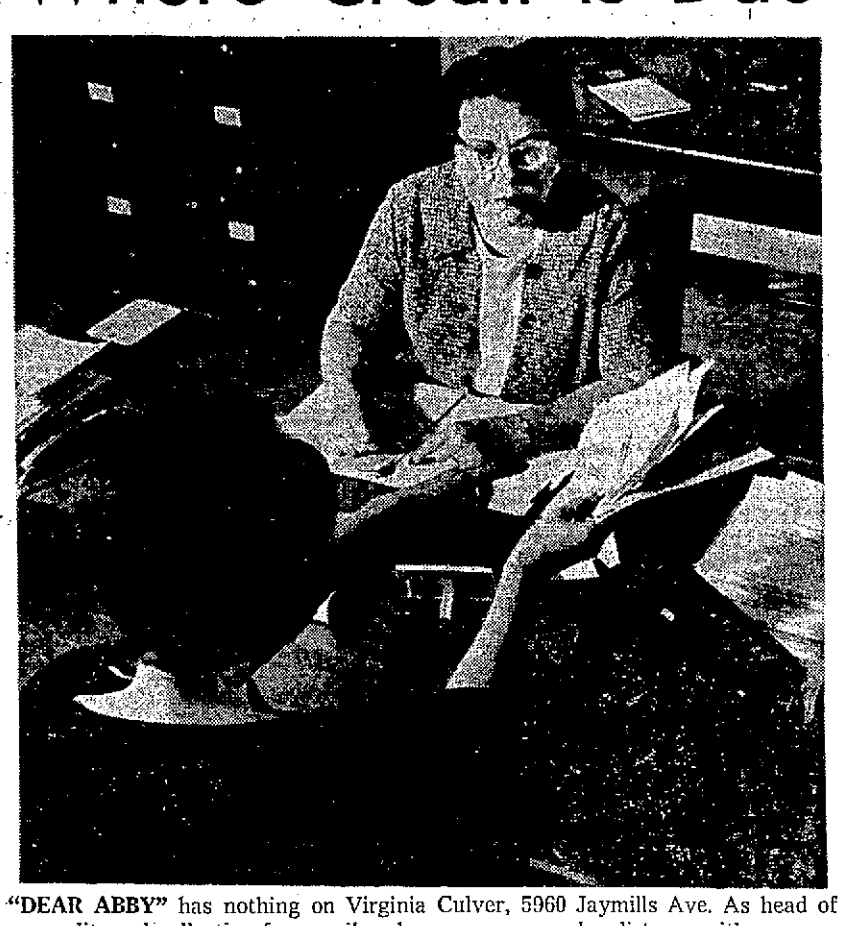

"Stolen cards are easy to trace, though," says Miss Culver. "The customer is well protected."

* * * *

"THINGS ARE FAR from dull in this office," concludes Miss Culver. "I never know what the morning mail will bring."

Her favorite: The letter from the devout man who wrote that if God thought he should pay, the money would be provided. Until then the debt would have to wait.

"We were all greatly relieved and pleased when the account was paid," says Miss Culver. "It gave us the feeling that someone was on our side."

"DEAR ABBY" has nothing on Virginia Culver, 5960 Jaymills Ave. As head of credit card collection for an oil and gas company, she listens with sympathetic ear to many a tale of woe. Here, lady in distress, posed by co-worker, shows her sheaf of unpaid bills—tells how it happened. Says Miss Culver, "I like people so I try to help if I can."—(Staff photo.)

Sorority to Donate Gifts

Gaily wrapped gifts will be brought by members of Long Beach alumnae of Kappa Delta sorority when they meet Monday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. William Becker, 12181 Ballantine Ave., Los Alamitos.

The gifts will be suitable for teenagers, and will be turned over to the local agency for muscular dystrophy. The agency will distribute them at their annual Christmas party for children.

New Light on Beauty

For beautiful and flawless results when making-up, your face should be flooded with light as you apply your various beauty requisites.

One beauty authority points out that unless you can see every stroke of make-up that you apply, and are able to see the colors in their true shades, your making-up application will fall short of perfection. If you are making-up for daytime, apply your requisites near a window where the light is abundant enough to guide you.

Whitford and Holmes Engagement Is Told

Beverly Ann Whitford

Engagement of Beverly Ann Whitford to Donald Eugene Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Holmes, Huntington Beach, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Whitford, Lakewood.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wilson High School where she was recipient of a Gold W award and member of a cappella choir. She attended Brigham Young University for four years where she was affiliated with the Theta Alpha Phi national dramatics fraternity and University Opera Workshop. She now is a member of Long Beach Civic Light Opera and the Morman Choir of Southern California.

DESIGNED as an easy going weekend—before the holiday storm breaks with its flood of parties and hurricane force shopping trips—is Junior League's current get-away at Warner's Hot Springs. In round figures (and they are a most shapely bunch) about 60 members and spouses planned to relax, play golf from Friday until today, in general unlax.

Relishing the turtle pace of the affair, headed by chairman Sally de Golla and Dick, are Nancy and Phil Hartley, Caroline and Jack Wooding, Sylvia and Rod Sherwood, Barbara and Tom Rowan, Barbara and Fred Hesley, Joanne and Dick Barry, Charlotte and Ed Fillipow, Betty and "Bix" Bixby and Donna and "Bud" Ridings to name a few.

FEELING LIKE they were part of the headline news of the day were Bob Dilday and son, Burr, when they boarded a plane for Mexico City Tuesday. They were flight-mates of India's Prime Minister Nehru. I am told that Bob and Burr and all other passengers were carefully checked — fine-tooth combed with a geiger counter, as well, to safeguard the distinguished visitor.

Once aboard it is safe to imagine they shared Nehru's huge birthday cake which was presented to him at the airport and which (geiger counted, too, undoubtedly) went along for the flight.

Bob went to attend a Shrine event; Burr planned to do some "tiger hunting" —the jaguar type pussycat. They'll be gone ten days.

MAYBE YOU CAN keep a good man down—but you can't keep him from getting where he wants to be. As a case in point take Willis Boyd, who is in a full body cast following spinal surgery a month ago. When he heard the LA Yacht Club's annual family night program would feature films on a cruise to Tahiti he simply refused to be denied, as they say on the sports pages. He hired an ambulance to make the trip to Smogvale. Along went wife, Katie, and daughter, Jeanie, plus friendly attendants Jack Dilday and Tad Jones. Everybody, including the boys in white, had a whee.

NEITHER RAIN, nor sleet nor snow can stay the Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of the State of California from her appointed rounds. Nor dark of night or any other doggone thing, J. C. Florence Smith and husband, C. Curtis, are just back from a two-month tour of chapters in Northern California where they endured every kind of weather. After umpteen dozen stops in that many cities they decided Weaverville was their favorite.

TALK ABOUT your optimists! Bob Woodruff, who is currently residing at Harriman Jones following some tummy repair work, lies there gleefully dreaming about his release in a day or two. At the top of that day-dream is Bob Woodruff sitting down to a great, big bowl of chili! He candidly admits he thinks about con carne all the time; if the whole truth be known, probably sees it topped with chopped onions, served with side orders of salad with bleu cheese dressing and garlic bread. Dream on, senor. It can't hurt you —as long as it all stays just in your head.

SCOUTS slipped up on reporting this one, I'll say. It's been a foursome for Jane and Bill Began since arrival of another daughter, Lora Louise, 'way back on Oct. 29. Tsk tsk. She's a diplomat, too. Chose to arrive on grandma Louise Began's birthday. Other grandma is Lora Mannex, who forgives this early favoritism.

Joan Bradley will have her husband, Dr. Warren Bradley, there to answer questions—help the husbands understand the kind of good deeds their wives are performing in membership work.

IF YOU want to know all about future trends in china, ask a local Pi Phi. A number of alums scooted up to L.A. the other day as guests of Japan's Noritake Co. They went to help the company decide on which designs (70 were displayed) would be most saleable in the U.S. In return for the favor the alumnae's treasury will benefit in direct proportion to the number of people they took along to judge. A few of those involved were Judy Million, Lee Wright, Caroline Lockhart (these three the committee), Winnie Schlip, Bev McGuire, Helen Cunningham and Mary Wilson.

DUE HOME last Thursday from a glamorama tour of the Orient were Pat and Van Van de Water. They visited Hong Kong and Singapore (where they stayed at the famous Raffles Hotel), Bangkok and the "Mystery City" of Cambodia (featured in SatEvPost last week). They played the Pebble Beach of Japan, Kawana Golf Course at Ito, where the high cost of caddies (girl types only, they wrote) ran to fifty cents for one, sixty cents for the other. Apparently one was ten cents tsronger than the other. Anyhoo, returned via Honolulu.

So Glistening Damp, So Fresh, So Color Right

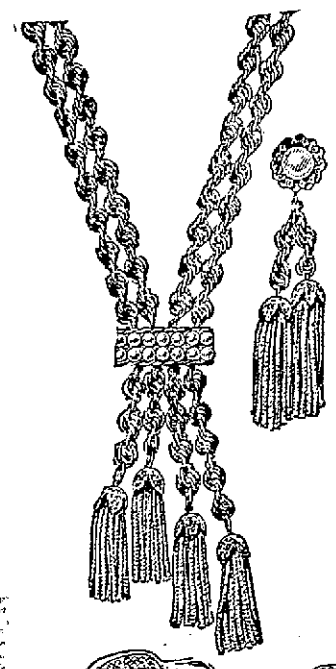

What I sincerely hope will be the final dust story of the year, by sheer force of lack of wind, is this: And this one was almost bad enough to make an old man out of Beverly and Lon Crabtree, both of 'em.

Ingeniously they had hung all their living room shutters on the clothesline to paint them. As they hung there, so glistening damp and dewy fresh, left out over night to dry . . .

Yeh. The big, bold, dusty blow.

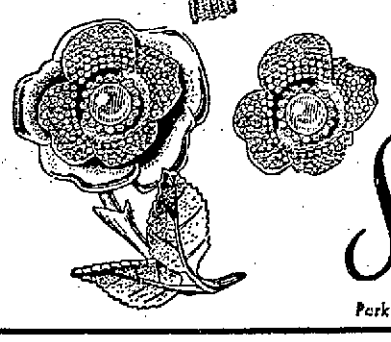

As if by extra sensory perception, the color scheme they chose was Desert Sand.

KINKIN-HOLLADAY

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Kinkin Jr. of Lakewood are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Sheryl Alice, to Richard Maurice Holladay, son of the Maurice E. Holladays of Long Beach. The wedding date has been set for Jan. 20.

Miss Kinkin was graduated from Lakewood High School where she was a song girl and member of Ceres Welfare and Socii Social Clubs.

Holladay is a Wilson High alumnus and attended LBCC where he was a member of Thor fraternity.

Tri Sigmas Slate Dance

Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae will meet at the home of Mrs. Virgil G. Nolde 120 Surf Place, Seal Beach at 8 p.m. on Monday. Making Thanksgiving tray favors for patients at Long Beach Hospital will be on the agenda.

Mrs. Robert S. Gilman, social chairman, announces that reservations will be taken for the group's Christmas dinner dance on Dec. 2 in Anaheim, held jointly with Orange County Alumnae Association.

Newlywed Schmidas Return From Trip

The bride, the former Madeline Rumfola, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rumfola of 2115 Zandia St. She was graduated from Wilson High and attended LBCC.

The bridegroom, who also attended LBCC, is a Poly High alumnus. He is the son of Samuel Catalano, San Diego, and Mrs. Val Scanlon, Long Beach.

Thomas C. Thompson was best man. Completing the wedding party were Kim Stowers, ring bearer and Gerald Eischen and Charles R. Rumfola ushers.

The newlyweds departed for a honeymoon trip to Monterey, Carmel, San Francisco and Las Vegas following a reception at Dominguez Hall.

Travelers Back

Just returned from a trip to Europe are Mr. and Mrs. David Weiss, 5409 Anaheim Road. Their trip included London, Paris, Italy, Switzerland, Israel and Greece. They spent several days in New York en route.

PLAN VOWS

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Jordan High graduates, Linda Sue Gough, daughter of the E. E. Goughs of Paramount, and Wayne Earl Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Johnson of Long Beach. A September, 1962, wedding is planned.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Traumatic Tresses

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My wife and I are both in our late twenties and have been married for six years.

My problem came after our first child was born. My wife said she needed "perking up," so she went to the beauty shop and had her light-brown tresses dyed black.

I told her then I didn't think black hair was becoming to her and suggested that next time she have it dyed blonde. I pointed out it would make a nice contrast, as I have black hair. And I guess I made a mistake when I told her blonde hair would make her look slimmer, because you'd see the blonde hair first.

Not long after that this couple dropped by, and the wife is blonde and very attractive, and we did a lot of laughing and joking together while my wife was in the kitchen fixing the baby's bottle.

Well, she heard us laughing and all and it burnt her up and she started making remarks about "peroxide blondes."

Now, it's gotten to the point whenever I take my wife any place and there is a blonde around she creates a scene if I so much as look at her.

This is all very humiliating to me, especially since my boss's wife is blonde, and my wife continually makes snide remarks about the color of her hair. So far Mrs. Boss has laughed it off, but the wear and tear on me is terrible. — HUMILIATED HUSBAND.

DEAR HUSBAND:

I tell you what, why don't you hand in your resignation to the "gentlemen prefer blondes" club for awhile and like your wife's hair, no matter what color it is. You might also suggest that she try a nice henna shade if she wants a change, and drop a little remark that blondes do look faded after a bit.

But don't, for gosh sake, say henna hair would make her look slimmer. Just say it would ENHANCE her glamor. Women, well, you know how we are. At least you're learning!—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a boy friend who I am allowed to see Friday and Saturday nights. I'm 16 and he is 17, and my parents won't let me date except week ends.

However, they are real nice then and leave the living room to us so we can watch TV and be alone. But it's the TV part that gets me down.

I think every fellow and his girl ought to get in a certain amount of love-making, let's say. Well, he won't kiss me, or even pet a little as long as one of his favorite programs is on.

When there is a half hour and there's nothing he wants to see, it's different. But then he'll look at his watch, and say hey, we mustn't miss so-ond-so or whatever, and all smooching stops by the next dull program.

What would you do?—AGNES L.

DEAR AGNES L.:

By gum, I'd have the TV disconnected, that's what.

But frankly, if he's that kind of a lover boy, who adjusts his lovemaking to a TV dial, I'd tune in on another one.—M.M.

What's on the Menu?

The following menus will be served in Long Beach elementary schools in the week of Nov. 20-24:

MONDAY: Barbecued beef on bun, creamy coleslaw, peach half, cheese slice and milk.

TUESDAY: Italian spaghetti, buttered green beans, apricot-cottage cheese salad, whole wheat buttered biscuits and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Diced turkey in gravy on mashed potatoes, cranberry sauce, garden peas, Autumn fruit cup, whole wheat bread and butter, Thanksgiving cookie and milk.

THURSDAY: HOLIDAY.

FRIDAY: HOLIDAY.

The above items make up the elementary children's lunch 30c.

JUNIOR-SENIOR HIGH

TUESDAY: Creole noodles, tossed green salad, fruit gelatin, peanut butter sandwich and milk.

WEDNESDAY: Fried chicken, mashed potatoes with gravy, cranberry sauce, apricot halves, whole wheat bread and butter and milk.

THURSDAY: HOLIDAY.

FRIDAY: HOLIDAY.

Romantic News Told at Party

At a party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Lewis, guests were told of the engagement of the hosts' son, Robert Towner Lewis, and Linda Ruth Dunbar, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Dunbar.

The wedding will take place in February.

* * * *

HER FIANCE was graduated from Wilson High School, LBCC and LBSC. He was named captain of the golf teams at all three schools. His affiliations include Thetus at Wilson and Junior Exchange at LBCC.

Dress Your Age, Please

Dressing for your age, whatever it may be, takes the ability to face reality. Most girls of 20 yearn to be 40 and sophisticated. Most women of 60 yearn to be 20, dressed in pastel, fluffy ruffles. Sometimes, they mix their roles and dress the part with disastrous results.

No country in the world has made it easier than this one for a woman to look beautiful at her age. But this means following a few simple rules of good taste.

SHE HAS a wealth of young, chic and infinitely flattering clothes to choose from. She is in her heyday in a country that favors youth. There are some must nots for the older woman, too, if she really wants to look her best.

No shorts, ever. Trim, tailored pants if she's slim. Otherwise, skirts, please! Or culottes. No two-piece or skimpy bathing suits. Preferably, bathing suits with cap sleeves to cover that upper arm.

Mrs. Joseph Meyer Plans Party for Son's Fiancee

More than 200 guests have been invited to a tea this afternoon by Mrs. Joseph F. Meyer of 6934 Long Beach Blvd., to meet Joan Louise Gardner, bride-elect of Robert David Meyer, the hostess' son.

Miss Gardner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gardner, 6971 Lime Ave. Both young people were graduated from Jordan High School, and he attended LBCC.

The wedding is to take place Dec. 2 in Bellflower.

Pick Up Hollywood's Fashion Cue

...Style Drama, On Stage or Off

by mary ellis fashion editor

LONG AN EXPONENT of "at home" designs, Addie Masters interprets matte jersey into dinner culottes (above) of flowing lines. Deeply embellished at neckline with bugle beads. Don Loper's elegant and feminine restaurant ensemble (right) is of French re-embroidered lace. Matching peau de soie bands outline neckline, confine free-swinging jacket back.

Maybe it's because California designers never forget that the world's most glamorous movieland was born right beside them that they always come up with something so dramatic, so sexy and so frankly feminine.

Fashion editors from over the nation, in Beverly Hills the past week to review resort-spring collections, were once again reminded that California couturiers play a starring role in the tour de force that is American fashion.

For the "kind of forever" dress, there's Irene's black lorganza sheath with a cascade ruffle circling the neck and trailing down the front to the hemline.

Add to these Helga's airy evening things that fairly glide across the body . . . Walter Pearson's skirt animation, achieved through the use of softly folded panels and many tunics, both slim and full, cropped to show a scant four inches of underskirt . . . Travilla's floaty Loretta Young type creations and Marusia's printed silk costumes—all designed with one thing in mind, to make a girl look like a girl.

* * * *

CALIFORNIA'S arrogant couturier Don Loper, whose three-dimensional personality encompasses fashion design, decor and dancing, as usual sipped champagne while showing his "wears." Also, as usual, he wore a Loper signature black suit with light, high-water trousers.

His fashion spectacular for the day: A full-blown polo coat, sashed and sporting puffy three-quarter sleeves eased into a band. Shown in pink, it comes in 36 other colors.

Another was his extravagant ball gown of cut velvet on satin, short in front and trailing in back—designed to put any lady in the pink, her husband in the red. "It has 42 shades of pink," said he. "Count them." (Editor's note: I was too tired.)

* * * *

Another look: silk dupioni body skimmers that can, by whisking away the belt, go chemise.

Oscar-winning Helen Rose, a pert and piquant brunette who has designed motion picture clothes for 20 years (18 of them at MGM where she still is under contract) does floaty, frothy things with chiffon—designed to make any swain swoon.

* * * *

AT THE HAUTE couture salon of former MGM designer Irene, fashion editors alighted from the bus onto a red carpet rolled to the curb. Gaunt models slithered down the "primrose path" runway wearing exquisitely tailored suits with Dietrich style slouch hats . . . tea rose and lavender floral dresses with umbrellas to match . . . and beautifully engineered peel-off suits with figured flip-sides to give them dual personality.

It rates as a chic fabric from the time you punch the office clock in the morning until lights out at night.

Rossmoor Women Greet December at Gala Dance

Rossmoor Woman's Club will present its annual Christmas dance Dec. 1 in the Lafayette Hotel.

Mrs. Robert Beaver, dance chairman, has announced that ticket sales for the holiday event are being handled by Mrs. Charles Jones, 3311 E. St. Albans Drive, and section chairmen.

MORE THAN 400 persons are expected to attend. Deadline for ticket sales will be Nov. 27 with Mrs. Alan Polack responsible for table reservations.

Music for the evening will be provided by Eustice Rojas and his orchestra. Dress will be semi-formal with dance decorations to carry out a Christmas theme.

Yule Aid for Hospital Vets

Preparation is under way by volunteers of American Legion Auxiliary for their annual Christmas gift shop for veterans at Long Beach VA Hospital in pulmonary disease wards.

Each year a survey is made to determine needs, sizes, addresses of families of each patient. Gifts are provided by units of the 19th and 29th Legion Districts who purchase or make them.

They are taken to wards on carts so each patient can make personal selection. He signs enclosure cards, and gifts are then wrapped and mailed with funds provided by the auxiliary's rehabilitation fund.

The gift shop is under direction of Mrs. Jesse A. Burckle, hospital representative, and Mrs. Ernest Jones, chairman.

Use Cream to Foil Winter

If your skin tends to be very dry in winter, keep a moisturizing lotion on it all day.

Apply it first thing in the morning, then proceed with the rest of your make-up as usual. It will prevent cold and wind from drying out your skin during the day.

And at night, of course, use a rich cream to lubricate your skin overnight. If your skin has a moist, smooth feeling in the morning, your cream is doing a job.

THANKSGIVING NOTE PERMEATES BTD NEWS

Business, Technology

The spirit of Thanksgiving is being observed in a variety of ways this week by students at the Long Beach City College Business and Technology Division.

Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, professor of education at UCLA, will address the student body assembly at 11 a.m. Wednesday on "Things That Matter Most."

Medical Office Assistants are now planning a complete dinner for a needy family this Thanksgiving. New officers of MOA, class of '62, are Jan Mason, president; Carol Simson, Frances Switzer, Susan DeLacy, and Mary McElwain.

To depart briefly from the Thanksgiving theme, members of the Airframe and Powerplant Club pulled off the most spectacular advertising stunt of the year when they arranged to have a helicopter land in the parking lot and to give Dean Clifton N. Patterson an aerial tour of the BTD campus. The object, and it succeeded very well, was to call attention to their sixth annual dinner, held Saturday night.

Finally, the ASB Student Body Council of BTD wishes to extend a sincere wish for a happy Thanksgiving to the entire community, in appreciation of the opportunities available to students at Long Beach City College.

Liberal Arts

The LBCC Liberal Arts campus will be comparatively quiet this week, since students will be dismissed from classes Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holidays. But the poets, radio-TV students and thespians are all busy.

Jim Lytell of Skalds announces that the literary club is now accepting poems written by LAD students for the annual Poet Laureate contest. The winner will be suitably honored (with a laurel crown, yet) at the semiannual Publications Banquet in January.

Members of the Radio-TV Guild will travel to Hollywood Friday evening to tour NBC television studios and see the filming of the Steve Allen show.

With opening night just six weeks away, drama director Jim White and cast have begun active rehearsals for "The Late Christopher Bean," set to open Jan. 12. The word is that the last play ("The Skin of Our Teeth") was so successful that the next production will run for two weekends.

And history was made at the recent Women's Athletic Association regional conference when LBCC students Jerry Shulte and Wally Tucker appeared on a panel discussing coeducational sports activities. They were the first male delegates ever to attend the WAA conference.—DEL DANIEL.

Dummy Saves Bid

Simon Becker of Philadelphia and Professor Eugene Davidson of Duke University qualified for the Houston tryouts by finishing second to Curtis Smith and your columnist at the New York Nationals.

Today's hand illustrates their aggressive bidding style and some fine dummy play by Gene.

Gene won the opening trump lead in dummy and noted that he would have little trouble with the hand if the spade finesse would work, but he suspected that it wouldn't and looked around for a way to avoid it if possible.

He decided to start with the diamond suit so he played ace, king and another diamond and ruffed third diamond in his own hand. This cleared up all his troubles with that suit.

HIS NEXT step was to lead two more rounds of trumps so as to get rid of any possible ruffs and also any possible red suit leads. Then he led dummy's deuce of clubs and put in his ten spot.

West won the trick with the ace and was completely end played. A club lead would allow two spade discards from dummy. A spade lead would be equally unfortunate for West and the hand was made.

Major & Minor Notes

SUDDENLY IT'S COMEDY ON TRAGIC OPERA STAGE

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

Just for variety in my column today I would like to tell of some humorous tidbits that have come to me in my long association with music.

Opera can be tragic, but it can, inadvertently at times, become comic. I recall a performance of "Tristan and Isolde" in which I was singing the role of Isolde. A very tense moment in the first act comes when Tristan, instead of sharing the poison death cup as agreed between them, is, like a true gallant, draining the cup himself. I reached over in my most dramatic gesture and with both hands seized the cup from him. Imagine my horror to find that I had at the same time pulled off his beard!

My very first appearance in opera was as Donna Anna in Mozart's "Don Giovanni." I mistook exits and when the curtain fell I was left outside the curtain to the huge delight of the audience.

Once our conductor became suddenly ill and a novice was rushed in. Things were going from bad to worse when I heard the first violinist hiss at him: "With us, guvner, with us!"

* * * *

MARIO CAJATI, conductor of the Downey Symphony, tells this true story. When a very young man, he conducted in a little opera house in Italy where the audiences did not hesitate to express their innermost feelings loudly and vociferously. The opera was "Il Pagliacci" and the baritone had sung The Prologue very badly. The audience booed and whistled and jeered. The poor, unfortunate fellow stood before the parted curtain until the frenzy had died down. Then he said quietly: "If you think I was bad, wait until you hear the tenor!"

* * * *

JAN POPPER told me that his first appearance as an opera conductor was really tragic. Waiting for the signal to begin the second act, he became impatient at the long wait and pushed a red button in front of him. Suddenly the theatre was empty and fire engines clanged outside. He had rung the fire alarm!

Only recently, in a performance of "Tosca" by the San Francisco Opera Company, I witnessed a convulsingly funny mishap. That wonderful baritone, Georgio Tozzi, was giving a stirring performance as Scarpia. Suddenly he seized a large empire chair and began chasing Tosca. All at once the stuffed back of the chair fell out and Tozzi continued the chase, his head and chest framed in the empty back of the chair!

* * * *

I LOVE THIS story. A German conductor, new to the orchestra, was having a bad time with the men. Finally he cried out: "Gentlemen, pleeze—the weiss (white) iss the paper, and the bleck (black) iss the notes. Play the bleck!"

Often on tour with the opera company in England we would "borrow" a youngster to be the child of Butterfly in Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." One night our Butterfly came off stage crying and wringing her hands, after the farewell scene with her child. During the tender scene she had been bitten on the ears and her kisses were warmly reciprocated. We discovered that we had with us a male dwarf of 25!

'Young, Damned' Film at Museum

"The Young and the Damned," filmed in Mexico by director Luis Bunuel, will be shown on Long Beach Museum of Art film series Friday at 3 and 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Bunuel depicts the outskirts of Mexico City where adolescent gangs fight out of hate, fear, lawlessness and hunger. It is a penetrating treatment of desperate, poverty - haunted youth.

LIMELITERS

East, West Meet in Newest L.B. Gallery

BY VIRGINIA LADDEY

Disavowing "East is East and West is West" is the Florence Ames Gallery which has in its opening show today both a one-man exhibit by painter Forrest G. Hooper and a collection of Oriental objects d'art.

Hooper's recent work has a mystical mood achieved by delicate, almost intangible, forms and colors. Oils vary from thin wash to high glaze, frequently with a pattern of fine lines scratched in. "Fading Dump" is a small oblong painting in washes of black and brown. "Beatrice" is a particularly sensitive treatment of that remote lady. Several of the works, like "Anatomy of a Building," investigate an unknown city.

* * * *

WITH MRS. AMES' personal collection as a nucleus, the Orientalia ranges through ceramics, brass, lacquer, porcelain, painted silk scrolls, and small sculptures in wood and ivory. In the latter is a lovely "Kwan Yin" with minuscule detail. A Japanese screen made up of six panels 5'5" high and said to be 300 years old, shows court scenes painted on gold.

A fragment of painted soapstone is most interesting; the artist has employed the graining of the material as part of his landscape. One ceramic plate has two surrealist bird-headed human figures on it. Two works of gold-painted black lacquer, an octagonal box and a fluted tray, appear quite ancient. Authorities on Oriental arts will enjoy identifying the many objects.

Limited Run for 'Godet' at Off-Broadway

Samuel Beckett's controversial play, "Waiting for Godot," opens Friday for a three-weekend run at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave.

When the play was produced on Broadway, it aroused audiences to such demonstrations of anger, irritation and enthusiasm that the producer printed this warning:

"We respectfully suggest that those who come to the theater for casual entertainment do not buy a ticket for this production."

The story concerns two dilapidated bums who fill their days as painlessly as they can as they wait for Godot, who will explain their interminable insignificance or put an end to it. They spend their time quarreling and depending on each other.

* * * *

In the Broadway play, Bert Lahr scored a personal success as one of the bums. In the Long Beach version the role is taken by Will Dimmitt. Edward Young plays the other bum. Paul Lorenz, Michael Nash and George Spelvin complete the cast.

Pianists to Compete for Award

The Kosciuszko Foundation of New York City, which provides several musical scholarships, again offers its national competition to select a highly talented young pianist for its Chopin award of $1,000. This will be the 13th consecutive year that this scholarship has been made available to young Americans or legal residents of the United States, regardless of their nationality, race or creed.

The first winner, in 1950, was Roy Eaton, a young Negro boy from New York, who within a few days received an invitation to play a Chopin concerto with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at a young peoples' concert.

Van Cliburn was the third winner, entering the contest shortly after his arrival in New York from Texas. This was his first national recognition, a step toward a distinguished career and worldwide fame.

Final Auditions for 'Mikado'

Trained dancers, 14 years of age or older, are invited to attend final auditions for "The Mikado" today at 1 p. m. at Mayfair Park, Clark Avenue and South Street.

The production will be the next offering of Lakewood Philharmonic Association's Dance and Drama Workshop. Henri Scanlon will direct; Lillian Babo will assist with choreography.

Wins Art Award

John Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bates, 3962 Gaviota Ave., was one of 12 students who won awards in the current annual Student Art Association show at Stanford University. He took third place in the water color division.

Panel to View 'Artists' World

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

A panel discussion, of interest to both artists and laymen, will be staged by Long Beach Art Association Tuesday night in the association gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

The topic: The Artist and His World.

The panel will be composed of Florence Arnold, past president of Orange County Art Association; Bertha Lewinson, gallery director; Marvin Saltzman, artist; and Dr. Charles Thompson, associate professor of art at Long Beach State College. John Weeks, educational curator at Long Beach Museum of Art, will be moderator.

The panel thus is representative of influences that affect the artist — teacher, gallery, museum and art association.

Members will meet for a business session at 7:30 p.m.; the program will be open to the public at 8 o'clock.

CHASES, TURTLES AND GALLEY PROOFS

New World of 'Makeup'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Frank Hardesty, whose byline Betty Hardesty long has been familiar to readers of I, P-T Southland magazine and whose unbylined stories chronicle activities of Long Beach Branch, American Association of University Women in the women's section, was invited to watch the final stages of assemblying a Sunday section—from office to composing room. Following are her impressions.)

By BETTY HARDESTY

"Here's one to cut, Joyce," called a makeup man above the din of machinery in the composing room on the third floor of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

From a narrow strip of paper (galley proof) printed with her column, she read the opening words of a paragraph and watched the makeup man locate and pick up the five or six lines. Thus they took out several paragraphs of type before he pushed the columns of type together to make space for the concluding words.

"Every word is precious, every single word," Iola quipped, "but out they go. Seriously, though, this is a problem I wish all club press chairmen—and even mothers of brides—could understand and why I invited you to watch us in action on 'Frustrating Friday'."

* * * *

I ARRIVED at the I, P-T at 10 o'clock, the usual time Sunday "sox" makeup begins, but on Nov. 10 things were running late. As it was explained to me, the makeup men first had to "kill" the type used in that morning's Independent as well as assemble the real estate section. Then, when the empty chases were lined up on their turtles (carts) advertisements were inserted before makeup began.

"The position of ads is prearranged, so we must fit our stories and pictures around them," Joyce explained to me as she pointed out the green "dummy" sheets standing in view to guide each page's makeup —one indicating ad placement, a second on which she had previously marked locations for photos, features and the big stories of that issue.

Attention was called, too, to the difficult process of preparing that Sunday's spectacular front page which contained a full length fashion figure in black and white plus two color pictures. The solution to this page problem was being worked out by Carl Lenz with the confident precision of 47 years experience with the I, P-T.

Joyce went back and forth, with me dogging her steps, reading type upside-down, double checking each page as it progressed, cutting as required and marking each story when used off her master schedule.

* * * *

WHEN A PAGE was ready, the makeup man added blank leads to make each column fit snugly, tightened the bolts on the chase and then wheeled it over to run a page proof.

As other page proofs were ready, they were taken to the women's department for careful proof reading by members of the women's staff.

"Even with all our care, errors still slip by," was one of their more rueful laments.

Each member of the staff cooperates in handling bridal stories, clubs, rewrite and features, and also each has a specialty. In addition to the tasks of Iola and Joyce, many of which I've outlined, staff members are Elise Emery, art; Mary Ellis, fashions; Mary Neth, P-T.A.

Their office's pale green walls are complemented by figured draperies at the three large windows, while paintings on loan from Long Beach artists add interest. Five matching desks are laden with paraphernalia of newswomen, even on a Friday afternoon.

"You imagine how my desk looks on Monday," Iola remarked to me, "when I tackle a 12 to 18 inch stack of mail."

She opens and reads each letter carefully, designating the size of headline and date of publication, before it is placed in a central box to be edited or rewritten by a staff member.

I learned, too, that, in keeping with the paper's policy, she has the responsibility of giving preference to photos and items which will attract the most readers.

I came away from my visit with the realization that in every news release, "each name and word is precious." Nevertheless, in the tense atmosphere of newspaper deadlines, page restrictions and column space, something has to give. Even, sigh, an occasional paragraph or page from one of my stories for AAUW!

GREEKS WIND UP WITH HOMECOMING TROPHIES

Here's a quick rundown on prize-winners at last week's Long Beach State Homecoming: Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity's float won the sweepstakes trophy, and with it the Mayor's and the President's trophy. Phi Kappa Tau won the novelty class award, Sigma Phi Epsilon was first in the "B" category, and Tau Kappa Epsilon was second in the "A." . . . on campus, Sigma Kappa sorority won first prize for their picture frame, and Alpha Phi was second.

Loretta Davis, Delta Delta Delta's very capable publicity chairman, tells us that Judy Irwin was named Phi Kappa Tau fraternity's "Honorary Pledge of the Year," in a recent ceremony on the steps of the Tri-Delt house which included a bouquet of red roses and some PKT serenading . . . last Wednesday was Founders Day for the sorority: the 74th birthday found the original five members at Boston University now grown to 68,000 in 107 campus and 284 alumnae chapters . . . come Nov. 30, Delta Delta Delta hosts members of the faculty and administration at the annual "Apple Polishing Party."

* * * *

SPEAKER FOR LAST WEEK'S meeting of SAM (Society for Advancement of Management) was Thomas Blodgett, president of the 1966 World's Fair in Long Beach. He explained some of the effects which this billion dollar exposition will have on SAM members and others in the Long Beach community.

Tonight, Phi Lambda Chi (pre-law club) meets in the Soroptimist House at 8 p.m. Ray Cullom, formerly with the Long Beach Public Defender's office and now in private practice, will be the main speaker. Three weeks hence, on Dec. 11, the group presents James L. Malone, associate dean of the UCLA Law School, in two campus appearances. The first, at noon in lecture hall 151, commemorates "Bill of Rights Week." The second, a luncheon for PLC members, finds Malone discussing some of the aspects of law school.

Delta Zeta sorority honored past chapter advisor Mrs. Frances Gregory at an open house last Sunday. Taking note of her untiring efforts in behalf of the chapter, DZ actives, alums, and members of the Mothers Club, presented Mrs. Gregory with a trophy . . . Sunday, Dec. 2, the sorority will have an open house for city officials, parents, friends, and neighbors . . . tomorrow night, the chapter attends an anti-Communist lecture at Long Beach CC; it will be the second event on the yearly standards program . . . three of the eight LBSC coeds listed in this year's "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" are DZs: Karen Koto, Lynne Winnik, and Colleen Logan.

Knights to Give Party

A gay Harvest Festival is planned by Lakewood Knights of Columbus to take place Wednesday from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the council meeting hall, 4433 Village Road, according to Grand Knight Herb Stumpf of Cawley Council.

Dan Moss, council lecturer, is chairman for the dance and party which will feature a popular dance band, entertainment and refreshments. Members will have an opportunity to greet new members and their wives.

Chanukah Event

Newly formed Sisterhood of Temple Beth David will have a Chanukah workshop on Monday, 8:30 p. m., in Pilgrim Hall, Los Alamitos Blvd. and Katella Ave. Mmes. Harold Gordon and Arthur Becker are in charge of reservations. Items to be made have been put up in do-it-yourself kits.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

For the Love of Texas!

DEAR ABBY: I am a college junior and my roommate is a guy from Texas. He keeps a shoe box filled with plain, ordinary dirt under his bed. Nobody is allowed to move it because it is TEXAS dirt. Do you think this guy is all there?—NOT FROM TEXAS.

DEAR NOT: Of course he is. It doesn't matter if he's got dirt UNDER him or OVER him, once a Texan —always a Texan.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Every girl needs someone to talk to, but I am afraid I've been talking to the wrong person. She is my aunt. She is almost 50, and has never been married. She claims all men are no good, and has drummed that idea into my head ever since I can remember. I idolize my aunt, and have grown up believing everything she has told me. I am 25 and not married, although I have been called "beautiful," and I am constantly being asked out.

My aunt made me promise I wouldn't date a man until she met him. I kept that promise. I realize now she has found fault with every man who showed an interest in me. I recently met a man I could love. I broke my promise, and have been seeing him. I am afraid to introduce him to my aunt because I know she'll tear him down like she did the others. Should I introduce him and clear my conscience, or not?

—MIND OF MY OWN.

DEAR MIND: Your aunt sounds like a player who never made the team, but is right in there intercepting passes. By all means, introduce him to your aunt. But tell her how you feel about him and ask her not to blow the whistle on this one until she has seen him in action.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Someone who is soon to be in our family is badly in need of dental care and we don't know how to broach the subject. We are all very fastidious and this problem is fast changing our attitude toward this person. We fear it will be a hindrance in his finding employment in keeping with his abilities. Please advise us as it is causing us a great deal of angush.—ANGUISH.

DEAR ANGUISHED: The person who is responsible for bringing this man into your family should tackle the very delicate assignment and do it now. The man in need of dental care probably is aware of it—but has put it off, become used to the condition and is hoping no one else notices.

* * * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

Varicose Veins Should Have Early Treatment

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Varicose veins are a pain in the leg to many women. Not only are these unsightly but they can cause much discomfort.

So many young women have varicose veins today. I have not heard a medical guess as to why this is. My own guess is that one factor may be the large families young people are having today. While many women have several children without developing varicose veins, pregnancy is often a contributing factor.

* * * *

THERE ARE many causes for varicose or enlarged veins. Long hours of standing or being on the feet, wearing apparel which constricts the veins and pregnancy all place a strain on these blood vessels. Inheritance also plays a part. Some folks are just born with stronger tubes.

Sometimes injections are used and in severe cases the veins may be removed by surgery.

* * * *

IT IS important to treat these liabilities in the early stages. Elastic stockings which often are recommended, can be worn under regular stockings, and today elastic hosiery is so light weight that it can sub for the regular nylons.

If you wish to avoid varicose veins, do not wear restricting clothing, especially round, elastic garters. Do not sit for long periods with your knees crossed. When sitting for some time get up and walk around the room periodically.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

He's a Director and Here's "Y"

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.-P-T Food Editor

His arrival in Long Beach brings to it the fine qualities of a man completely dedicated to his work—with a gee-whiz flash of humor—the patience of the gods, and leadership ability second to none.

Robert M. Farnham, today's Chef of the Week, is executive director of the new Armed Services YMCA, relieving veteran "chef" George McLean. Farnham is the son and brother of the late O. E. Farnham, and Daniel W. Farnham, local attorneys. Dan "cooks", too!

Farnham is not a newcomer to Long Beach however. He first appeared on the scene in 1923, straight from Belle Fourche, So. Dakota. It was in the dead of winter and he came complete with suitcase full of winter-protective "undergear". This he proceeded to spill as he alighted from the old U.P. train which used to chug up Ocean Blvd. He would like to forget, too, the time that he, while spending Christmas with his grandmother, signed-up for some "needy-family" Christmas aid. She, a pillar of society, didn't quite see his point.

After completing the requirements of Franklin Junior High, Poly High and Long Beach Junior College, he enrolled at Whittier College from which he was graduated in 1933. While there he shared fraternity doings with Richard M. Nixon, also a "chef."

* * * *

ALTHOUGH Farnham majored in business administration and sociology, it was his "minor" which became his vocation — YMCA work. Perhaps his dedication to the "Y" began when he "summered" in that endeavor while in school. Then, to cinch the deal, there were just two students in the "Y" class at Whittier, he and a lad from Honolulu. With a mind that extended itself, he figured the percentages of "being placed" were 99 to one. The depression was hitting hard at the time.

His first official position was with the Armed Services "Y" in San Pedro. When the first Navy YMCA was established in Long Beach, he crossed the channel to become its program director.

In 1938 he continued his Navy work in Norfolk, Va. Five years later, he returned to the West Coast where he served the Armed Services "Y" in San Diego, first as program director, then business secretary and finally as associate executive. It was while in San Diego that he authored one of the most eloquent slogans ever coined for a Community Chest campaign, It was, "We're carrying all our begs in one asket." The position of area executive of the USO in Wichita Falls, Texas, preceded his acceptance of his present position in Long Beach.

* * * *

One of the pleasant sidelights of his personality is his fine tenor voice. It was while singing the lead in "The Mikado" that he, complete with wig and grease paint, met his wife. Theirs was a courtship which began across the footlights. Today his music is mostly confined to the Methodist Church choir and the SPEBSQSA variety—(barber shop, that is). He takes a mean aim with a golf club —and for family fun, they go camping.

By "family" we mean a married daughter, Kay, and a toddler grandson; a son, Bob, in the air force; and 13 year old Lyndell, still on the home front.

Today we show him busily flipping buckwheat hotcakes. We might just tell you that this picture was taken at the Armed Services "Y.". No family of three could ever eat that much.

BUCKWHEAT HOTCAKES
1 quart buttermilk
½ cup butter
1 tsp. baking soda
2 tblsp. baking powder
4 eggs
¾ cup hard wheat flour
1 cup buckwheat flour

Whip eggs thoroughly. Add buttermilk and soda.

Sift together both flour and baking powder, and add to liquid mixture. Beat all together, Add melted butter. Bake on hot griddle or iron skillet.

OUR COVER

Rugged ship and sturdy Pilgrims crossed the sea and established new freedom, taming wild land and shaping it into a colony. They set a new tradition in their adopted home, giving thanks to the Deity for their successful venture and partaking of His bounty on a day set aside for the purpose. Thus was founded America's Thanksgiving Day. Among the symbols of this rite in modern times is the Pilgrims' ship, the Mayflower, and, in order that this symbol might become also an emblem of the friendship and the close relationship of two great nations, a new Mayflower, pictured on today's cover, was built in Britain and sailed to America. The story of the two Mayflowers is told on Page 7 as Southland joins in observing the day of Thanksgiving.

Popularity of the poinsettia in the Christmas season has created a Southland industry that spreads brilliant color across hundreds of acres of farmland a few miles south of Long Beach. Hundreds of thousands of these rich red beauties must move to the flower market in the coming days and the harvest period is a time of festival in San Diego. Southland Magazine brings the story of the poinsettia and its legends next Sunday in "Flower of the Holy Night."

Trumpet, leather bucket, aluminum hat, fire extinguisher hark back to the gaslight days of fire fighting.

ANTIQUES

In Mrs. O'Leary's Day

By Helen L. Gillum

IT IS A LONG journey back to the first crude, hand-pulled, hand-pumped firecart of the 1700s, manned by volunteers who had to depend upon a bucket brigade and the village well to fight the flames. Gone, too, are the steam pumpers and the faithful fire horses of later years, who needed only the clang of the gong to set them to prancing in anticipation of a "fast run." Unique relics from those colorful days do remain, however, to intrigue the collector — and perhaps amaze the modern fire laddie, confidently manipulating his power-operated equipment of gleaming red and chrome.

Paul McGinnis of 1342 Market St. owns several of these mementos. Particularly interesting is a fireman's speaking trumpet, once an indispensable item in fire fighting methods. There were actually two kinds of trumpets, the hardy "working" trumpet of tin or brass being carried by "foremen" and other fire department officials to call the fire boys to "Turn out! Turn out!" at the first sign of a blaze. These were also used to shout instructions to the crew fighting the flames. That a trumpet could likewise serve as a handy weapon in the instance of a fight, or with the mouthpiece removed and plugged with a cork, as a "drinking horn" for ale or beer is probably worth mentioning here, to give the old-time souvenir full credit.

THERE WERE also the beautifully decorated trumpets of silver, ornate with carvings and inscriptions, and often inlaid with gold, which were known as "presentation" trumpets. These were strictly honorary or commemorative in nature, and given to the chief as a token of esteem at a special event. McGinnis' trumpet, while now blackened with age, could possibly be a silver presentation horn, for it is engraved, "Won at Catholic Orphan's Fair, 1867. Mechanics Fire Co. No. 7, by Popular Vote, Mobile, Alabama."

An old leather fire bucket owned by McGinnis is believed to date from the early 1800s. Fire buckets were first used in New York. They were made by shoemakers, and were hand-sewn and constructed of the best tanned leather, as were the very early fire hoses. The buckets hung on or near the front porch, ready to be tossed into the street at the sound of the fire alarm and the cry, "Throw out your buckets!" Firemen and civilians alike dropped everything to race down the street to the water supply, grabbing buckets as they ran.

(AN AMUSING story is told of the housewife who stored beans in the family fire bucket. The firefighter who grabbed this bucket, unaware of or forgetting the unusual contents, emptied the beans into the pumps, clogging them and rendering the engine useless.)

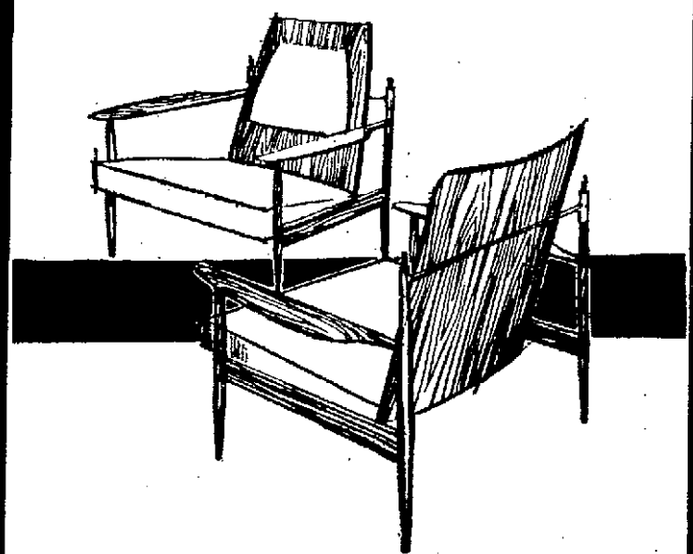

After a fire was put out (or burned itself out), a watchman was sent to shout the familiar "Claim your buckets!" which signified that the containers were waiting at the City Hall for the owners to retrieve.

The early type fire extinguisher is brass, was patented in 1830, and was made by Robert T. Deakin & Co., Philadelphia. Working on a suction-and-ejection principle, it could have possibly doused a small fire if zealously applied.

Originally, firemen's hats were made of leather. The one owned by McGinnis is made of aluminum and is dated 1900. It is interesting in that it bears the label, "Engine No. 9, L. B. F. D." It has a front shield and eagle-head holder, the latter being used for breaking glass in emergencies.

Havoc in the Beehives

By Aubrey B. Haines

LOS ANGELES County had 585 beekeepers with 21,000 colonies during the past fiscal year, but most colonies have been moved elsewhere in search of food.

"The colonies number between 35,000 and 40,000 during the summer," says A. Douglas Phelps, county bee inspector. "Most of these may be found in the Antelope Valley, where alfalfa abounds."

Drought has affected the bees for the third successive year. With no food in the hills, the bees can find nectar only on irrigated lands, where citrus and alfalfa grow.

As a result they have flown to Nevada, Arizona, and even as far away as Montana and South Dakota. Perhaps 10,000 colonies — or an estimated 90,000,000 bees — have left the Southland, accompanied by their keepers. A bee census is taken each Nov. 1 in accordance with state law.

Normally beekeepers migrate twice or thrice a year, following the crops. Some of their trips take them long distances. They do not have to pay for the privilege of treating their bees to flowering plants, for the ranchers appreciate having the bees around.

The value of the honey that the bees produce—over and above what they require for survival — is practically nothing compared with the value of bees for pollination purposes.

YEARS AGO, California had about 500,000 colonies and produced 10 per cent of the honey in the United States. The chief dairy state, Wisconsin, is also the principal honey state. Subdivisions as well as drought have cut heavily into the bee business. A good winter rainfall will bring the bees back to the Southland but not in their former numbers.

Scientists are fascinated with the study of bees. By observing bees' behavior, man has learned how to halt swarming and why the drones are cast out to die when food is short.

A queen becomes the parent of a colony, laying up to 3,000 eggs a day—until the food supply dwindles. Most of the eggs hatch into workers, or honey-gatherers. These are undeveloped females. The drones are males, and not badly needed.

Bees not only keep the hive warm but cool as well. They flex their muscles in extremely cold weather and can raise the hive temperature to 94 degrees. In hot weather they flap their wings and create sufficient breeze to lower the temperatures.

Not native to North America, bees were brought here apparently from Holland about 1634 by the British or Spaniards. Indians called them "the white man's fly."

U. S. Department of Agriculture Photos

Southern California's bee population and ranks of beekeepers have thinned by large numbers in recent years.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you explain KINNEY, KENNEY and McKENNA. — K.K., Buena Park; M.M., Long Beach; C.M., North Carolina.

K.K., M.M., C.M.: KINNEY and KENNEY are shortened surnames from the clan MacCionaodha deciphered as "Sons of the Fire-sprung one," a mystic pre-Christian Gaelic cognomen. McKenna is another modern spelling of the old Gaelic name. The clan MacCionaodha were chiefs in north Monaghan. The family coat-of-arms has two narrow black vertical stripes between five red spur-rowels in the form of an "X" on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the story on LA FOLLETTE. — G.F., Bellflower; C.B., Long Beach.

G.F., C.B.: LA FOLLETTE is based on the ancient French phrase "Foulet" meaning "From the place of the beechtree." La Follette, often spelled Follet, was acquired by a family living on property landmarked by a beautiful large beech tree. The Follet coat-of-arms was granted in Belgian Flanders. The shield is gold, emblazoned with three red mallets or hammers tilted diagonally. Robert La Follette (1855-1925) was a famous U. S. senator.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze DAMMANN and DAMMAND. — R.R., E.A., V.H., Long Beach.

R.R., E.A., V.H.: DAMMANN began as a 13th century German trade title for a "Dam-man" or "worker on a dam or dike." This name also refers to a progenitor who lived on or at a dike. DAMMAND is a varied spelling of DAMMANN. The Damman coat-of-arms granted in Holland has three golden diamonds with red, circular center accompanied by four silver flames on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of BONNINGTON.—A.F., Long Beach.

A.F.: BONNINGTON has an 11th century English background. The source was the old Anglo-French phrase "Bon-Ing-tun" meaning "from the Good-one's family estate." The Bonnington coat-of-arms from Derbyshire has a gold chevron centered between three gold roses on a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like genealogy on BECKHAM. —K.E., M.B., Long Beach.

K.E., M.B.: BECKHAM, nine centuries ago, described an Anglo-Saxon locality in England. Beck-ham is revealed as "Dweller at the combatant's estate." The Beckham shield has an ermine-coated stripe across the center of a background composed of checkered gold and black squares.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the source of RAAB and RAABE. — B.R., Downey; H.R., Anaheim; Mrs. J.R., Long Beach.

B.R., H.R., J.R.: RAAB and RAABE are old German names altered from the 13th century hero warrior name Hrabo meaning "raven." The raven was held in great reverence as a symbol of wisdom in Europe in the Middle Ages. The Raab coat-of-arms from Prussia has a black, gold-crowned raven representing the name meaning, standing on a small green mound centered on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Am interested in NORTHCUTT.—D.N., Long Beach.

D.N.: NORTHCUTT was acquired by this family from their home town of Northcutt in Berkshire, England. Northcutt is a distortion of "Northcourt" which was a designation for "north-farm" in medieval centuries. The Northcutt and Northcott coat-of-arms from Devonshire has three diagonal black stripes crossing a vertical silver bank on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like history of CROCKETT and CROCKET. — J.W., Mrs. H.V., Long Beach.

J.W., H.V.: CROCKETT, an early French-English and Scotch personal name, is from "Croquet" meaning "little, bent one." Primary ancestors include William de Cruket of Southampton, 1292, and Avicia de Cruket of Dorset, 1272. Crocket is the short spelling of this name. The Crockett coat-of-arms from Scotland has a blue chevron between three blue spur-rowels on a silver shield. The most noted American ancestor was Davy Crockett who died at the siege of the Alamo in Texas in 1836.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give brief genealogy on VAN GUNDY.—Mrs. M.V., Los Alamitos.

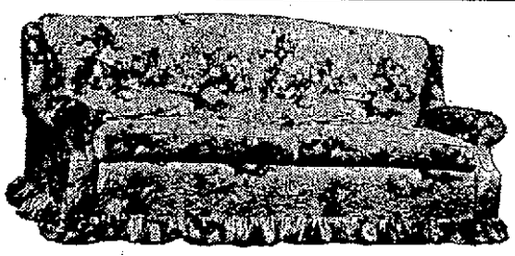

M.V.: VAN GUNDY is an American respelling of the Dutch surname Van Gundig or Van Gunde, which translates as "Descendants of the little warrior." I find no coat-of-arms or other data available on this old lineage.

No Thanksgiving story is complete without a chapter about

The Two Mayflowers

By Betty Hardesty

Drawing of the Mayflower as reconstructed in 1956 for building of the Mayflower II. Cutaway shows how supplies and human cargo were stowed.

SYMBOL OF the common heritage and continuing brotherhood of two great nations, the Mayflower II is moored at Plimoth Plantation as a gift to the United States from Great Britain. She is a duplicate of the vessel in which the Pilgrims sailed into their great adventure and to the New World.

The arrival of Mayflower II at Plymouth, Mass., on June 14, 1957, after her own voyage across the Atlantic was an occasion of international interest but the whole story of the accomplishment in the light of the Pilgrim story, is especially worthy of review at Thanksgiving time.

The Pilgrims set forth, originally, in two ships but the Speedwell proved unseaworthy and after making two false starts, 102 of the original 120 colonists in her crowded aboard the Mayflower. William Bradford recorded it this way: "Sept. 6: These troubles being blown over, and now all being compact together in one ship, we put to sea again with a prosperous wind, which continued divers days together, which was some encouragement unto us."

INFORMATION about the Mayflower is scant but it is certain that she was a ship of 180 tons burden. According to the official guidebook issued by the Plimoth Plantation Inc. (non-profit), she had probably been in the wine trade during her 20 years of service as well as acting as a whaler. Twelve of these years had been under Master Christopher Jones who sailed her for the Pilgrims.

How he managed to stow his "cargo" of more than 100 colonists and their belongings is somewhat of a mystery. Besides the discomforts of crowding and lack of privacy, rough and stormy weather because of the lateness of the season, had to be endured. The shores of Cape Cod were finally sighted after 66 days and on Nov. 8 the anchor was dropped in Provincetown Harbor. During the ensuing month groups of 15 to 18 men explored the shores looking for a suitable place for a settlement. Then, after they found Plymouth, it was several more days before the actual site was selected.

There was no wholesale landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock as depicted in popular illustrations. There is strong evidence, however, that the Rock then located at the mouth of Town Brook was used as a landing place, if not initially, at least as the base of a pier from which people and goods could be unloaded from small boats plying between shore and the Mayflower, anchored in deeper water.

THE SMALL BOAT used to land and explore was the Mayflower's shallop which had been cut down and stowed in quarters inside the ship. "Mourt's Relation" account of the Pilgrims says, "She was much opened by the people lying in her . . . and it was 15 days before the carpenter had finished her"—repairs. From accounts such as Mourt's and Gov. Bradford's and maritime records of three centuries ago, information was obtained to ascertain the dimensions for the construction of a second shallop which was ready in 1957 to meet the Mayflower II.

William A. Baker, naval architect who reconstructed the shallop's replica, had also been commissioned in 1951 to research for the building of Mayflower II. After four years of study, his conclusions published in the American Neptune, 1955, were quite similar to those of Dr. R. C. Anderson who made the first model of the Mayflower in 1925, now displayed in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth. Baker's plans did allow more head room for the taller men of today who would man her.

From this model and many plan-drawings, the replica was built at 181 tons by 17th century formula. She is 106 feet long overall with 78-foot, 8-inch waterline, a beam of 25½ feet and draft of 13 feet, square rigged on her fore and main masts with a lanteen sail on her mizzen mast. One inexperienced with ships would speak of her high poop and bright red and green striped trim.

The events which led to the building of the new Mayflower began years ago and many thousands of miles apart. In 1947, led by Henry Hornblower II, a group of men in Massachusetts formed Plimoth Plantation to build a reproduction of early Plymouth as a dramatic setting for telling the Pilgrim story. Hornblower had already contacted experts on both sides of the Atlantic in regard to the feasibility of creating a new Mayflower as part of the plantation idea.

Meanwhile, a young Englishman, Warwick Charlton, who had been a press officer in the British-American forces of World War II, had conceived and become fascinated with the thought of building a new Mayflower and sailing her to America to foster Anglo-American relations. Charlton, therefore, proposed that the plantation plans be supplied him and he in turn would build and give them the ship. By agreement, Project Mayflower, Ltd., of London, began construction of Mayflower II in 1955.

HER MAIN beam was cut from a solid log of Devon oak of 116 cubic feet. That it measured only 55 cubic feet after converting gives an idea of the work involved in turning the working designs into a ship that would sail. Shaping and trimming the complicated timbers had to be done with an adze, a tool which has survived unchanged since Pilgrim days. In fact, some of the tools used were 200 years old. Timber for masts and spars came from Canada but the main mast was made of 80 feet of tough Oregon pine.

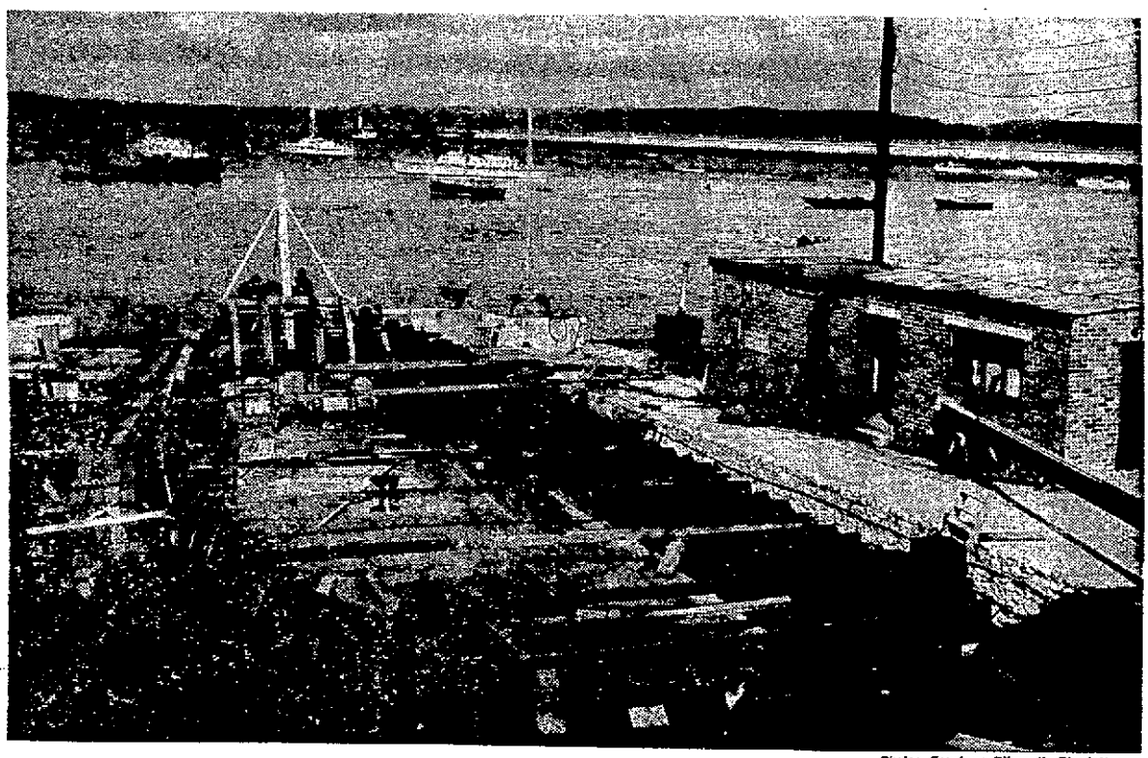

The know-how for making flax cloth for sails had been handed down for generations at Francis Webster & Sons and Harold Bridge of Brixham cut and sewed the sails by hand as builders and craftsmen fitted the ship in Brixham Harbor with special care and interest.

While Mayflower II was being built, her new captain, Alan Villiers, chose the 33 crewmen from hundreds of applicants. Capt. Villiers, as "rugged and square-rigged as the ships he sails" and considered the foremost writer on wooden sailing ships, wrote accounts of the construction and of the voyage of Mayflower II for the National Geographic Society, published in 1957. His existence, ability and willingness to sail the Mayflower II were providential. In 1930, he took the famous Joseph Conrad square rigger sailing school ship more than 60,000 miles around the globe and had sailed for 40 years when the Mayflower II put to sea from Plymouth, England.

Two days were required to clear the English Channel but on April 22, 1957, strong northerly winds caught the sails and the Mayflower II began ploughing briskly southwesterly. Bad weather, the little ship, short and jumpy, her top-heavy rigging and heavy ballast which made her "stiff," leaks above water line and other discouraging factors soon caused Capt. Villiers to abandon the plan to retrace the original Mayflower course. "After all," he thought, "I am bringing a mighty important little ship across the Atlantic."

INSTEAD OF making 10 knots, Villiers explains, she could make only 7½ and the longer route might keep them at sea 70 to 80 days. He decided to ration their fresh water to 30 gal-

Christmas Facts, Foods and Fancies

Christmas tree traditions date far back into history of the Old World. Modern ornamentation turns the trees into symbols of marvelous artistry.

Living and eating differ, but people everywhere feel the same about Yuletide

By Frank L. Remington

FOR ALMOST 2,000 years Christmas has been the most celebrated holiday of every year. Celebrated by all kinds of people in all parts of the world—people whose tastes in living and eating differ, but whose feeling about Christmas is the same.

Our Christmases never get "better" as the years go by, because the Christmases of our childhood are "best." Perhaps it is for this reason that we draw on the traditions and symbols of yuletide with which our parents brightened our Christmases.

To everybody, Christmas means shining lights and shining eyes, gaiety, laughter, peace and joy, as well as prayerful thanksgiving. Christmas means good cheer—and good food. Christmas is stuffed goose, plum pudding, roast beef, a wassail bowl, magi cakes or lebkuchen—depending on where you come from and what your inherited traditions are. Christmas is a spicy smell, filling homes from one end of Christendom to the other.

It was always so with Christmas. This, of all times to people everywhere, is the time of seasoning—the time when the magic of cinnamon, powdered cloves, ginger, nutmeg, anise, allspice and aromatic bitters are brought to bear on the foods which will grace the festive board. And the Christmas feast is an integral part of the holiday.

IN THE TIME of the Saxons, the festive board was spread with its "bord-cloth" and the guests waited for the two special dishes that marked Christmas: the peacock and the boar's head. The peacock, always borne to the table by a lady, perhaps the most beautiful of the female guests, sometimes arrived in the form of the crust, and its wide-spread tail from the other. More often, the bird was skinned, stuffed with herbs, and roasted. Just before it was served, the skin was replaced.

Legend has it that the boar's head was served to commemorate the brave English student who was attacked by a wild boar while he studied Aristotle in the woods. As the beast bore down upon him, the intrepid young man crammed the philosopher down the throat of the savage. Hence, the head of the boar was always served with a large apple stuffed in its mouth.

The English Christmas feast of that era ended always with a dish unknown to modern times. It was called "frumenty" and consisted of wheat boiled till the grains burst. When the mixture was cool it was strained and boiled again with broth or milk and yolks of eggs. As the years passed, more imaginative cooks added other things: raisins, prunes, mace.

By 1670, some enterprising culinary artist had revised the recipe further and chopped in some suet, to produce the first plum pudding. Today, plum pudding is as traditional in American Christmas feasting as it is in English. And American cooks have further embellished the plum pudding recipe of the Old World by experimenting with flavoring agents and seasonings.

MINCE PIE is also a decidedly British addition to the Christmas feast. As early as 1596, "shrid pye," or shredded pie, was popular. The delicacy symbolizes the gifts of the Wise Men to the Christ Child, representing a compound of the choicest spices of the world. Today many Americans still make their own mincemeat, a rewarding experience in itself.

To the English, too, we owe the origin of the mistletoe kiss. The Druid priests of Old England at Christmas time went out into the woods and cut mistletoe from the boughs. They blessed the branches and gave them to young men to carry to the homes of the people. It was the duty of the populace to accept the mistletoe and to show their appreciation for the blessing by offering alms to the young men. The mistletoe was then hung over the doorposts of the homes and it was thought that only happiness could pass under the branch.

In Scandinavia, the festive "bord-cloth" becomes "smorgasbord," which literally translated means "sandwich-table." This, however, is a meager description of the untold varieties of delicacies which adorn the Christmas table of the Swedish, Norwegian and Danish people and their descendants in this country.

Here are found, in wondrous array, cold roast pork with currant jelly, veal with mustard sauce, jellied calf tongues, and radish roses, smoked whitefish with capers, pickled herring in dill sauce, anchovies, smoked salmon, pickled pigs feet, assorted fruit and vegetable molds to create color contrast, molded fish mousses, endless varieties of cheese, brown beans cooked in molasses, meat balls, and half a dozen kinds of spiced Christmas breads. Many of the breads are baked only at the holiday season, and are as much a part of Christmas as the dawn church service, Julotta.

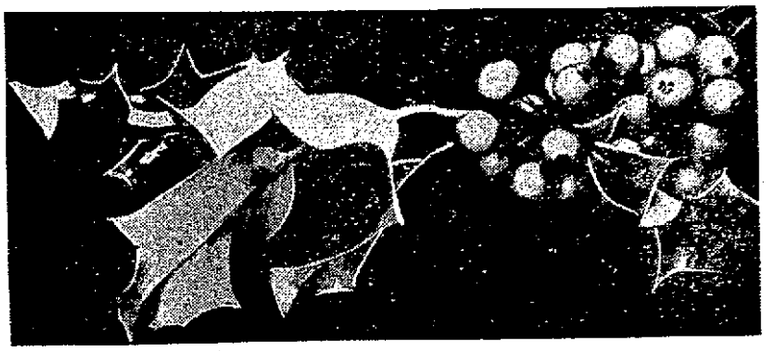

CHRISTMAS in Sweden is also a time for glog, a Viking drink as old as the history of the Scandinavian countries and served to warm the bodies as well as the hearts of the celebrants.

Christmas, in all countries, has always called for special decorations. The earliest were the handiest—greens from the forests. Since the season determined that these be evergreens, the "Christmas tree" that evolved was a pine or fir. The use of trinkets on the tree dates from the early Roman days when masks of Bacchus were hung on trees to impart fertility to those who gazed upon them. The United States has a National Christmas Tree, so designated by the Department of the Interior. It is 268 feet high and is located in Gen. Grant National Park near Fresno.

For a young woman to accept a bunch of edelweiss on Christmas, in Switzerland, is also to accept the man who proffered it. In Denmark, some of the bread baked at Christmas is mixed with the seed at sowing time to insure an abundant harvest. In Spain, cows are honored at Christmas time because it is believed that cattle breathed upon the Christ Child to keep him warm.

In Czechoslovakia an unmarried girl who throws apple peels over her shoulder at Christmas time can read the initials of her future husband from the shape of the peels. It is an old tradition that associated Christmas with marriage, and it blends

Holly, too, has a traditional background as a yule symbol. Foods and fancies of the season run the gamut of Christian lands of the world.

Desert adaptation of the Christmas tree gets adornment by western gals.

Odd sidelights of history revealed in Southland exhibit

2,000 Years of Locks

By Bob Reardon

A STROLL through "2,000 Years of Locks," current exhibit at the California Museum of Science and Industry, Exposition Park, Los Angeles, reveals odd sidelights of history.

Perhaps the unsung lock has played a mightier role in the past than it has been given credit for. Or so it would seem by the 232 locks and keys on display which show man's attempts to safeguard his possessions and prisoners down through the ages.

One of the locks is said to have caused the madness of Ivan the Terrible. Suspicious of the fidelity of his Czarina, Ivan locked her in the royal suite and went off to war with the key. During his absence she gave birth to a child without medical attention. Both mother and child died. Soon after the tragedy Ivan began the reign of terror for which he is infamous.

ANOTHER LOCK, from 18th Century India, was used by a victorious conqueror to jail a group of 123 captives. Forced into a room 18 feet square, all the captives died. The room became known as "the Black Hole of Calcutta."

A string of 99 platinum padlocks in the collection was created for Catherine the Great of Russia by a master locksmith serving a life sentence in Siberia. Each minute padlock operates with a different key. Legend has it that Catherine was so impressed she granted the locksmith his freedom.

The jewel box of Queen Isabella of Spain, reputed to have financed the discovery of America, is also on exhibit. Etchings on the box are of the Queen, King Ferdinand, Columbus and other court notables.

Oldest of the locks, an Egyptian teakwood gate lock, dates back 2,000 years to the time of Cleopatria VII. It was discovered when the Suez Canal was under construction in 1865.

OTHER interesting items include the key to the room in the Bastille which held the famous Man in the Iron Mask; the key to Schoenbrunn Palace in Vienna; prison keys from all over the world collected by Scotland Yard; and keys used on the dungeons of St. Augustine Prison in Florida.

Also in the collection are early Roman keys found in the ruins of Pompeii; an ancient scorpion-shaped padlock from India; an ornate 15th Century German cathedral lock 24 inches long and 8 pounds in weight; and the key to the gate of Quebec.

The historic items are from the Schlage Lock Co. collection and will be on display through Jan. 3. The museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

String of 99 platinum locks of Catherine the Great's time are on display in an historic lock collection at California Museum of Science, Industry.

In 1756, 123 captives perished in the "Black Hole of Calcutta," an 18-foot-square room secured by this brass lock.

Contrast: Tibetan temple keys, 300 years old, weigh three pounds, in contrast to modern door keys which weigh two ounces.

Judge With a Different Slant

By Olive Breed

Writing verse gives relief from courtroom tensions for Superior Judge Frank Swain.

"SAN QUENTIN Convict Plans to Shoot Judge Swain."

When Judge Frank G. Swain read that headline in the newspapers, he had already adopted the philosophy he considers necessary to survival. "Always keep your sense of humor." He also had his sure-fire plan for easing the type of tension such headlines produce—he was, and is, a verse-writing addict.

The threatening convict was, and still is, petitioning for parole, to date not granted. The judge's answer a jingle, was not delayed:

"If I were shot dead by a stranger,
"I know that would mortify me,"

Which was also taken up by headlines across the country, and launched on radio by Lowell Thomas, which helped to introduce the judge's first volume of verse, "Judicial Jingles."

WITH HIS USC bachelor degree in hand, Swain, who was born in Florence and reared in Whittier, went on to Wyoming University, and from there to Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar. His third year there was interrupted by World War I.

He was admitted to the bar in 1919, he practiced at Whittier until 1930, when he joined a Los Angeles firm as the partner of William Gibbs McAdoo.

In the 26 years since he was appointed to the bench by Gov. Merriam, Judge Swain has served in practically every special department of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, but perhaps the years spent in Criminal Court were most colorful and productive of slightly greater tensions and tests of his philosophy. He wrote of this period:

"I've had most able counsellors,
Defense and for the State;
But from this point I walk alone
While I decide his fate."

He states emphatically, "I do not write jingles on the bench, nor do I read them in court." And he adds, "Writing verse is not foolishness. It releases tensions that build up in the courtrooms, and if what I write has humor, this has been of great benefit. Humor has therapeutic value."

The nearest his verse writing ever gets to the judicial scene of action may be during the drive to his home which is built where Whittier invades La Puente Hills. If traffic gets light and his mind free, an idea might strike, in which case he pulls over to the curb and jots it down. Another fertile spot for ideas is his almost perpendicular garden on the side of the hill, in which case he takes a run uphill for pencil and paper. And Judge Swain is not above that old cliche, "I thought of it in the night," or "in my sleep," and keeps pad and pencil beside his bed.

DURING HIS term on the bench, Judge Swain gave as much time and energy as possible to the prisoners who, between conviction and sentencing, requested an interview with him. Evidence that these visits paid off is in the great number who came to see him upon being released.

"A man can keep his sense of humor in prison," declares Swain, "but this is not true of women prisoners."

Then there was a man in Folsom the judge could not quite dismiss from his thoughts. He did not want to make direct inquiry about him, but verse creates a world all its own, having nothing to do with men as the judge and the judged, and perhaps Frank G. Swain's most famous lines were entitled:

PROS AND CONS
"Our voices raise
In Folsom praise
For these unhallowed walls,
etc.

He was not sure the poem would be accepted as it was meant, but took the chance and sent it to the prisoner who had disturbed his thoughts. It happened that inside the Folsom walls this man was in charge of athletics for a three-day holiday game schedule. He published the Swain lines in the prison paper, together with "The Cons' Reply" from an unnamed prisoner, and Judge and Mrs. Swain were invited to the festivities. The Swains accepted, and went as guests of the warden.

The warden provided seats in the balcony for his guests, but the judge, who had offered a prize for the best loser, occupied a seat of honor among the prisoners in the quadrangle. He was pleased when many gathered around in friendly fashion as he was preparing to leave.

JUDGE SWAIN is in demand as a speaker, and has had experiences rare indeed for the contemporary poet, when several of the newspapers whose avowed policy is, "We positively never publish poetry," have asked him for his, and two of them, The Whittier News and the Los Angeles Daily Journal, publish his verse every week.

Now, as Presiding Judge of the Appellate Department of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, and president of the board of trustees of the Los Angeles County Law Library, one of the great law libraries of the nation (the largest branch of which is in Long Beach), Judge Swain still feels it necessary to find release from pressures inherent in the judiciary. His second book of verse is being prepared for the publisher.

Antiques, many of them with interesting backgrounds, provide a basic theme in the furnishings of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. West in Artesia. House has beamed ceiling, dark wood of Spanish styling.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

House With a

Dining room is seen here from the entry. The ornate clock is a rare antique item.

By Stella George

SPANISH in architectural style and with a small estate look, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. West, 11435 183rd St., Artesia, contains a treasure of interest and comfort.

The home is set at the end of a winding driveway that is flanked with flowers, shrubs and lawn, and in a site comprising something more than an acre. A collection of blue milk glass dresses diamond-designed windows of the dining room, visible from the driveway and offering a welcoming accent.

Interior beamed ceilings and dark woodwork are marks familiar to those with a ken of Spanish structures. Antiques predominate in the decorating scheme and most of them have interesting histories. A few new pieces were purchased to fill in certain areas and were chosen with such good taste that it is difficult to tell one from the other at times.

THE ENTRY HALL is large and square, almost the size of a small room. In one corner is a virtually priceless clock. It is about seven feet tall and of superb workmanship. Heirloom needlepoint pieces are displayed in the hall. On either side of the front door, recessed shelves hold antique bric-a-brac.

The living room is long, wide and high-ceilinged, well suited to the furniture it holds. A new Persian rug enhances and is enhanced by the fine pieces which rest upon it.

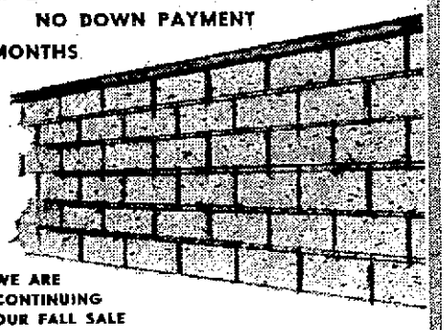

At one end of the living room is a stately fireplace with polished brass antiques on its hearth—many with background stories. A large picture window, unadorned by drapes which would spoil the view of the garden in the rear, is in a recessed alcove near the fireplace. TV and a comfortable chair or two are nearby.

Result of a 32-year hobby, a collection of rare blue milk glass is an attractive feature of this interesting dining room. The glass is set out on the buffet [right].

Small-Estate Look

Flanked by flowers and shrubs, a winding driveway leads to the entry, past window with glass display.

A tall crystal lamp on a table in a bay window near the couch could pass for a priceless heirloom. It is new. An organ is near the couch on the other side. A small, glass-enclosed end table filled with pieces of English china is near an occasional chair.

The dining room in the home is in the manner of the living room. A built-in buffet with cupboards and drawers below lines the entire wall beneath the windows in front. The blue milk glass is displayed on the top of the buffet. A collection of cups and saucers is on a high shelf above. An enormous collection of fine china pieces is hidden in the cupboard below.

A BUFFET on the other side of the room holds an old silver tea set and cruet. The mural which adorns two walls appears to be Early American, and fits well with the decor. Actually it is a French scene.

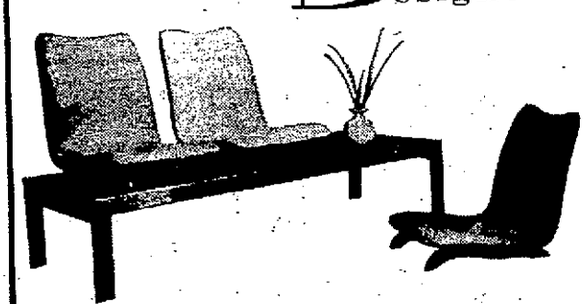

The master bedroom is spacious. At one end, gay wallpaper blends with the mauve of a room-length built-in chest of drawers. The bed is a four poster.

The second bedroom is smaller but nicely furnished. The far wall of the room is unusual in the sense that it is actually a large bay window which affords a view of the garden beyond.

The kitchen is not large, but very well planned. The dinette table folds back into the wall when not in use forming a cupboard door for many shelves in back. When pulled down, it is a regular dinette table; the design is an excellent space saver.

This is a warm, inviting home, reminiscent in some ways of homes in old England. Certainly, many of the fine antique pieces would be at home in England's finest private residence.

Snow Family Says 'Noel!'

'TIS THE SEASON to be jolly! And here's a happy snow family that will not only add cheer to your yard; it will add sparkle to the whole neighborhood. Snow or no snow, cold or warm, this delightful little group welcomes all holiday visitors. Even old Scrooge would be touched by the spirit of these light hearted snow folks.

Father Snow, who carries the lantern, is more than five feet tall. Mother Snow is about 4½ feet and as you can see, the youngsters and dog are in proportion. Mrs. Snow is sweet and demure just like all mothers should be. Like everyone, at this time of the year, the little boy and girl are having a good time dancing and singing Christmas carols. The snow dog wears a bright red sweater with Christmas bells on his collar.

HERE IS A group that will be just as much at home on your roof as in your yard. Because of the light colors, they show up brightly at night when lights are turned on them. They make excellent decorations for store windows, city parks, civic buildings or anywhere else that you may choose to show your Christmas spirit.

Building the snow family is easy because the pictures come to you printed and ready to glue on plywood, after that saw them out and they're ready to be placed in front of your home. The colors are waterproof and will withstand all kinds of severe outdoor weather looking just as good as new. They may be used year after year. Complete directions are included with each set.

TO ORTAIN the snow family pictures listed below, send currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. Specify No. 218, Mr. Snowman, $2; No. 226, Mrs. Snowman, $2; No. 227, Two Snow Kids, $2; or save $1 and get the whole family including the dog, for $5. Ask for entire Snow Family assortment No. C-6.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Her Dolls Almost Sing

By Anna Lemley

AN INTEREST in one subject leads to new hobbies and activities, according to Mrs. W. T. Thomas, 2611 Senasac Ave. Long interested in attending opera performances, collecting fine records and studying the stories and music of that magic world when the house lights dim and the curtains part, Marie Thomas had an idea. Why not a do-it-yourself project, the of a few dolls to represent well known operatic characters? The idea developed into a real hobby, unexpectedly became a way of preserving family keepsakes, and has resulted in numerous requests that Mrs. Thomas exhibit her unique dolls.

"The collection is not large for this is truly a do-it-yourself project, not a collection of already created characters," Mrs. Thomas explains. "I must study the costumes usually worn by a character, look for physical descriptions and temperamental traits in the opera score. The eight-inch dolls I use come with wigs of all colors and the facial expressions vary (I emphasize this, of course). One problem is that all the girl dolls have blue eyes and all of the boys have brown. Tosca's often mentioned dark eyes were my first task in recoloring the tiny eyes."

MRS. THOMAS designs and makes the costumes and jewelry, intricate work that takes time. Jewels are bits of earrings, sequins, gold or silver cord and tiny beads. Material is no problem although it must be beautiful fabric. Tosca's gown is heavy golden taffeta, a family memento made of material used for a bridesmaid's gown worn at the Thomases' son's wedding.

Carmen really started the keepsake angle, however. The lovely cigarette girl was complete — even to her very small rose. A family treasure from long ago, a dainty dress-up apron worn by Mrs. Thomas' great-grandmother, was edged in wide black lace and just right for making Carmen a beautiful heirloom mantilla.

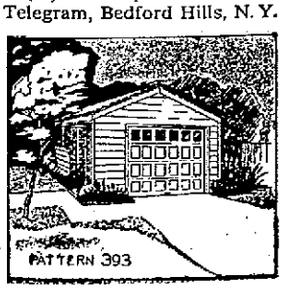

Aida is gowned in filmy green chiffon, golden girdled. Lucia di Lammermoor's beautiful gown is made of white silk from China. The tiny barber or Seville wears striped sox and his black suit is edged with red and white trim. The gay little fellow seems ready to burst into a song. The filmy black robes of the Queen of the Night from the Magic Flute are studded with minute silver stars. Tragic Mimi from La Boheme is daintily feminine in rose and white and wears the lovely bonnet she so longed for.

"MOST VIEWERS like Don Giovanni best," Mrs. Thomas says. "Certainly he was the most trouble to create. The cruel but dashing cavalier had to have a shirt front frothy with tiny ruffles, the hardest item I have made." The Don wears black boots, a handsome red velvet suit, and a black velvet cape that is a work of art in itself. Finding a plume for his tilted hat had Mrs. Thomas stopped until she mentioned her problem at a meeting of the City College Mothersingers with whom she has sung for 15 years. Members of the group searched for a real plume about one inch in length. The Don not only wears correct plummage but a memento of the Mothersingers Chorus. (The plume was found on a feather picture.)

Mrs. Thomas is searching for a dark skinned boy doll suitable for creating Othello the magnificent Moor, and plans an Oriental character, the much loved Madam Butterfly. She admits that her only real problem is finding a place to stop—a sure sign that a hobby is fascinating.

TWA Opens L. A. Space-Age Terminal

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

JET YOUR WAY around this shrunken old world and you'll stop at a score of ultramodern airports, but none more breathtaking in appearance and with more conveniences than the new space-age terminal opened last week by Trans World Airlines at Los Angeles International Airport.

Outfitted with latest electronic equipment, automatic weight-computing devices for baggage, passenger escalators, and decorated with murals reflecting the colors of the spectrum, TWA's new facility has been aptly described as a "unique symbol of the space age."

The terminal—representing an investment of almost $9 million by TWA and the City of Los Angeles—is a part of the 3,000-acre development which is the new home of the Los Angeles Airport, and consists of two labyrinthian structures, a ticket building and a satellite building.

TRAVEL WRITERS, civic officials and Southland dignitaries attending the official opening Wednesday were given a conducted tour of the facilities and shown how the terminal may handle the more than 500,000 passengers who arrive and depart on TWA flights each year through Los Angeles, and with more ease and efficiency than any terminal in operation anywhere.

The ticket building, fronting the main airport area street, features a modern 150-foot ticket counter designed to speed passenger check-in procedures;

A NEW BAGGAGE weighing scale device which automatically computes the weight as well as the rate for over-weight baggage;

A baggage handling system which includes a 700-foot-long conveyor belt that moves luggage from the plane to the claim area at the rate of 150 feet per minute;

Other outstanding features of the ticket building are the latest in electronic flight information equipment, including closed circuit television and a giant electronic board which flashes latest flight information to waiting passengers.

DECOR AND design of both buildings create a California atmosphere and flavor. For example, the restaurant is decorated in the theme of California desert and mountain living.

Largest of the two structures is the satellite building which stands alone on the parking apron. Oval-shaped, it provides 10 boarding ramps served by massive Jetway portable corridors which move accordion-like into position at the doorways of the TWA SuperJets. The interior of the structure, the huge, airy lobbies, are lighted floor to ceiling by windows of tinted glass which surround the perimeter of the satellite.

Underground passageways, decorated with murals, connect the buildings. They end with an escalator system which carries the passengers into the dome-like rotunda in the center of the satellite. Here are restrooms, news stands, lounges and restaurant.

On hand for the formal opening were TWA's board of directors who participated in the ceremonies. Also present was Voit Gilmore, newly-appointed director of the United States Travel Service.

NEW YEAR'S visitors to Catalina Island may enjoy music and dancing at the Casino Ballroom, for the first time in years. The Fletcher Henderson Band, under the direction of Horace Henderson, will be on hand Dec. 30-31. The Saturday program will include the Cotton Club Revue, the New Year's Eve party with all the extras that make a gala occasion, in addition to a floor show.

WINTER activities are on in a big way at Palm Springs. Samples: Nov. 25-26—Third annual Pro-Amateur Invitational Golf Tournament, Bermuda Dunes Country Club; Dec. 26—Polo matches, opening of polo season, Eldorado Field; Nov. 27—sketch outing sponsored by Desert Art Center, Araby Wash, south of Hwy. 111; Nov. 28-Dec. 3—annual Southern California Open Golf Tournament, Indian Wells Country Club.

WEEKEND GADABOUTS: Nov. 25: This is a good day to stay in Long Beach. Sixty-five high school bands will march in the annual All-Western Band Review.

Nov. 22: Hollywood Santa Claus Lane Parade moves down Hollywood Blvd.; celebrities aplenty.

TRAVEL AND RESORTS

Going Places

PALMYRA ISLAND, located in the center of a Polynesian triangle formed by Hawaii, Tahiti and Samoa, has been leased by the Fullard-Leo family and will be developed into a multimillion-dollar resort by Polynesian Paradise, Inc., subsidiary of Mercury International Insurance Underwriters of Los Angeles. There will be at least one major resort hotel and a community development consisting of sport fishing facilities, marinas, residences, clubs and native village—all in authentic Polynesian style of architecture. The island has a 6,000-foot airstrip, and a deep water anchorage will accommodate large yachts and trading ships.

KYOTO, JAPAN

JAPAN'S National Railways Limited, named the Swallow, makes it here from Tokyo in a snappy six hours. That isn't quite as fast as Japan Air Lines' even snappier Convair 880-M jets, but it's more scenic. It's also a lesson in what railroading can be in this faster-than-a-speeding-bullet age.

"We regret to announce we are running three minutes late" said the conductor in English on the public address as we pulled in. This is the sort of line that would get a laugh on most North American railroads, where three minutes late is practically ahead of schedule. In Japan, it's losing face.

The first-class coaches are laid out like ours, but with enough leg room for two Japanese or one Texan. Each seat is equipped with a tiny hearing-aid type radio earphone for following "Just Plain Hideko" or "Ma Yamaguchi's Family." You may not understand what's going on, but it sounds as dramatic as a Kabuki play. Some deluxe trains have television.

THE CONDUCTOR makes detailed announcements before and after each stop. Each car is heated or air conditioned by six individually controlled ceiling units, and is equipped with Japanese and western style toilets (there really isn't any difference; it seems to be in deference to visitors). Coaches are kept immaculate by employes who come through and sweep up periodically.

Good European style food is served in the diner, where a marker board also keeps passengers posted as to the train's current location. If you choose to dine at your seat, you can pick up a Japanese box lunch for about 30 cents, consisting of sushi (wads of rice covered with strips of fish), sliced mushrooms, ham, fish-sausage, bean curd and seaweed, a sort of Japanese special-combination pizza.

The route is the classic Imperial road of ancient Japan, full of sights as familiar to the visitor as all the scrolls and silk screen paintings he has seen. It starts high above the waters of the Bay of Japan, where stand the oft-represented cypress trees whipped into grotesque shapes by the wind.

Beyond Fuji loom the jagged black-green mountains that look like no others. In the valleys from which they rise abruptly, farmers in coolie hats bend over the yellow rice fields in a timeless tableau. An occasional red arched bridge crosses a stream, though most have been replaced by modern vehicular spans.

Villages stand close by the tracks, still traditionally wood and paper—the cheapest and most esthetic Japanese materials — after thousands of years and thousands of fires.

'Old' in Sailing

Something new, or you might say something "old," has been added to the Matson liners Lurline and Matsonia in Hawaii service. Each sailing day from San Francisco and Los Angeles reverts to the "Roaring 20s," with members of the ship's orchestra dressed in striped blazers, straw hats; rinky-tink piano and banjos in the bar, and Charleston contests going on up in the ballroom. It's all part of the line's new "Funcruise" program.

"Where can I get Austrian ski information?

THE AUSTRIAN State Tourist Dept. has a new book on this. It looks good to me. Write to them at 444 Madison Ave., New York City. It's free.

THE WAY THEY GO: Varig Airlines, the Brazilian carrier, begins a new service November 20. Los Angeles-Mexico City-Bogota-Lima-Rio. It's jet all the way. The only direct service from the West Coast to Bogata and Lima.

"I have a number of questions for my European trip: 1—If I buy a guitar in Spain, can I be sure they will ship it to the U. S. safely?"

I shipped a delicate ship model from Madrid and it arrived safely.

"2—Can I get my mail through some central agency?"

Have it addressed care of American Express—there are offices in every major city and tourist center. When you leave that town, leave a forwarding address with American Express. They are very efficient about this.

"3—Please suggest a place to buy a not-too-expensive chess set."

The best ones I have seen were in Italy and Spain.

"4—Where would I find most available earrings for pierced ears?"

Again Italy and Spain. But jewelers in those countries will change the screw-type earrings for a very small charge.

"5—At which beaches in Europe would you suggest I beachcomb for shells and driftwood?"

The Atlantic beaches — Portugal is probably the best.

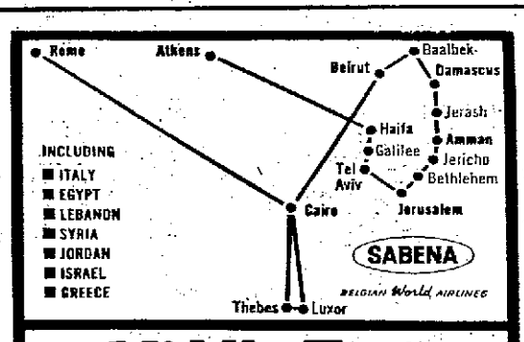

"6—Where do you get prescriptions filled?"

There are drug stores everywhere. No problem.

"7—Where is the best place to buy silk clothing?"

Italy is the place.

Artists Portray Nativity

During this holiday season many of them reinterpret the age-old story, alive with joy and drama, for the religious Christmas card collection of the American Artists Group.

Celebrating the Nativity in a classic portrait, the wide-eyed Child clings with innocent, perfect trust to the serene, ever-protective Madonna. Artist Harriet Rosendale captures the human, tender warmth of the Divine Birth in terra cotta tones. In contrast of style and mood, Ruth Ray imaginatively paints the Nativity in a contemporary setting, "to help make the Christmas Story real and important to my three sons."

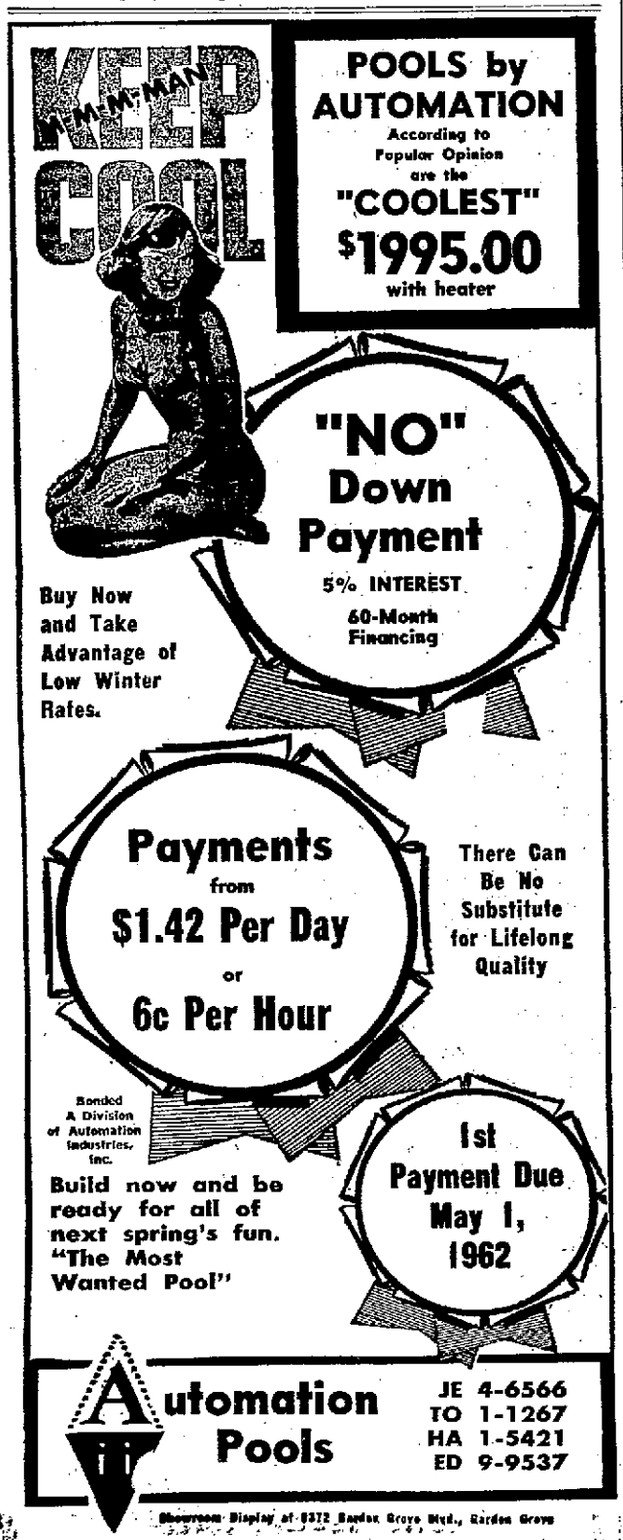

There are, of course, other impressive cards in this religious series, prepared by artists known from coast to coast.

In the collection, too, are cards of fact or fancy, city or farm, East, West, North or South — whatever region of America one loves best. In still others, Santa assumes many affectionate guises and holiday moods.

Actress Margery Hart uses new-type candle.

IT'S NEW!

Candles That Never Melt

CANDLES that last indefinitely and never melt, break, smoke or drip are being introduced in Southland department stores and jewelry shops by Prepo Corp., Edgerton, Wis., pioneers of portable automatic gas torches and picnic stoves. The cost: about $20 a pair.

The candles are made of waxlike nylon, operate like cigarette lighters. Called Lumin gas candles, they contain fuel to burn for four or five hours at a cost of about 1½ cents an hour. Refueling from an aerosol can of butane gas takes 30 seconds.

Christmas Fancies

with another one that has St. Nicholas provide single girls with husbands. For, so the story goes, it was St. Nicholas, bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, who threw a purse of gold three times into the house of a poor father and so enabled the man to find husbands for his three daughters and give them a dowry.

IN IRELAND, if a person dies at Christmas Eve, the belief is that his soul automatically enters the gates of Paradise. Ireland, too, has a traditional Christmas drink, known only in that country. Called "Lambs-wool," it is made by bruising apples and mixing the juice with ale or milk. It is served with apples and nuts and considered indispensable on Christmas Eve.

Weinachten, Holy Night, is Christmas to all in Germany. These people have maintained their traditions through centuries and many of their customs have been adopted throughout the world. It was the German princess of Mecklenburg who introduced the first Christmas tree to France in 1840. Before then, this decoration was not a part of the French celebration. Today, at Christmas, the streets and shop windows of large cities throughout France are bright with decorated trees.

Everyone who has German ancestry—or German friends—knows the typical Christmas cookies: the Lebkuchen. It takes two days to make this wondrous children's delight, but the general consensus of opinion among those who have sampled Lebkuchen is that they are well worth the time and effort.

There is an old legend that the Christ Child wanders on the earth at Christmas; so in many European countries, in early days, people would place a lighted candle in their windows to light His way. In England, the candle was placed in the window to invite the Christmas carolers who walked the streets to stop beneath that window and sing. This beautiful custom is still followed in our country.

CANDLES, we are told, were first placed on Christmas trees to symbolize Christ, the light of the world. In England many families have a yule cake with a candle on it for each member of the family. Each person lights his own candle on Christmas Eve.

Christmas candles have come into popular use all over the world. There are the traditional bayberry candles of New England. Candlemakers have capitalized on the use of them, making them in all shapes and sizes. There are fat red ones, tall white ones, Santa Clauses, angels and snow men. But the Christmas candle still should remind everyone that Christ is the light of the world.

America has borrowed its Christmas customs from countries in every part of the world; but Americans have also added some of their own. The eggnog of Christmas is as American as Mickey Mouse; the aromatic apple pie that crowns the Christmas turkey meal is not traditionally served at holiday time in any other country; and the hot rum punch and old-fashioneds are ours alone.

The Story of the Two Mayflowers

lons a day. They had food and stores comparable to those of the first Mayflower; among them heavily salted meat which had been prepared to keep without refrigeration, and biscuits made from a 1600 recipe. Like her predecessor, Mayflower II had no plumbing nor electricity except for a radio required by modern maritime law. The captain found the 17th century cross-staff, forerunner of the sextant, "so approximate that I did not wonder Capt. Christopher Jones had fetched up off Cape Cod when he thought he was going to the Hudson River." Villiers put his modern navigation instruments "quietly away" when they reached America.

Off the Canary Islands, a deadening calm seized the ship for two weeks and after the trade winds picked up and she turned northwest, a furious storm caught her. With her canvas rolled and her high poop holding her into the wind like a weather vane, Mayflower II rode out the storm. After 53 days she reached Nantucket lightship, and stopped over night at Provincetown where Pilgrim costumes were put on for the tumultous welcome at Plymouth, her future home port.

Fruited corn bread dressing with apples and pineapple is a delectable accompaniment when serving roast duck.

FOOD

Tasty Idea for Duck

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press-Telegram Home Economics Editor

DEPARTING a bit from seasonal emphasis on turkey and ham, Roast Duck with Fruit Dressing can make a cleavage with tradition an interesting adventure in good eating.

In preparing the dressing, coarsely crumbled corn bread provides crunchy texture and fresh corn flavor. Sprinklings of paprika and cinnamon enhance the tanginess of crushed pineapple and diced apples. Raisins add their own distinctive chewiness and flavor. The corn bread recipe makes enough that only half is needed for the dressing. The other half makes big corn bread squares to serve with plenty of butter.

Fruit Dressing

For two 4 to 4½-pound ducks:

- 2½ cups coarsely crumbled corn bread
- 2½ cups bread cubes, made from day-old bread
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups crushed pineapple
- 2 cups diced apples
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- Grated rind of 1 lemon

Lightly toss all ingredients together until thoroughly combined. (For a more moist dressing, add ¼ cup water.) Stuff lightly into body cavity and neck region of the ducks. Roast ducks according to standard roasting directions—in an uncovered pan in a slow oven 325 degrees allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound. If the duck is very fat, prick the breast to let some of the fat run out. Baste every 10 minutes with drippings and one cup hot orange juice.

Corn Bread

- 1 cup enriched corn meal
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup sugar (optional)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup shortening, soft

Sift together dry ingredients into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Bake in a greased 8-inch square pan in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. (Coarsely crumbled, ½ this amount is just right for the Fruit Dressing recipe.)

'Students' Get Tests

By Eleanor Avery Price

NORTH LONG BEACH
DOG TRAINING
Mon., Tues. P. M.—Sat. A. M.
NUISANCE HABITS CORRECTED
JOE DeBECK, Trainer
ME 3-3930

LIKE MID-TERM tests for a student, the Lakewood Dog Obedience Club's fall practice match will reveal what long hours of schooling have done for the scores of pets that will gather today in Del Valle Park. Entry fee is $1, judging starts at noon and the park is located on Woodruff Avenue between Carson Street and Del Amo Boulevard, Lakewood.

Practice matches are fun, they help brush up dog-owner twosomes and get them back on the path towards point trials. They are also interesting for potential obedience folk to observe and to ask questions about obedience classes.

Dog owners who join classes should make room in their schedules to work with their dogs every day. It will be well worth while, and it will also be worth time to read books on obedience training available at the library in pet shops.

FOLLOWING ARE a few thoughts on training that may prove helpful:

The daily lesson should be short, not over 15 minutes the first three months. Be somewhat leisurely about it, for your dog will sense your tension if you are in a hurry to get it over with.

Some trainers do not believe in offering treats for work well done in obedience training, since in the obedience ring tidbit rewards are taboo. Others claim that with treats in the offing, the dog learns to work joyously. Their motto is "Treat, don't beat."

It is very important that each lesson ends on a happy note. If possible, end it with another already learned, be it ever so simple. Then praise the dog so he is happy. Don't conclude that just because his tail is wagging that he is pleased. A dog swishes his tail in response to many things including fear.

OBEDIENCE training helps make your dog a better dog in every-day living. But exercises learned should be put to use in places other than a streotyped setting. Get the dog to "come" under every condition. Teach him to jump over objects other than regulation hurdles. Have him heel at your side on walks in a normal, natural way, with interest in his environment as well as in you. A dog that heels without ever taking his eyes off his owner may be too scared to do so. And for pity sakes, be natural yourself. A military strut down the street will have neighbors laughing at you.

Your dog might need an occasional vacation from training, especially if he is slowing down, getting old, or does not feel well. Keep him alert and happy with frequent play periods between lessons, your companionship and understanding, patience, consistency, and absolute kindness.

Here's a good tip for those who are having a rough time getting Fido to learn the sit-stay, a valuable lesson: spread a blanket or your coat on the grass, sit your dog on it, press a finger on his head, circle him, and command, "Stay!"

INTRA-VALLEY and Twin-Counties Cat Club show is set Nov. 25-26 at Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa.

Get Good Portraits With a 35

Outdoor setting adds charm to this informal portrait, made in late afternoon, open shade. It won a prize for Muriel Reed, Reseda, in Kodak High School Photo Awards.

By the Shutterbug

IF YOU'RE a 35mm camera user who has avoided making portrait-type shots because you don't have the elaborate lighting equipment, backdrops, and other paraphernalia usually associated with that phase of picture taking, you've been needlessly neglecting a fascinating and rewarding side of photography. Your 35mm equipment can give you informal portraits of your family members and friends in color or black-and-white that will display an air of warmth and reality often lacking in traditional studio-produced photographs.

With a little imagination and planning, you'll find that many areas in and around your home, neighborhood park, place of business, or school will provide natural settings for informal, natural pictures of people. As for lighting, the existing illumination found in these places will often be more than sufficient for needed exposure; more important, this available light will give your portrait a feeling of reality and mood that is virtually impossible to duplicate artificially.

Bounce flash is a very handy technique to employ to complement existing light when the latter is too contrasty or too low in intensity to give the proper effect you're after, but beware of off-color results if you bounce from surfaces other than white or gray when working in color.

Indoors or out, lighting for natural portraits can be found in abundance and variety. Beware of mixing light sources such as daylight and fluorescent with color film.

Portraits are usually thought of as head-and-shoulder pictures, but there is no reason to limit them to this basic pose. Full-figure views have their place, as do extreme close-ups which include only the subject's head or perhaps just the face. When shooting head-and-shoulders or closer, a telephoto lens will render the subject's features in most pleasing perspective.

NORMAL FOCAL length lenses (45-50mm) often give distortion when used for the body closest to the camera, such as an ear, nose, chin, hand, or shoulder, to look disproportionately elongated or enlarged. Lenses in the 85 to 135 mm telephoto range enable the photographer to stay back from his subject while at the same time getting the closely-cropped close-up image he is after, rendered in correct perspective. If you don't have a telephoto lens or your camera doesn't accept one, you should stay back about 4 to 5 feet from your subject to avoid distortion.

DON'T SKIMP on film. Keep shooting, varying your subject's expression and pose as well as your camera position and angle as you go. Shoot liberally, but not wastefully, and you'll find your percentage of good pictures will rise accordingly.

Remember your tripod. While many natural portraits can be easily shot hand-held with your 35, there will be times when dim light, slow film, or need for great depth of field will call for a tripod-supported long exposure. If you're the jittery type who can't keep a steady camera position at shutter speeds slower than 1/60 second, or when using a longer than normal lens you have all the more reason to put your tripod to good use.

SHORT COURSE in photographic skills as well as a guide to efficient use of the company's arts products, a new, 60-page Graphic Arts Handbook is being offered by Ansco, a division of General Aniline & Film Corp., Binghamton, N. Y., and its dealers. Data is of value to cameramen, printers, lithographers and others involved in graphic arts production. It is illustrated and contains appropriate charts and tables.

BOOK REVIEWS

Carrillo's California

By Vera Williams
Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

LEO CARRILLO
No Arabian Nights

"IN MY family, I never needed the Arabian Nights. We had our own," wrote Leo Carrillo in "THE CALIFORNIA I LOVE" (Prentice-Hall, $5.) The death last September of the famed actor, horseman and dedicated Californian shocked the world. It is well that his story was recorded in time. Ed Ainsworth, Los Angeles newspaperman whose love for California is almost as great as was Carrillo's, collaborated. Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote the introduction.

Great-grandson of California's first governor, descendant of a Spaniard who came to California with Father Junipero Serra, Carrillo's roots were miles deep in his native land.

He was born in Los Angeles, near the Plaza Church, in fiesta time. All of his life was spent in California, except when he was east in dramatic successes.

More than an autobiography, "The California I Love" is compounded of priests, leather-jacketed soldiers, grizzly bear hunters, vaqueros as swift as the wind, ropers, ranchero grandees, dancing girls with castanets, and the siren song of California sung to the music of Spanish guitars in hundreds of jasmine-scented patios.

The author described how his grandfather bet the entire family savings — eight huge octagon-shaped $50 gold pieces — on a horse race and lost, and how the most beautiful Carrillo senorita of all time refused to marry the governor of the state and eloped with the captain of a clipper ship.

The book is illustrated by Don Perceval, Western artist.

WHEN FRANK Lloyd Wright died at close to 90 years of age in 1959 the Journal of the American Institute of Architecture wrote that the achievements of 20th Century building would have been impossible without him.

Wright undoubtedly would have scolded the Journal for being inadequate in their praise.

For Wright, who liked to say he rarely saw a building, other than his own, he wished to see twice, is almost as well remembered for naked self-assurance and a legendary ego as the 700 buildings he designed and the revolution in architecture he single-handedly fomented during his lifetime.

His controversial and inimitable career — from an auspicious start as a Wisconsin parson's son to the master builder who blandly offered to build a skyscraper 528 stories high — is told in the first full-length biography of his life, "FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT" by Finis Farr (Scribner's, $5.95).

ACCORDING to a Chinese proverb "one picture is worth more than 10,000 words." At a time in history when there are too many poor examples of each to distract our attention along comes a photographic production which lives up to the proverb.

It is "PHOTOGRAPHER OF THE SOUTHWEST: ADAM CLARK VROMAN" (Ward Ritchie Press, Los Angeles, $12.50). His best work, according to the introduction by Beaumont Newhall, was done between 1895 and 1904 in Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico. Vroman was born in 1856 and lived until 1916.

The Pasadena book store owner's glass plates faithfully recorded Indians or landscapes equally well. The concluding few plates (there are about 100 in the book) show by contrast atmospheric conditions of the southwest and midwest and eastern parts of the United States. The publication has definite historic value.

"ROAD TO SODOM" by Jean Rees (Random House, $3.95) is a dramatic recreation of two of the great stories of the Old Testament —the rewarding life of Abraham and Sarah and the downfall of Abraham's nephew Lot.

Maritime Mayhem

NINETEENTH Century skippers oft-times ran their ships with such an iron hand that whole crews would jump ship in port.

"SHANGHAIING DAYS" by Richard H. Dillon (Coward-McCann, $4.75) tells how masters and mates solved their personnel problems.

Floggings, kidnapings, scurvy, brutality and tyranny were common on American ships at the turn of the century. A seafaring career was considered little better than slavery.

Dillon, head librarian of the Sutro Library, concentrates his accounts on events that took place in his native San Francisco.

But some of the maritime mayhem occurred in all ports — and Wilmington and San Pedro figure prominently.

Dillon's well-documented account of 19th Century waterfront corruption pulls no punches. It leaves the impression that sadism and terror are the heritage of the Navy and merchant marine.

"HOW MUCH IS THAT IN DOLLARS?" asks the American tourist of the Paris waiter, and is also the title of syndicated columnist Art Buchwald's latest collection of more than 75 humorous articles. The jacket drawing (above) is by R. Taylor. (World, $3.95.)

How to Cut Pansy Mortality

By Joe Littlefield

MORE gardeners lose pansies and violas because they thoughtlessly set plants too deeply when they plant them. Properly set out plants flop to one side, instead of standing up straight. Later, as the runner branches spread, the plants right themselves.

Bury the plant crowns even a quarter inch too deep, keep the soil damp, and month and a half or so later you have wilted pansies or violas. After rot sets in, sow bugs and false wire worms swarm in to finish off the plants.

As you set out pansies or violas, make sure the area where the new and thin runner branches are developing is slightly above ground level. Don't worry about the plants growing in flopped over condition. That'll correct itself later. Plant them as suggested and you'll lose hardly any plants at all.

Pansies and violas planted earlier and now established should be fed a balanced, complete plant food about once every three weeks to a month.

SWEET PEAS don't die off because they may be planted too deep. Usually gardeners keep the young seedling plants too wet and they rot. Aphis and mildew are two main problems gardeners should guard against.

Water sweet peas in the forenoons. Soak them deeply, then don't water them again until soil really dries.

It's not too late to sow sweet pea seeds now. Or you can buy young plants, ready to set out from plant bands.

Some gardeners soak sweet pea seeds in water several hours or even overnight before sowing. Others sow the seeds dry. The seed germination per centage is from 60 to 80 per cent good.

The best way to start sweet pea plants from seeds is to place the seeds between the folds of a discarded towel or burlap sack that is placed in a fruit lug box, or plant flat. The box is placed in shade under a tree. The cloth cover is moistened daily.

About five days later, sprouted sweet pea seeds are planted and non-sprouted seeds thrown away. Unless there are soil pests present, every sprouted seed grows!

Cover newly sprouted sweet peas with chicken wire until plants have grown four to six inches tall to protect young plants from birds.

Pansies are colorful in garden plantings and grow well if not set too deeply and if watered wisely.

John S. Armstrong, deep, distinctive, velvety red, is one of four 1962 All-America Rose Selections and the fourth grandiflora ever to be so chosen. Blooms range up to four inches across when fully opened, are colorfast in all stages. Unlike most dark reds, they will not burn or turn bluish. Blooms are borne in clusters with long individual stems that are good for cutting.

By Dorothy Jonson

Wooly aphis is the cottony looking substance you sometimes find in the crotches of plants such as Pyracantha, and it is really an enemy with two armies. 1. The "aerial" force which you see on the plant; 2. the "subterranean" force which you find around the roots.

When you spray your plants for wooly aphis, it is necessary to use considerable force in order to break down the cottony, protective covering. However, eradicating wooly aphis from the plant itself will not do too much good unless you eliminate it from the roots also. For that reason, I suggest using a material that combines Malathion and Dieldrin and thus with one product destroy the soil insects as well as those on the body of the plant.

Long ago, wood ashes were recommended as a control for wooly aphis. Regardless of new and modern products, if you have a fireplace where you burn logs, I suggest that you save the ashes and scatter them occasionally throughout the winter and early spring months in the root growing area around your plants. Wood ashes constitute a simple natural control for these subterranean enemies in the soil.

JIM HAMMOND
A Treasure House

A STROLL past the gleaming serving counters at Clifton's Cafeteria in Lakewood Center is in many ways like a visit to an Arabian Nights treasure house.

Located at 5006 Pepperwood Ave., this restaurant is a gigantic, palace-like place with seating for 400 persons. Its displays of salads, entrees and colorful desserts stretch out for many yards, shining like the jewels, silver and gold in the secret storehouse of Ali Baba and the 40 thieves.

On Sundays, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Clifton's serves a deluxe, seven-course dinner better than anything Ali Baba or Aladdin ever enjoyed. It consists of the following: choice of any one of three dozen salads; whipped potatoes, vegetable du jour, entree, bread or roll and butter, dessert and beverage. The entree selection can be roast turkey, ham, chicken or one of six other entrees. The dessert selection includes 15 kinds of pie, or puddings and cakes. Second and third coffee refills are served at the tables by gracious waitresses. The price for this repast is merely $1.77 complete. (Prime rib is 25 cents extra.)

The man responsible for the smooth way things are run at Clifton's is manager Jim Hammond, a youngish fellow now in his 29th year with the Clifton's organization. He started as a bus boy in L.A. when he was 16. A great one for pleasing the kiddies, he features "treasure tray" dinner plates for the youngsters which are 59 cents on Sundays and 39 cents daily. Small fry who capture a color-tipped flag get a free gift from Clifton's treasure chest.

On Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Clifton's features $1 dinner specials, including entrees, salad, vegetable, bread and butter and beverage. Monday through Saturdays, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., a large complete luncheon is served for 77 cents.

HOW WE'RE WINNING THE BATTLE AGAINST ARTHRITIS

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Tireless researchers, such as this one at New York's Hospital for Special Surgery, are discovering basic new facts about arthritis that offer renewed hope to doctors and patients.

FOR 11 MILLION Americans with arthritic diseases, there is more hope than ever before.

Today, because of better treatment, more arthritics are living normal lives. There's even a realistic belief, based on exciting new discoveries, that the cause and cure for this age-old disease will be found.

The despair that hung over arthritis for generations is lifting. Doctors are not giving up on patients, and patients are not giving up on themselves. In short, we're winning the battle against the nation's No. 1 crippler. Here are some of the results:

1 Patients who haven't walked in three years are up and walking again.

4 Patients with "lupus," an arthritis-related sickness that used to be 100 per cent fatal, are now receiving treatment which in some cases prolongs their lives.

Only since World War II has optimism replaced pessimism in arthritis treatment and research. "The chaos is being removed from this field," according to Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers, medical director of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation. "We are seeing fewer and fewer severely crippled patients."

Dollars and men have combined to fight the disease. Today 22 times as much money goes into arthritis study as a decade ago. And there are seven times as many U.S. medical centers training specialists in rheumatic diseases.

Only fifteen years ago, there were few sure ways to determine if a patient was really being helped by a specific treatment. Today that's changed. New classification techniques tell doctors without guesswork how effective their treatments are.

The renaissance in interest in arthritic disorders has produced solid gains for millions of patients. Three categories of diseases in which progress has especially excited doctors and patients are rheumatoid arthritis, gouty arthritis and lupus.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

About 4 million Americans of almost every age have this disorder, which causes swollen and painful joints. It is the leading crippler among arthritic disorders.

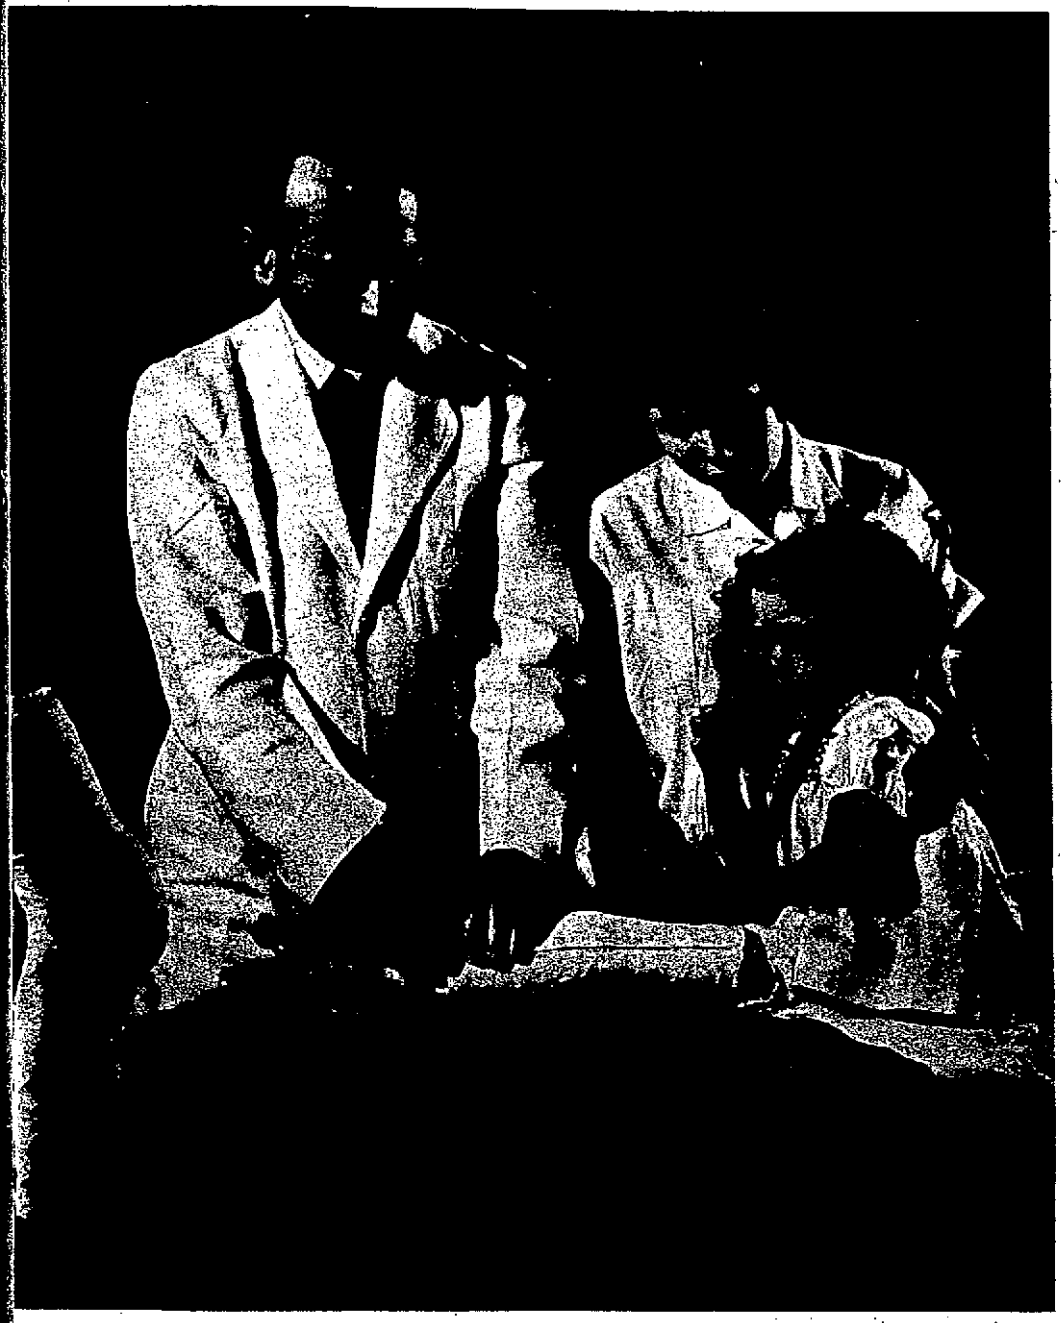

At the end of World War II, about one in two rheumatoid patients received real benefit from treatment. These 50 per cent could continue working and functioning smoothly. Now as many as seven or eight in 10 can be restored to a high degree of self-sufficiency.

What brought the increase? Dr. Joseph Bunim, of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Bethesda, Md., explains as follows:

Since 1952, cortisone and cortisone-type drugs have come into wide use. They have helped reduce pain and swelling—although if used promiscuously, they can produce serious side effects.

More important than cortisone or other drugs is the discovery that when a patient is allowed to remain in bed he generally gets worse. Take him out of bed, motivate him to exercise and move about, and he is likely to improve markedly.

Rehabilitation techniques based on this discovery have begun to be employed widely in the U.S. since 1950. And they are paying off. There isn't a single patient who cannot benefit from a consistent program of exercise and movement, according to Dr. Edward F. Hartung, of New York, one of the nation's outstanding arthritis authorities.

Casts and surgery are also being increasingly used to help the rheumatoid patient. The idea of "serial casts" is also gaining ground. These are used on joints that have been bent tight by contracted muscles. A graduated series of casts is made, each a little straighter than the last. They are put on successively over a period of weeks, and slowly they pull the knee, arm or wrist straight. Dr. D. M. Fried of the National Institutes of Health, who helped develop the casting technique, tells of a woman in her 30s, not an unusual case, who got up and walked after years of immobility when a series of casts straightened tight muscles in her knee.

Surgery is improving, too. Now a leg held rigid by tight muscles can be loosened by muscle surgery. The same techniques are employed with hands and fingers made rigid by the disease.

As Dr. Lamont-Havers points out, rehabilitation techniques have improved so greatly that the patient himself very often can lessen the severity of his disease by his willingness to cooperate.

GOUTY ARTHRITIS

This disease—erroneously thought for years to strike only the wealthy who ate rich foods—actually affects between 500,000 and 1 million Americans of all social groups. The story of gout in the past 10 years is probably the most encouraging one in the whole area of arthritic illnesses.

Before 1950, there was no way of consistently controlling chronic gout, which causes sore and inflamed extremities. Now there are three good drugs to do the job for 9 out of 10 patients: probenecid, sulfinpyrazone and zoxazolamine.

Probenecid is the one most widely used. Its task is that of all anti-gout drugs, to help push excess uric acid out of the patient's system. However, if an acute attack does strike, an age-old drug called colchicine can give the gout sufferer relief in 24 hours. A few patients also take colchicine as a preventive against attacks.

Probenecid's great value was discovered by accident. Just after World War II, doctors wanted a drug that would act to retain penicillin, then extremely expensive, in the body. They tried probenecid. It failed to hold back penicillin, but did result in speeding uric acid excretion.

'INCURABLE' LUPUS

Lupus, a disease afflicting several thousand Americans which can cause arthritis-like symptoms plus fever, fatigue, rash, convulsions and anemia, was regarded for years as a fatal disorder.

But scientists today are beginning to believe they were wrong about lupus. In the early 1950s they tried steroid drugs, but these seemed to have no effect. About three years ago they discovered that if steroids were given early enough in the course of the disease, some patients could be kept alive. Their disease seemed to be held in check.

At the University of Illinois, high steroid doses have kept one series of patients alive for more than three years. Among other groups of patients not so treated, the death rate has been high.

Undoubtedly, says Dr. Bunim, the drugs have saved some lives. This is a real advance and definitely provides a ray of hope to patients who once thought they were doomed.

These gains in treatment are impressive, but research continues. A new series of findings has buoyed up the field more than ever. Here are some new developments:

- A few years ago researchers discovered what they called "rheumatoid factor" in the blood of patients with arthritis. This chemical has since become very useful in diagnosing cases so they can be treated early —when treatment pays off most handsomely.
- A new concept has been developed which holds that arthritis may be what experts call an "auto-immune" disorder. In a sense the arthritis sufferer may somehow be allergic to himself. His cells may be manufacturing some substance that attacks other cells in his own body to bring on joint-swelling and pains.

Many researchers believe auto-immunity is the key to arthritis. They are convinced that ultimately they can find some way, chemically, to rid the arthritis-prone individual of his self-allergy.

- Other researchers are beginning to think that arthritis is caused by a virus, or by some other "living substance" that may hit and run. Although there is less evidence for this assumption than for the auto-immunity concept, there are a number of highly technical studies that do point to the possibility of virus involvement.

There are, too, a few non-technical scraps of evidence. After a bout with virus illnesses such as influenza or measles, patients sometimes have arthritis-like joint aches and pains for weeks, Dr. Lamont-Havers points out. This may be more than coincidence.

Such research findings, together with treatment successes, are making even the most restrained authorities sit up and take notice. Dr. Floyd Daft, Director of the National Arthritis Institute, puts it this way: "For patient and doctor alike, after years of stalemate, arthritis research is beginning to show real promise."

At long last some pieces of the incredibly complicated arthritis puzzle are falling into place. ■

ROYAL BEAUTIES

REMEMBER those fairy tales about beautiful queens and princesses? Well, they aren't really fairy tales, after all.

The lucky girl who marries the handsome king and lives happily ever after in a splendid palace is more fact than fancy—and so are the stunning princesses.

The youthful queens on these pages may be found in their beautiful palaces in the kingdoms of Jordan, Iran and Thailand. India is the home of the graceful princesses.

To capture the glamor of these Eastern ladies in living color, photographer Milton Greene, beauty editor Karlys Daly and a hairdresser traveled to the Near and Far East. They took pictures of the five lovely women who appear here and on page 8.

Since no woman, queen or otherwise, would ever have her picture taken without first running a comb through her hair, Kenneth Battelle, who does Mrs. John F. Kennedy's hair, was sent along to get all the loose strands in place for the cameraman.

When childhood constipation occurs

Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs which are so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too, Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances...the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.

It takes a child's laxative to fulfill a child's needs

For a hairdo, a law was waived

What's it like doing the hair of a Royal Highness? Here is Kenneth's comment:

"I'll never be afraid of anything again."

Despite protocol, intermediaries and red tape, the women were good sports about the whole enterprise and cooperated even to the extent of offering a choice of gowns and jewels in which to be photographed.

In Jordan a Moslem law which forbids a man to touch a woman's hair was bypassed by Jordanian authorities, and the blue-eyed 20-year-old wife of King Hussein, Her Ladyship Muna Al-Hussein, had her hair set before having her picture taken. She even handed Kenneth the clips and rollers.

Before her marriage to the king early this year, Her Ladyship was Toni Gardiner, the daughter of a British military officer. She was a payroll clerk for a London firm. Although cognizant of her regal responsibilities, Toni is still a 20-year-old with a young girl's enthusiasms. She played Frank Sinatra records constantly during photo sessions.

Princess Saleha Sultan of Hyderabad, who wears her blue-black hair pixie-short, willingly made an appointment to have her hair washed and set in a beauty parlor in New Delhi, India. There, while salon attendants giggled, gossiped and watched behind the drapery, Kenneth dressed her hair for her portrait.

Doll-like Queen Sirikit of Thailand, her hair already done by someone else, was vitally interested in the new coiffure styles of 1962 as her hair was recombed and softened for the pictures.

Besides lavish gowns threaded with 18-karat gold strands, the reigning beauties wore rare and fabulously costly jewels from their royal vaults.

Seeing Empress Farah Pahlevi of Iran so cool and austere in her white and yellow diamond tiara and her formal pale turquoise gown with gold and silver paillettes, one would hardly suspect that just a few years ago, before her marriage, she sat around Paris cafés like other students of the Architectural School. In her formal portrait she's every inch a queen. She rushed the sittings, however, because she was anxious to play tennis with her husband, the shah.

While Queen Sirikit of Thailand smiled prettily for the birdie, eight of her courtiers pulled up folding chairs and watched to see that no one treated the queen incorrectly.

Two attendants stirred a breeze in the warm courtyard of her palace in Bangkok with white plumed fans. For her portrait, the queen wore a modified adaptation of an 800-year-old Thai evening dress made of hand-woven gold-threaded fabric. Her necklace was of black diamonds set in gold.

Heavyweight Gowns

An Indian lady of spectacular beauty, Princess Saleha Sultan of Hyderabad, sent her servant on an overnight trip to pick up some gowns in which to be photographed. They were carried to a hotel room wrapped in large sheets and spread on the bed because no hanger was sturdy enough to hold the 36-pound gowns. The princess wore one of her four traditional wedding gowns, an emerald-green dress with a gold border.

To Western eyes, these beautiful ladies live in a land of make-believe. Yet, despite their youth—all are under 30—they realize that a jewelled crown is not only pleasant to wear but a great responsibility. ■

What DID Christ Mean: "...UPON THIS ROCK?"

Present-day Christians disagree sharply as to what Our Lord meant when He said to Peter:

"Thou are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church."

Jesus, some contend, was not thinking of Peter as the "rock" on which His church was to be built. The Church, as they see it, was not intended to be a visible, humanly-controlled institution, but an invisible society of the faithful. All who believe in Christ would be members; their only guide and governor in spiritual matters would be the Bible.

This was not, however, the interpretation placed upon the Savior's words by the disciples who heard them first-hand. For as the Bible clearly relates, they did build a visible church and they did acknowledge Peter as its head. And they did claim for it, the right to act with God's authority in all matters pertaining to the spiritual life.

When the need arose to elect a successor to Judas, the Apostles met as a corporate body and chose Matthias. When a minor doctrinal dispute developed, the disciples gathered at a council in Jerusalem to discuss it. In the final decision they deferred to the authority of Peter, one of many instances in which they acknowledged Peter's headship.

Just as Jesus had assembled around Himself a body of His elect, in the persons of the Apostles and disciples, these first missionaries of the Faith expanded the priesthood by ordaining bishops and elders in all the churches throughout their domain. In each case those chosen were commissioned... just as Christ had commissioned the disciples . . . to "Preach the word... to speak and exhort, and to rebuke with all authority."

The need for a visible Church is clearly manifest in Christ's instructions to the disciples to "Baptize them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." An invisible church obviously could not dispense this Sacrament. Likewise, how could He say: "If thy brother sin against thee... appeal to the church," if there were no visible church to which such appeal might be made?

In numerous passages of the Bible, notably in the Acts of the Apostles, the nature and authority of Christ's Church are sharply defined. A careful study of them may convince you... as it has millions of others... that the Catholic Church of today is the visible, organized, authoritative counterpart of the Apostolic Church.

PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

THE NEXT WAR. In case of war, who would win? The Joint Chiefs of Staff, after a sober study, have concluded that Russia has an overwhelming superiority in conventional arms but that the U.S. still holds the nuclear edge. Since Russia might win a conventional clash, this raises the agonizing problem of how to isolate future military outbreaks. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, White House military adviser, believes conventional weapons can stop aggression. He thinks these would convince the Soviets of our determination to resist and give them time to reconsider without recourse to H-bombs. Use of nuclear weapons, he fears, would set off a chain reaction that would plunge the world into a hydrogen holocaust. But Gen. Curtis LeMay, the Air Force chief, believes the best way to stop aggression is to explode a small atomic bomb in its path. The Soviets would push and prod with conventional weapons, he warns, to find out how far they could go before bringing nuclear destruction down upon their heads. The best way to stop them with the least loss of lives, he urges, is to use nuclear weapons at the beginning. He points out that the U.S. has an arsenal of low-yield atomic explosives whose damage can be confined to the battlefield. The smallest has an explosive force of half a kiloton, which would devastate an area less than a mile in diameter.

GAMBLERS GOING SOUTH. The nation's big-time gamblers, driven out of business by the joint Justice Department-Senate crackdown on gambling, are drifting to Florida. Eager for action but afraid to risk arrest, they have been reduced to gambling with one another. For the first time, top gamblers are trying to take money away from each other. Meanwhile, illegal gambling has come to a near standstill across the nation.

THE SPACE RACE. Our space scientists desperately hope to launch the first American astronaut into orbit before the year's end, so history will record that both the U.S.S.R. and the U.S. accomplished the feat in 1961. Plans call for the U.S. astronaut to circle the earth three times.

CHINESE COLUMBUS? The latest Communist claim is that the Chinese discovered America. This new Red version of history reports that Chinese Buddhists made their way to the Aleutians and down the California coast 1,000 years before Christopher Columbus sailed to the New World in 1492.

BIRTH CONTROL BY PERFUME. Tomorrow's man may control his fertility by spraying himself with a birth-control perfume. The word comes from Dr. A. S. Parkes of England's National Institute for Medical Research. Dr. Parkes reports on experiments with newly-mated female mice that fail to reproduce if they are exposed to the smell of males from a different strain. "The attractive idea of a contraceptive perfume," claims the doctor, "is no longer incredible."

POISONED FISH. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service warns that sewage and seepage are polluting our streams and killing off fish at the rate of 6 million a year. Countless others may be too contaminated for safe eating.

COMMUNIST DIPLOMATIC SCHOOL. Prospective Red diplomats, both Soviet and satellite, are trained in Russia's most exclusive school: the Institute for International Relations. Located in Moscow, the institute accepts only selected students from Communist countries. Even the most fiercely loyal Communists outside the Soviet bloc are excluded. Each student diplomat is thoroughly investigated and indoctrinated, receives both military (12 months) and diplomatic (12 semesters) training. He is assigned after graduation to his country's foreign service, although his real loyalty belongs to the Kremlin.

Thanksgivings

PLYMOUTH, MASS.

ON THURSDAY the people of this New England town will honor Thanksgiving as the Pilgrims did here in 1621. There will be turkey dinners, of course, but the main event of the day will be the picturesque ceremony called Pilgrim Progress. Townspeople dressed in the fashions of the first colonists will march under arms through a replica of "Plimouth Plantation," as the original colony was called, to First Church for a special service. Each marcher (see photos) will represent an actual Pilgrim—one of those who managed to survive the rigors of the first terrible New England winter and went on to plant their crops, tend and reap them and, in the fall of 1621, celebrate America's first Thanksgiving. ■

ASPIRIN

BRINGS FASTEST RELIEF!

...the fastest, most gentle to the stomach relief you can get from the aches, pains and fever of a cold or flu!

This is a simple fact: in private conversations, in magazine articles, in newspapers and medical journals, doctors and public health officials have repeatedly recommended one thing for painful discomforts and fever of colds and flu. That one thing is aspirin. Specifically, aspirin.

In fact, when we asked thousands of doctors if they themselves took aspirin, better than nine out of ten said, "Yes."

So when any member of your family suffers the painful discomforts and fever of a cold or flu, help him to feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin, preferred by more millions of people than any other brand of pain reliever.

Now children, as well as adults, can feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin. You can give Flavored Bayer Aspirin for Children with your doctor's blessing; it's the 1¼-grain dosage doctors recommend.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by WOODY WOODBURY

EDITOR'S NOTE: Woody Woodbury — real name: Robert Dennis Woodbury—is at 37 rapidly becoming legend on the Florida Gold Coast where entertaining tourists is a leading industry. A pianist turned comic, Woodbury is a former Marine aviator who fought in World War II and the Korean War. He made his comedy debut in 1946 at the Bath & Tennis Club in Daytona, later moved on to the Clover Club in Miami where he stayed seven years. Woody has been appearing in night spots throughout the country. After a recent date at the Crescendo in Hollywood, he was screen-tested by United Artists, may soon become a film comic. Tall, blond, and terribly normal for a comedian, Woody lives with his wife in Plantation, Fla. At the moment they have one and three-quarters children. Here are some of Woody's favorite jokes:

Did you hear about the two beatniks who were walking down the street? One fell into an open man-hole. He hollered to his pal, "Hey, man, how about a hand?"

And the second beatnik clapped like crazy.

These sailors were getting out of the Navy and the J.G. who was stamping the discharge papers said to the boy who was next in line: "Well, Seaman Smith, you never have liked me. I suppose you can hardly wait until I die so you can come back and spit on my grave."

The kid said, "Lieutenant, I'll never stand in line again!"

Two friends were conversing in a bar. One said to the other:

"Charlie, where have you been? I haven't seen you in six months."

"I just got married."

"That's good."

"Not that good, she's very homely."

"That's bad."

"Not that bad, she's very wealthy."

"Oh, that's good."

"Not that good, she's very stingy."

"Oh, that's bad."

"Oh, that's good."

"Not that good, the house burned down."

"Oh, that's bad."

"Not that bad, she was in it!"

This wife rushed into the dining room and said, "John, John—the baby just swallowed the matches!" And the husband said, "Here, use my lighter."

There's the story about the drunk who was driving the wrong way down this one-way street. The cop stopped him and said, "Where do you think you're going?"

The drunk says, "I don't know but I must be late because everybody else is coming back already."

Reminds me of the story about the two drunks who stumbled into this bar and sat down. The bartender walked over and said, "Well, fellows, what'll you have?"

One of the drunks says, "Bring me something long and tall and cold and full of whiskey."

The second drunk says, "Take my wife."

And that reminds me of the wife who turned to her husband and said: "I'm so sick and tired and fed up with you and that golf. The kids never see you, I never see you. You're on that golf course all the time. I think if you stayed home one Sunday I'd drop dead!"

And the husband replied, "Don't you try to bribe me!" Then he decided to try to make a few points with his wife, and he said, "I'll take you golfing." He had about seven martinis and stumbled out to the first tee. He weaved back and forth and swayed over the ball, then finally hit it—a big slice, across the canal and onto the next fairway. It hit another woman right on top of the head and knocked her cold. Her husband was a great big brute of a guy and in one tremendous leap he cleared the canal, ran up to this drunk, shook him like a rag doll and said: "You idiot, you stupid fool. Do you realize you almost killed my wife over there?" The drunk answered, "Don't get so excited. Here's a golf ball, have a shot at mine!"

IT'S TOUGH TO LOSE

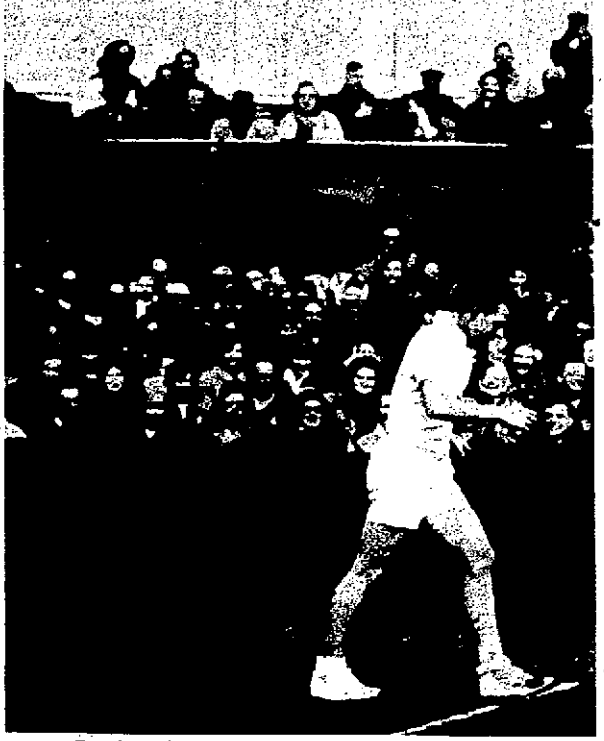

IF FRUSTRATIONS have you in a tizzy, take a tip from the heroes of sport shown here. They've learned how, in one action, to release both tension and the tools of their trade—with emphasis. We don't recommend heaving typewriters out the window or quitting the job and setting sail for green Tahiti. But for a vicarious release that won't break any windows, glance at these pictures. Your own problems may seem a little smaller.

Melina Mercouri

One of the world's most fascinating women

MELINA MERCOURI, born in Athens some 40 years ago, is tall (5 ft. 7 in.), thin (110 pounds), fiery, emotional, and at the moment blonde. Daughter of a prominent Greek family, she learned English, French, and German as a child, married at 17, attended drama school when the marriage broke up. "Exciting" is the adjective most critics use to describe her. In Greece she is regarded as a truly great and versatile actress, capable of ranging from tragedy (Mourning Becomes Electra) to comedy (Never on Sunday).

by LLOYD SHEARER

HYDRA, GREECE.

MOST MOTION PICTURE actresses under the age of 40 are not worth interviewing.

Generally they are too career-obsessed, self-obsessed or men-obsessed. Frequently they are also fatuous, uneducated, semi-illiterate, incapable of discussing any vital subject with depth, erudition, or reflection.

The best interviews are given by actresses 40 or older, mature women who have paid the high tuition necessary to obtain graduate degrees from the college of experience—stars such as Bette Davis, Katharine Hepburn, and Joan Crawford.

These are women who have seen through the illusion of life, who can verbalize their experience and philosophy with honesty, intelligence, and no fear.

Melina Mercouri, possibly the greatest actress in Greece today, belongs to this group.

Best known throughout the world as the unforgettable tart with the kind heart in Never on Sunday, the vivacious, willowy Mercouri is currently slaving on this historic rock of a Greek Island in Phaedra, another film directed by her enormously talented American friend, Jules Dassin.

Phaedra is a modern adaptation of Euripides' great play, Hippolytus, the story of a tragic love affair between the beautiful wife (Mercouri) of an older man (Raf Vallone) and her young, sensitive stepson (Anthony Perkins).

The picture is budgeted at $750,000 which is five times what it cost the team of Dassin and Mercouri to turn out Never on Sunday, a sleeper which should gross $10,000,000 by the time it has played out its world-wide release.

Melina Mercouri is a woman who lives for love and work or work and love—"I'm not sure of the order," she says.

To Melina in her early 40s, money means relatively little—probably because she has always had enough. She belongs by birth to one of the oldest and most prominent families in Greece. Her father, Stamatis Mercouris, has been Minister of the Interior several times and is presently a member of the Greek parliament. Her grandfather, who named her Melina—from the diminutive "meli" meaning "honey"—was Mayor of Athens for 30 years. And her husband, Panayiotis Harokopos, from whom she has long been estranged, is the Oxford-educated scion of one of Greece's wealthiest dynasties.

"I do not care," Mercouri told me, green eyes flashing, long-tapered fingers gesticulating, "that Never on Sunday makes a fortune. What I care most is that the picture is being seen everywhere, that people can now have a chance to judge my work and Julie's work, our work together.

A Long Career

"You know how long I've been acting?—fifteen, sixteen, seventeen years. On the stage here in Greece I have done Eugene O'Neill and all the plays of Tennessee Williams. And I have been in the French theatre. And in films I have done Stella and three, four others with Julie directing. But people heard nothing of me until Never on Sunday. No actress likes to work in darkness. Now at least I am known in your country. It is not so difficult for Julie to obtain financing. Perhaps before the year is out we get married.

DIRECTOR JULES DASSIN and actress Melina Mercouri relax during shooting of Phaedra, their fifth film together. To date, their most famous is Never on Sunday. Dassin and Mercouri hope to be married "before the year is out." Dassin is 50, directed many gangster-type films in Hollywood until April 1951, when he was placed on the Hollywood blacklist because a fellow director branded him a Communist before a congressional committee. With his wife and three children he went to Europe. After using up all his savings, they lived a frugal existence in Paris for almost five years. Although his talent was acknowledged, European producers were afraid to hire him because they were afraid American exhibitors would blacklist his films. Finally he was given a chance with Rififi, a thriller which was an immediate success. After that producers rushed to hire him. Recently he signed a four-picture deal with United Artists.

"I come from a hungry people. I have a hunger for everything—for life, for love, for work.

"You ask if Julie and I would like to settle in Hollywood. I don't know. Hollywood ignores you unless you make money. In Europe they at least applaud your efforts. I have no home in Greece. We travel between Paris and Athens. There is a rented house in Paris. But my roots are Greek. And if an actress goes to Hollywood, she loses all her roots.

"I ask you—how long would Brigitte Bardot remain French in Hollywood? Look at what happened to Sophia Loren in Hollywood. Look at what happened to Ingrid Bergman. She was once Swedish to her toes. Now she belongs nowhere.

What People Should Say

"I do not want to get lost. I want to find myself, to do better work, to have people say, 'Melina Mercouri, that blankety-blank Greek, how she can act!' "

Melina Mercouri is one of those fiery, emotionally tempestuous women, one of those intensely feminine passionate creatures who give tongue to thought almost instantaneously.

For example, on the set of Phaedra I asked her and Tony Perkins if they would list the ten best film directors in the world.

Quickly Perkins jotted down his ten names, then as an afterthought asked, "Do you intend to print this list?"

"Yes," I said.

Immediately he grabbed my notes, inked out the ten names he had written.

"Think I'm crazy?" he asked. "Suppose I want to do a picture with a director I didn't mention. He'd never forgive me."

Mercouri, on the other hand, declared quickly: "I give you ten names." And she rattled them off, omitting from her list the name of Willie Wyler, director of Ben Hur, Mrs. Miniver, The Best Years of Our Lives. For each of these films Wyler won an Academy Award.

Perkins was amazed. "You crazy?" he demanded. "How could you leave out Willie Wyler's name? Suppose he wants you for a picture sometime?"

Mercouri, a compulsive chain smoker, lit a cigarette. "If Wyler wants me for a picture," she shouted, "if he is any kind of a man, this list will not stand in my way. He will respect me for my opinion. Willie Wyler does not have the courage of a squirrel. In this life, Tony, sooner or later everyone must stand up and be counted. Billy Wilder is on my list. Julie Dassin is on my list. David Lean is on my list. But Willie Wyler is not. And that is my truth."

'I Am So Ugly'

Then, turning to me, she fiercely grabbed my left arm, her fingernails biting into the flesh. "Come," she commanded. "We go outside and you take my picture. I am very difficult to photograph. I am so ugly."

Outside on a promontory overlooking the Sea of Candia, I caught Melina Mercouri in my view-finder. "You're lovely," I said.

"Not in your camera," she answered softly. "I am lovely to you because you are looking at me the way Julie looks at me— with your heart." ■

Long Beach Dancers Hit With Welk

The Long Beach couple edged closer to the dance stand, hoping that Lawrence Welk would recognize them.

There was a good reason why he possibly would. The pair, Barbara Boylan and Bob Burgess, both 20, had appeared before on his television program.

They had, in fact, won the televised dance contest Welk had conducted.

There were reasons why they would understand if Welk didn't recognize them.

They had won the contest in April. This was July 27, three months later.

This was Welk's opening night at the Hollywood Palladium, a night of pressures and a night that had nothing to do with his television program.

They would understand if he didn't recognize them, but he did.

He did more.

"Would you like to put on a dance exhibition?" he asked them.

They would.

"What shall it be — 'Calcutta?' " Welk asked, naming one of his records that sold more than a million copies and to which the Long Beach State College pair had danced before.

"If it's OK, we'd rather dance to 'Yellow Bird'," replied Bob, naming a new Welk record that was on its way up the popularity list.

"Wonderful," said the pleased Welk.

JUST, COINCIDENTALLY the pair had made up a new dance for "Yellow Bird." The exhibition was a smash hit.

"Wonderful," said Welk to the audience. "How would you like to see this young couple on our television program next week?"

Applause—loud and long.

After their television appearance, the couple went back to the Palladium and again were invited to give a dance exhibition.

After the dance exhibition, Welk said:

"Wonderful. This wonderful young couple now appears with us every week on our Saturday night television program."

That was how Barbara and Bob learned they had been

Eddie Foy Jr. in Thanksgiving Special

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I was 18 years old before I knew that a turkey had anything but a neck," said Eddie Foy Jr.

"That's an old joke. Older even than Currier and Ives. It's the kind of joke my old man used to tell, or a team like Harrigan and Hart. You know we're going to use Currier and Ives' prints as backgrounds for the sketches and musical numbers in our Thanksgiving show.

"In those days, a team would sing a chorus of a song, and then one guy would say: 'We've got a goat at our house; he hasn't got any nose.'

"The other guy would say: 'How does he smell?'

" 'Terrible.' "

An imp of a smile crossed Foy's face.

"COFFEE killed my father," he said. "Five hundred pounds of it fell on his head."

Okay, that'll be enough of that.

The show, produced by Saudek Associates on ABC-TV (Channel 7, Tuesday, 10 p.m. PST), well be mainly aired live (a medium in which Foy has had some considerable experience since the age of 4). It will be a revue titled "Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" and stuffed with nostalgia of the 19th century, which is about the best nostalgia you can get.

EDDIE FOY JR.

Foy can't remember having more than three or four Thanksgivings in the 18-room frame house in New Rochelle, N. Y., where the tribe of Foys lived. When "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys" started in 1911, Eddie Jr. was 4; the youngest Foy in the act was 2 and the biggest little Foy was 13.

* * * *

"WE NEVER had Thanksgiving at home when we were kids. We had a lot of Thanksgivings and Christmases on the train. We worked about 40 weeks out of the year. We'd get arrested every Monday for child-labor-law violation. I don't think we ever came to trial, though. They used to call vaudeville 'the Sweat Shop.'

"When the act first started, I sang a song called 'Oh, Mr. Moon' that was supposed to be a hit at that time; I don't even remember it now.

"The next to oldest, Charley, would imitate my father. The youngest, Irving, was brought out in a parcel post bag. My father used to name his kids after his friends. My middle name is Felix, after Felix Issman, a real estate man who owned the property the Palace Theater was built on.

"My father had so many kids—he had 11—that people would ask him, 'Name the next one after me.'

* * * *

"ALL OF US were born in New Rochelle, the place about which Cohan wrote 'Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway.' We were the first show family there. Then the Barrymores came, Ethel and John. Then Cohan came.

"We have just donated our property, one acre at Seyman Ave. and Pelham Rd., to the city for a park. They put a fence around it and put the old man's name on it. The house is gone. I think they're going to put in benches and sand boxes. Peter Lind Hayes lives around the corner. His mother was married to my brother Charles. He calls me "Uncle Eddie."

"We were a half-Irish, half-Italian family. My mother was Italian. I married a Jewish girl. My kid is pure Irish-Italian-Jewish, so he's all mixed up, this poor bum. What does he do? He's an assistant casting director. He gave up acting—too tough."

"Well, how about yourself?" he was asked. "When you were young did you dream of growing up and being an actor?"

"No," said Eddie Jr. "I wanted to be a business man, or lawyer, or doctor, something like that. And I certainly never thought of movies or a thing like TV. Matter of fact, my oldest brother, Bryanie—he was named after William Jennings Bryan—advised me on TV when it first came in. "It'll never go," he said. "Never go over."

'SUR DEMANDE'

French 'You Asked For It' Canadian Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Each week the Hollywood trade papers print a production schedule of the TV industry. Nestled among the westerns and whodunits is a ringer with the title, "Sur Demande."

What is "Sur Demande"? Why, it's the French version of "You Asked For It," the venerable series in which Art Baker and later Jack Smith fulfilled the heart's desire of viewers.

But what is a French TV show doing in Hollywood? I reached producer John Ettlinger to find out.

"Sur Demande" (literally, "On Demand") turned out to be French-Canadian. It is produced by Ettlinger's Medallion TV primarily for Canada's French-speaking population.

"We're also selling it in Switzerland," said the producer. "France is a problem. It seems there is a resistance to a Canadian accent on French TV. We hope to overcome it."

The Canadian accent is provided by Jean Coutu, a handsome actor from above the border who is also under contract to Walt Disney. He substitutes in narration scenes for Jack Smith in the American version, which is still seen in syndication in 75 cities.

HOW "SUR DEMANDE" came into being is a lesson in resourcefulness. Medallion had been making a quiz show called "View the Clue" for the French-Canadian market. The sponsor pulled out when the payola scandals struck.

Ettlinger had 60 days to come up with a successor or lose the account. One day he was having a drink with a friend who worked on "You Asked For It." They teamed on the idea: Why not convert it for French-Canadians?

Time was precious. Coutu, who had starred in a Canadian TV series, "The Plouffe Family," was flown down from Montreal. Bi-lingual writers were hastily hired.

"We had them stashed in a hotel on Sunset Boulevard," recalled Ettlinger. "A taxi was standing by to rush the script pages to the studio as soon as they were written."

The deadline was reached, and "Sur Demande" went on the air Jan. 20, 1960—35 days after it was first dreamed up. Ettlinger reports that it is in the 10 top-rated shows in Canada despite heavy opposition in its time slot.

Could this mean more production in Hollywood for foreign markets?

"I don't think so," said the producer. "We make some commercials in French for the Canadian market, largely because there are inadequate studio facilities in Canada. Most of the other major countries have studios where they can make their own films."

Schedule 'Three Kings' Opera

A two-hour opera, "The Love of Three Kings," will be presented by NBC-TV on Feb. 25.

Phillis Curtin, soprano, and Giorgio Tozzi, basso, head the cast. Alfred Wallenstein will conduct the performance.

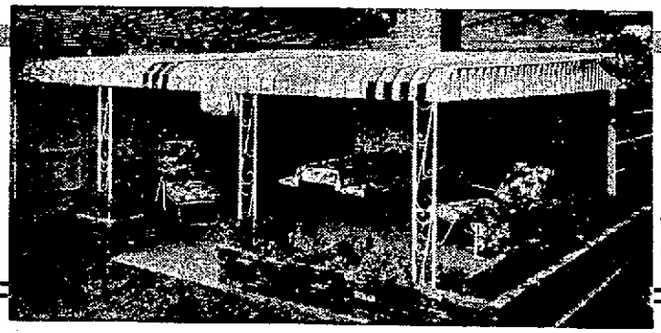

The melodramatic opera by Itale Montemezzi will be presented in the English version by Joseph Machlis.

The story is set in medieval Italy. It concerns Fiera, portrayed by Miss Curtin, who is forced to marry a conquering king.

Pan and Fan Mail

We want to thank channel 11 and the sponsors of the program for the excellent "An Age of Kings," which we are enjoying tremendously.

In another vein, we ask that television programmers cease allowing so much violence to be presented in its inane plays, so many of which are viewed by children in formative years.

Violence, if absolutely necessary to a play, can be presented in such a way that it is shown to be morally wrong.

Surely, for instance, plays bringing to life U.S. and world history could be presented for children, as well as programs of music and art. Also, programs which would show actual living conditions of children in different countries should be interesting for entire families.

Television has such a wide scope that to continue to limit it to cheapness is a poor choice on the part of the people who control it.

Mrs. C. G. Carsten, Seal Beach

Your observations conceding the "sometimes" necessity of violence, Mrs. Carsten, are particularly refreshing. As an admirer of Shakespeare—I assume you are because of your comments on "Age of Kings"—you undoubtedly have encountered violence. In "Macbeth," for example, the elimination of violence would be tantamount to the elimination of the play. But Shakespeare, even in that classic, manages to meet your standards. He shows—vitally demonstrates—that violence is morally wrong. While many television programmers could also claim to meet this standard in their productions, there is a difference. The difference is in degree.

In "Macbeth," the stress is on the moral wrong of violence. In too many TV dramas, the moral wrong is last-second introduced as a kind of postscript.

* * * *

Congratulations on your brief, pertinent interview with George Nader. Don't you agree with him?

There is a tremendous need to influence television programs to "emphasize and dramatize the innate good in people," to give importance to "human dignity" and to "deal with life honestly."

Miss Hazel Snavely, Long Beach

I agree with him, Miss Snavely, to the extent that you quoted him. I don't however, believe that he presented any conclusive evidence supporting his theory that television "hypnotizes" its viewers.

* * * *

We just watched "The Danny Kaye Show." This is the type of program that makes TV worthwhile.

Mrs. R. L. Smith, Long Beach

I'm with you, Mrs. Smith. The Danny Kaye special was an excellent example of what a man with a great talent can do when he's given a free hand and six months' preparation time.

* * * *

We and our friends and associates consider Don Ameche's "International Showtime" to be the finest family-type program currently on the channels.

There is no violence evidenced; rather it is a thoroughly wholesome show for each and every member of the family from 2 through 102 years of age.

Yet, one after the other individual we know remarks on this fine program with an almost discoverer attitude since they and their families have had to come upon "International Showtime" quite by accident since no mention of it appears in the "Week's Top Shows" or "Special" box.

Why, oh why, do you, as this area's TV editor, permit such a fine, wholesome family show as "International Showtime" to go unlisted, and therefore, unnoticed unless someone comes upon it or hears about via word of mouth?

Mrs. Alyce Adams, Long Beach

Our Sept. 10 issue, Mrs. Adams, heralded the upcoming Friday season premiere of "International Showtime" both in "Week's Top Shows" and in the "Special" box for the day. I agree with you that the show, which airs 7:30 p.m. Fridays on channel 4, is a fine one. We always carry it listed in our TV logs. But the fact is that its format, which basically is the presentation of circuses, remains the same. There is, from week to week, nothing extraordinarily different about the series which would qualify it for 'Special' or "Week's Top Shows." I happen to think that "Leave It to Beaver" also is an excellent family series. Its format, too, remains the same and, consequently, the program rarely finds its way into our "Week's Top Shows." Fortunately for both these series, their "same formats" are quality formats. Both, once seen, generally become viewing habits.

Bob Walker Jr. Makes TV Debut

Robert Walker Jr., 21, son of Jennifer Jones and the late Robert Walker, will make his television debut Dec. 6.

He has a key supporting role in Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray," a CBS-TV "Golden Showcase" special.

Stars of the production include George C. Scott, Susan Oliver, John Fraser and Louis Hayward.

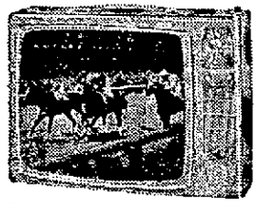

Sir Cedric Hardwick will serve as host for the David Susskind production.

CAROLYN JONES AND DICK POWELL
Have a Ball Taping Tuesday Program

Durable Crooner Produces TV Series

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Only one man in Hollywood can look back on 30 years as a singer, actor, producer, director, TV star and corporation president—and still look forward to a brand new TV series.

If you guessed Frank Sinatra, you're wrong.

He's Dick Powell.

His middle name is durable. Other crooners of the 1930s, with the exception of Bing Crosby, have disappeared. But Powell switched to dramatic acting, directing, producing and finally television.

As head man of Four Star Productions, Powell has cranked out 39 television series, including two in which he was host and sometimes star, "Zane Grey Theater" and "Four Star Playhouse."

Both were half-hour shows and qualified as hits. "Zane Grey" ran five years and "Playhouse" was good for four.

This years' "The Dick Powell Show" is an hour-long anthology series, something new for the veteran show biz operator.

Powell is conforming. Television has given the back of its hand to half-hour programs. Networks are demanding the 60-minute format or nothing.

Quality seems to be no object. As long as they get a full hour show, the big brass is happy.

WHY?

"So the neworks can control programming," Powell said, as if that explained the whole thing. Asked for clarification, he went on.

"Sponsors could afford to buy an entire half-hour show in the past. This gave the money men an opportunity to run shows as they saw fit. But few sponsors are able to afford an entire hour. So the networks sell sections of the show to various sponsors and still remain in charge of production."

What does Powell mean by control?

"If the network is in the driver's seat, it can move a show around to any time slot it desires and the sponsors can't complain," he explained. "ABC came up with the hour series to build up the network, and NBC and CBS followed suit.

"I'm not sure about how popular the longer format is with viewers, but they're a heck of a lot more work than half-hour shows.

"They are not just twice as much work. It's more like four times the effort. In addition, script casualties are higher, and many hour shows cannot be filmed in the prescribed six days.

"We're spending a fortune on the new show. The sets are bigger, more extras are involved and the problems larger.

"It is more like making a 'B' movie than a TV show, but we still aim for quality. In a half-hour western you need eight cows. For an hour you need 40 of 'em. Everybody thinks bigger for an hour.

"Frankly, I don't like to work that much. But I'm doing it for the company and using many of the shows for pilot ideas for the future."

Actors Guild Protests Foreign TV

Welk Signs L.B. Pair

chosen as the regularly featured dancers on Welk's coast-to-coast television program.

Barbara, born in Alexander, Minn., lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Boylan, at 3678 Ocana Ave. She has an older brother, Bill, and sister, Stephanie.

With her family, Barbara moved to Long Beach when she was 6 years old, attended Burcham Elementary School, Marshall Junior High, Millikan High, Long Beach City College and currently is a sophomore majoring in liberal arts at State College. She belongs to Tri Delta Sorority.

Bob, born in Long Beach, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burgess, at 3255 Cerritos Ave. He has an older brother, Bill, and two younger sisters, Betty, 16, and Barbara, 14.

Bob attended Longfellow and Burroughs Elementary Schools, Hughes Junior High, Polytechnic High and currently is a sophomore majoring in drama at State College. He belongs to Sigma Pi Fraternity.

He was a regular "Mouseketeer" on the Walt Disney television program, worked for 13 weeks on a Southland TV show, "Spotlight," had several small dramatic roles on "Climax," and appeared in a featured role on "The Donna Reed Show."

In common, the couple have been dancing together since they each were 13 years old, took lessons at and taught at a local dancing studio, date each other and others.

In common, each is very happy they're on the Welk show.

"IT'S MORE LIKE FUN than work," said Barbara.

"It's perfect," said Bob. "I'd turn down any offer to do a regular series television drama.

"I love to dance. That's really what's born in me.

"And the Welk show is perfect for me.

"I can go to school in Long Beach, work on the show, have my fraternity and all my friends.

"I don't want to move up to Hollywood and be a Hollywood character. I want to stay home and lead a normal life."

They're happy with Welk and he's happy with them.

His show has proven a great "showcase" for them and Welk's manager currently is in the process of lining up summer engagements for them. He's already booked them at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash., for a two-day appearance.

There are a few drawbacks.

Because of time demands, Barbara has had to give up instructing youngsters at the local dance studio.

"I miss them," she said.

Both, returning from a tour of the Midwest with the Welk group, found a heavy backlog of homework awaiting them.

Welk, who wants them to "dance just like regular kids having fun," frowns on their inclusion of fancy steps and such things as "lifts" when they're performing on camera.

But the drawbacks are trivial in comparison with the fun and gratification from performing on the national video show.

So far, their performances have principally been in the swing and Latin dance departments.

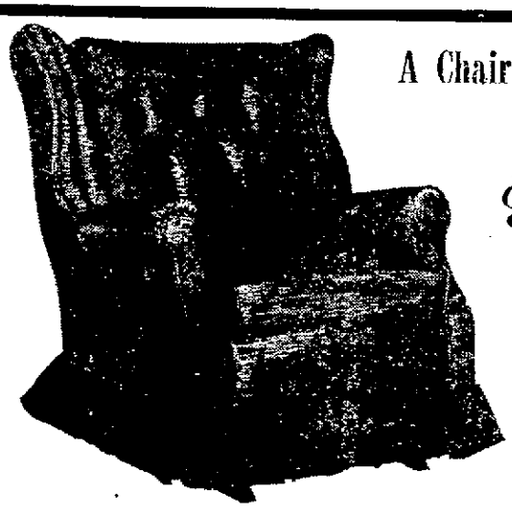

Welk feels it is here that the Long Beach couple can draw more younger individuals. Letters and ratings prove he's right.

And Bob doesn't say he's wrong.

"But," he added, "just once we'd like to do a waltz. You're never too young or old for a waltz."

A MAN'S GUIDE TO WOMEN'S HOSIERY

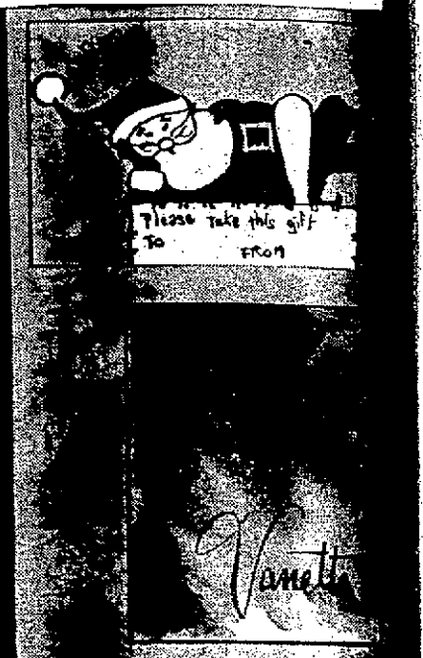

Do you know . . . there isn't a woman alive who doesn't welcome a Christmas gift of hosiery? If there is, we haven't met her. With a few pointers, you can easily speed down your whole list of feminine names.

Colors are deep and beautiful, and should match or accent wardrobes. For greater economy and longer service, hosiery should be purchased in multiples of the same shade, rather than in assortments. Write, phone or stop in and tell us her shoe size and leg length if possible (short, medium, long) and whether she prefers sheers or the more practical weights. Then leave the rest to us.

Buffums' exclusive BUFFLONS fine quality hosiery, completely proportioned, with seams or without, in fashion shades. Midge (8½-10), Ideal (8½-11), Regal (9½-11). Seamless: demitoe sandal heel. 6A. Pr. 1.35. Reinforced heel and toe. 6B. 1.25, with seams: dress or walking sheer. 6C. 1.35.

"BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD, O TIME, IN YOUR FLIGHT" ELIZABETH AKERS ALLEN. WELL, JUST A BRIEF TURN! IT CAN'T BE PERMANENT, BUT THEN, WHAT IS?

SO! I JUST TALKED TO JOHNNY QUICK! HE TOLD ME ABOUT YOU, HOW YOU GOT THE ONLY DOCTORS IN THE WORLD WHO COULD BRING BACK THE EYESIGHT OF HIS WIFE, MARLENE!

JOHNNY TALKS TOO MUCH!

JOHNNY QUICK HAS BECOME A POWER IN FIVE STATES! WHEN HE SNAPS HIS FINGERS EVEN OUR GOVERNOR, "SILK STOCKING SAM," THE "UNTOUCHABLE," SITS UP AND PLAYS HE'S A MAN!

JOHNNY SURE WAS ON HIS WAY UP WHEN I LEFT!

HE DIDN'T TELL YOU?

HE SAID THAT WAS YOUR SECRET!

GOOD! THEN LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY, SHALL WE?

I TOLD HIM ABOUT DANDY AND TEE AND ALL THE FRIENDS YOU HAVE HERE, BUT HE ASKED A FAVOR OF YOU!

A FAVOR? FOR JOHNNY AN' MARLENE AN' HER DAD, DAN. DRIVE, I'D DO ANYTHING!

THEY WANT YOU TO COME TO VISIT THEM FOR THANKSGIVING! DANDY AND TEE WILL UNDERSTAND!

WOW! I'D SURE LIKE THAT! I'VE NEVER SEEN MARLENE'S BABY!

Y'SURE Y'WANT ME TO GO? I HATE T'LEAVE YOU FOLKS, S'PECIALLY AT THANKSGIVIN'!

OF COURSE! YOU'LL BE BACK BY NEXT SUNDAY!

WE'LL HAVE OUR THANKSGIVING HERE THEN!

GEE! IT SURE WILL BE WUNNERFUL TC SEE 'EM ALL AGAIN! THEY WERE MIGHTY GOOD TO SANDY AND ME!

I'VE HEARD FINE THINGS OF JOHNNY QUICK AND HIS WIFE!

Y'KNOW, I'VE NEVER GONE BACK, BEFORE, TO ANY PLACE I'VE EVER BEEN! THERE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN REASONS! BUT THIS TIME.....

THIS TIME, ANNIE, YOU WON'T BE USING AN' OLD ROWBOAT, OR WALKING! YOU'LL BE FLYING! BE THERE IN A LITTLE OVER AN HOUR!

WOW! THAT'S MOVIN'! TOOK ME TWO WEEKS T'GET HERE!

YOU'RE GOIN' TOO, SANDY! I'LL BET YOUR OLD PAL ROGUE'S EYES'LL POP WHEN HE SEES YOU AGAIN, EH? GEE! WHAT A THANKSGIVING REUNION THIS'LL BE!

OUR TRADITIONAL THANKSGIVING TURKEY WILL BE ONE OF SEVERAL KINDS DESCENDED FROM THE ORIGINAL AMERICAN WILD STOCK

ACTUALLY THE MEXICAN TURKEY WAS FIRST RAISED IN CAPTIVITY BEFORE THE EARLY SPANIARDS ARRIVED ON THIS CONTINENT

THE CONQUERERS TRANSFERRED SOME OF THESE BIRDS TO SPAIN, AND SOON THEY BECAME POPULAR IN FRANCE AND ENGLAND

IMMIGRANTS BROUGHT THEM BACK TO AMERICA ONCE MORE, AND THESE DOMESTICS WERE CROSSED WITH NATIVE WILD FORMS

SO TODAY, WE CAN SELECT OUR TABLE BIRD FROM SEVERAL VARIETIES, SUCH AS...

WHILE A FEW FORTUNATE HUNTERS MAY FEAST ON ONE OF THE ELUSIVE WILD VARIETIES STILL FOUND IN REMOTE SECTIONS OF THE EAST AND SOUTHWEST

ONCE AGAIN, ON THANKSGIVING DAY, "LET US BE THANKFUL" FOR OUR RICH HERITAGE OF NATURAL RESOURCES AND WORK TO PRESERVE AND PERPETUATE THEM

OBSERVANCE OF GAME LAWS AND GOOD CONSERVATION PRACTICES ARE OUR BEST INSURANCE IN KEEPING THE WILD TURKEY IN ABUNDANCE

TO RUSS-CONQUERED SITE

U.S. Plans Antarctic Trek

SOUTH POLE STATION, Antarctica (AP)—American explorers unveiled plans Saturday for a trek across the Antarctic that will blaze a new trail to the Russian-conquered Point of Inaccessibility—the geographical center of this ice-capped continent.

Jack Long, traverse engineer of the University of Wisconsin, said the route across the Point of Inaccessibility is one of two under consideration. He said the alternate would allow the first check on some mountain peak locations reported in 1911 by Roald Amundsen, the first man to reach the pole.

In either case, he said, the trek would cover 1,500 miles and for the first time would use the South Pole as the jumping off point for a surface traverse. Although the expedition is not scheduled to start before next October, preparations already are under way.

The Point of Inaccessibility, about 625 miles from the South Pole, is the most remote point inland from all coasts on the continent. It was reached by the Russians several years ago after a 3,000-mile journey over trackless territory from their base at Mirny on the Indian Ocean.

The Americans, however, are considering trying to approach it from a different direction, also over unexplored territory, then making a left turn into additional trackless territory and finally returning to the South Pole.

The alternate traverse would first lead to the Horlick Mountains in the quadrant of the continent facing the Pacific Ocean. Then it would make a right turn towards the Filchner Ice Shelf in the quadrant facing South America, and eventually turn back toward the pole.

Long, a veteran of five traverses, said the location of certain peaks on the route to the pole as originally reported by Amundsen still is open to question.

Can Drop Huge K-Bomb Anywhere, Russians Say

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet military leaders Saturday claimed that the Soviet Union has rocket warheads equivalent to 100 million tons of TNT and the missiles to deliver the superbombs to any point on the globe.

They asserted that the Soviet Union is superior to the United States in capabilities for both rocket attack and rocket defense and that the backbone of the Soviet fleet is missile-firing atomic submarines. But it was admitted for the first time publicly that there was a period when the Soviet Union was virtually defenseless against air attack.

The Soviet Union fired a nuclear device of greater than 50 megatons in strength Oct. 30. Soviet Premier Khrushchev has said the Russians have developed a 100-megaton bomb—the equivalent of 100 million tons of TNT.

But this was the first time the Soviet Union claimed to have packaged the superbomb in a rocket warhead capable of being fired thousands of miles.

The claim was made by Col. Gen. V. F. Tolubko in the official military newspaper Red Star on the eve of Soviet Artillery Day.

Tolubko added:

"We can assure those across the ocean who like to go in for military adventures that our ballistic rockets have proved themselves so wonderfully that nobody has any doubts in their ability to lift and deliver any warhead to any point on the globe."

In another Red Star article, P. N. Kuleshov, a colonel general of artillery, wrote that "Moscow and the majority of the big objectives in the Soviet Union possess powerful rocket and radar defenses and a chain of airdromes for fighter planes . . . we have successfully solved the problems of destroying various rockets in flight."

Dominican Coup Feared at Hand

WASHINGTON (AP)—The resignation of Gen. Rafael L. Trujillo Jr. as leader of the Dominican armed forces raised fears here Saturday night of a possible coup by two other members of the Trujillo family to set up a new dictatorship in the Caribbean republic.

Official announcement by the government in Ciudad Trujillo that young Trujillo had resigned and left the country followed by a few hours a United States' warning that trouble was impending in the Dominican Republic.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk in an extraordinary public statement warned that two members of the Trujillo family may be plotting to seize power and create a new dictatorship.

* * * *

"IN VIEW of the possibility of political disintegration and the dangerous situation which could ensue," Rusk's statement said, "the government of the United States is considering the further measures that unpredictable events might warrant."

Reports from Ciudad Trujillo said departure of young Trujillo from the political scene there was expected to create a political vacuum as dangerous as the one created when his dictator father was assassinated last May 30.

The son had been regarded as the force that helped keep the Dominican military from splitting into groups and scrambling for power after his father's death.

The reported existence of a plot developed from return to the Dominican Republic on Wednesday of Hector and Arismendo Trujillo, brothers of the late dictator. Hector was once Dominican president and Arismendo holds the rank of general. Officials said Arismendo is still believed to have a virtual private army loyal to him in the country.

The two men had been in Bermuda for about two weeks and the U.S. State Department thought they probably had left the Dominican Republic more or less permanently.

Young Trujillo had been cooperating with Dominican President Joaquin Balaguer in introducing political and economic reforms.

The two Trujillo brothers are known in the Dominican Republic and elsewhere as violent opponents of the restoration of democracy in

Carrier FDR Placed on Alert

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt was alerted Saturday, a few hours after returning from operations at sea.

Personnel were summoned back to the carrier early in the afternoon.

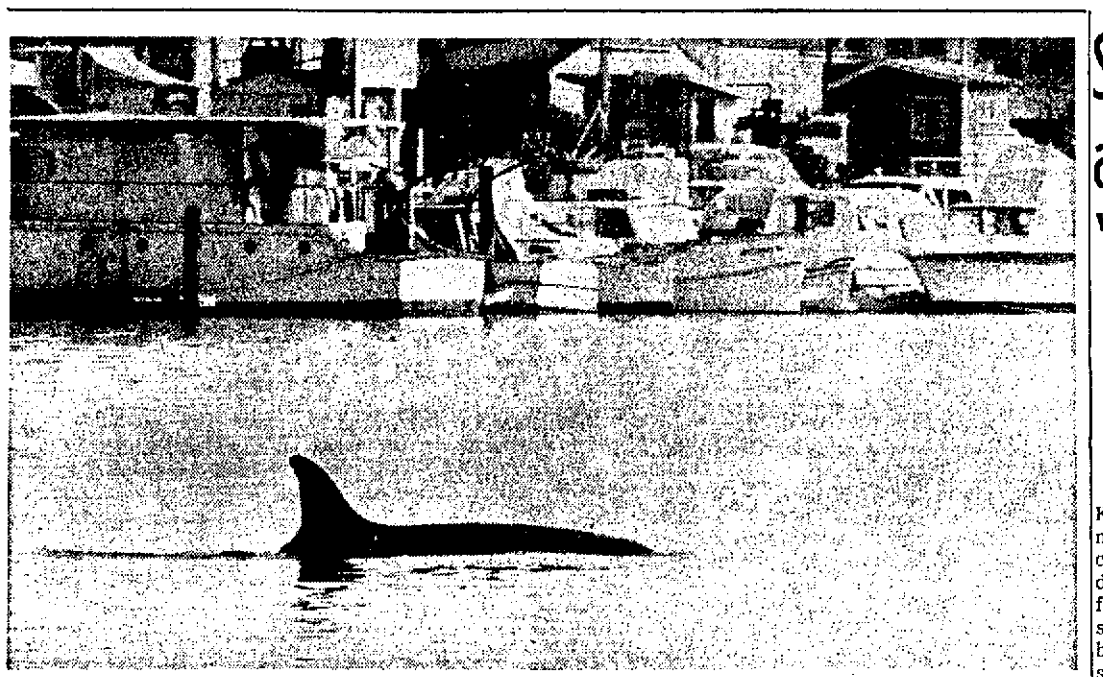

High Navy sources in Washington termed the action "normal training operations." However, the same sources indicated the alert was called by the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

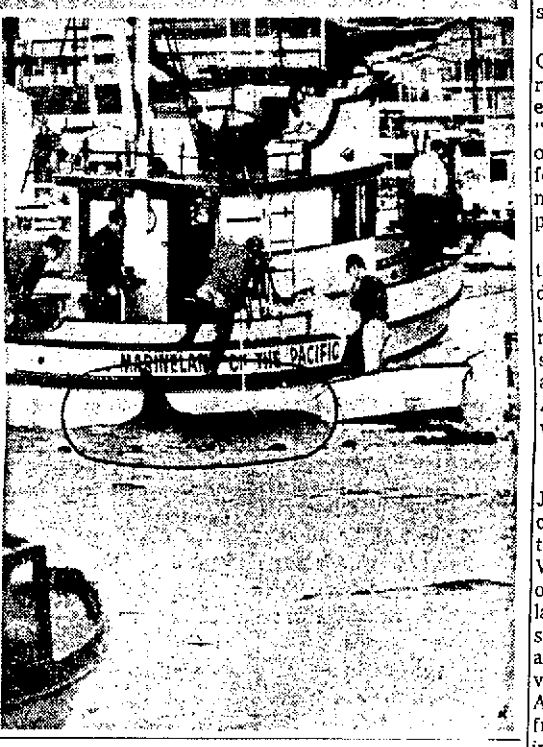

Flexible Line to Be Urged on Adenauer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy plans to urge German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer this week to approve a flexible Western policy for negotiations with Russia on a Berlin settlement.

U.S. officials who reported this U.S. policy line Saturday were vague on details. Evidently it aims at readiness to make limited concessions to the Soviets if they scale down their demands.

Adenauer will fly here today from Bonn, Germany. Kennedy and his advisers are highly uncertain about Adenauer's mood toward the talks, which open Monday and may run through Wednesday.

FIRST LIVE CAPTIVE

Killer Whale Netted in Newport Harbor

By BOB GEIVET

A killer whale, believed the first ever taken alive, was netted in placid Newport Harbor late Saturday after a 24-hour period in which she kept small craft sportsmen at bay.

Captured by crewmen from the Marineland of the Pacific, the 17½-foot monster was loaded aboard a specially rigged truck Saturday night for an overland trip to Marineland. Her weight: 4,500 pounds.

The whale—tabbed Wanda temporarily—was docile as she sloshed about in a few feet of water on the truck's low-bed trailer.

Three times she had broken out of her captors' nylon nets in the battle that began early Saturday morning.

The Marineland crew, working from the 45-foot boat Geronimo, found they had help from numerous boats which carefully—and a bit fearfully—maneuvered to keep her in the north Lido channel.

* * * *

NOT EVERYBODY ASHORE however, was pulling for the crewmen as they drew the net tighter around the errant Wanda. When she broke out, cheers rose from thousands lining the banks. Every time a lookout on the bowsprit missed her snout with his lasso, or broke his line, she got cheers.

And when he fell in, there was pandemonium.

The seaman, elated over his catch after dozens of misses, let himself down from the catwalk into a rowboat where two other Marineland men had been closing the net.

All three crowded the stern to cinch the trap around Wanda—and the man went overboard. For the short distance back to the boat, he probably broke all swimming records.

Generally, however, Wanda was docile. She broke water all over the north channel as she dodged the craft closing in on her.

Her fate was sealed, however, as she tired—and the net drew tighter. Finally, she tangled and was drawn alongside the hunter craft.

60 Bands to Parade Saturday

The 21st annual All-Western Band Review, featuring more than 60 of the west's finest high school bands, will be held here, starting at noon Saturday.

Host unit will be the Millikan High School Ram band, under direction of Michael Pappone, announced Don G. Gill, executive director, who said some 6,000 participants will march westerly along Ocean Boulevard from Falcon Avenue to Cedar Avenue in a three-hour musical extravaganza.

Long Beach schools host the city-sponsored events on a rotating basis. They do not compete for honors.

* * * *

An evening program in Municipal Auditorium will include a concert by the Municipal Band, directed by Charles Payne, and exhibitions of baton twirling by Beverly Miller, three time All-Western majorette champion and a national titleholder, and her 13-year-old brother, Darryl, junior champion of California for the past five years. The Debonaires, state champion corps twirlers, also will perform. Music for a dance following the show will be provided through the Performance Trust Fund, American Federation of Musicians, Local 353.

TITO PROTEST IN CLOUDS GREETS JFK

"No Aid to Tito."

Opponents of aid to Yugoslavia's Communist leader, Tito, have staged several demonstrations in Southern California this week—including a previous sky-written message. The demonstrations began before a shipment of U.S. planes recently left California for Yugoslavia.

Russians Plan to Send Man Around Moon

MOSCOW (AP) — Reports circulated Saturday that the Russians plan to send a man around the moon next January.

It is not planned for him to land.

According to these reports, the "lunanaut" has completed his training and is at the Soviet space base at Baikunur in Kazakhstan waiting for the blast-off signal.

Speech Hits at Extremist 'Crusaders'

2,000 in L.A. Hear President Lash Vigilante Elements

By BOB HOUSER
Political Editor

LOS ANGELES—President Kennedy crisply attacked fanatical "crusades of suspicion" here Saturday night and depicted the crusaders as a fringe element of society seeking to escape responsibility through slogans and scapegoats.

Kennedy strongly endorsed Gov. Edmond G. Brown for reelection. "He's going to be elected," said the President, "because this state, above all others, must continue to move forward, and Pat Brown's administration is committed to progress."

The President told more than 2,000 at a $100-a-plate-dinner in the Hollywood Paladium that although the fanatics may achieve temporary success, "the basic good sense and stability of the great American consensus has always prevailed."

* * * *

IN OBVIOUS slaps at the John Birch Society, the so-called California Minutemen, the defenders of Gen. Edwin Walker and the current rash of Southern California vigilance meetings, Kennedy said such groups could best be answered with the "different view of our peril" which most Americans take "that it comes from without, not from within."

"There have always been those on the fringes of our society who have sought to escape their own responsibilities by finding a simple solution or a convenient scapegoat," the President said.

* * * *

"FINANCIAL crisis could be explained by the presence of too many immigrants or too few greenbacks. War could be attributed to munition-makers or international bankers. Peace conferences failed because we were duped by the British or tricked by the French or deceived by the Russians.

"It was not the presence of Soviet troops in Eastern Europe that drove it to communism, it was the sellout at Yalta. It was not a civil war that removed China from the Free World, it was treason in high places.

"At times these fanatics have achieved a temporary success among those who lack the will or the wisdom to face the unpleasant facts or un-

Some of the suggestions are well worth while for the average investor regardless of a nuclear attack or other situation where his investment is in danger of catastrophic losses from fire, floods, hurricane or earthquake.

We doubt many owners of common stocks and bonds keep a record of certificate numbers. If a share of stock is lost, it means a long—and sometimes expensive—wait to have it replaced. It would be much more quickly done if the issuing company was given the stock certificate number.

In event of complete destruction by a nuclear attack or fire the safest place for such securities would probably be in a safe deposit box. But even such a location might be completely destroyed by a direct hit. But the company issuing the stock—far away—may escape destruction. If it is destroyed—according to U. S. News—the government plans to finance its reconstruction—as was done in England after World War II bomb destruction.

The report says there is no sense in converting such investments into cash and burying it. Strict rationing would follow an attack limiting usefulness of money. If cash was destroyed there would be no replacement by government. Saving and checking accounts would be guaranteed by government although they would be paid out over an extended period. The same protection is indicated for insurance policies, but a record of policy numbers is important.

Officials emphasize the importance of keeping financial records in survival kits—fallout shelters or other safe places. To be included: latest bank statement, bond and stock serial numbers, savings bonds, insurance policy numbers, deeds and mortgages. We would add family birth and marriage certificates.

In Britain, Germany, France and Tokyo where complete industrial plants, homes and business establishments were destroyed by bombers, the government has replaced most of them. This meant strict controls and high taxes on undamaged properties. The destruction was minor compared to what it would be in a nuclear war. But it is probable our government would follow the same pattern in attempting to protect investments of survivors.

It may seem a hopeless prospect. But it is only sound judgment for people to take all reasonable precautions. Many of the people who suffered losses in the recent Los Angeles area fires are now wondering how to replace securities they lost. A little planning and record-keeping would have saved many of them losses and embarrassment. Keep your records in duplicate—one in a safe deposit box and one in a fireproof box at home is good advice regardless of what disaster may occur to you.—L.A.C.

U.N. China Seat Delay Hit

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—The United States has run into some resistance in its plan to delay the seating of Red China in the United Nations once more by having the General Assembly set up a special committee to make a year's study of the question.

Diplomatic sources said the resistance came from some countries that recognize Red China but are good friends of the United States.

They said these countries feel they cannot support the plan if it is no more than a dodge to win another postponement; they want to be sure that the United States will back the committee's recommendations even if it recommends that Chinese Communists replace Chinese Nationalists on all U.N. bodies.

The informants said they expect the United States or somebody else would introduce a resolution anyhow to set up a study committee.

They said they were almost certain there would be a proposal also that the Assembly declare a two-thirds vote to be necessary to change China's U.N. representation.

The Soviet Union has introduced a resolution to make such a change and argues that this resolution needs only a simple majority to get through the 103-nation Assembly.

Protestant Group Fears McCormack as Speaker

WASHINGTON (AP)—A predominantly Protestant organization Saturday said there is cause for "justified anxiety about church-state separation" when one surveys the record of Rep. John W. McCormack, D-Mass.

McCormack, 69-year-old Boston Roman Catholic, is without known opposition for election as speaker of the House next Jan. 10 to succeed the late Sam Rayburn.

A statement issued by Glenn L. Archer, executive director of Protestants and Other Americans United for Separation of Church and State, said his group's anxiety is not based on McCormack's Catholicism and added:

"It is a matter of his having been for many years the foremost champion on Capitol Hill of the Catholic Bishops' position on church and state."

The statement said McCormack has advocated federal aid for parochial schools in connection with school-aid legislation.

The Archer statement said:

"He has consistently demanded government support for sectarian schools; he was the leading advocate of the appointment of an ambassador to the Vatican; he denounced the Supreme Court's interpretation of the separation of church and state in 1948; and he has been the sponsor of many bills in Congress conferring financial benefits upon his church.

"While President Kennedy and the Supreme Court have sought to uphold and maintain church-state separation, Mr. McCormack has opposed them."

Insurance Increases

NEW YORK (AP) — Americans invested $31,993,668,000 for more than $500 billion of insurance protection in 1960, The Spectator, a trade magazine, reported. The total cost of protection a year earlier was $29.7 billion.

$160,580 Saved on Serum

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The state has converted 38,160 units of unusable blood plasma into $160,580 worth of serum for shock treatment—and it didn't cost a cent.

The conversion into serum albumin was done by Courtland Laboratories of Los Angeles for nothing after the state agreed to permit the firm to keep gamma globulin, a by-product of the conversion, as payment. Gamma globulin is used to treat measles.

Gov. Brown said the serum albumin is necessary in civil defense work and praised Director Allan K. Jonas of the California Disaster Office for the deal.

The plasma was bought nine years ago. It cost $1,050,566, of which the state paid $520,283 and the federal government the rest.

Caroline to Get 'GOP House'

SAN JOSE (UPI)—An 80-year-old retired service station operator and life-long Republican, has built a pink and blue doll house for Caroline Kennedy, the daughter of a well-known Democrat.

H. L. Allen, who uses canes to support himself, spent last summer building the 3-room home. It is complete with wall-to-wall carpeting, foam rubber mattresses, drawers and doors that work, and a little blonde doll.

Allen said he spent a great deal of time on the house and had fun while doing it.

'LIVING HER OWN LIFE' NOW

New Beverly Aadland —Married Career Girl

By GEORGE C. FLOWERS

"I open the show with 'The Lady Is a Tramp' and then I go into a sort of blues routine.

"That's what I'm best at, you know — singing the blues."

Beverly Aadland de Leon crosses one attractive leg over the other, smooths her skirt, and tells about her new world.

"I've got this night-club routine—it's a solo but I usually have a comic with me — and it's going over big in the East. They loved me in Boston and they loved me in Springfield.

"Nobody mentions Errol Flynn any more. Oh, you hear his name now and then, but nobody mentions him to me. We don't even mention his name in the show.

"I suppose people come to see me the first time because they know about him. But if they come back, isn't it because they like me for myself?

"I'm developing into my own personality."

* * * *

"We got married in Los Angeles on June 24, but I had known him for three years, you know."

De Leon, who just resigned as an architect for the Los Angeles Board of Education, reveals they are planning to live in the East, probably in the New York area. He's going to work there as an architect next month.

And how did they meet?

"Ho, ho," she laughs, "he tried to pick me up on the street. Me and this girl friend of mine were walking down the street . . . Western Avenue . . . and he came along with another guy . . ."

"I was with a friend of mine, and she was with a friend of hers," he interrupts hastily. "We said hello to them . . ."

* * * *

MRS. DE LEON laughs again, strokes her husband's hand.

"It's working out very well," she says.

"We're planning on a family . . . ultimately, not right now.

"We've made plans for four children, but every time Maurice sees a pretty baby, he wants more. It looks like I'm going to have to have about 12 to keep him happy."

Beverly Aadland de Leon was in Los Angeles Friday to be relieved of a guardianship that was imposed upon her by court order after she and her mother ran into a great many legal difficulties.

"I'm married now," she reminds, "so I guess we can be our own boss."

She wears her hair in the Lana Turner style, looping waves over one eye. She is five feet and six inches tall and weighs 110 pounds. ("My middle dimension is 20, but we don't talk about the others," the skinny girl adds.)

* * * *

OF HER MOTHER, Beverly says very little.

"How did you like what the court did for your mother?" a reporter asked her.

"Golly, I don't know—What was it they did?"

"Well, the court kept her out of jail."

"Oh, that's very nice, I guess . . ."

Then, sensing a sort of cool stillness that had come into the conversation, Miss Aadland adds:

"You know, I could talk for three weeks about this, but I think it's a lot better if I don't say a thing about it."

Likewise, she refuses comment on a recent book written by her mother and Independent Press-Telegram staffer Tedd Thomey.

Miss Aadland—like other entertainers she sticks to her best-known name for stage purposes—won't discuss Errol Flynn any more, nor the days when she was his famous protegee.

"Those are the days that are behind me now," she declares. "I've got a life of my own and a career of my own now."

* * * *

HER HUSBAND interrupts to say:

"She's booked solid now through January."

She nudges him affectionately with her knee, and squeezes his hand again.

In Boston, she reveals, she was a smash hit at the Revere Beach Frolics, but had some disquieting moments. Because of her age, 19, the show's producer was arrested, but Beverly wasn't involved.

"They had people chasing me all over town," she recalls, "but I guess they never caught up with me."

The matter of her age was finally resolved, she says, at a high-level conference of politicians who finally ruled in her favor. Maybe that's why she likes "Massatoosetts" — that's what she calls it.

"Massatoosetts" likes her, too, her husband declares. "She's been back to the same club three times now—that's a record."

* * * *

WILL SHE EVER return to Southern California?

"Of course we'll be back here on business."

And how about living in this area?

For the first time, in a whirlwind-paced interview, she slows down. She looks at her husband, then replies:

"You know, I was born and raised in this area, and it is a wonderful place—climate and all that.

"But so many things happened to me out here. . . . I just don't know . . ."

Abruptly she notifies her husband:

"I'm starved."

Hand in hand, they stroll down the corridor of the courthouse. An appreciative whistle is heard. She glances back, laughs, and disappears into the new world of Beverly Aadland.

HE HELD TO FAITH IN HUMANITY

Sukman Good Work Lauded

By BILL JONES

Ike Sukman—an immigrant from Poland in 1913 — was honored Saturday night in Long Beach for his citizenship, civic activities and his personal covenant of belief in his fellow man.

Joint Defense Appeal is the fund-raising arm of the American Jewish Committee and the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith.

SUCH NOTABLES as actor Everett Sloane praised Sukman for the "enormous strides made by Americans in rejecting prejudice to allow advancement by this nation."

The veteran character actor said in a personal interview that Sukman "reminds us all of the job done and yet to be done against discrimination."

He added: "It has been like fighting a fire and believing the fire is out. Unfortunately, there are still little flareups, little nests of fire going."

Dr. Joseph Kaplan, chairman of the National Committee of the International Geophysical Year, was more blunt.

* * * *

THE UCLA physics department head, who won the Air Force's Exceptional Service Award, said Sukman's example points out to Americans that they no longer "can afford the luxury of prejudice."

Because of the increasing problems of mankind—such as health, food, air pollution, weather—"man will need the brains of scientists in small nations, minority groups," Kaplan said.

"We require the talent to survive," he said.

But, perhaps, the aging clippings in a newspaper library best tell the story of Sukman.

* * * *

THEY MENTION his World War I services overseas with the American Motor Transport Corps.

They tell of his duty as vice president of the Joint Defense Appeal Western Council, life member of the Southwest Pacific Regional Board of the Anti-Defamation League, the Long Beach United Jewish Welfare Fund Drive—and many other organizations.

They also tell that the avid golfer finds little time to enjoy his favorite game because of too much other work.

Judge Prosecutor's Son Dies of Leukemia

His son, Danny, 8, died of leukemia in Children's Hospital, Los Angeles, at 11:10 a.m.

For three weeks Stovitz, directing the prosecution in the trial of the Downey judge who is accused of soliciting bribes from young women, had scarcely slept.

BY DAY, he was in Los Angeles Superior Court, where he achieved a reputation as a relentless cross-examiner. At noon recess and at night he was at Children's Hospital, at the side of his son.

His associate in the prosecution is Bernard S. Crossman, a deputy district attorney who is continuing the prosecution.

By Stovitz' own admission, there will be no delay in the case.

His associate, Crossman, said:

"He plunged himself into this case. It seemed as if he had to get his mind off that hospital."

Strike Settled at Aurora Unit of Caterpillar

AURORA, Ill. (UPI)—United Auto Workers Local 145 Saturday approved a new three-year contract with the Caterpillar Tractor Co., ending a strike which has kept the Aurora plant shut for three weeks.

The plant will reopen Monday morning.

The new contract calls for two and one-half per cent or six cents an hour wage increase retroactive to Oct. 2, with the same increase in October of 1962 and 1963. The settlement affects 2,200 workers here.

Never Too Late for the Army

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—The Army has directed an 80-year-old traveling salesman to show cause why he shouldn't be assigned to an active ready reserve unit.

George S. Gresham said he received a letter from the Army saying that records indicated he has an "unfilled military obligation."

Gresham has never been in the armed services.

"I am in good health and could dance a jig anytime," he said.

Kennedy Joins 2 Ex-Presidents at Rayburn Rites

BONHAM, Tex. (UPI)—The funeral of House Speaker Sam Rayburn brought President Kennedy and former presidents Truman and Eisenhower all together for the first time Saturday. Herbert Hoover, the other living ex-president, did not attend.

The President and Eisenhower and Truman sat together at the funeral for Rayburn, 79, in Bonham's First Baptist Church. They later joined together during brief rites at Willow Wild Cemetery, where Rayburn was buried.

Kennedy, Eisenhower and Truman sat together on the platform during Kennedy's inaugural last January but Saturday was the first time they had sat together and chatted as friends.

The President interrupted a West Coast tour to fly to the funeral of Rayburn, whom he spoke of affectionately as "my friend."

* * * *

HE FLEW in from Phoenix, Ariz., in a White House jet transport, landed at Perrin Air Force Base, 27 miles from Bonham, and took a helicopter to the Bonham municipal golf course.

Eisenhower came in by plane from Augusta, Ga. He also took a helicopter to the golf course. Truman came to Denison from his home at Independence, Mo., by train. He went by car during the morning to the Rayburn home to condole with the family.

* * * *

Truman and Hayden went into another room with the Rayburn family.

* * * *

AT THE cemetery Eisenhower and Kennedy chatted softly. Truman rode to the cemetery with the family. He joined the President and Eisenhower, sitting next to Eisenhower. All three chatted until the brief, final prayer over Rayburn's coffin.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — About 300 diplomats, government officials and Washington residents attended a memorial service for Speaker Sam Rayburn Saturday at the Washington Cathedral.

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Gov. Price Daniel Saturday called a special election for Dec. 23 to name a successor to Speaker Sam Rayburn in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rayburn's Creed in Last Letter

WINONA LAKE, Ind. (AP)—House Speaker Sam Rayburn, in what may have been one of the last letters he ever wrote, told students at Grace College how they can best reach success in their lives.

The letter was dated Sept. 30, two days before Mr. Sam entered Baylor Hospital for treatment of cancer and just over six weeks before his death.

Rayburn wrote:

"Energy must go along with ability. There is not so much difference in the native ability of people because most of them have good common sense. It is what they do with it . . . ability without energy and purpose amounts to little."

* * * *

HIS LETTER, written at his Bonham, Tex., home, was addressed to Knute Larson, president of the Grace student body.

Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., examined the letter and said he was almost certain Rayburn had typed it himself. It contained erasures and no secretary's initials.

In explaining his love for this country, Rayburn wrote:

"Every American boy and girl should study United States history and government. I say this because I know the more you know about the United States history and government the more loyal you will be to it, because ther is no other government in the world where people have the freedoms that they have in the United States of America."

Wrote Rayburn:

"At an early date in life, a young man should make up his mind on the profession or avocation he intends to follow, and then bend every energy to that point."

He explained how he started running for office when he was 24 and was elected to the House at the age of 29.

BROWN WELCOMES KENNEDY

solved problems. But in time the basic good sense and stability of the great American consensus has always prevailed."

* * * *

IN THE LAST of three Western states speeches before returning to Washington continued, "Now we are face to face once again with a period of heightened peril. The risks are great, the burden heavy, the problems incapable of swift or lasting solution.

"And under the strains and frustrations imposed by constant tension and harassment, the discordant voices of extremism are heard once again in the land. Men who are unwilling to face up to the danger from without are convinced that the real danger comes from within.

"They look suspiciously at their neighbors and their leaders. They call for 'a man on horseback' because they do not trust the people. They find treason in our finest chruches, in our highest court and even in the treatment of our water.

* * * *

THEY EQUATE the Democratic Party with the welfare state, the welfare state with socialism and socialism with communism. They object quite rightly to politics intruding on the military, but they are anxious for the military to engage in politics.

"But you and I and most Americans take a different view of our peril. We know that it comes from without, not from within. It must be met with quiet preparedness, not provocative speeches.

"So let us not heed these examples of fear and suspicion. Let us concentrate more on keeping enemy bombers and missiles away from our shores and concentrate less on keeping neighbors away from our shelters.

"LET US devote more energy to organizing the free and friendly nations of the world, with common trade and strategic goals, and devote less energy to organizing armed bands of civilian guerrillas that are more likely to supply local vigilantes than national vigilance.

"Let our patriotism be reflected in the creation of confidence, rather than crusades of suspicion. Let us prove we think our country great by striving to make it greater. And, above all, let us remember that however serious the outlook, however harsh the task, the one great irreversible trend in world history is on the side of liberty and so, for all time to come, are we."

DOUBLE BIRTHDAY

Kennedy Tots Await Big Day

By HELEN THOMAS

President and Mrs. John F. Kennedy's son will become 1 year old on Nov. 25. Two days later, on Nov. 27, Caroline Kennedy, the best known 3-year-old in the country, will turn 4.

His mother was rushed to Georgetown Hospital for the caesarean birth. His father, then President-elect, had just landed at Palm Beach, Fla. Kennedy immediately flew back to Washington and was notified by radio enroute that he was the father of a "healthy, beautiful" dark haired boy of six pounds, two ounces.

On Tuesday, John Jr's official White House photograph will be released. He will be shown as a smiling baby in a white romper, held close in his mother's arms. Another color photograph, by Mark Shaw, shows the little boy alone playing with a colorful rooster on a stick, a gift of Madame Charles de Gaulle, wife of the President of France.

John Jr. is not walking yet but will be soon. He crawls and stands in his crib.

THE BABY LIKES attention. When his nurse and friends are around he's likely to throw his rubber toys out of his crib to get attention. After the toy is retrieved, he throws it out again, squealing delightedly.

Caroline refers affectionately to John as "my brother." When he is taken to the park, she insists on pushing his perambulator.

Marchers for Peace Hail JFK

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A crowd of about 1,500 persons demonstrated peacefully in front of the Hollywood Palladium Saturday and then marched to a nearby parking lot to hear speakers support President Kennedy's peace programs.

The group, known as H-E-L-P (Help Establish Lasting Peace), included Los Angeles educators, professional men and Hollywood stars.

Said actor Martin Balsam, one of HELP's organizers:

"We're meeting to endorse the President's action program for peace. We stand behind his creation of a disarmament agency, his call for a ban on nuclear testing with proper controls and a strengthened United Nations."

* * * *

THE GROUP marched in twos and threes carrying placards that read, "Join the Peace Race," "The Meek Shall Inherit What Earth?", "Neither Red Nor Dead," "A Thanksgiving Wish—Peace."

In the parking lot behind Hollywood's Capitol Records building, the crowd heard actress Rita Moreno describe the effects of radioactive fallout on Japan.

"Mankind insists that the tests be stopped and this is their right," the dark-haired film star said.

* * * *

GARY MERRILL, the actor, said the world's differences must be settled by negotiation.

"We shall not be driven to change our ways by Soviet nuclear threats nor will they be driven to change theirs by our threats," Merrill said. "We must oppose warmongers both in the East and West."

their country.

RUSK IN HIS statement referred to them as figures "who were closely associated with the repressive measures of the former dictatorship."

"It appears that they may be planning an attempt to reassert dictatorial domination of the political and economic life of that country, threatening the recent gains of the Dominican government and people toward democratization," Rusk added.

The Rusk statement said that the U.S. government is ready to move at a moment's notice if "the possibility of political disintegration" in the country becomes a reality.

Direct United States intervention is possible, other officials said, depending upon what happens as well as on whether President Balaguer asks for help.

The possibility that Marines might be sent to the Dominican Republic if necessary was not ruled out.

* * * *

U.S. MARINES would be nothing new there. They were there about eight years, from 1916-24, to police the country and even handled customs collections and payment of the country's debts.

The Dominican Republic is within easy reach of powerful U.S. air forces in Puerto Rico and the U.S. Navy's important base at Guantanamo, on the eastern tip of Cuba. Carriers based in Florida also are within relatively close sailing distance of the Dominican Republic.

New Traffic Control System Speeds Autos

(EDITOR'S NOTE—Another solution to the problem of moving thousands of cars from one point to another with minimum delays is undergoing public tests near Detroit. Results so far look good, both to the users and the developers.

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Automotive Editor

DETROIT (AP)—A new traffic control system being tried near Detroit has convinced most people who use it they make better time with fewer stops and more safety than they did before the system was installed.

The men responsible for the setup think so, too, but added that it is too soon to make a final judgment.

Officially known as the Traffic Pacer System, the device began operating experimentally Aug. 1 on a four mile stretch of Mound Road, a heavily traveled artery in nearby Macomb County.

Some 15,000 cars use the road daily between 6:30 a.m. and 9 a.m. and 23,000 cover the stretch from 3 p.m. to 5:30 p.m.

* * * *

BASICALLY the system consists of a number of overhead signs which tell you how fast to drive and a more than normal amount of the standard red-amber-green traffic signals which prevent intersections from becoming clogged.

If you follow instructions you should be able to clear the four miles without a stop even during heavy traffic. Under the old hit and miss system of lights which had been used, the average car could expect to be stopped by signals three or more times in the four miles during the afternoon rush hour.

* * * *

HERE'S HOW the system operates:

Approaching the start you see an overhead sign, about two feet by four feet, with lighted numbers, much like a football scoreboard. You are supposed to pass under the sign at the speed indicated, anything from 15 to 45 miles per hour, and maintain that speed until you reach the next sign. This will tell you your new speed.

If you have gone too fast, or too slow, you probably will be stopped by the next traffic signal. If you maintain the speed indicated, you'll sail right through.

A major difference in the traffic lights is that each of the nine intersections in the four mile system has a series of pre-signals, located about 200 yards before you get to the cross road.

* * * *

IF YOU clear these lights on green, you can confidently expect to clear the main intersection. If you get stopped, the odds are it will be at one of the pre-signals, leaving the intersection clear for cross traffic and allowing you ample room to pick up speed once the signal turns green.

The system was devised at the General Motors Technical Center, which is bounded on one side by Mound Road, and installed under an agreement with the Macomb County Road Commission. It is modeled on theories used by Dr. Wolfgang von Stein of Dusseldorf, Germany.

Harold Morrison, research engineer in the engineering mechanics department of GM's research laboratories said, "the Germans told us we could expect added safety and speed. So far we know we are getting better speed. Accidents have been negligible."

* * * *

AN EXTENSIVE series of test runs by the Michigan State Highway Department showed the average time through the Pacer System during the morning rush hour was 6 minutes and 25 seconds. With the system turned off and only the intersection lights working, the average time was 8 minutes and 10 seconds.

During the heavier later afternoon the Pacer average was 7 minutes 20 seconds against 9 minutes flat under the old method. Conforming exactly to the posted speed limits, which vary from 30 to 45 miles per hour, a trip would take 6 minutes 10 seconds.

The system operates automatically, with each of the speed signs changing after a predetermined number of seconds.

* * * *

RANDOM questionnaire samples among drivers using the road showed roughly three of every four in favor of the Pacer. And at least 60 per cent said they believed they were making better time with fewer stops and increased safety.

The system now operating is strictly experimental.

Avalon Casino Sets Events

Catalina Island's Casino Ballroom will open for New Year's festivities Dec. 30 and 31 and Jan. 1 for the first time in many years.

Visitors to the Island will be able to dance to the music of the Fletcher Henderson Band, directed by his brother Horace, on Dec. 30 and 31. The Rose Parade and bowl games will be projected on a giant screen in the ballroom on New Year's day.

Hilton Plans to Build Malta Luxury Hotel

VALETTA, Malta (AP) — America's Hilton Hotels International plan to build a 1.5-million-pounds ($4.2 million) luxury hotel in Malta as part of the program the organization is operating or plans to operate in Mediterranean countries.

The new Malta hotel will have 200 rooms and will be built on an as yet undisclosed site.

TOBACCO HOUND

Loot Tracked Down by Rebel and Stormy

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI)—Rebel, the German shepherd, is no great shakes as a police dog, but he's good at Sniffing out turkeys. And his colleague, Stormy, is a real tobacco hound.

Rebel and Stormy were put on the trail of three youths who broke into a grocery store and fled with bulging shopping bags. Rebel abandoned the trail after five blocks when he came across a bag containing a turkey, apparently abandoned by the thieves.

Brown Picks Committee on Housing

He named Edward P. Eichler, 31, Palo Alto builder, as chairman of the commission created by the 1961 legislature.

Eichler, a Democrat, is a member of Americans for Democratic Action and the American Civil Liberties Union.

The commission is instructed to find ways of providing better housing for the aged, agricultural workers, and low- and middle-income families.

It will make a progress report to the legislature next year, and a final report before the 1963 general session. It has $75,000 for its operations through June 30.

* * * *

THE COMMISSION eventually will have 15 members including four legislators, Assemblyman George E. Brown Jr., D-Monterey Park; Assemblyman Sheridan N. Hegland, D-La Mesa; Sen. Samuel R. Geddes, D-Napa, and Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael. The legislators were chosen by the Assembly speaker and the Senate Rules Committee.

Gov. Brown said he will appoint two more members later.

The appointments announce Saturday, besides Eichler, are as follows:

* * * *

The Rev. Sutton O. J. Evans, 49, minister of the Macedonia Baptist Church, Los Angeles, a Democrat and former chairman of the board of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Karl L. Falk, 50, professor of economics at Fresno State College and president of a Fresno savings and loan association. A Republican, he is a former chairman of the Fresno City Housing Authority and the Fresno City Relocation Committee.

Albin J. Gruhn, 46, of San Anselmo, president of the California Labor Federation AFL-CIO. A Democrat, he was chairman of the State Commission of Housing, which the new commission succeeds.

S. Jon Kreedman, 40, Beverly Hills contractor, Democrat.

* * * *

THE RT. REV. Msgr. Thomas J. O'Dwyer, 65, of Los Angeles, director of the Department of Health and Hospitals of the Archdiocese of Los Angeles, also a former chairman of the old state housing commission.

Victor H. Palmieri, 31, of Malibu, attorney and executive of an investment company. A Republican, he has been a member of the Governor's Commission on Metropolitan Area Problems and a director of the Ventura County Economic Development Association.

Charles R. Samario, 46, Los Angeles broker and real estate salesman, Democrat.

William Sidell, 46, of Inglewood, secretary-treasurer of the Los Angeles County District Council of Carpenters, Democrat.

Red U.N. Home Deal Probed

NEW YORK (UPI) — State Attorney General Louis J. Lefkowitz said Saturday he is investigating the proposed sale of a luxury mid-Manhattan apartment building to the Russian United Nations delegation.

Lefkowitz said he wants to determine whether the rights of investors who previously contracted to buy co-operative apartments in the building are being protected.

The building originally had been offered to New York investors for more than $1 million for co-operative apartments, but the Russians reportedly offered more than $3 million.

RANGOON (AP) — Burma is planning an extensive 15-year program designed to control the production of opium and the movement of narcotic drugs throughout the Southeast Asian country.

Police Shot Kills Youth in Fleeing Stolen Auto

WILLOWBROOK (CNS) — A California highway patrolman unintentionally shot and killed a 19-year-old boy riding in a stolen car in the Willowbrook area Saturday afternoon, the sheriff's office reported.

Refugio Mesa Pedrosa, 1621 E. 116th Place, was fatally wounded by a bullet fired by Patrolman Charles H. Nalley who had pursued the car for about two blocks in an attempt to stop it.

Nalley said he spotted the car as it made a boulevard stop on Compton Avenue and 120th Street and noticed it was on the "hot sheet."

The patrolman gave chase and pulled along the driver's side of the car at 118th street. He pulled his revolver and shouted for the driver, Michael Angel Cruz, 16, 12813 Mona Blvd., Compton, to pull over.

Instead, the youth made a sharp right turn and as the motorcycle shot past the vehicle the gun, held in the patrolman's right hand, fired.

The bullet passed through the right arm and chest of young Pedrosa, lodging in the door of the car.

Young Cruz was taken to the highway patrol headquarters for questioning.

Catholic Bishops Attack Rising Atheism and Apathy

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Catholic bishops of the United States warned Saturday that atheism and moral apathy are "on the rise" in America.

They said every Christian has an urgent duty to combat this trend by making "open profession of his religious beliefs and moral convictions."

"The Christian today must have a profound sense of mission which will cause him to bear witness to his faith as the early Christians did," the bishops asserted in a 3,000-word joint statement issued at the conclusion of their annual meeting here.

"Like St. Paul, we face a world largely paganized. Like St. Augustine, we see the encroachment of barbarism. Like both, we must be dauntless in proclaiming Christ."

The statement, entitled "unchanging duty in a changing world," was issued in the names of all 228 members of the U.S. hierarchy.

It did not refer directly to the controversy over federal aid to parochial schools but it said the exclusion of religion from public schools has contributed to America's "moral decline."

NATION CD MINDED

Sweden Prepares for Worst

By CARL O. BOLANG

STOCKHOLM (AP)—The peace-loving people of Sweden, who have taken up arms against no one since Napoleon's time, today seem better prepared against nuclear attack than any other Western country.

At this moment Sweden is geared to make a complete shift, within a matter of hours, from peacetime to a wartime society.

The entire populace would begin moving to already prepared rural evacuation sites or into nuclear blast and fallout shelters, some carved into solid rock.

* * * *

DISORDER would be at a minimum because a trained civil defense corps is on duty in every square mile of the nation. Every citizen, if not formally trained, has been advised how to behave and what to do in case of attack.

Nor is there doubt in any Swede's mind about his government's intent.

"If war comes," said a pamphlet delivered to every home in the nation recently, "Sweden can and will defend herself. Every attack against the freedom independence of the country will be met by force. Every report that resistance will cease is false."

* * * *

WHILE SWEDEN has no atomic weapons, an attacker would have to reckon with jet planes of the world's fourth-largest air force roaring out of camouflaged granite hangers. Ships of the royal Swedish navy would steam out of camouflaged granite caves, ready for battle.

And an elaborate, painstaking civil defense program would be all ready for instant implementation.

The pamphlet referred to above spelled out emergency procedures for each family in case of attack. It was signed by Premier Tage Erlander and King Gustaf Adolf VI.

* * * *

BACK IN 1944 when Europe was pock-marked with bomb craters, neutral Sweden passed a law making every able-bodied citizen between 16 and 65—man and woman, prince and pauper—subject to draft in the civil defense corps.

The law still is in effect, and today the active corps numbers 220,000 men and women.

About 150,000 of them are former servicemen above the age of 48, and about 44,000 are women.

* * * *

OFFICER training requires 60 days, noncommissioned officers train 10 to 14 days, and privates 35 to 60 hours. Training was stepped up last fall when a national CD school was opened near Stockholm.

Sweden, about the size of California, is divided into 25 provinces. Each has a CD director and staff, including a military liaison officer. The provinces in turn are subdivided into CD areas each with a trained CD corps.

These corps are organized into specialized units-rescue, fire, medical, police and protection. The protection units are on guard against nuclear, chemical and bactehiological warfare and are tied in with 14 laboratories and a number of recording stations dotting the country which are set up to detect fallout, gasses and the like.

* * * *

IN ADDITION, 20 motorized rescue units of 450 men each are being organized for placement in strategic spots across the country, ready to move quickly into bombed out areas. Five units will be stationed in Stockholm, three in Goteberg, Sweden's second largest city. The first two units are scheduled to be fully mobilized by next July.

Thus about 3 per cent of the population of Sweden is on active CD duty. The cost to the government is about $76 million a year.

While Sweden's elaborate CD organization began to take shape in 1944, its shelter program dates back even further—to the beginning of World War II.

* * * *

MUCH OF the country's terrain is of solid granite, and the government began at that time blasting out massive subterranean rooms. Today 14 huge shelters have been built in Sweden's nine major cities at an overall cost of $21 million.

All serve some peacetime use, if only as a parking garage, and many eventually will pay for themselves in full.

Sweden's largest community shelter—and probably the world's largest, too—is a 1,500-foot tunnel on three levels located in Stockholm. The shelter is leased to an oil company and contains a service station, a garage for 600 cars and a drive-in bank.

* * * *

THESE 14 shelters can accommodate more than 120,000 persons, and another 130 smaller rock shelters are planned to take care of an additional 400 persons each.

In addition, the country is equipped with more than 30,000 "standard" shelters designed to provide protection from blast and fallout. They are reinforced concrete structures built into every public building constructed since 1945—schools, factories, hospitals, apartment houses.

By law the shelters must be large enough to accommodate all the inhabitants of the building and strong enough to withstand the debris should the building collapse on top of them.

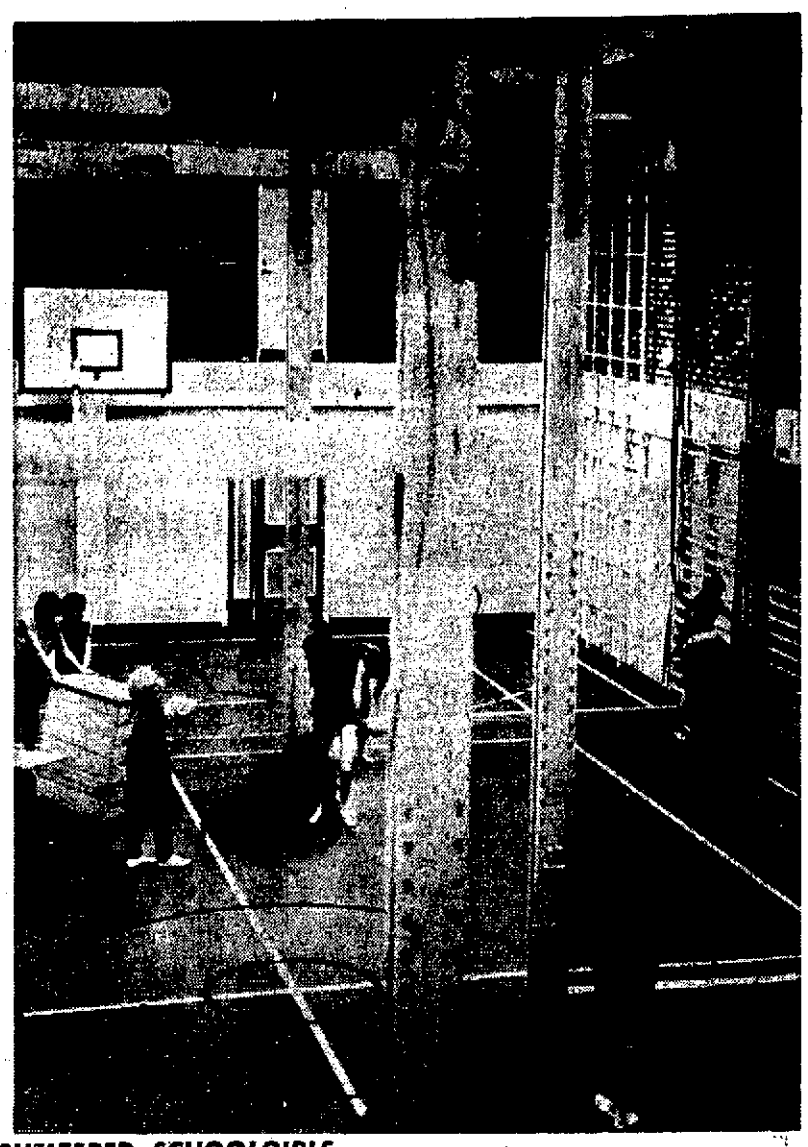

Combined, these standard shelters provide space for about two million persons—more than a quarter of the total population.

They're being built into new and existing buildings at the rate of 2,000 a year, adding 150,000 persons annually to the total.

TWO-WAY GARAGE

SHELTERED SCHOOLGIRLS

Swedish schoolgirls prepare a gym for a workout in the big atom bomb shelter built into a hill near the center of Vasteras. Such shelters, built all over Sweden, serve as community centers and contain workshops, adult education classes, cafeterias and other program areas.—(AP Photo)

Birch Bid Refused

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Gov. Brown has turned down an invitation to a John Birch Society meeting. He called the right-wing group "antagonistic to the ideals of a well-ordered democracy."

Replying to a letter from Rep. John Rousselot, R.-Calif., a society member, Brown wrote in a letter released Saturday:

"This is also to advise you that it would violate my principles and the trust I hold as governor to attend meetings sponsored or conducted by radicals of the political left or right."

* * * *

THE GOVERNOR criticized the ideas of Robert Welch of Belmont, Mass., founder of the society, as "absurd."

Brown concluded:

"As for your assumption that I am confused about the John Birch Society, I can assure you that it is absolutely clear to me from the mail I receive from members of your society and from the published statements of its leader that it is anarchistic in nature and antagonistic to the ideals of a well-ordered democracy."

UC Cancels Lectures on A-Survival

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The University of California Saturday canceled its series of lectures on how to survive a nuclear attack because of what one spokesman called a "disastrous lack of interest."

The university's extension division had planned on 1,500 for its first lecture here Saturday. About 30 showed up.

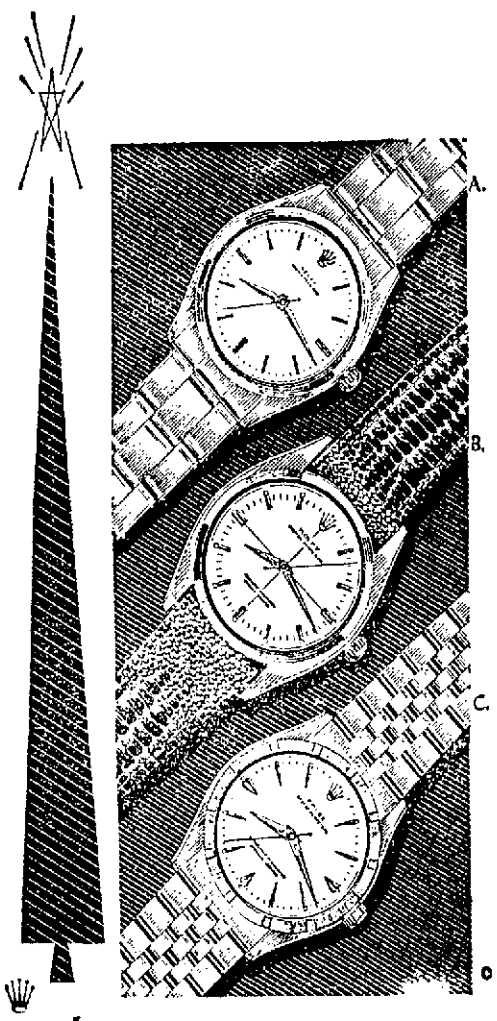

Kenneth L. Downes of the University said the program was to include such speakers as well-known nuclear physicist Dr. Edward Teller.

One announcement of the series was sent back with "this is madness" scribbled across it, Downes said.

Explosion Critically Burns Man, 46

A 46-year-old man was not expected to survive serious burns suffered in a gas explosion which rocked his hotel room Saturday night.

The victim, Benjamin D. Sadler of 117 E. Third St., was in critical condition at St. Mary's Hospital. Doctors said he suffered extensive second and third-degree burns on most of his body. Police said Sadler lighted a cigarette and the match apparently ignited gas from a heater system.

Study Cites Waste of Racialism

ATLANTA (AP)—A bi-racial group reported Saturday that a study showed there was enormous economic waste in Houston, Tex., due to job and social disadvantages imposed on Negroes.

The Southern Regional Council said its report on Houston is the first of several employment studies the council will issue on Southern cities.

The Houston study is based on a survey by Art Gallaher Jr., associate professor of anthropology and sociology at the University of Houston. It says Negroes suffer from job disadvantages because of public schools that "deny them training for work 'not appropriate' in a community which regards menial labor as Negro work."

* * * *

IN ANNOUNCING the report, Leslie Dunbar, the council's executive director, said: "The country cannot continue to short-change itself in the development of skills and talent of more than a tenth of its population. Nor can we continue to educate Negroes for jobs which we refuse to let them hold."

Three case histories were cited by the study: "A Negro engineer consigned to work as a garage clean-up man, despite a shortage of engineers in Houston; a young man trained in chemistry, denied job after job as a much-needed laboratory assistant; a young woman, the only Negro in Texas professionally trained as an interior decorator, who could obtain even so much as an interview with only one emplyee."

Also cited were a few advances: "A Negro lawyer on the U. S. District Attorney's staff; some city process servers; several sales clerks; equal job opportunity and desegregation in several unions."

"Generally, however," the council announcement said, "the report shows Houston's Negro college graduates may expect lesser jobs and less advancement than white high school graduates, are denied advancement and are rarely allowed to work in trades and professions for which they are trained."

NEW 1962 CESSNA SKYLARK . . . Wichita, Kan., Drops Away to East

Low-Level Flight in Cessna Offers Thrills of Countryside

By BOB BECKMAN

There's a new thrill in cross-country flying, even for the veteran of hundreds of long flights in the biggest of airliners.

The thrill: flying in one of the new, improved 1962 models of four-place airplanes at heights just high enough to escape the thermals but low enough to enjoy the scenery.

This writer has flown in the largest jetliners at altitudes up to 29,000 feet and boasted of the beauty of the earth below.

* * * *

BUT IT TOOK a trip from Wichita, Kan., to Long Beach in a 1962 Cessna Skylark at an average height of 7,500 feet to prove that low-level flying permits a more intimate look at Western states' beauty than can be had from jetliner or auto.

At 4 p.m., Bill Norris, sales manager at Air-Oasis Co. of Long Beach; John Sumner, sales representative, and I stepped into a two-tone green Skylark just off Cessna's assembly line in Wichita.

A few minutes later, we were circling the heart of the Kansas industrial oasis and climbing slowly for the first leg of our hop to the coast—to Santa Fe, N.M.

* * * *

PILOTING WAS Norris. John spread out maps for navigational purposes. I was alone in the "back seat," crossed my legs in living-room ease and watched the checker board of Kansas and eastern New Mexico farmland roll along behind us.

The luxurious appointments of our plane, the quiet drone of the 175-horsepower engine and almost-unnoticeable slight wind noise made the few hours' hop to Santa Fe more like a short drive in a limousine.

Sunset came as we passed over Las Vegas, N.M., and soon Santa Fe, its lights blazing in the clear, desert night air, unfolded beneath us.

* * * *

THE OLD MEXICO friendliness of airport workmen as they tied our Skylark down for the night was quickly matched by the hospitality at a quaint, old hotel in the heart of the picturesque cowtown.

A brief walk before breakfast took me to the oldest church in the United States and along a sidewalk wide enough for only one early-riser to saunter past an antique-seeker' paradise.

At 9 a.m., again we were airborne and headed almost due west — over the great lava beds and on to the famed Petrified Forest and Painted Desert.

A FUEL-AND-LUNCH stop at Winslow, Ariz., gave us proof why so many flying enthusiasts pick on this high-altitude community for a weekend of relaxation.

Chasing the setting sun, we passed over Parker Dam and on into the California desert—playing tag with one of the Colorado River aqueducts carrying its precious water into the Los Angeles-Long Beach basin.

Then with nose unashamed-

Sales Tax Leads as Source of State's Revenue

CHICAGO (AP) — General sales tax collections furnished the greatest single source of revenue in 30 states during the fiscal year that ended June 30, the Commerce Clearing House reported.

The report said a record $4.5 billion in sales taxes was collected throughout the nation.

State income taxes were the major revenue source in 14 states; gasoline taxes were the major revenue source in 5 states, and 1 state, Louisiana, used severance taxes on natural resources as its major revenue source.

EAST BERLIN GRUMBLES

Trolley Breakdown Starts Dissent Flow

By WERNER ZWICK

BERLIN (UPI) — The street car comes to a screeching halt in one of East Berlin's deserted streets.

"Not again — how long will it take this time?" a disgusted passenger, accustomed to the frequent breakdowns of the Communist public transportation media, remarks.

"Maybe we'd better walk home," a woman says as all passengers are ordered to leave the vehicle.

* * * *

THE PASSENGERS, numbering about 30, gather under a lonely streetlight which barely penetrates the thick fog.

Some are standing in the street, which is not particularly dangerous in East Berlin, however. Only rarely does an automobile pass.

One man and three women form a discussion group at some distance from the other passengers.

"THEY BRAG about the victory of socialism and they can't even provide proper streetcars," the man says.

"Yes, but they sure know how to explode a super bomb—a lot of good that will do us," replies one of the women, who obviously got her information from Western radio stations.

"They just want to prove that they can do everything better, that's why they exploded that bomb," another woman says.

* * * *

"IT WAS a threat for the Americans, that's all," the man suggests in a lower voice, as another person approaches the small group.

"You can't be too careful," he says after the suspicious-looking stranger disappears, "one out of every ten people here listens."

"I just wish more people from West Germany would visit here, so they can see with their own eyes how miserable we live," a third woman comments.

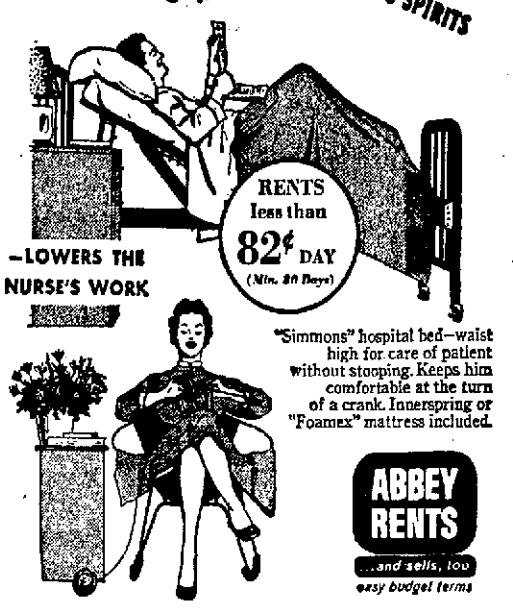

IT IS A cold November night and the poorly dressed passengers are beginning to shiver.

Two other street cars have pulled up behind the broken-down one. Repairmen are busy fixing the machinery.

Finally, the conductor gives the long awaited signal to board the street car again.

"Until the next breakdown," the man says as he climbs aboard.

Moon Probe Engine Tests Successful

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Space Agency said Saturday that a new rocket engine designed for missions to the moon and planets has just passed a significant milestone with successful completion of rigorous preflight test firings.

The engine, known as RL10, is this nation's first liquid hydrogen-liquid oxygen power plant for space vehicles.

"This test," the Space Agency said, "marks a significant milestone in the development of the new engine whose performance is about 30 per cent greater than current rocket engines using conventional fuels such as kerosene.

* * * *

"THIS MAKES possible greater payloads or longer range for United States launch vehicles."

THE RL10 was developed by the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Division of United Aircraft Corp. In a recent five-day period at the company's West Palm Beach, Fla., research center it was put through 20 "captive firings" preliminary to actual flight tests.

Two of the new engines will power the Centaur, an advanced rocket scheduled for flight tests late this year or early next. Later on, clusters of RL10 engines will drive the second stage of a Saturn rocket being developed for missions leading to manned exploration of the moon.

* * * *

THE CENTAUR originally was scheduled for test flights in June 1961. But liquid hydrogen is an extremely skittish and violent substance. Early firing experiments resulted in explosions which delayed the Centaur project.

Apparently these ignition difficulties have been solved. After the recent crucial tests, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration said, the engine appeared to be in good condition for continued firing and further tests.

Throughout the tests the engine developed its designed power of 15,000 pounds of thrust. Later liquid-hydrogen engines, also designed for use as upper stages of rocket vehicles, will produce 200,000 pounds of thrust.

* * * *

THE CENTAUR, "married" to the Atlas booster, is scheduled to make gentle landings of instruments on the moon and to launch probes to the nearer planets in 1963. It also will help put in orbit clusters of communication satellites similar to but larger than the huge Echo sphere now criss-crossing the heavens.

In the mid-1960s the RL10 engine will assist in boosting the Aeros weather satellites into equatorial orbits so high above the earth—22,300 miles—that the satellites will seem to stand still in the sky.

Coupled with the Saturn booster, a giant which recently went through its first flight test, the RL10 engines will play a vital role in early orbital flights of experimental versions of the three-man Apollo spacecraft.

Apollo spacecraft are scheduled, some time before 1970, to land three men on the moon with plenty of rocket power for return to earth.

Japan Leads World in Ship Launchings

TOKYO (AP) — New ships launched in Japan during a six-month period, from April to September, totaled 1,280,000 gross tons, exceeding the 900,000 gross tons for Britain and 760,000 gross tons for West Germany during the same period.

This record gave Japan top world place for the fifth consecutive year in the tonnage of ships going down the ways during the April-September period, the Transportation Ministry announced.

Meanwhile, from April through October Japanese shipyards received construction orders totaling 1,060,000 gross tons, including 530,000 tons from foreign nations such as Liberia, Greece, the United States and Southeast Asian countries.

U.S. Suffers 2 Space Failures

POINT ARGUELLO, Calif. (UPI)—United States space scientists suffered twin failures Saturday in efforts in the program ultimately aimed at putting an American on the moon.

Most disheartening disappointment came at Cape Canaveral. There a 670-pound Ranger-2 spacecraft, launched earlier in the day, stayed in a low orbit around earth. It was programmed to probe half a million miles into space. Scientists said it was too early to tell whether the setback would affect plans to try to hit the moon early in 1963 with an equipment-loaded Ranger-3.

The second failure came at this Navy missile-test base, located 160 miles northwest of Los Angeles. A joint NASA-Navy statement said an air-sea search for an 18x23-inch Bins I (Biological Investigation of Space) capsule had been called off.

Due to an inaccurate launch trajectory, the scientists said, data were insufficient to pinpoint the capsules position accurately. The small capsule, boosted aloft by a 62-foot rocket, was loaded with biological specimens.

LOREN A. DAVIS
Aided by 4 Witnesses

Suspect Cleared

SACRAMENTO (AP)—A dental technician was arrested for questioning but quickly cleared Saturday in the fatal shooting of Mrs. Rosalind Bates, Los Angeles attorney and clubwoman.

Police said four witnesses established that Loren A. Davis, 46, was in North Sacramento Monday night, the night Mrs. Bates was slain.

"We can place him up to within approximately an hour of the time of death," said Asst. Chief Howard Jernigan after questioning Davis and other witnesses in the Sacramento County Jail.

"He couldn't be it," Jernigan added. Los Angeles police had asked that Davis, formerly of Burbank, be picked up for questioning. Mrs. Bates once represented his wife in a divorce action.

Can't Assess Rocky's Future

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., said Saturday it was too early to know whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's prospective divorce had damaged the New Yorker's chances of winning the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

He told a reporter that the effect of divorce on Rockefeller's political future could not be assessed until after the 1962 election in which the New York governor will be seeking a second term at Albany. He said the state election should indicate whether the divorce was a political liability.

Goldwater Raps JFK 'Buddies'

ATLANTA (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., accused President Kennedy and his administration Saturday of what he called "government by buddy."

In a sweeping attack on the President and his top advisers, Goldwater charged the Democrats with inaction at home and indecision abroad. The administration's series of regional conferences were labeled as "sales talks with the Democrats trying to tell the country what they've done. But the people know what they've done," said Goldwater, "and they don't like it."

Blaze Hits Texas Bank

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A stubborn, spectacular fire burned for 90 minutes Saturday high in the Mercantile National Bank Building, one of Dallas' tallest. The 27th, 28th and 29th floors were damaged.

Firemen hurried up 29 stories of stairs to fight the flames in the 35-story building and rescue Miss Joyce Buckbee, 19, from the elevator she operated.

$15-Million 'Play Port' Projected

Plans for a $15-million marina and play-port development, almost a mile inland from Costa Mesa have been submitted to the city planning commission.

Named "The Keys," the marina will have nearly 1,000 lots, all fronting on the water and it will rival the nearby famed Lido Isle and Newport Harbor, according to Alvin Lester, spokesman for the Louis Lester Enterprises, developing company.

The new marina will be situated on 153 acres of property in the western part of Costa Mesa.

* * * *

THE PROPERTY will be dredged and filled with the ocean connection along the now existing Orange County Flood Control Channel.

The channel, according to Lester wil be widened to 180 feet and will extend 5,000 feet from the ocean to the marina.

Within the marina, a series of 28 channels ranging in width from 70 to 100 feet will make each lot a waterfront property.

The marina will have almost eight miles of waterfront and the lots will be 35 to 80 feet in width.

Lester said the company had not priced the lots as yet but that they would be leased, not sold.

* * * *

AFTER approval of the tract map by the city, the Lester Company spokesman said, the marina will be completed within a year. Approval is expected.

Also planned within the area is a nine-acre community development with shops and boating facilities.

The property was purchased from the U-Tex Oil Company, the Myers family and the Macco construction firm, currently building a housing tract which will overlook part of the marina.

Cystic Fibrosis Kills 2 Sisters; Third One Ill

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A strange malady has caused the deaths of two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. James McFadden and a third one has the nearly-always-fatal disease.

Joan, 4, died Friday of Cystic Fibrosis. Believed to be a genetic defect, it is characterized by a body-wide thickening of mucous discharges.

Maureen, 2, died in April.

Pat, now 2, suffers from it.

Sixty-Band Review Scheduled Saturday

afternoon competition will vie for the sweepstakes award and six top awards for units from schools of various enrollment sizes.

Largest school in this year's parade, as last year, is Bakersfield High, with a student body of 4908. Smallest school represented will be Parlier whose marching units make up 25 per cent of the school's 170 pupils.

* * * *

DIVISIONAL champions returning to defend their titles are Mt. Miguel, Grossmont, Tulare, Chowchilla and Tranquillity.

First-time entries this year include San Ramon in Danville; Buena in Ventura; Monte Vista, Spring Valley; Hueneme High, Oxnard; Adolfo Camarillo in Camarillo and Banning High, Wilmington. Entry of Banning marks first time in the history of the review that a Los Angeles-system school is wllingly participating.

Long-range weather prediction calls for showers the middle of the week, but clearing Friday and clear and warm for parade day.

Stove Fire Fatal

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mrs. Anna Benninger, 75, a widow burned to death Saturday when a kitchen stove set fire to her clothing.

Russ Chief of Rockets Replaced

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union apparently has replaced its rocket chief, but no formal announcement has been made.

Artillery Day activity started Saturday night. Announcements listed the main speaker as "Chief Marshal of Artillery Sergei Varentsov, commander of rocket forces and artillery."

Up until now, thelisted commander was Marshal Kirill S. Moskalenko. He was appointed Oct. 26, 1960, following the death in an air crash of his predecessor, Marshal Mitrofan Nedelin.

* * * *

MOSKALENKO attended celebrations in the Central Theater of the Red Army and was listed simply as "Marshal of the Soviet Union."

The six-foot-eight, 250-pound soldier is one of the Soviet Union's best known military men. He long commanded the Moscow garrison.

He was present in Red Square at the Nov. 7 parade but took no official part in it.

Moskalenko has been mentioned in Warsaw dispatches as the man who helped Premier Khrushchev to overpower and arrest Secret Police Chief Lavrenti Beria in 1953. Beria later was executed.

S.D. Desaline Plant Ready

By LOU JOBST
Marine Editor

A sea water conversion plant will begin producing sweet water from salt in San Diego later this month.

The $1.6 million desalinization facility was built by the State Department of Water Resources at Pt. Loma.

The plant will produce a million gallons of fresh water daily at a cost of $1 per 1000 gallons. The water will be sold at 20 cents a gallon to the city of San Diego and will partially alleviate the border city's acute water shortage, according to William E. Warne, water resources department director.

* * * *

THE PLANT, which employs the multistage flash distillation process, will be turned over to the Office of Saline Water, an agency of the Department of Interior in the Kennedy Administration.

Warne is enthusiastic over the success of the pilot project which took 10 months to complete.

"Once the cost factor is licked," he said, "cities along the coast may some day build their own conversion units to provide an unlimited supply of fresh water from the ocean."

THE POINT LOMA installation is the third such plant built under the auspices of the Office of Saline Water. Others are in South Dakota and Texas. Two more will be built. All will be operated as experimental units.

The total installed commercial saline water conversion capacity of the entire world is only about 20 million gallons per day. Forecasts are that by 1970 the total will probably have increased only to 100 million gallons per day.

Besides the flash distillation process several other techniques are under study including ones using heat produced by power stations and freezing processes.

Backyard Boat Fire Kills Man

SAN JOSE (UPI) — Kennedy Langfield, about 39, died at County Hospital early Saturday less than an hour after he had been discovered badly burned on the deck of his boat drydocked in his backyard.

Battalion Fire Chief T. J. Higgins said Langfield, a carpet layer, had apparently tried to escape flames which gutted the cabin of the boat, where he was sleeping.

LBSC Pair Fight Fungi in Jet Fuel

Scientists at Long Beach State College are searching for a way to halt corrosion in the fual tanks of jet aircraft.

The corrosion is that caused by microorganisms in the jet fuel.

To date, the researchers have found 61 different microorganisms in jet fuel.

The organisms are either bacteria or fungi. Some are involved in the corrosion process itself. Others provide food for the villains.

* * * *

PARTICIPATING in the research project are Douglas Aircraft, Boeing (Seattle and Wichita plants), Gulf Research and Development Co., the Naval Research Laboratory, U.S. Army Chemical Corps Biological Laboratories, the Aeronautical Systems Division of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base and Esso Export Co.

Researchers at these various organizations are using a test procedure designed by Dr. Swatek to study the growth rate of the tiny organisms.

At State College, scientists are checking commercial fuel from various sources as well as fuel taken from military aircraft at Ramey Air Force Base in Costa Rica, Hickam Air Force Base in Hawaii and March Air Force Base near Riverside.

UCLA Jolted by Huskies, 17-13

—Staff Photos by Bob Shumway

Charlie Mitchell returns opening kickoff 90 yards for touchdown (left) and Bill Siler scoots 25 yards for winning TD (right) as Huskies upset UCLA

Washington's L.B. Victory Jinx Holds

By DAVE LEWIS

The Washington Huskies came snarling out of their "lucky" Long Beach camp Saturday to hand the UCLA Bruins a jolting 17-13 setback before 33,969 fans in the Coliseum and salvage a so-so season for Jim Owens' crew from Seattle which had earlier been eliminated from a third straight bid to the Rose Bowl through a loss to California and a tie with USC.

Despite the defeat the Bruins are still very much alive for the AAWU title and Rose Bowl bid, however. They can still salvage both honors next Saturday with a victory over USC, but the loss has ruled out an "automatic" conference crown and bowl bid through a tie with USC. They must win now to finish in front.

* * * *

UCLA IS 2-1 in conference play to USC's 2-0-1 and Washington's 2-1-1.

It was a nightmarish afternoon for the Bruins from the opening kickoff, which Charlie Mitchell returned 90 yards for a touchdown, to the final seconds of play when Ezell Singleton's pass to Don Vena in the end zone for what would have been the winning score was knocked out of the Bruin receiver's hands at the last instant by Washington halfback Nat Witmyer.

The Huskies had 10 points on the scoreboard before UCLA was able to run off one play successfully due to Mitchell's "blastoff" and a field goal by sophomore Rick Smidt from the 11-yard line following a Bruin fumble.

However, the Bruins fought back to regain a 13-10 halftime lead when they opened up with their long-absent aerial game for two touchdowns in the second quarter, but yielded the deciding TD to Washington at the outset of the fourth period when they were unable to claw their way out of the hole after penalties had shoved them back almost to their goal line.

* * * *

THREE successive penalties—a five and two 15-yarders—on the first five plays of the final session pushed the Bruins from their own 37 back to the seven and annulled a 52-yard punt to the Husky 40 that might have enabled them to work their way out of danger.

But when the Bruins finally kicked out to their own 40, it took the Huskies just three plays to strike the death blow.

Quarterback Kermit Jorgensen raced eight yards around right end, passed seven yards to Mitchell on the 25, and then pitched out to sophomore halfback Bill Siler, who cut back inside right end and slashed his way through a broken field for the tally at 2:08 of the concluding quarter. Smidt's second PAT produced the final count.

* * * *

UCLA MOVED out to the 49 after the kickoff before being stopped a foot shy of a first down and losing the ball to the Huskies at that point.

But the Bruins held tight and got the ball again with six minutes to go on their seven-yard line.

It looked like it was all over seconds later when Mike Haffner's pass was picked off by Jorgensen on the UCLA 32. But again the Bruins held, taking over on their 24 with three minutes left.

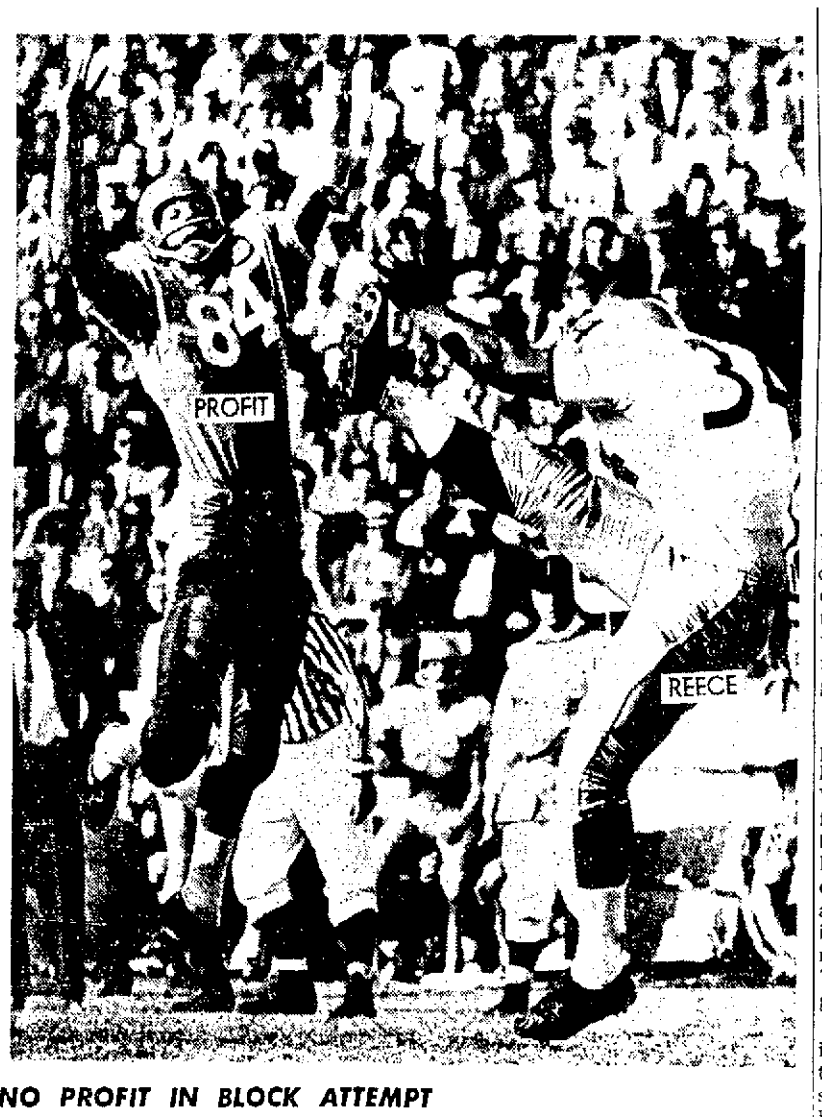

And the Bruins almost made it to pay dirt this time.

49ers Sink Peps, 22-15

By AL LARSON

Ron Bridwell barreled 27 yards for a touchdown on the opening play and Steve Hartman capped two second-half drives with short scoring bursts to highlight Long Beach State's 22-15 victory over Pepperdine Saturday night at Inglewood's Sentinel Field.

Rolling unchecked on the ground to the tune of 322 yards, the 49ers put the damper on Pepperdine's homecoming festivities and pulled their season record to 5-5. For the Peps, it ended a frustrating year of nine losses in 10 games.

* * * *

LONG BEACH jolted the partisan crowd of 1,500 when Mike Arntz recovered Gene Wilson's opening kickoff fumble on the Waves' 27. On the first play from scrimmage, Bridwell did his own version of the Twist when he followed a murderous wave of blockers into the end zone. Tom Turrill converted to give LBSC a 7-0 lead with only 10 seconds gone.

But for the next 29 minutes it was a case of blown opportunities as the 49ers had three scoring drives shortcircuited by two fumbles and an interception.

The Peps came up with key recoveries on their own 9 and 25-yard lines in the first period while Wilson swiped Pete Yoder's pass on his own 20 to kill another drive in the second period.

Bill Clark electrified Pepperdine fans when he raced 57 yards with a punt, enabling the Waves to tie the count at 7-7 after eight minutes had elapsed.

Henry Edney dashed 67 yards to set up Long Beach's go-ahead TD in the third quarter. Six plays later Hartman dived the final yard and Turrill added the PAT.

LBSC's final score was touched off by Curt Bennett's 20-yard punt return midway in the final period. With Don Briscoe carrying the brunt of the attack, Hartman scored his fifth TD of the year, this time from the two. Yoder passed to Bennet for two points to give State a 22-7 margin.

LBSC	7	0	7	8—22
Pepperdine	7	0	0	8—15

LBSC scoring: Bridwell (27 punt, Hartman 2 (1 run, 1 run). PAT—Turrill 2 (kicks). Bennett (pass from Yoder).
Pepperdine scoring: Clark (57 punt return). Hultz (2 pass from Shelton). PAT—McFarland (kick), Paronto (run).

LSU BREAKS RACE BARRIER FOR ANY BOWL

BATON ROUGE (AP)—The ghost of a segregation barrier faded away Saturday in the face of Louisiana State's desire to play football in any post-season bowl game offered.

The LSU Board of Supervisors unanimously reaffirmed a 1956 policy, unchanged through five years of legal and legislative battles over desegregation, saying the university would schedule varsity athletic contests with "major institutions of this and other sections of the country."

The action cleared the way for LSU to compete with any team, racially integrated or not, in the Orange Bowl or the Rose Bowl.

Weather Cold, Trojans Colder, 10-9

By JEROME HALL
L. A. Times Staff Writer

PITTSBURGH—It was too cold to play football here Saturday, so the USC Trojans didn't.

In a game totally devoid of finesse but liberally spiced with turning points and debatable plays, the Pitt Panthers sneaked through with a 10-9 victory that the world will little note nor long remember, but one that the Trojan coaches won't soon forget.

TROY FUMBLED THE BALL away three times inside the Pitt 20 and missed a two-point conversion play by inches in the closing minutes that would have saved the day and sent them into next weekend's Rose Bowl showdown with at least more wins than losses.

But the Trojans showed an absence of offense to go with their lack of defense and played what coach John McKay said "had to be our worst game of the year."

The temperature was 36 degrees, but 34,820 showed up to watch the 7-point favored Panthers win their third game of the year against six losses. Troy is 4-4-1.

USC had a good chance for a tie in the final minutes when it scored on a 27-yard pass from QB Bill Nelsen to end Hal Bedsole. Trailing by one point, the Trojans went for the win just as they did in that comeback against Iowa.

And the margin of the miss was just about the same this time. Nelsen tried to throw a pass to Willie Brown in the corner. But Rick Leeson, Pitt's leading runner, batted it down. The ball fell just beyond the reach of Troy reserve end Hal Arnest. He may even have touched it.

"This was too far to come for a tie," said the crushed Trojan coach.

McKay said the cold weather "had nothing to do with it. We were just bad. If we play that way against UCLA it will be 50-0."

The Trojan passing game was kayoed when regular QB Pete Beathard was held out because of a broken rib, which had been kept a secret. Beathard was in long enough to throw three incomplete passes and lose seven yards running.

Troy went into the game praying for no injuries and had the prayers answered. But the Trojans came east with so many ailments that five of the seven starting linemen were sophomores.

Willie Brown, the early-season star, played throughout the game—but as a flanker back. Only time he got hold of the ball was on kickoff returns. He ran two back 32 yards. He was not thrown any passes . . . until the vital conversion play.

In spite of the fizzle on offense, a USC passing record was tied. Bedsole's TD reception was his sixth, tying "noblest" Morley Drury, set in 1925. Two other Trojan passing records have fallen.

The Trojans showed only brief flashes of effectiveness. They had the breaks all the way. Pitt lost three fumbles, too. And Nelsen halted two Pitt drives with pass interceptions.

THE USC TOUCHDOWN DRIVE started when linebacker Warren Stephenson recovered a fumble at the Pitt 37. Nelsen gained 8, Wilson 2 and Nelsen threw 27 to Bedsole who made his only catch of the day. He caught it on the three and wiggled loose.

The Trojans started out as if to take command, moving quickly to the Pitt one and one-half yard line where they were stopped six inches short of a first down because Nelsen slipped in the soft turf on a fourth-down keeper.

Then the Trojans came right back for a field goal four minutes before the end of the first quarter. Little Carl Skvarna kicked the three-pointer from an angle at the 15 and it never was doubtful.

But things switched in a hurry. From that point Pitt took control and ran up a 171 to 40 yard total-offense

L.B. Charm Worked Again!

Long Beach's good-luck charm twirled a fourth consecutive time for its Seattle brethren Saturday—and the people who jammed into the Washington dressing room after the upset 17-13 conquest of UCLA began to suspicion we use some sort of alchemy on the Huskies when they come down here.

"I'm beginning to think there's something to our staying in Long Beach," laughed headman Jim Owens after the battle. "Our four best wins in two years came after staying in Long Beach."

HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Be that as it may, the Huskies put forth their best effort of the season in completely throttling UCLA's touted ground game (the Bruins gained only 44 yards rushing all afternoon).

"We knew we'd have to stop UCLA at its strongest point if we expected to beat them," explained Owens. "Our idea was to have our ends turn in all the Bruin sweeps and let the others get to the ball carrier.

"And our ends — Bernardi, Alkire and Locknane —did a tremendous job.

"But in stopping UCLA's strong suit, we let them get away with something else—and that almost beat us."

Indeed it did. Ridiculed because it ordinarily played Stone Age, grind-it-out football, UCLA completed 12 passes for a whopping 241 yards against Washington.

Two words on the Bruin blackboard, "Kill White," spelled out Owens' last statement. The words were scrawled there by a player and referred to assistant coach Don White, who had scouted UCLA and returned with this report: "Forget their passing. They won't throw much!"

UCLA POPPED OUT with a terrific pass play off a fake quick kick that murdered Washington continually. Did this catch the Huskies by surprise?

"Nope," declared Owens. "We knew they had it, but we gambled on the quick kick and let the passing go. It's a heckuva play to defense, so our gambles cost us some yardage."

Washington's two touchdown plays naturally elated Owens.

"UCLA misjudged Charlie Mitchell's speed on that 90-yard run of the opening kickoff," chuckled the big boss from Oklahoma. "Usually we get a lot of blocking on our kickoffs, but we didn't on this one. Charlie just ran right past everybody.

"Siler (Bill) ran right by everybody on that 25-yard cutback, too. Give that boy lots of credit. He faked everybody toward the sidelines, then cut back before they knew what hit 'em."

Ironically, Siler, from Van Nuys, once was UCLA's waterboy!

DIPLOMATIC MR. OWENS rated USC and UCLA even, but his players gave UCLA a pronounced edge, even though the Trojans tied the Huskies in Seattle.

"Don't use my name because coach will get mad at me," commented one Husky, "but UCLA was twice as tough as USC. All those UCLA guys crack you hard, USC sort of bounces off."

A half-dozen other semi-nude Huskies chorused the same sentiment.

What's Owens going to do this New Year's Day, since his club earlier was knocked out of Rose Bowl contention?

"I'm going to sit in the Pasadena stands, smoke a big cigar and let the other guys worry," chuckled Owens, who was content to have his moment of Southland glory on Nov. 18 instead of the usual Jan. 1.

BILL BARNES was a picture of utter dejection in the other room.

"It's bad enough to get beat, but when you get beat up like we did, it's too much," moaned Barnes, usually a composed man, win or lose. "Golly, were we lousy! My kids are more beat up today than they've been all season. This Washington team plays for keeps."

Barnes was so upset he dashed into the officials' quarters to learn why his punter, Keith Jensen, had been ousted in the final period.

"They said he used his elbow illegally after he had punted," sighed Barnes. "If I don't lose these kids one way, I lose them another."

I was about to ask Barnes to emulate Owens and spend the holidays in Long Beach if he got over USC next week. I didn't get the chance. He was banging his fists against a wall and I certainly didn't want to interrupt THAT!

DAZZLING DEE OFF AGAIN

Dee Reels Off 4 TDs in 58-6 LBCC Frolic

By BOB SHIBLEY

Dee Andrews bowed out of the Long Beach City College athletic scene Saturday night by writing a book.

Rather, he rewrote one and in the process paced the Vikings to a record-setting 58-6 conquest of Valley at Veterans Stadium.

Andrews established five individual marks and tied another. As a team, the Vikes set a pair of standards.

* * * *

TEAM MARKS were for most points in a game, breaking the 54 scored against Santa Monica in 1950, and a season rushing average of 6.3 yards per carry. The 1950 squad averaged 6.2.

Fittingly, the final touchdown came on Long Beach's last play, a one-yard pass from Ed Reddick to Ev Jarred.

Despite the great team performance, it was Andrews who was the main attraction. For the Dazzler, it was the capper on a sparkling two-year jaycee career.

Dee's record included most yards in a game (262), most points in a game (28), most yards in two seasons (2,039), most points in one season (110) and most points in two seasons (170).

* * * *

ANDREWS' final carry in a Long Beach uniform was for a two-point conversion after he had gone 18 yards around right end for the touchdown with 10 minutes left. Four minutes later, Andrews and Willie Martin—who ended his tenure with two touchdowns and 81 yards on four carries—were given a standing ovation as they left the field.

The Dazzler came close to setting two more records. He finished the season with a total of 1,140 yards and a game average of 126.7. George Van Zant set both records (1,286 and 128.6) in 1950.

Long Beach scored two touchdowns in the first seven minutes and had a 14-0 lead almost before the crowd had settled. Andrews gained 24 yards on his first attempt and it was an indication of things to come.

* * * *

THE VIKINGS amassed a season high of 392 yards on the ground and a total offense of 516.

Despite staging the greatest one-man exhibition ever seen in the stadium, Andrews, ironically, cannot be selected Viking of the week due to a rule which prohibits a player from being given that honor more than once in a season.

Bears Crumbled by Kansas, 53-7

BERKELEY (AP) — Bulldozing halfback Curtis McClinton smashed over four touchdowns Saturday, pacing the Kansas Jayhawks to a crushing 53-7 victory over California.

Handing the Bears their worst loss since 1955 and scoring the most points against them since 1930, the Kansans posted their sixth straight 1961 victory and kept alive their hopes of an invitation to the Orange Bowl.

The 212-pound McClinton, a senior from Wichita, plunged from the three, two, six and two as he accounted for 24 points.

* * * *

A CROWD OF 30,000 in Memorial Stadium saw McClinton tally touchdowns the first two times the Jayhawks controlled the ball this sunny afternoon as the hard-charging visitors' line throttled Cal until late in the game.

The 53-point total was the most by a Kansas team since Jack Mitchell took over as head coach four years ago. It was the most scored against California since Southern California beat the Bears, 74-0, 31 years ago, and the margin was the biggest since UCLA won, 47-0, in 1955.

The first time the Bears had the ball Saturday Jon Mason fumbled at his 17 and Phil Dougnty recovered for Kansas. Four plays later, McClinton had his first touchdown.

Kansas netted two more touchdowns before the halftime intermission and led 28-0. Quarterback John Hadl pitched 15 yards to end Jay Roberts for one and McClinton added the other on his six-yard burst.

BLADES' RALLY SHY

Calgary Picks Up 5-4 WL Rink Win

The Los Angeles Blades rallied in the third period, but a last-minute drive by Calgary defenseman Fred Hucul gave the Stampeders a 5-4 Western Hockey League victory Saturday night at the Sports Arena.

At the start of the final period, Calgary held a 4-1 advantage, but a one-man effort by Blades center Gerry Goyer brought them up even with five minutes to go.

Goyer figured in all three scores, getting an assist just as the period got under way, then slamming in successive shots to give him the "hat trick" for the evening. He scored his first goal in the second period.

Ortiz Decisions Rosi, Earns Shot at Brown

The victory earned Ortiz a March, 1962, shot at world lightweight titleholder Joe Brown.

The decision was unanimous, but close.

Stanford Crushed by Cougars, 30-0

STANFORD (AP) — Senior Stan State crushed an injury-weakened Stanford team 30-0, Saturday in intersectional 1960 Melin also guided the Cougars' fourth drive, threw two gars on another touchdown touchdown passes to Hugh drive, kicked a 22-yard field Campbell, the nation's lead- goal and booted three conding receiver, as Washington versions.

The Cougars, who had lost six of their first seven games, now have won two in a row and own a 3-6 record. Stanford, 3-6, lost its fifth straight.

The Indians, weakened by injuries, went into the game without four of their regular starting players and had two more carried off the field.

Stanford managed just five first downs all day, only one of them in the first half when the Cougars took a 14-0 lead.

Texas Halted by Spoiler TCU, 6-0

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI)—Texas Christian's spoiler Horned Frogs toppled No. 1 ranked Texas 6-0 Saturday on a 50-yard touchdown pass by towering quarterback Sonny Gibbs to end Buddy Iles.

The upset ended Texas' victory string at eight games and put a big kink in the Longhorns' Cotton Bowl plans.

Gibbs connected for the touchdown in the second period after Texas had marched to the Horned Frog one-yard line before a rugged TCU defense headed by Tommy Crutcher, Gary Thomas, Bill Phillips and Iles held on downs.

* * * *

THE LOSS dropped Texas into a tie for the Southwest Conference leadership with Arkansas.

Texas coach Darrell Royal's face was pale, his voice soft as he said, "I kept thinking we were going to get one (a touchdown) in there, somehow or other . . ."

The "somehow or other" never came for the top-ranked Longhorns.

The big blank on the scoreboard was crushing for Texas. The powerful Longhorns had averaged better than four touchdowns a game while running up eight consecutive victories.

"The touchdown play was nothing new," Royal said. His team had practiced against it, but couldn't stop it. Gibbs just fooled them with a phony line buck and found Iles all alone.

"This was a lifetime opportunity and we didn't come through, but we've still got one to play," Texas all-America candidate James Saxton concluded. Texas goes against Texas A&M Thanksgiving Day in a season finale.

Texas Christian coach Abe Martin called the victory the "finest" of his career.

"Texas has a great team and deserved the number one in the nation billing," he said. "They may have let down some out there, and we took advantage of that."

* * * *

MARTIN SAID he was afraid Saxton would break the game wide open at any minute.

"Don't ever think he's not a great back," he said.

Saxton led the ground gainers with 85 yards on 17 carries despite being knocked out twice.

'Bama Scents Roses; Bowls Over Tech

BIRMINGHAM (AP)—Alabama cleared its ninth hurdle Saturday toward an unbeaten football season and a possible bid to the Rose Bowl by following the furious running of fullback Mike Fracchia to a 10-0 triumph over Georgia Tech.

The nation's No. 2 power mixed its matchless defense with Fracchia's charges and the poised passing and running of quarterback Pat Trammel for a decisive victory.

ALABAMA, with Auburn still to come, has a 9-0 record and ranks high on the list of every bowl in the country, including the Rose Bowl. Alabama's victory combined with Texas defeat will probably move the Crimson Tide to the top of the nation's grid polls.

Fracchia put the first points on the board in the bruising Southeastern Conference clash when he turned right end behind halfback Billy Richardson's savage block and raced 16 yards for a touchdown in the second period. Sophomore specialist Tim Davis converted and added a 32-yard field goal in the third quarter.

Gophers Stave Off Purdue Stephens Stars in 10-7 Victory

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI)—Sandy Stephens became the first Minnesota back since Paul Giel to gain more than 1,000 yards as he guided the fourth-ranked Gophers past Purdue, 10-7, Saturday to remain unbeaten in the Big Ten football race.

It was the seventh straight victory for the defending national champions after their opening 6-0 loss to Missouri. The Gophers have a 6-0 conference record.

* * * *

Stephens recorded 106 yards passing and rushing for 1,041 yards for the season with one game left. Giel went over the 1,000-yard mark in 1951 when he set the school record of 1,473 yards in total offense.

Stephens scored the Gophers' lone touchdown on a four-yard sprint in the closing minutes of the first half. He also chipped in a 16-yard key run on the series which led to the first Minnesota score, a 35-yard field goal by tackle Tom Loechler. That came only minutes before the Minnesota touchdown.

Alternate quarterback Gary Hogan set up the Purdue touchdown with a 53-yard have to Jack Elwell with five minutes left in the game. The loss carried the ball to the Minnesota three and Hogan banged into the end zone from the one on fourth down.

TOROS' NAGY IN 300 GAME

CHICAGO (AP)—Steve Nagy, a 48-year-old veteran from Los Angeles, stole the scoring spotlight Saturday as he rolled the third 300 game in the five-year history of the world's invitational bowling tournament.

Nagy, captain of the Los Angeles Toros of the National Bowling League, didn't benefit too much from the perfect game rolled as he finished with a 2,385 total. This was 15 pins short of a 200 average and well behind the leader.

Washington Jinx Intact

ried to the Washington 24 with a minute and a half remaining.

Singleton made four at left end and Smith three more at right end to put the ball on the 17, third down and three with just 70 seconds to go.

* * * *

Vena went high in the air to get his fingertips on the ball, but Whitmyer made a desperate lunge to knock it loose from his clutch.

There was still one more down, but Smith never got a chance to get a pass off . . . being trapped for a 14-yard loss on the 31 where the Huskies took over to run out the clock and record their third straight victory over UCLA and post their fourth triumph on Southern California fields since using the Lafayette Hotel here for their pre-game headquarters.

Previous victims were Wisconsin and Minnesota in the Rose Bowl and USC in a regular-season game last year.

* * * *

THE HUSKIES got a big lift at the very beginning when Mitchell, healthy for the first time since the opening game of the season, took the kickoff on the 10 and roared 90 yards straight up the middle. Not a single Bruin touched him on the scoring jaunt.

Smidt kicked the PAT and it was 7-0 after only 10 seconds.

On the first play after the next kickoff, Bruin fullback Almose Thompson fumbled and guard Dave Phillips recovered for the Huskies on the 22-yard line. When they stalled on the four on the next series of downs, Smidt was sent in to boot a field goal from the 11 at 3:16.

Late in the first period the Huskies threatened to lengthen their lead after recovering a Bruin fumble at midfield and booming to the 24 before being held for downs.

* * * *

THINGS WERE different in the second quarter. The Bruins came to life with a vengance when they turned loose their passing game.

The tide turned suddenly at the outset of the stanza when Mitch Dimkich intercepted Pete Ohler's pass at midfield and got back to the Husky 46.

A 36-yard pass from Haffner to Tom Gutman opened the gates for the Bruins. Gutman made a sensational catch between two Husky defenders on the six-yard line . . . and two plays later Haffner swept five yards around right end for the score at 3:40. Bobby Smith's PAT made it 10-7.

It was turnabout for the Bruins on the first play after the kickoff when Mel Profit recovered fullback Tony Kopay's fumble on the 32. This offset the similar break Washington received in the first quarter.

Smith promptly passed 27 yards to Hicks on the five and two plays later Haffner carried it in from the one for the lead TD at 5:57. Smith's conversion was wide.

LSU Gets Scare, Also 14-6 Victory

BATON ROUGE, La.—Fullback Earl Gros picked off a desperation Mississippi State pass and set up a touchdown with a 49-yard run in the final minutes Saturday night as fourth-ranked Louisiana State tamed the tenacious Bulldogs 14-6 before 58,000 fans.

For the Bayou Bengals, the target of several bowls, it was their eighth victory of the season after a season-opening loss to Rice.

The latest post-season bowl, the National Trophy Bowl at Washington, D.C., tendered an invitation to LSU Saturday for the game to be played Dec. 30. LSU cannot accept any bid until the regular season has ended.

advantage for the first half, with Pitt totaling 300 yards to 179.

The Pitt touchdown came with 23 seconds remaining in the half. The drive went 61 yards in 10 quick plays. Fullback Rick Leeson's running and QB Jim Traficant's passes and runs were the weapons.

THE TD WAS BY LEESON in a burst through guard from the two. Fred Cox kicked the point.

The second half started as a study in Trojan frustration, with the Californians driving to the 12 where they fumbled it to Pitt. Then on the next play Pitt fumbled back to USC and Troy had it on the Panther 23.

In five plays USC got to the three . . . where FB Hal Tobin fumbled and Pitt recovered. So, after eight minutes of the third period, Troy had possessed the ball for 20 plays, had moved forward a total of 90 yards (while Pitt had had only one play) but USC had scored no points.

But don't go away. That wasn't the end of the Troy frustration.

Try this one for laughs: USC made a good defensive stand at midfield that took the ball away when Pitt ran a plunge with fourth and six inches and got only three inches. From the Pitt 49, Troy moved to the 19 where Ben Wilson dropped the ball. You can guess which team recovered it. You're right.

Pitt took over on the 19, drove to the USC 10 and then moved backward to the 26. So, from the 33, Cox kicked a 43-yard field goal to add to his previous efforts of 45, 47 and 52 yards that add up to a school record. Cox already has been drafted by the Cleveland Browns.

If you want a final laugh, USC's best pass receiver of the day was an interior lineman—Frank Buncom on two tackle-eligible plays that went 35 yards.

Oh well, it was nothing new. The Trojans haven't won an intersectional game away from home since 1956.

Amazing Irish Finish Trips Syracuse, 17-15

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UPI)—Notre Dame's Joe Perkowski, who hardly ever plays football except to place kick, booted a 41-yard field goal after time had run out Saturday to beat Syracuse 17-15. The defeat probably knocked the Orangemen out of a bowl berth.

Perkowski had two chances to kick the game-winning three points. He missed the first time.

He tried first from the Syracuse 46, with 3 seconds to play and was wild but a personal foul was called on Syracuse. This time George Sefcik put the ball down on the 31. Perkowski booted it fast, high and straight.

Passing was the key for both clubs and aerials almost—but not quite—won for the Orange. The Irish started fast, moving into a 14-0 lead on two scoring throws by sophomore quarterback Frank Budka.

But Syracuse wasn't shaken. The crack quarterback of the Orange, Dave Sarette, on a good gamble on a fourth and one on the Orange 43, threw a liner to end John Mackey for a touchdown.

Sarette then passed to Dick Easterly for a two-point conversion to give the Orange a chance to win with another touchdown. They got it.

Sarette's sophomore replacement, Bob Lelli, took over and gambled, too. On another fourth and one to goal, he rolled out to his right, then flipped a scoring pass to Easterly to tie the score.

Dicu Ericson placekicked the conversion and the Orange had the lead with 10 minutes to play.

Brisk Inter-League Trading Expected

Success of the Cincinnati Reds and Detroit Tigers the past season, due in a large part to trades with clubs in rival loops, undoubtedly will spur brisk dealing between the two major circuits when the inter-league trading season opens this week.

Every club is reported to be ready to make a major deal. However, when it comes down to actual dealing, less than half are ready to make a trade of any consequence.

BOB ALLISON
Sought by Dodgers

Majority of the deals likely will involve second-line players, who will be moved around in the extreme hope by some club that one or two might have a big year left in him to supply a spark that would help his new team move up a notch or two.

With the talent spread thinner than ever before with a total of 20 clubs operating next season, front-line players are getting harder to come by and the various clubs are reluctant to give up a regular.

However, it would take only about a half-dozen deals, maybe even fewer than that, to change the entire major league picture next season.

In the American League, of course, none of the clubs is conceded much of a chance of landing enough help via trades to overhaul the Yankees.

THE YANKEES THEMSELVES figure to be quite active on the trading front . . . and only wholesale losses to Uncle Sam figure to stop them. And that doesn't appear likely at this time.

Detroit and Cleveland appear to have the best chance of pulling off helpful deals and build to mount challenges to the Yanks.

The White Sox are ready to deal off a half-dozen or more of their veteran stars and undoubtedly will make several trades, but it is doubtful if they can get enough in return to offer more than a token run at the Yanks at best.

Baltimore began wheeling and dealing Thursday when it obtained Johnny Temple from Cleveland to plug an infield spot which was left open when Ron Hansen was called into the Army. But the Orioles don't appear to be in a position to do much more than exchange a few second-line performers from here on out.

The Yankees, of course, want pitching help . . . and may even go for a shortstop to fill in for Tony Kubek, who was tapped on the shoulder by "Uncle."

REPORTS FROM NEW YORK indicate that a deal of some kind may be brewing, but that any major trade might come with another American League club rather than with a National League team.

Minnesota has revealed that Pedro Ramos, the Cuban pitcher, might be available to the Yanks . . . "for a price." The Yankees have long wanted the Twins' other Cuban hurler, Camilo Pascual, but might settle for Ramos.

Both Ramos and Pascual have remained in the states instead of returning home to play winter ball. Baseball men say this may signal a big year for both of them next season. Pitching the year around has left them tired during the last half of the major league campaign after strong starts in the past. But with a winter's rest they might be much more effective in '62.

The Yanks are offering Hector Lopez, their second-line performers and some high-class minor league talent. And as we pointed out Thursday, they might part with Moose Skowron if necessary.

IN THE NATIONAL LEAGUE, the Dodgers probably have a better chance of pulling off a major deal than any other club because of the depth of talent on hand.

Biggest need, of course, is a power hitter to insure the '62 pennant. Name most mentioned is Bob Allison of Minnesota . . . possibly in exchange for Charlie Neal. But the Twins are said to be offering Jim Lemon instead of Allison . . . and the Dodgers don't appear to be interested in him.

The Dodgers also might be interested in Roy Sievers of the White Sox . . . along with five or six other clubs.

Cincinnati, considered a "one-shot" club by baseball men, will be after a pitcher or two, a second baseman and an outfielder . . . but so far is not offering enough to interest other teams. After the clobbering by the Yankees in the World Series, the Reds aren't given much chance of beating out the Dodgers next season.

The Milwaukee Braves feel they have a chance of going all the way next year if they can bolster their relief pitching. All efforts will be aimed in that direction. They also would like to pick up another outfielder along the way.

Thus, the next few weeks should provide some interesting manipulating in the trade marts.

Wolverines Blast Iowa

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP)—Michigan, crippled by a series of first half injuries, struck back with a relentless ground and air attack for three second half touchdowns Saturday and crushed Iowa 23-14.

The Wolverines, whipped physically, and apparently beaten at halftime, was aroused by the devastating runs of Dave Raimey, Dave Glinka and third-stringer Harvey Chapman before 61,925 in Michigan Stadium. The Hawkeyes seized a 14-3 lead on a pair of long marches in the first half. But Michigan's line held them to a standstill in the second half and the Michigan backs ran wild.

* * * *

MICHIGAN lost its best runner, halfback Bennie McRae, with a bruised shoulder in the first quarter. His replacement, Jack Stroebel, was hurt in the second period, leaving Chapman, a sophomore, his first Big Ten opportunity.

Scott Maentz, Todd Grant and John Walker, bulwarks of the Wolverine defense, were shaken up early in the game. Only Walker was able to return.

* * * *

GLINKA rallied the wounded Wolverines at the outset of the second half. He took them 77 yards for a touchdown, running the final 44 himself when he couldn't find a pass receiver downfield.

Chapman set up the next score with a 54-yard run and Glinka passed 20 yards to Bob Brown for the final touchdown.

Miller's Passes Rout Illini, 55-7

MADISON (AP)—Wisconsin unloaded a blistering attack spearheaded by the brilliant passing tandem of Ron Miller and Pat Richter and buried hapless Illinois 55-7 Saturday in the biggest rout of a 68-year-old Big Ten football rivalry.

Miller, property of the Rams, completed 11 of 15 passes, including his last 10 in a row, for 183 yards and 3 touchdowns, while Richter grabbed 3 scoring tosses as Wisconsin ran up its biggest conference point total since a 56-0 thumping of Northwestern in 1912.

Buckeyes Roast Ducks

COLUMBUS (UPI)—Unbeaten Ohio State, still nursing faint Rose Bowl hopes, overpowered Oregon, 22-12, in an intersectional football game Saturday behind the running of All-America fullback Bob Ferguson.

The Buckeyes, who won their seventh consecutive game following an opening season tie with Texas Christian, struck for touchdowns in each of the first three periods with the 215-pound Ferguson powering over for two of them.

It was the spectacular play of the Buckeye line that spelled the difference on this cool afternoon before a crowd of 82,073. The line opened holes in the the Oregon line for Ferguson and his mates to run up 370 total yards rushing and kept the speedy Ducks' backs bottled up until the fourth period.

* * * *

FLEET HALFBACK Bobby Klein sent the third-ranked Buckeyes off ahead on the second play from scrimmage with a 72-yard scamper down the sidelines for a touchdown in the first 12 seconds. Ferguson plunged over for two points on the conversion to put Ohio ahead, 8-0.

Ferguson scored again at the beginning of the second period on a seven-yard smash through the middle that climaxed a 40-yard drive in six plays, all on the ground. Dick Vanraaphorst kicked the extra point.

The Buckeyes wasted no time after intermission. Defensive end Sam Tidmore intercepted quarterback Doug Post's pass on the Oregon 46 to set up Ohio State's third touchdown.

Ferguson carried the ball 25 times for the Buckeyes and picked up 101 yards. But he was overshadowed in that department by teammates Klein, who had 103 yards, including a 72-yard touchdown sprint, in six carries, and quarterback John Mummey, who had 116 yards in 14 carries.

Spartans Nod Wildcats in Fumble Battle, 21-13

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State managed to convert more fumbles into touchdowns than Northwestern Saturday to give the ninth-ranked Spartans a 21-13 Big Ten victory over the Wildcats.

The first three scores were set up by fumbles.

Spartan seatback Sherman Lewis, himself one of the ball bobbers, ran for two of the MSU touchdowns.

Michigan State now is 4-2 in the Big Ten and Northwestern is 2-4.

The game might have looked like a comedy of errors before the 51,403 fans in Spartan Stadium but it wasn't funny to the tensed up MSU and Wildcat players.

* * * *

THE WILDCATS fumbled five times the first half and lost possession four times. Mighigan State fumbled three times and lost possesion twice.

Northwestern led 7-0 at the end of the first period and MSU had an 8-7 lead at the half. Both teams scored in the third period and the Spartans put the game away by passing for one more touchdown in the final quarter.

Sooners Topple Napping Cadets

NEW YORK (AP)—Halfback Mike McClellan sped 75 yards to a touchdown in the opening five minutes on a trickey quick-snap play that caught Army napping and Oklahoma went on to a 14-8 victory over the Cadets at Yankee Stadium Saturday.

* * * *

ARMY PLAYERS, surprised by the maneuver, stood by with their mouths open as McClellan raced to a score. The play was specially designed by Oklahoma scouts to take advantage of Army's slowness in snapping into defensive formation.

Oklahoma added a second touchdown in the final minute of the third period on a 1-yard plunge by quarterback Bob Page, climaxing a 77-yard march.

Army scored with less than five minutes to play on a 56-yard drive, engineered by third string sophomore quarterback Art Lewis. The touchdown came on a 5-yard pass, Joe Blackgrove to end Paul Zmuida.

Rams Primed for Upset

Sizzling Lakers Stop Hot Celtics

BOSTON (UPI)—Elgin Baylor, making his first and last appearance of the year here before going into the service, scored 32 points Saturday night to lead the streaking Los Angeles Lakers to a skin-tight 103-101 victory over the Boston Celtics in a National Basketball Association game. It was their seventh straight win.

Baylor, who a year ago this week set the single game NBA scoring record when he pumped in 71 against New York, paced his firehorse teammates to leads at the end of each quarter of play.

The win, which ended a five-game Boston victory skein, could prove costly to the Lakers, however. Jerry West, their second line scoring ace, was painfully injured in the fourth quarter and had to leave the game. His injury came when teammate Ray Felix accidentally stepped on his ankle. When he left, West had scored 20 points.

* * * *

BAYLOR NOT only scored crucial baskets each time the Celtics threatened, but he took over the ball with 15 seconds left to play and Boston in a full-court press to dribble out the remaining time and insure the Los Angeles victory.

Face Packers in Drafty Setting

By JERRY WYNN

GREEN BAY, Wis.—The Los Angeles draft choices play the Green Bay draftees at breezy City Stadium today. Television time on KNXT (2) is 11 a.m.

Pro football to Green Bay is like makeup to a woman. They couldn't face the world without it. Thus, this historic old town on the knob of the Door Peninsula is wild about its Packers, and a capacity crowd of 35,000 will be out to cheer them in their last home appearance of the season.

And the Packers have given Green Bay plenty to cheer about. Western Division champions last year, they currently are winging to another title with a record of 7-2. The Rams are 3-6.

Said one confident paper mill worker interviewed on Washington St., "the Packers will beat the Rams into a pulp."

However, the Rams are in a haughty mood themselves. Winners of two games in a row, they feel slighted at game odds which show them underdogs by 13 points. They point to four successive victories over the Packers on Wisconsin soil. They feel primed for a repeat performance of last week's prize-winning effort against the 49ers.

BART STARR
Leading NFL Passer

THE GAME TODAY is one of imponderables.

Most important is the question of how well the Packers will fare without the services of Private Paul Hornung, their authentic triple-threat halfback. He carried the ball 22 times and scored 19 points last week in Green Bay's 31-28 victory over Chicago. His 130 total points is only 15 shy of the Rams' season output.

Hornung's shoes were so big, the Packers will fill them with two men. Tom Moore will start at left half and newly-acquired Bootin' Ben Agajanian will handle the place-kicking assignments. But there is no man who can give the club the pass-run option threat as did Hornung.

Green Bay also lost flanker back Boyd Dowler and linebacker Ray (Wild Man) Nitschke to Uncle Sam's team, but both have received weekend passes and will be able to play. Star guard Jerry Kramer is through for the season with an ankle fracture.

EVEN WITHOUT HORNUNG, the Packers are an offensive powerhouse with quarterback Bart Starr leading the league in passing, fullback Jim Taylor second in rushing and end Maxie (the Taxi) McGee ninth in pass receiving. Their line is the best in football.

For the Rams, the No. 1 imponderable is the ability of hot-and-cold quarterback Zeke Bratkowski and Frank Ryan. With an expert passing arm to complement the running of Jon Arnett and Dick Bass and the receiving of Red Phillips, the Rams could pack a wallop that could wallop the Packers.

LBCC Basketball Opener Tuesday

Long Beach City College will open its basketball season Tuesday night at 7 against its Alumni in the annual cystic fibrosis benefit game.

Viking coach Bob Hunt said that the game will go for two 25-minute halves straight running time in order that both teams can utilize all their players.

Bill Barnes, former Poly, LBSC and Pepperdine star, will coach the Alumni. Anyone interested in playing for the Grads is asked to contact Barnes at NE 5-6965.

In addition to Barnes, Alumni players already committed are Ed Nichols, Jim Smith, J. R. Smith, Dick Dickinson and Barry Hallamore. Barnes hopes also that ex-LBCC and UCLA stars Bill Ellis and Bob Berry will be able to participate.

Tickets are $1 for adults, 25 cents for youngsters. Student body card-holders will be admitted free, as will children under 12.

Jets Attempt to Corral Steers Today

The Los Angeles Jets will try to even matters with the powerful Kansas City Steers when they tangle this afternoon at 2 at the Olympic Auditorium.

The Steers currently are riding atop the Western Division of the American Basketball League with Bill Sharman's Jets hottest in pursuit, although the Steers cooled 'em off Friday night, 115-109.

Sharman maintains the Steers are the toughest in the league and rightly deserve the top spot; that is, until the Jets overtake them.

Cycles Race at Saugus Today

Dick Hammer of Lakewood and Dick Dorresteyn of upstate San Pablo, 1-2 motorcycle barrier jumpers of the West, are rated co-favorites today in a 15-event AMA-sanctioned steeplechase program at Saugus Stadium.

Racing begins at 2:30 p. m. after qualifying and practice laps at 1 o'clock.

Hammer and Dorresteyn have split main events in the two Saugus programs this year.

L. B. area entries include Jim Goldsmith, Long Beach; Skip Van Leeuwen, Bellflower; and Jack Simmons, Artesia.

Junior Football Finals Today

Final games of the Long Beach Junior Football League are scheduled today as the North Long Beach Bulldogs meet the Belmont Bears at Wilson High and the Los Altos Lions face the Cougars at Lakewood High.

Class "B" preliminaries are scheduled at both fields at 12:30 p.m.

TV FIGHT TICKETS ON SALE NOW

Tickets for the closed-circuit television boxing doubleheaders, Dec. 4, featuring heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's title defense are on sale at two Long Beach locations.

The ducats are available at the Municipal Auditorium and at the West Coast Theater, both places which will screen the fights here.

Patterson will battle Tom McNeeley in the feature bout, while Sonny Liston will tackle Albert Westphal in the second match.

Bruton, Maye in Eagles Lineup Against Rockets

The Long Beach Rockets begin the second round of the Semi-pro Winter Baseball League at Blair Field Sunday at 2 o'clock this afternoon with the L.A. Eagles furnishing the opposition.

In their first meeting, the Rockets managed to eke out a 7-6 win with Frank Smith supplying a home run in the ninth inning.

The Eagles have been strengthened by the addition of major leaguers Bill Bruton and Lee Maye. Morris Cigar, property of the Angels, probably will start for the visitors with Haywood Babbin and Willie Jeter ready in the bullpen.

Fishin' Around

By DONNELL CULPEPPER

Just Correcting the Record

Manning S. Moore Jr., flag-waving stalwart of the Ocean Fish Protective Association, takes exception to two statements in this column last Sunday. In brief, the statements were: (1) Ocean fishermen complain about the trout-planting program which carries its own financing through the trout-stamp program, and (2) Many sportsmen, mostly those who fish, criticize the DFG policy of spending so much money for pheasants for the benefit of such a few.

I might have known that some one from the OFPA would take me apart so I'd rather have Manning do it than anybody else. Here's what Manning has to say:

"The ocean fisherman's position was, is and will be that these programs be self-supporting. Five years ago when the ocean fisherman voiced his loudest objections, hundreds of thousands of dollars were being subsidized by other license buyers.

"YOU SINGLE OUT FISHERMEN, and particularly ocean fishermen, as being objectionists. This is incorrect in that the DFG itself was one of the leaders to put the programs on a self-supporting basis. Without exception, every organization belonging to the California Wildlife Federation favored the same thing.

"Today neither program is self-supporting. All are subsidized by license buyers in general. But the programs now approach a position of being reasonable.

"An example of waste of license funds is the Yosemite Fish Hatchery, where it costs five to six times as much to raise trout as it does in the most efficient hatcheries. There is aesthetic value at this hatchery to the general public, so support should come for this hatchery from the general fund and not the license buyer.

"Sportsmen enjoy better hunting and fishing today because of the actions taken five years ago by organized sportsmen, and, in particular, the Ocean Fish Protective Association."

MANNING'S LETTER, in a sense, seems to be defending the OFPA. There is no need for that, inasmuch as I have been backing the OFPA, CWF, SCCC and heavens knows how many other groups for a period probably longer than Manning has been baiting hooks.

Indeed, I hope that Manning's explanation does much to clarify the ocean fisherman's position. I am one hundred per cent for the sports fisherman who angles in the ocean, the streams, lakes and even the guy who tries for crawdads in the sloughs.

There isn't any easy way to break down the outdoors and make every man pay for his particular sport. It's just better that all of us (fishermen, hunters, campers, boaters, skiers, skindivers and others) learn to live together in harmony.

I might add that the OFPA, of all groups, has been the fullback in some rough going for the sportsmen—and STILL IS!

ALONG SUCH LINES of reasoning, the OFPA, SCCC and CWF had better get together, along with several million fishermen and hunters who don't belong to anything, and prepare to battle a new group—the United Humane Front, which met in convention last weekend at Clear Lake Highlands under the chairmanship of Dr. J. M. Kolisch, of Riverside County. Does that name ring a bell for any one? It should!

Kolisch is one who has been trying to stop deer hunting in California for years. Now he says that the UHF has more than two million members.

The UHF—and we are not talking about ultra-high frequency—condemned the DFG for its deer-hunting policies and adopted as its primary objective "a return to wildlife protection as the basis for the restoration of our deer herds and range rehabilitation as the basis for proper management of wildlife."

THERE ARE SOME HIDDEN CLAWS in this one. Now it's deer that need protection and the UHF says, "We will be most active at the next session of the Legislature."

There are many ANTIs in California just looking for a chance to join any drive that will stop all hunting. They want to "protect" dove, quail and even waterfowl.

Most of us know that the DFG personnel are human; many of them are some of the most human guys in the state. They, like all of us, make mistakes. But I'll be darned if I can understand why the DFG has to be the whipping boy the year 'round for the deer problem. And I think that it's high time that the real sportsmen in this state start giving the DFG an occasional pat on the back, instead of throwing knives.

I am no deer hunter and never expect to be, but I feel that the department is doing a good job in game management!

Show Surf Film at Norway Hall

'Alamitos Meet Begins Monday

SET FOR 'ALAMITOS OPENER

Antlers Trade, owned by Western TV star Dale Robertson, is expected to run in $5,000 Clabbertown G. stakes, feature of Monday's opening quarter horse program at Los Alamitos. Posing with Antlers Trade is Pam Bennett, queen of fall meeting.

Pap Tops 7 Stakes Sprinters

Seven swift sprinters, headed by rugged Pap, the 1961 spring champion and highweight at 128 pounds, have been named to go postward in the $5,000 Clabbertown G. Stakes which opens the 30-day fall quarter horse meeting Monday at Los Alamitos Race Course.

Two stakes originally were scheduled for Monday but the secondary feature, the $5,000 Bardella Stakes for 2-year-olds, failed to fill, most of the owners of the top juveniles electing to wait for the $5,000 Thanksgiving Day Stakes before getting their chargers into action.

* * * *

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD Pap will spot his six rivals as much as 12 pounds in the opening day feature. He faces Breeze Bar 122, Table Tennis 122, Antlers Trade 118, Miss Jet Deck 118, Sly Joe 118 and No Butt 116.

The meeting runs through December 23, with nine races daily, except Sunday. First post is 12:45 Saturdays and 1 p.m. weekdays.

Daily double wagering closes five minutes before first post each day.

* * * *

PAP WILL BE trying to repeat his smashing success last spring when he won on opening day and capped a perfect three-for-three by winning the Los Alamitos Championship.

Charles Smith will once again be aboard Pap.

The weight is more than Pap carried at any time during the last meeting, while Breeze Bar carries the same impost he lugged in finishing a nose behind Pap in the championship event last spring.

Breeze Bar set a world record for 400 yards last spring at Los Alamitos.

Air Record Takes Classic Riches, Wins Third Leg

By MAC McGUIRE

F. E. Ross and George F. Sholty's Air Record swept all the honors in the $80,000 American Trotting Classic by winning the third and final leg of the event Saturday as Western Harness Racing Association closed out one of its most successful meetings in history.

Air Record, driven by 109-pound George Sholty, edged out the fast closing Silver Song by a nose. Silver Song won the classic in 1960 in a race-off with Su Mac Lad and Senator Frost, but the 5-year-old son of Silver Song found the going a lot rougher this year. Elaine Rodney was third and Lucky Demon finished fourth, with Harlan Dean a late scratch.

As a result of her victories in the first and third legs and a third place in the second leg, Air Record garnered $31,250 for her efforts. This includes a $5,000 bonus for recording the most points in the three legs—28.

Elaine Rodney, winner of the second heat, won $15,625 during the Classic for runner-up honors and was followed by Silver Song ($10,625), Lucky Demon ($8,125), Duke Rodney ($5,000), Harlan Dean ($5,000), Merrie Duke ($1,875), and Trueheart, who failed to win any money after finishing eighth in the first leg and then sitting out the final two legs.

Sports writers voted Adios Butler, winner of all three legs of the American Pacing Classic, horse of the meeting.

Jim Dennis won his first driving championship with 27 victories, 10 more than Paige West.

While the daily attendance average was down four per cent for the 35 day meeting, the mutuel handle was up 3.1 per cent over 1960.

Shoe, 'Satan in Futurity Victory

PIMLICO (UPI) — Crimson Satin firmly established himself as one of the leading contenders for 1961 juvenile honors Saturday by romping to a five-length victory over Green Ticket in the $116,920 Pimlico Futurity at Pimlico.

Backed down to 30 cents on a dollar by the crowd of 19,406, Crimson Satan overtook the pacesetting Green Ticket as the field headed for the stretch and easily outdistanced his rival in the run home. Endymion was just another neck back in third place and Smart finished fourth.

Willie Shoemaker guided Crimson Satan over the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:46 2/5 for his third victory in the Futurity and to complete a personal triple on the day.

Crimson Satan paid $2.60 and $2.20 as he moved up to challenge unbeaten Ridan for the 2-year-old crown. There was no show betting.

Polylad, shut out of the winner's circle since taking the Massachusetts Handicap in June, upset seven rivals to capture the $83,400 Gallant Fox Handicap at Aqueduct.

Hillsborough rallied in the final furlong to take second place, three-quarters of a length behind Polylad, and Black Thumper was third after a gallant effort.

The favored Sherluck, winner of the Belmont Stakes, set most of the pace but finally faded to fourth, almost 10 lengths off the winning pace.

RESIDENTS of Long Beach's east side are pretty stirred up about the issue of locating the Garden Grove Freeway link through that area. It will be the subject of a hearing Wednesday that will surely jam the Wilson High auditorium. Maybe they ought to move it to the Veterans Stadium.

The freeway alternatives were naturally a hot topic at a meeting of A' os Heights residents the other eve, but there was one man there who found he had little choice among the proposed routes.

He discovered that one of them would cut off the back of his house. Another would cut off the front of his house.

He had a moment of hope when somebody came up with a proposal for a third route considerably to the north of the other two. But when he examined the map, he found that route would cut right through the middle of his business establishment.

And you thought you had troubles!

THE old adage about the shoe that fits was aptly illustrated in the aftermath of an item here the other day about a traffic violation.

This story told how a woman made a right turn on a red light without stopping but a traffic officer, right behind her, failed to give chase. Instead, he zoomed across the street and went into a service station rest room.

After the item appeared, three good ladies of the community called this desk, each identifying herself as the offending driver. One in particular said she was sure she was the one, because as she made the turn she saw an officer on a motorcycle and was amazed and relieved when he failed to follow and siren her down.

But neither she, nor either of the others, was the driver in question. Their offenses occurred at intersections far away from that at which the incident was observed.

Evidently, a lot of people are doing right turns on red lights without making the legal stop.

ONE wonders how much the cute little girls who lead the cheers and dance for the music at high school football games really know about what's going on out on the field.

A friend of mine who went to a prep game last weekend raises the issue. He was watching the girls (which is easy to do) when the cheer leader called for a yell that went: "Hey, hey; where? where? We want a touchdown, over there." The accompanying gesture pattern called for the girls to point, at the finish, at the goal line toward which their team was striving.

Two of the girls, he noted, pointed the wrong way on the first try, and a couple of others watched their companions to make sure which way to point.

A little later, after a fumble, the loudspeaker reported new ownership of the ball. Whereupon a sweet little prepper behind him said to a boy seat-mate:

"We have the ball. Does that mean we can make a touchdown?"

THE current trial of a judge in a nearby court on charges of offering leniency for love was bound to put the local gagsters on their mettle.

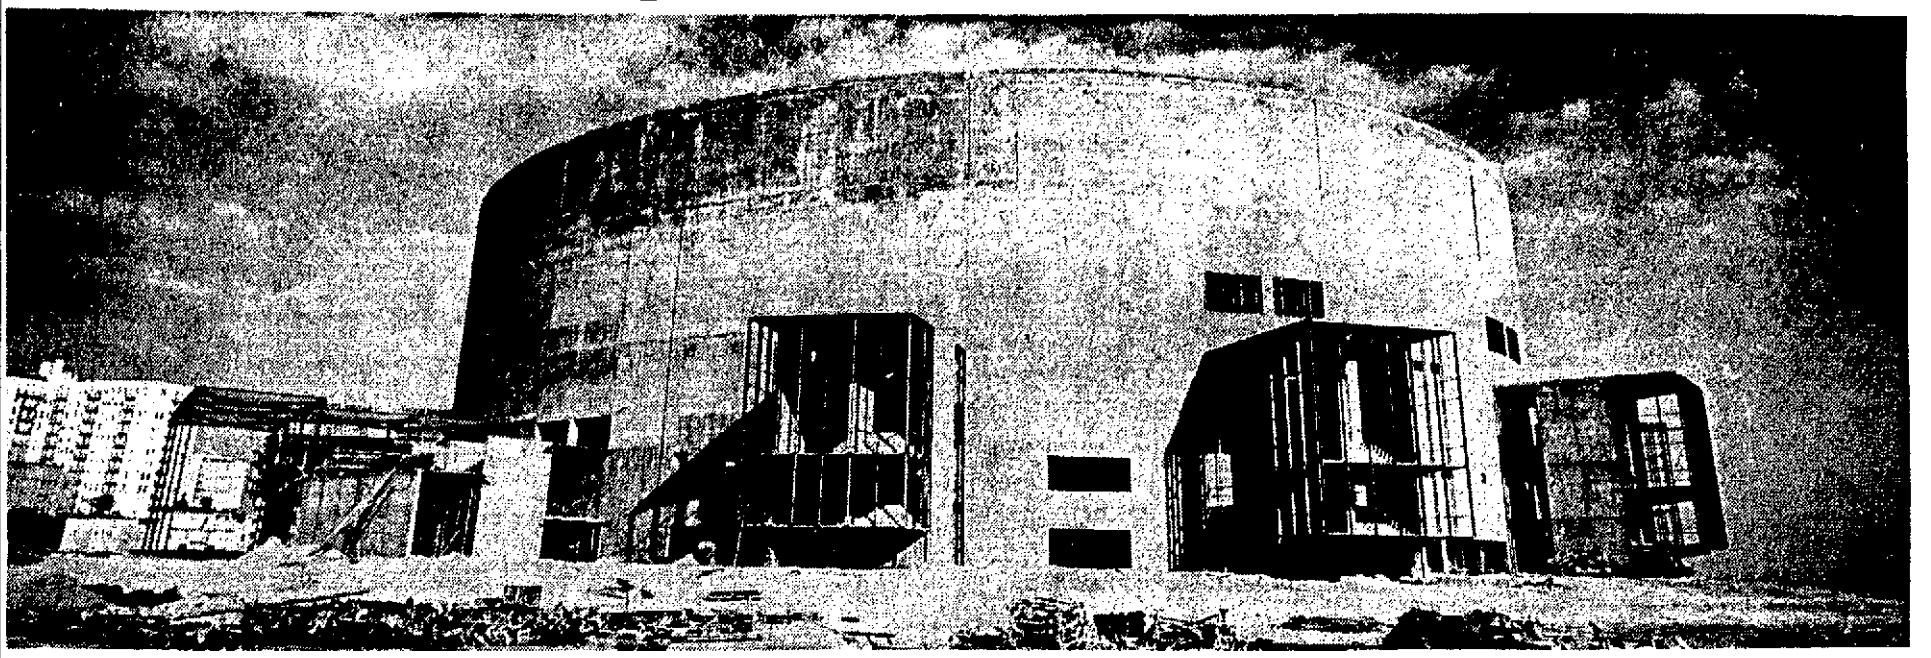

They've come up with a variety of offerings, with perhaps the best one going like this:

A—"You know, if what they say is true, that judge is the most ungrammatical man ever to sit on a bench."

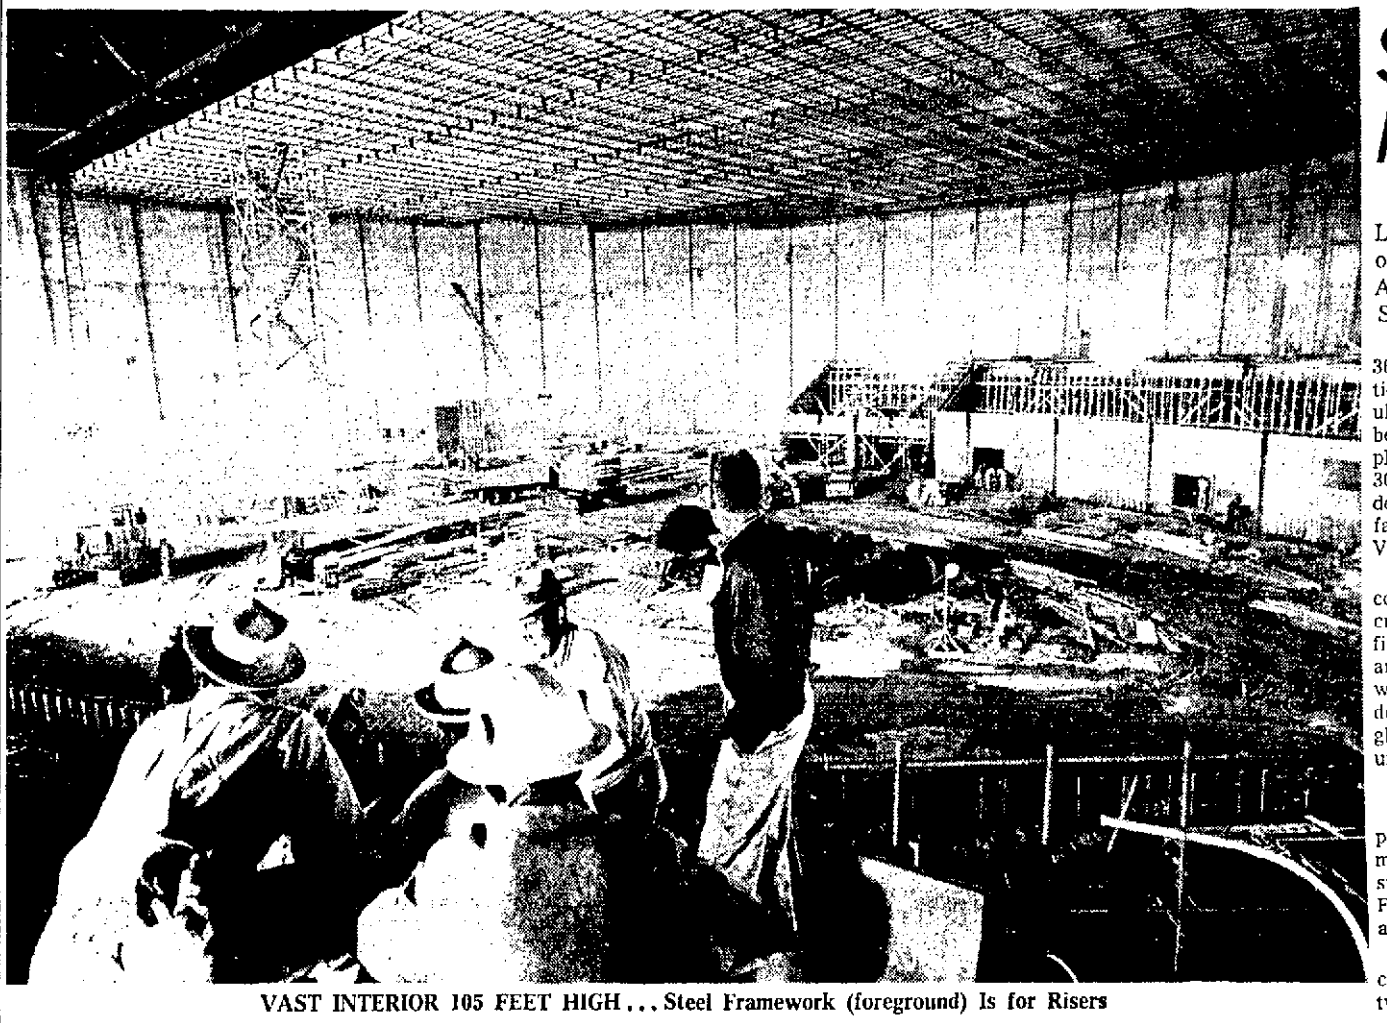

B—"How come?"

A—"He ends every sentence with a proposition."

Booking Requests for Arena Pour In

$6.8 MILLION LONG BEACH ARENA . . . 181 Days of Boo kings Requested Already on Uncompleted Structure

VAST INTERIOR 105 FEET HIGH . . . Steel Framework (foreground) Is for Risers

Structure to Be Ready by July 1

Seven months from completion, the $6.8 million Long Beach Arena already has requests for 181 days of bookings, Win Hanssen, managing director of the Auditorium, Arena and Stadium Department, said Saturday.

Hansen said the 411 by 360-foot, 105-feet high elliptical structure is now scheduled for completion by or before July 1. Original completion date was delayed by 30 days due to a priority demand against the steel fabricator for a project at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

Exterior construction is complete. The poured concrete walls are now being finished for waterproofing and painting. Exterior stair wells are in place. Metal roof decking is installed and fiber glass insulation work is underway.

* * * *

FIRST FLOOR corridors are poured as are first floor maintenance, equipment and storage rooms. Plumbing is in. First floor electrical conduits are in place.

Air-handling units for air conditioning are in place between the 75-foot ceiling and the 105-foot roof. Air conditioning ducts and overhead water pipes for the system are being installed now.

Workmen started Thursday to pour concrete for the chair risers in the 8,768 permanent seat balcony section.

* * * *

ALTHOUGH BOOKINGS for the first three months are being requested, Hanssen said demand has been greatest for the "busy" season Oct. 1, 1962 to May 1, 1963. It is for that 210-day period that bookings for 181 days have been requested. Among them is Ringling Brothers Circus.

Long Beach State College and Poly High School have requested the Arena for graduation exercises if it is completed in June. July dates have been asked for a car club convention, dry cleaners' show, decorators' show and China painters' convention. The International Beauty Congress is scheduled for Aug. 9-18.

Eight visitors may find themselves in narrow seats for Arena events, Hanssen said. Because of the elliptical shape of the building, various gauge seats will be used to accomplish even-ended aisles. This will be done by installing eight 19-inch wide seats; 3,124 20-inch seats; 4,821 21-inch seats and 815 22-inchers.

* * * *

PORTABLE SEATING will expand capacity to 11,218 seats for ice hockey; 11,932 for basketball and 15,000 for wrestling, boxing or stage shows.

Other features include two elevators, now on the grounds but not installed, to carry traffic between the main floor and mezzanine seating area; two escalators and 12 glassed-in stair wells. Some 50,000 square feet of space is provided inside the Arena in the 200 by 300-foot area, minus corners.

Chatfield AFB Chief of Information Flight

Major Edward N. Chatfield Jr., 4401 Graywood Ave., has been named commanding officer of the Long Beach Information Flight at the Long Beach Air Force Base on Municipal Airport.

MAJ. E. N. CHATFIELD JR. Commands Information Flight

The announcement was made by Colonel Claude J. Norton, commanding officer of the 8646th Air Force Reserve Recovery Group, parent organization of the information flight.

Major Chatfield relieved Lt. Colonel Louis Dyer in the local command. Col. Dyer is now assigned to the Systems Command at Inglewood.

In civilian life Major Chatfield is a district manager for the National Automobile Club. He is a veteran of 21 years of active and reserve service with the Air Force. He served in both the European and Pacific theaters of action during World War II.

The Information Flight coordinates reserve information activities for the Long Beach and Harbor and Orange County areas.

Thanksgiving Service Planned at Temple

Driver Killed as Car Plunges From Freeway

John Contrades, 34, of 1419 Kurtz Place, San Pedro, was killed Saturday when his car plunged off the Harbor Freeway in Wilmington and fell 22 feet to a street below.

Police said the auto skidded 105 feet on the Harbor Freeway, crashed through a steel guardrail and then fell to Anaheim Street below.

The falling car narrowly missed landing on top of another passing auto on Anaheim, officers said.

Facts, Not Fervor, Guide to Selection of Freeway Course

HOMEOWNERS and others concerned with the alignment of the proposed Pacific Coast-Garden Grove Freeway link in an easterly section of Long Beach will be given a hearing this week by the state highway division. The meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday in Wilson High School auditorium will no doubt produce controversy. Otherwise it wouldn't be a typical freeway hearing.

Partisans can spare themselves some useless strain by starting with at least two assumptions: (1) The state intends to go ahead with the project, although actual construction is probably several years in the future. (2) The route will be determined by the California Highway Commission rather than any local agency, including the City Council.

TO BE PERSUASIVE, local presentations will have to accept the need for the traffic link, which is obvious to anyone who has been stymied in traffic on Pacific Coast Highway or Seventh Street; and they will have to be buttressed by facts rather than belligerent outbursts against engineers and officials who are coping with traffic strangulation.

The engineers have outlined five possible routes for the freeway segment between a point near Quincy Avenue on the west and Los Cerritos Channel on the east. Because of distance and cost factors, however, the choice appears to have narrowed to one of two alternatives. The public is within its rights in proposing other possibilities. To get much attention, the suggestions must offer some advantages as measured by these principal criteria established by the highway division:

1. The degree to which the alternate will fulfill both existing and future traffic demands in the area.

2. The initial cost of the project, including construction and rights of way.

3. The benefits to be derived by the community as a whole.

LATEST ENGINEERING and economic figures presented by state engineers for the two main alternates show:

Blue Route, generally along Sixth Street through sections of Alamitos Heights and Recreation Park, 2.8 miles costing $15.6 million, including the necessity of acquiring 152 family residential units and 16 other parcels.

Orange Route, southwest from Seventh Street, along the south side of Colorado Street and thence northwest along Appian Way, 3 miles, $13.7 million, 27 family units and 23 other parcels.

THE FIGURES appear to speak for themselves. Certainly the disruption of a well-established residential area and a recreation facility, as required by the Blue Route, is a legitimate cause for concern when an alternate through largely undeveloped land is available.

Thus far, the state engineers have committed themselves only to the extent of saying that both the Orange and Blue lines are considered feasible.

As the highway division points out, the planning of a number of privately sponsored improvements in the marina area makes it advisable to select a route at an early date. This doesn't foreclose the possibility of a second hearing. It does mean that citizens are on fair notice to get ready to speak their views.

'HERE WE GO AGAIN'

DREW PEARSON

Solon Rejected One Junket; Now He's On Swankier Trip

WASHINGTON — Congressman J. Irving Whalley, Pennsylvania Republican, announced recently that he was turning down a free junket to the Far East. This was quite a switch, considering the world-hopping of other congressmen, and some people couldn't believe it.

PEARSON

However, it appeared that Whalley was indeed a man among men. He stated in a news interview that he was passing up the Far East trip because he was "needed" at home. The Pennsylvania Republican also put out a news letter declaring that he would be "kept busy" in his district tending to the interests of constituents while Congress was idle.

What his constituents didn't know, however, was that their congressman at the very time of his announcement was making arrangements for a much bigger and swankier junket —around the world.

* * * *

LAST WEEK, without any announcement, he left quietly for Paris to attend the NATO Parliamentarians' Conference as an "observer" for the House Foreign Affairs Committee. Following this he will take off on a grand tour of Pakistan, India, the Philippines, Hong Kong, Okinawa, Japan and Hawaii—all at the taxpayers' expense.

Apparently, Whalley, a congressional freshman, figured he had better get in a junket while the getting was good. He may be redistricted out of office next year.

Meanwhile he should send a telegram of condolence to the families of the 74 recruits killed in Richmond, Va., when ferried by the Defense Department in a 15-year-old plane.

* * * *

GNARLED elder statesman Konrad Adenauer confers with President Kennedy this week regarding the city which could set the world on fire. He has been looking over Kennedy's shoulder for weeks, giving him long-distance cues on Berlin. Now he will talk to Kennedy about Berlin face-to-face.

Undoubtedly, history will record Adenauer as one of the great men of the post-war period. He took the war-ravaged republic of West Germany, led it to a miraculous comeback, required it to pay reparations to Israel for the 6 million Jews murdered in Nazi gas chambers, has done his best to wipe out anti-Semitism, and built a new, virile democracy in place of a sordid dictatorship.

However, all men are mortal and what some of Germany's current allies and eastern neighbors worry about is what happens after Adenauer.

* * * *

ALREADY there has been a move toward reviving German militarism that worries Germans themselves. There has also been an increase in outcroppings of Nazism. Here are a few telltale signs:

1. This month a Yugoslav official who had killed Nazi troops occupying Yugoslavia during World War II was arrested as a war criminal while traveling through Germany. This was equivalent to arresting Congressman John Blatnik of Minnesota who three times parachuted into Yugoslavia during the war to conduct undercover war against Nazis for the U.S. Army.

After Chancellor Adenauer heard of the arrest, the Yugoslav official was released. But some people are asking what happens after Adenauer.

2. Gen. Friedrich Foertsch, the Nazi commander at Leningrad, was given 25 years as a war criminal after the war. His siege of Leningrad was one of the cruelest of the war, with half a million Russians dying of starvation.

Premier Khrushchev finally released him from a Russian war crimes prison on the promise of the West German government that he would not be permitted to participate in any military role in the future.

Today Gen. Foertsch is inspector general of the West German Army.

3. Various meetings of Germans have been held proposing that the Sudetenland, now part of Czechoslovakia, be returned to Germany. It was Hitler's march into the Sudetenland which helped precipitate World War II. There has also been discussion among some Germans of returning Upper Silesia, now part of Poland, to Germany.

These factors aren't usually mentioned when a settlement of Berlin is discussed. But they are very important and very much in the background.

NOTE—New Foreign Minister Schroder, who is accompanying Adenauer to Washington, was once a member of the Nazi party but is not considered pro-Nazi. He joined the party in 1933, the year Hitler came into power, because as a young lawyer it was considered necessary to join to get some law practice. He left the party in 1941 when he married a girl partly Jewish.

IT DOESN'T pay to carry out federal government orders on school integration—if you want to get contracts from the federal government. This is what Lloyd Rittner, former president of the New Orleans school board, has discovered in dealing with the National Space Agency.

When he was head of the New Orleans school board, Rittner got all sorts of criticism from his fellow citizens for insisting that a federal court order for school integration be obeyed. He also got a threatening letter from Martin Gurtler, head of the White Citizens' Council, warning that he would not get any more contracts from either him, Gurtler or the government. Gurtler is a big contractor and Rittner depends on subcontracts for his company.

Last month the National Space Agency gave Gurtler, the man who opposed integration, a very profitable $700,000 contract to renovate the Saturn rocket plant in New Orleans — even though two other companies submitted lower bids. Gurtler promptly froze out Rittner.

BOB HOUSER

'I'll Sue the Governor,' Said Mrs. Becker, and Did—Twice!

WHEN ADRIENNE BECKER hosts Democratic State Central Committee members at her home tonight she will, by her own admission, be one step removed from a political lame duck. By design and wish she'll be a dead duck.

Thus, the only woman in recallable history to have sued two California governors in pursuit of what she believed to be the best interests of her party, will cash in her political chips.

"I am resigning and retiring from all forms of political activity," she said, "because of obligations to my family. My husband has been ill and there are other family problems I must attend to."

The resignation immediately involves her cochairmanship, with Dick Cartwright, of the 18th District State Central Committee, membership on the advisory board of the Democratic Women's Forum, member of the executive board of the California Democratic Council and of the 44th Assembly District Council, and her role as founder and parliamentarian of the New Frontier Democratic Club.

REPUBLICANS printed up some Knight envelopes in one of those "Democrats for Knight" causes. They bore the return address, "18th District Democrats, Wilton Hotel." And that's where 72,000 of the envelopes were delivered—to Democratic HQ. Down the hall in the Wilton, Knight Republicans wondered what happened to their shipment. When they found out, Adrienne locked the door.

Then she filed suit against Governor Knight and others to enjoin the GOP from using the envelopes. She lost the suit but tied up the envelopes long enough so that they couldn't be used.

Her second gubernatorial set-to was with Governor Brown. She was one of three Long Beach people on Brown's delegation to the Demo national convention in Los Angeles. When it became clear Brown would take himself out of the race as a favorite son candidate, Adrienne filed suit to test the election code and to force Brown to submit at least to the first ballot at the convention.

A STATE district court of appeal denied the plea and it was rushed by air to the State Supreme Court, which also denied the writ of mandate. Brown was highly critical of the action then, but Adrienne says now: "I'm a terrific admirer of Governor Brown and hope he's reelected. He may have made political errors but not administrative errors. His record is excellent if only more people learn about it."

She describes herself as a liberal whose senatorial heroes include Morse, Douglas, Humphrey and Clark. She was for Adlai Stevenson at the convention.

She is a member of the NAACP, Long Beach Chapter of the Council on Human Relations and of the board of regents of Friendly House. The latter is sponsored by the Friendly Hand Foundation for the rehabilitation of women alcoholics. She was on the multiple sclerosis drive boards the last two years.

"I'M ALWAYS wrapped up in causes," she said, "alcoholics, unionism or the Democratic Party. And I've never known what it meant to be bored."

When current pressures are relieved and she's caught up in her family obligations, she may one day do something again in politics but is somewhat reluctant because. "I'm accident prone in that field. Even if I should get into it again, I'm thinking the Indians can do more than the chiefs, and maybe that's what I'll be."

Languages in the News

By Charles F. Berlitz and Robert Strumpen-Darrie

The word "Communist" is translated into most languages in some form similar to the original word, as first used in Karl Marx's Communist Manifesto, published in 1847 (in England!).

It first was used as a German word, Kommunist, and in most languages it is spelled in a similar fashion, viz: Russian, Kommunist; Greek, Kommunistis; French, Communiste; Italian and Spanish, Comunista; Swedish, Kommunist; Polish, Czech and Hungarian, Komunista.

Some non-European languages also follow this form. For example: Swahili, Komunisti; Hebrew, Komunist; Malay, Kominis.

However, some Eastern languages have rendered this term in their own way, possibly to disguise its Western origin or to make it more palatable or homegrown for the local population.

In Chinese it is gung-chan-tung—"together property ideology person." In Arabic, shuyuaei (for a man) and shuyuaeiet (for a woman), meaning "supporter of common use." In Urdu it is ishtraki, "sharer among the people."

WALTER LIPPMANN

Trade Fight Looms at Coming Session

IT NOW SEEMS certain that the administration will go to Congress in the coming session to ask for new powers in order to negotiate about tariffs and trade arrangements with the European Common Market. This is a bold decision, and not without considerable risk. It was taken because of a feeling in the highest councils of government that a beginning cannot be put off.

LIPPMANN

This sense of urgency is due only in part to the fact that the Trade Agreements Act expires next summer. More than that, the Western Community and the United States in particular need a momentum which has been lacking in recent months. Preparation for the "giant step" into the new trading world will, one may hope, give a sense of moving forward again.

* * * *

THE DECISION to move forward now rather than in 1963 is risky, not only because 1962 is an election year when, as the saying goes, the tariff becomes a local issue in each district.

An even greater difficulty, it seems to me, is that Congress and the country will not have before them as a going concern the new Common Market which will be created when Great Britain and other European powers join the original six members. It may not be easy to make the country understand what the enlarged Common Market is going to be in the future, when in fact it is not yet in existence.

A mighty effort of public education is going to be needed to make the country realize how revolutionary the change is going to be. The enlarged Common Market will be the biggest trading area in the world. It will soon have free trade within it and a common tariff against us and all the other nations around it. This gigantic industrial complex is now growing at a rate which is twice our own average since the Korean War.

* * * *

AS THE REALITIES become visible to us, we shall find that we must reappraise assumptions which this generation of Americans have become used to taking for granted. Primarily, there is the assumption that in our relations with Europe we are the givers and they are the receivers, that it depends on us, therefore, how much or how little we shall participate in the affairs of Europe.

This assumption is ceasing to be valid as Western Europe, with its amazingly rapid economic growth, draws closely together toward economic and political union.

This means that the Common Market is not merely a profitable economic arrangement. It is also the substance of a political union which is being forged into a new great power in the world. In this century we have seen great powers die. Now, it would seem, we are witnessing the birth of a new great power.

* * * *

WHAT THE world knows as the Common Market and as the European Economic Community is not, as the names suggest, merely an enlightened device for promoting prosperity. It is that. But the inner motive and resolve of the leaders of the Common Market is to make Europe again, as it was for so many centuries—until the World Wars of our times—a great center of power and influence around the globe.

That is why when Britain decided to apply for membership, the crucial question was not how to safeguard the economic interests of the Commonwealth. That is quite manageable. The crucial question has been whether Great Britain was renouncing its political separation from the Continent, and whether it would then participate in the political purposes of the Continental countries.

* * * *

AFTER THE British have settled their relationships, it will be our turn to begin to negotiate over our trade relations with the enlarged Common Market. But even before formal negotiations have begun, our intention to be part of a broader liberal trade area, announced in the very convincing form of the President's coming legislative proposals to the Congress, may have helped the smaller European powers and the Commonwealth countries to reach an accommodation with the Common Market. Our influence, too, will protect the interests of Latin America and Japan.

Despite this beneficent influence we may not find Europe over-eager to strike a bargain with us. We shall then have to argue that generalized free trade throughout the Atlantic Community need not impair the closer political union of Europe.

DAVID LAWRENCE

U.S., Neutrals In High-Stakes Game

WASHINGTON — What do all these visits by foreign dignitaries—Prime Minister Nehru, among others—really mean? Of what value is the artificial "friendship" with Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia, and what do the lengthy conferences here with several heads of state in recent weeks amount to? What is back of it all?

LAWRENCE

These questions are in the minds of many people as they wonder whether the United States is being "played for a sucker" by so-called neutrals.

But the truth is that it is a game with high stakes. While mistakes have been made, the United States, under the leadership of Presidents Eisenhower and Kennedy, has actually proceeded with self-restraint, caution and common sense in handling most of the many delicate situations involved.

* * * *

TAKE, for instance, the problem of India. President Kennedy knows as well as anybody else in the West that India's delegation to the United Nations has been aiding the maneuvers of the Soviet Union.

American public opinion lately, moreover, has got a bit fed up with Marshal Tito, who also has been going along with the Soviet Union.

What has happened lately is that some recipients of foreign aid who have been cuddling up to the Communists have been getting the criticism they deserve, and have become so worried about it that they have begun to see that something must be done to allay suspicion in this country. It's the United States, therefore, that's now getting some of the buttering up.

* * * *

THE NEUTRALISTS know full well that it is the United States which dishes out the big money and that the Soviets are long on promises but short on fulfillment, while the conditions exacted by Khrushchev are far more onerous than the requests for cooperation made by this country.

It's tough going, to be sure, for the neutrals when they try to play both ends against the middle, and it's tough for the President and Secretary of State, who certainly cannot afford to break off with these neutrals just because for the time being they pursue mistaken policies.

It is a game that calls for skill and patience. It is coincidentally helpful that steady pressure is applied through openly expressed criticisms by the peoples of free countries like America.

QUESTIONS, ANSWERS

Famous Bathtub Hoax

Q. What was the famous bathtub hoax? A. K.

A. Late in 1917 Henry L. Mencken wrote a newspaper article in which he described the introduction of the first bathtub into the United States in a fascinating story which was nevertheless made up "out of whole cloth." He told how laws were passed against the bathtub, how it was regarded as dangerous, wicked and unnecessary. Unfortunately the story was widely reprinted, even in serious journals, and still persists, despite the fact that Mencken admitted his hoax in a syndicated column in 1926 and again in the following year.

Would Have Stores Close Every Sunday

EDITOR:

Many of us are concerned about so many stores being open on Sunday. I wrote to Congressman Hosmer and he referred me to the city manager. I received very nice letters from both men, but they say we do not have any laws prohibiting this.

We may not have laws, but there is one way we can stop it. That is to boycott every store open on Sunday. I'm afraid we Christians have brought this on ourselves because of our shopping on Sundays. And I also mean grocery stores. I for one have stopped shopping on Sunday.

MRS. SARAH HAMILTON
Long Career Ends

Funeral Here Tuesday for L.B. Missionary, 101

Funeral service for 101-year-old Mrs. Sarah P. Hamilton, 1211 E. Third St., a former missionary, will be at 1 p.m. Tuesday in Patterson & Snively Mortuary.

Mrs. Hamilton, who died Thursday at her home, served at one time on the faculty of Louisiana State Normal College. She was born in Homer, La., May 30, 1860.

While serving as a missionary in Brazil she met the late Rev. James Hamilton, formerly of Long Beach. They were married and spent 20 years in Brazil before returning to the United States.

The couple settled in Long Beach in 1919 and were active in the Moore Memorial Methodist Church.

On her 99th birthday Mrs. Hamilton memorized 99 Biblical verses, was baptized again at the North Long Beach Church of the Nazarene and spoke to the congregation on her early church work.

She was a charter member of the American Bible Society and a graduate of Louisiana State Normal.

There are no known immediate survivors.

SEC Action Broadened for Investors

By FRANK CORMIER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) in a series of recent actions has significantly broadened its efforts to protect the investing public.

The expansion of SEC activity reflects an increased number of trouble spots in the stock market, which last week set new price records. The expansion also reflects a tougher agency attitude toward questionable practices in the securities field.

Here are some examples of the areas into which the commission has moved in recent weeks:

* * * *

—FOR THE first time, it has disciplined a broker for capitalizing on "inside information" not available to the public. The broker sold 7,000 shares of Curtiss-Wright stock after hearing from a director that the dividend was to be cut sharply.

—The commission is in the process of adopting a series of new rules governing the affairs of investment advisers —those who sell stock market advice or manage investments for a fee. Starting Jan. 1, it will begin policing advertising by advisers to eliminate pie-in-the-sky claims and misleading testimonials.

—On Oct. 31 it accused two large New York firms, Sutro Bros. and Co. and Schweickert & Co., of arranging for the financing of customers' stock purchases in violation of credit restrictions. This is the first major case in this area in recent years.

* * * *

A TOUGHER commission attitude was first indicated last May when the FCC ordered a special investigation of the American stock exchange. This inquiry, the first of its kind in 22 years, was launched after the SEC expelled two exchange members, Jerry and Gerard Re, for alleged market rigging and illegal stock sales.

The SEC later argued strongly for congressional authority to undertake a broader investigation of all stock markets, including the New York Stock Exchange and the over-the-counter market. This inquiry is just beginning and will continue for more than a year.

The two investigations and many other recent moves by the SEC reflect the fact that the greatest bull market in history has been in progress for 13 years without any broad study of the special problems it has raised.

* * * *

IN EFFECT, the present SEC is brand new since four of its five members were appointed by President Kennedy. The fact that the new group takes a somewhat different attitude toward commission affairs has been pointed up by public statements by two commissioners who expressed misgivings about penalties imposed in certain cases settled by their predecessors. J. Allen Frear Jr. said penalties were too lenient in two cases and in one of these, Chairman William L. Cary said he found great merit in Frear's position.

Because the agency has faced a rapidly increasing workload with a fairly stable staff, it has been under pressure to settle cases by mutual agreement and thus avoid lengthy public hearings. In order to win settlements, however, the commission has had to agree in advance on the maximum penalties.

The SEC currently is expanding its staff and may not be under as much pressure in future settlements.

* * * *

A SETTLEMENT was reached in the case involving use of "inside" information by a broker before the Kennedy appointees took office. However, those appointees produced the opinion which formalized the settlement.

The broker involved was Robert M. Gintel of Cady, Roberts and Co., who was ordered suspended from the New York Stock Exchange for 20 days.

In its opinion, the present commission expressed the view that a broker who receives information from corporate officials which would affect the price of a stock, were it generally known, should avoid dealing in the security or disclose the information.

Business Looks at 1962 —And Likes What It Sees

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP)—The eyes of business turned sharply toward 1962 last week and what they saw was pleasing.

Important segments of the economy made predicitions on the outlook for next year. The consensus was that business will improve but won't attain boom proportions.

A forecast that the gross national product—total value of all goods and services—will climb to $557 billion in 1962 from $520 billion in 1961 came out of a meeting of 150 economists at the University of Michigan.

* * * *

THEY BASED their opinion on expected increases in defense spending, inventory accumulation and automobile buying.

A 15 to 20 per cent increase in steel production is likely in January, an industry publication, Iron Age, said. Steel users are expected to expand their orders to meet demands of improving business and to build up inventories as a hedge against a possible steelworkers' strike later next year.

General Motors Corp.'s declaration of a 50-cent extra year-end dividend has been interpreted earlier as a strong indication that the automobile industry will have a banner year in 1962.

* * * *

ABOUT two-thirds of 1,400 retailers surveyed said they expected their business to be 5 to 10 per cent better in the first half of next year.

Predictions made by leading industrialists at the annual meeting of the National Industrial Conference Board in Detroit included:

The machinery industry will parallel the economy in a gradual recovery from recession levels.

The outlook for the television appliance industry is good and a sales increase of about 8 per cent is expected.

The construction industry should operate at even higher levels than in 1961.

* * * *

PROSPECTS of better business impressed investors and the stock market racked up all-time highs, as measured by the popular averages, on three successive days this week.

The automobiles sales picture has brightened considerably and some dealers complained they weren't getting enough cars to satisfy the demand.

Sales of new cars boomed to a record 196,225 in the first 10 days of November. This prompted Lee A. Iacocca, vice president of Ford Motor Co., to predict an industry sales record of 570,000 passenger cars, including imported models, for November.

The industry built its 4.5 millionth car of the year this week and expected to reach 5.5 million by the year's end. Production for the week rose to an estimated 155,000 cars, compared with 152,376 last week and 149,866 a year ago.

* * * *

STEEL production inched upward last week to 2,046,000 tons from 2,044,000 the previous week. This brought production for the first 45 weeks of the year to 82,811,000 tons, down from 88,972,000 tons for the comparable period of last year.

Walter W. Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said the Kennedy Administration intends to take new steps to create jobs if unemployment fails to decline substantially in the coming months. He did not spell out what action might be taken.

But he said the administration was confident that continuing recovery in the months ahead will significantly reduce unemployment.

THE PRESIDENT appointed a panel of six educators and economists to check up on compilation procedures used in determining the number of unemployed. There has been criticism that present methods make the picture look darker than it actually is.

Thousands of oil men gathered in Chicago for the annual meeting of the American Petroleum Institute. They were told by John M. Kelly, assistant secretary of the interior and a former oil man, to quit looking to the federal government to solve the industry's problems. He suggested they increase efforts to cut costs and to develop new uses for petroleum.

TREE DOCTOR

Has Finger on Pulse of Yule Mart

CHEBOYGAN, Mich. (UPI) —Dr. Nicholas Lentini is a physician who keeps his fingers firmly on the pulse of the nation's Christmas tree market.

Lentini, who began his medical practice here 20 years ago, is chief of staff at Cheboygan Community Memorial Hospital. But more important, at least during the yule season, is his position as a bonafide Christmas tree tycoon.

Lentini became interested in the Christmas tree business six years ago. Today, he is the owner of 2.5 million Yule trees and president of Sno-Kist Tree Co.

* * * *

HIS FIRM hopes to market 250,000 of the trees during the pre-Christmas season, now at its peak.

Lack of business is no problem to Lentini, but finding trees of sufficient quality has posed a problem.

Lentini takes no chances on the quality of the trees he markets. He supervises the gigantic cutting operation himself.

The trees are grown on 2,500 acres of land he owns in Hemet, Cheboygan and Ostego counties at the extreme northern tip of lower Michigan. In addition, Lentini grows trees on another 2,000 acres owned by other persons who market their crop through his firm.

* * * *

LENTINI, 49, was born in Detroit, but grew up on a farm in nearby Emmet county. He started out in the Christmas tree business in 1955 on a small scale and increased his business each year through the use of a hardhitting advertising campaign in newspapers, trade magazines and through direct mail.

As with his other operations, Lentini himself directs the selling end of his huge business.

U.S. Pushes Trade Ties With Africa

By GEORGE WEEKS

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States is placing "greatest importance" on winning friends and business in Africa through increased trade ties.

The Commerce Department underscored this by its decision to participate in five African trade fairs next year.

"The Sino-Soviet bloc is steadily increasing its efforts at economic and political penetration in this vast continent," said L. Edward Scriven, director of the department's International Business Operations. "It is significant that, in this effort, the Communist bloc is making increasing use of trade fairs and 'cultural' expositions to achieve their objectives."

* * * *

THE UNITED STATES expects to participate in fairs in Libya, Morocco, United Arab Republic, Nigeria and the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland.

The first exhibition in West Africa is scheduled to open Friday in Accra, Ghana.

Assistant Secretary of Commerce for International Affairs Rowland Burnstan, commenting on the exhibition in Ghana, said: "Of course we want their business, but more important, we want their friendship."

He said "all of these new nations have a passionate yearning for social and economic progress" and are looking increasingly to the United States and other advanced nations for help.

* * * *

U. S. OFFICIALS contend much of this help should be through private capital investment and increased trade.

The Commerce Department is cautious about predicting U. S.-African trade.

"Overall prospects in the next decade range from grey to very bright," a department report said. "Tomorrow's Africa should be viewed not as a single market but as an infinite number of markets—some expanding, some remaining static, and many others as yet underdeveloped."

The value of U. S. direct private investments in Africa totaled $925 million at the end of 1960, compared with $287 million a decade earlier.

MVD Seeks Therapy for Violators

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The state Saturday proposed group therapy for wayward drivers.

The Department of Motor Vehicles hopes to put the new program into effect by the beginning of next year, said Director Tom Bright.

Here's how it will work:

Motorists with an increasing number of violations will be brought together in groups of not more than 15. A DMV driver improvement analyst, a person trained in breaking bad motoring habits, will lead the discussions. Tests designed to reveal the drivers' attitudes will be given and members of the group will review their records with the analyst.

Those guilty of outright negligent driving will go through the present hearing procedure for revocation or suspension of their licenses.

In addition, said a department spokesman, those found "to have an aggressive attitude" in the group sessions will also face a formal revocation or suspension hearing.

How About Brakes?

COLOGNE, Germany (AP)—What's the latest gimmick to cope with collisions on ski slopes? Electrically powered ski poles with a button on the handle to work a horn signal. They are on display at a sporting goods fair.

Car Thieves Busy

OSLO, Norway (AP) — It's been a record year for car thefts in Oslo. More were stolen in the first 10 months of 1961 than during any previous 12-month period — a total of 1,582. The 1960 total was 1,187.

W6MK RETURNS TO 924 PINE

Veteran 'Ham' Recalls Sending to Antarctic

By GEORGE ERES

W6MK recently moved back to living quarters at 924 Pine Ave.—an address that brings back memories of the Byrd expedition to the South Pole in 1928.

W6MK are the call letters of Foster Strong, 67.

Strong didn't go to the South Pole—but he was closer to the Byrd expedition than most Americans. Every Wednesday night at 9 he was on the air sending and receiving messages to and from Byrd's men.

* * * *

IT WAS MOSTLY chit-chat—messages from mothers, fathers, wives and children—telling the members of the expedition of the birth of a child; what the weather was like and such," said Strong.

Strong had a 50-watt set in a trunk closet at the Pine Avenue address then and over a period of about nine months he would send and receive the messages and relay them on to other amateur radio enthusiasts for delivery in various parts of the country.

Strong first came to Long Beach in 1906 and the first World War found him a "fly boy" operating "Jennies" "Nieuports" and other flying machines of the day. He wound up as an instructor of flying in the air force of the day. After the war he lived in Mississippi for a time, returning to Long Beach in 1926.

W6MK 'ON THE AIR'

* * * *

HE WENT TO work for the city as a radio technician and dispatcher in the Police Department, installing the first municipal two-way radio system in police cars west of the Mississippi. He retired after 27 years with the city.

Strong first got interested in "wireless" voice transmission when Teddy Roosevelt's Great White Fleet was on its round-the-world voyage.

"Four or five of the ships in the fleet had wireless," said Strong, "and a group of us here used to talk to the ships."

* * * *

FRED SNELL, a Chicago man, talked the Byrd expedition into taking him on as short wave operator in 1928, said Strong. He went back into active duty to take the assignment. He'd relay the news through a series of station ships.

"I used to listen to the reports to the New York Times from the Byrd expedition, then I'd go on to send and receive messages."

"The Times got the news ahead of the Navy Department," said Strong. "I used to listen, but I couldn't report the information. There are laws governing listening in and repeating conversations heard on short wave just as there are laws governing wire-tapping.

"THE RADIO operator would finish exactly at 9 p.m. with WHD (the Times) and then give me a call and dump about 18 messages for me to forward."

Strong doesn't recall any important message—except, of course, as they affected the individuals they were addressed to—but he did have an interesting experience in 1933.

"I was talking to an operator in Chicago when my tower fell over.

"The Chicago man wondered what had happened to me," said Strong. "He read about it the next day in his newspaper. It was our big earthquake. When my tower fell, it took a two-story brick building along with it."

Chest Lauds Groups That Win Quotas

Community Chest sections achieving their quotas were honored Saturday by James H. Crooker, campaign chairman.

At the end of the week, 12 of the 83 separate groups in the drive had passed the 100 per cent mark.

Newest sections to achieve their goals: medical group under the leadership of Dr. Richard Nixon; Dominguez industrial plants, headed by James E. Gibson; Los Altos residential teams, led by Mrs. Zeddie Marsh and Mrs. F. B. Perkins; Jack W. Plantz' committee soliciting the dairy, meat, and baking companies; and advertising and printing establishments chairmaned by Dr. Owen J. Cook.

* * * *

CROOKER SAID that previously the public school employes, furniture dealers, private schools, manufacturing, westside residential area, one of the oil teams, and one of the major gifts sections had made quotas.

Mrs. Francis Lowry, residential division chairman, announced that the advance gifts committee under Mrs. Llewellyn Bixby had raised more than their $15,300 quota to bring the entire division within $5,673 of their $92,920 quota.

She reported that area teams still at work to complete their assignments are: Los Cerritos-Bixby Knolls, 95.9 per cent; North Long Beach 88; Belmont Shore-Heights, 87; northeast 86; Lakewood, 84; and central, 73.

* * * *

IN THE three days following the Awards dinner Tuesday, volunteers had brought in $6,000 to bring the campaign total to $862,764.

Lakewood Students to Run City Friday

Eighty-six high school seniors will take over their town Friday in the seventh annual Lakewood Youth Day.

The students, selected from Lakewood and Mayfair High Schools, will be acting officials and observers in the top posts of city government, business and industry.

Honorary mayor will be Jerry Eynon, 17-year-old Mayfair High student-body president. The honorary city administrator will be Mike Sterbentz, Lakewood High student-body president.

The program is sponsored by the Lakewood Rotary Club in cooperation with the city and schools.

YOUTH DAY will start with a mock city council session in Lakewood City Hall. Students serving with "Mayor" Eynon will be four "councilwomen," Margo Lu Hansen, Diane DeYoung, Sande Dunwoodie and Olive Hassell.

After the council session, the students will tour the City Hall and then go to their various assignments with the community leaders whose places they take.

All the students and the adult office-holders will be guests at a Rotary Club luncheon in Lakewood Country Club.

SPEAKER AT the luncheon will be Dr. Wayne Young, chairman of the secondary education department at Long Beach State College.

Parchment certificates will be presented to the participating students by principals Vernon Hinze of Lakewood and Dick Oswald of Mayfair.

S.F. Crab Boat Strike Settled

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The marketing dispute that kept San Francisco's crab boat fleet in harbor a week after the season's scheduled opening was settled Saturday with a compromise on price.

The wholesalers accepted the fishermen's offer to sell at 20 cents a pound. Fishermen had demanded 25 cents; the wholesalers had offered 18.

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD BEFORE THEIR TIME

Are you one of the hundreds of thousands of sufferers who feel old, tired, worn out and depressed by losing sleep and worrying about getting up nights, due to common irritation of the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages? Does this condition cause frequent, urgent and painful daytime urination and sometimes result in Backache? If so, you owe it to yourself to try NEW IMPROVED CYSTEX at once.

OTHER SYMPTOMS

Common Kidney and Bladder Irritations which cause getting up nights may also cause strong, cloudy urine and sometimes result in secondary Backache, Headache and Nervous Tension.

OLD, TIRED, WORN OUT FEELING MAY RESULT

If frequent urination worries you, and hits you at the most embarrassing moments, you're bound to feel tense and nervous. Then if your sleep is disturbed by getting up nights and you can't get much rest and you wake up feeling tired and groggy—yes, you really begin to feel old. And if your back aches you feel grouchy—hard to get along with—and your work is a burden.

CAUSE OF IRRITATION

The cause of common Kidney and Bladder Irritation frequently arises from a germ called the colon bacillus, and non-specific germs resulting from colds, bad teeth and other causes. These germs can set up so much irritation in the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages that nature sends a warning through your nerves to your brain that help is needed. Heed this warning now and you may easily avoid many anxious, worrisome hours and days.

HOW CYSTEX HELPS

NEW IMPROVED CYSTEX releases a gentle, soothing bacteriostat in acid urine to combat germs which may be causing irritation. This is like a gentle, mildly antiseptic, soothing bath for the Kidneys, Bladder and Urinary Passages. CYSTEX also contains two of the very best known analgesics for soothing, gentle pain relief of the discomforts due to common Kidney and Bladder Irritations. Thousands have been amazed to discover how quickly CYSTEX helped them to combat such irritations thus get cleansed and refreshed, and because of lessened nerve tension able to sleep better and feel better, and stronger.

So get CYSTEX from your druggist today. Fresh up and cheer up and feel better fast.

Actress Sparks Play on Community Stage

By ROBERT C. WYLDER

Mary Ann Anderson, about five feet of pure nuclear energy, is the best thing to happen to the United States space program since the invention of gunpowder. She is also the best thing happening in "Roman Candle," which opened this weekend at the Community Theater. Without her, the whole thing might have fizzled on the pad.

"Roman Candle" is only incidentally about rockets and space probes. It is really about something mysterious and a lot more fun. Esp, as one of the characters calls it. E.S.P. Extra-sensory perception.

With a little esp, Miss Anderson, playing Elizabeth Brown, causes chaoes among the missiles, but she puts the scientist in charge into orbit. In the proces she puts the audience into stitches, too. No wonder her nickname is Roman Candle.

* * * *

THE REST of the cast are pretty useful around the launching site, too. Jerry Brady plays the scientist, who is naturally a bit skeptical about all the hanky panky until he is esped into and then out of a precarious situation or two. Most of the time he looks a little bewildered, and with good reason.

The military brass who complicate the whole mess are Val Deaser, Ed Christensen and James Baltzell. They manage to make the Army and Navy seem somewhat silly upon occasion. James Oliphant as the sergeant makes the Army no less silly but somehow more attractive, and J. Glenn Knox is an amusing doctor.

Gail Cason as the scientist's intended and Ken Harkey as her senator father round out the principal players. Others in the cast are Joey Astone, Molly Boyd, James Roach and Marland Proctor. Larry Jones directed.

* * * *

"ROMAN CANDLE" is an amusing and engaging bit of nonsense, but the kind of play which in unskillful hands can seem five hours long. This production, fortunately, never bogs down, largely because of Miss Anderson, whose energy infuses the whole theater. From the moment she steps onstage the play comes alive and stays that way.

Maybe there's something to this esp after all.

The show continues on weekends through mid-January. Curtain is 7:45 on Thursdays, 8:30 Fridays and Saturdays.

S. Viet Nam Dooms Red Rebels to Death

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—The government announced Saturday a military tribunal has sentenced two Viet Cong Communist rebels to death.

They were convicted of murdering three hamlet chiefs and a young woman member of the National Youth Corps.

Bourguiba Vows Fight for Bizerte

TUNIS (UPI) — President Habib Bourguiba Saturday said Tunisia was prepared to fight again for the French Navy base at Bizerte if necessary.

He said a French note on the subject of eventually turning back the base to Tunisia was expected Monday, "and I hope it is positive."

A blockade of the big base by Tunisians in July touched off a three-day battle in which French soldiers killed 1,000 Tunisians.

Pilots Ever on Alert for Flying Objects

By FRANK PITMAN

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—An airliner trying to make up lost time. A wandering private plane. Reflections of city lights against the coluds. A nearby planet. Shooting stars. Whales.

Those are some of the things that send the nation's fighter intercepter pilots into the wild blue yonder about a dozen times a day for a close check of unidentified objects in the sky.

The birdmen, who guide craft at twice the speed of sound, have never yet found what they're going up for, and are not sorry. It would be an inbound hostile plane or missile.

• • • •

ATTACHED to some 80 squadrons of the continent's defense line, the pilots fly at the instant a radar screen or ground observer picks up an object that can't be identified. Most unidentified objects turn out to be simply planes outside their flight patterns.

Inbound commercial flights from overseas are the most common cause of false alarms, officials at North American Air Defense Command said. Favorable or unfavorable winds cause the airliner's schedule to vary, and observers using radar and radio are unable to correlate the craft with its flight plan. That calls for visible check by a fighter intercepter.

• • • •

POOR FLYING weather contributes to the number of false alarms. Under those conditions, commercial and private pilots are hardpressed to stay precisly within their flight plan.

The slightest variance immeditely classifies the plane as an unidentified object and touches off an alarm at a fighter intercepter base.

Now and then radar is fooled. Once a radar screen projected a blip that turned out to be three whales lolling in the Atlantic.

Ground observers are most likely to be deceived by reflections of lights against unusual cloud formations or the proximity of a planet like Mars or Venus.

• • • •

ONCE AN interceptor flight investigated a strange combination of lights sweeping rhythmically across the sky. It turned out to be three Navy planes maneuvering in formation with all running lights blazing. The sweeps of the precision flight resembled a flying saucer.

On an average day some 25 or 30 unidentified objects set off preliminary alerts at the guardian bases. The identity of half of them is cleared up in the few minutes before the fighter intercepter is airborne. Once the plane is aloft, it's hardly seconds before it is alongside and identifies the object.

Algerian Rebel Fasts 18 Days

PARIS (AP) — Mohammed Ben Bella was in the 18th day of his hunger strike Saturday, with no indication that he soon would abandon this protest against French policy in Algeria.

The captive vice premier of the Algerian government in exile and two rebel ministers with him in a heavily guarded hospital in suburban Garches were refusing intervention by a team of French medical experts.

Prison administrative authorities said their condition still was not alarming, although they were somewhat weaker.

Accurate Lapel Pins

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Guests at the University of Wisconsin's second annual Parents Day will wear lapel pins inscribed "We pay the bills."

Calif. Gets Grant for Cancer Research

WASHINGTON (AP)—Grants totaling $2,681,123 for construction of cancer research facilities were announced Saturday by the Public Health Service to construct new buildings or enlarge or renovate existing buildings.

The California Department of Public Health at Berkeley got the largest grant—$1,180,000.

Clay Returns to U.S. for Kennedy Talk

BERLIN (AP)—Gen. Lucius D. Clay, President Kennedy's envoy to Berlin, slipped off quietly to Washington Saturday.

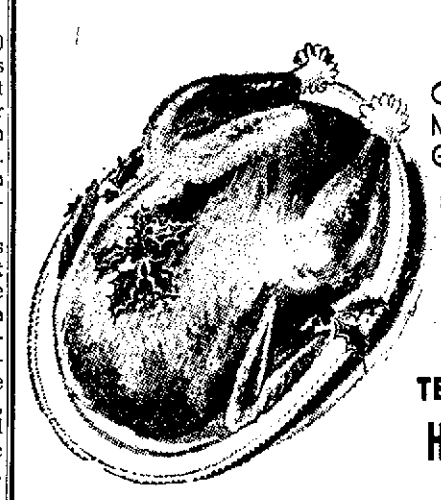

He will take part in talks between President Kennedy and Chancellor Konrad Adenauer of West Germany next week.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

'How to Succeed' Star Was Salesman Flop

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—It may be true or it may be a Broadway fable, but we are solemnly assured that young Bobby Morse is kept in ignorance of the arrival of celebrities to see "How to Succeed in Business Without Really Trying" these nights for fear that he might have an attack of nerves and go all to pieces.

That makes is difficult to picture him in his younger days—back when he was 20 or so—as a Fuller Brush Man or a cookie salesman.

"I dropped all my brushes and everything in the middle of Lexington Avenue one day and quit," Bobby says concerning the era when he wasn't succeeding in big business at all.

* * * *

"AND THE cookie business," he'll tell you, almost wringing his hands as he remembers, "Oh-h-h-h!

"Suppose the cookies were 25c a pound and somebody wanted an eighth of a pound. Now how do you figure what an eighth of a quarter is? I suppose there's some way to do it.

"But I couldn't, and I had people standing in line waiting till I figured what something cost. I would just guess at it—'55 cents,' I'd say about some article. A woman would say 'But last week I got the same thing for 45 cents.'

"All right, ALL RIGHT, give me a quarter and we'll call it square," he'd say hastily.

* * * *

AND THAT'S how Bobby didn't work his way up to the presidency and board chairmanship as he does in the great Feuer & Martin and Abe Burrows hit. "They shuffled me around from store to store and job to job," he claims.

Bobby got into "The Matchmaker," "Say, Darling" and "Take Me Along"—and he credits Ruth Gordon of the former and Jackie Gleason of the latter with teaching him a lot.

"Jackie taught me something important about criticism," Bobby recalled. "One day I was very low about a review of a TV show.

* * * *

"Jackie said 'Let me tell you about criticism. It is just an opinion. It doesn't make it true because somebody says so. You know yourself whether you were good or bad, and if you were bad you probably know why you were bad or it could be that the writer of the review was drunk or doesn't have the integrity to write what he really feels.'"

Everybody asks Bobby what'll happen when he gets 35 and still looks as he does now.

He brushes it aside. "Maybe this show'll run forever," he says. "It could, you know. If everybody who's in business comes to see it, we really might be here forever."

* * * *

THE WEEK-END WINDUP . . . Jersey Joe Walcott, who'll referee the Floyd Patterson-Tom McNeeley bout, says, "Every time I see one of those fellows get hit I ask myself how I ever did it for 23 years" . . . Switch: Darryl Zanuck, filming "The Longest Day," is hoping for BAD weather—for battle scenes . . . Otto Preminger stomped into the Colony Record Shop, demanded the name of a best-selling young singer; they mentioned Bobby Rydell. (For a movie?) . . . George Jessel and George Raft opened their Beverly Hills travel agency, so now you can travel, by George.

Delores Del Rio saw Katyna Ranieri at the Persian Rm., promised to give a party for her in Mexico City . . . Harold Robbins, author of the best-selling "Carpetbaggers," says his next is about a sexy sculptress . . . Kyle Rote's "Game of the Week" TV'er may be shown in Japan, which is getting football-happy . . . The Manhattan phone listed to "Hugo von Eggchreme" belongs to producer Herb Morrison.

* * * *

EARL'S PEARLS: A budget is a family's attempt to live below its daily yearnings.—Ennis (Tex.) Daily News.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: A football coach boasted that he never alibis his defeats: "I merely explain that it's poor sportsmanship to mention those bad breaks and terrible officiating."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: Description of a woman's shopping tour: "She goes out with a big bundle—and comes back with a lot of little ones."

Shelly Berman mentioned proudly to his grandfather that he'll go to Europe to do TV. "What's so wonderful?" shrugged the old man. "I came from there." That's earl, brother.

$ Millions Bid on 'My Fair Lady'

"My Fair Lady $5,500,000 (X)

"(X) manufacturer's suggested retail price."

Unsigned, the ads later were disclosed to be the puckish work of that master of screen satire, Director Billy Wilder.

Devilish or not, the ads accented the astronomical bidding for the movie rights to the famed broadway and international musical hit. Warners made a firm offer of $5,000,000 for the show, an offer still unaccepted.

* * * *

OTHER THAN the owners of the show, the happiest person in town because of the record bidding is British actor Michael Evans.

Until the asking price got publicized, only two names were mentioned for the casting of the star role of Prof. Henry Higgins—Rex Harrison and Cary Grant.

Harrison, because he created the role on Broadway, and Grant, because he sells tickets at movie boxoffices.

But the high price of the property suddenly has made Evans the dark horse candidate for the Higgins' role. He played Higgins in the national company of the show both in the United States and the 10 week tour of Russia.

* * * *

HIS 1,200 performances in the role even surpassed those of Harrison in the New York and London versions. Many who have seen all think the younger Evans was the best Higgins of the lot—even better than Harrison.

Comedian Jim Backus says that "Fair Lady" producer Herman Levin told him Evans was the best.

Talent alone doesn't always get choice movie roles—but sometimes money does. One top Warner source, who saw Evans in the Los Angeles company, confirms that he is very much in the running—if the studio gets the property. The executive's reasoning:

* * * *

"IT'S ALL a matter of economics. No star name is needed to sell 'My Fair Lady.' Say the property does sell for $5,500,000. It will take more than that to make it—maybe even $10,000,000.

"Grant's cut, usually a hefty percentage off the top, would add another million or two.

Light Opera to Audition for 'Moon'

Auditions for Long Beach Civic Light Opera Association's next production of "New Moon" by Sigmund Romberg will be held at 1 p.m. next Sunday in Concert Hall at Municipal Auditorium.

Harvey Waggoner, general manager of the association, said the production requires a large cast, and that auditions are open to all talented non-professionals.

Memorable tunes in "New Moon" include "Softly, As in a Morning Sunrise," "Stouthearted Men," "One Kiss," "Wanting You," "Marianne" and "Lover, Come Back to Me."

STELLA STEVENS . . . Paramount's Pride

Lee Remick Plans to 'Strike' for Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lee Remick has one more picture to make and then she's going on strike against a casting system which has placed her in some of filmland's most downbeat roles.

Miss Remick currently is playing a frightened bank teller in "Experiment in Terror" and from there she becomes a make-believe alcoholic for "The Days of Wine and Roses" with Jack Lemmon.

In all the time Miss Remick has been making pictures, she's never been cast in anything light or comical.

"After 'Wine and Roses', I'm going to do a comedy," she insisted. "I won't move until I do either a comedy or a musical, nothing else.

"I've done enough of the heavy parts."

* * * *

SITTING ON a couch in a dressing room off the set at Columbia Studios, Miss Remick spoke of her husband, Director Bill Colleran, and her two children, Kate, 2, and Matthew, five months.

"It seems I go from baby to picture, baby to picture," she said, referring to the fact that she went almost from the maternity ward into films. "But, no more babies for awhile, just pictures.

"I want to do at least two pictures a year. I don't believe in the theory that you have to remain on the screen all the time. You have to live a little in between pictures so you'll have something to draw from."

* * * *

"There's not much life for me outside of the picture when I'm working on one," she said. "When I'm making a picture, I work 12 hours a day.

"I go home after a day at the studio and I'm so tired I barely eat dinner before heading for bed. I only get to see the children about half an hour a day and on weekends when I'm making a picture.

"So for that reason, I don't want to work all the time. And, I don't believe in running all over the world making pictures, leaving the children behind."

Deputy Police Chief, 2 Children Killed

SPRINGFIELD, Vt. (AP)—The Springfield deputy chief of police and two of his grandchildren were killed Saturday when their car hit an embankment and overturned on Route 11.

Killed were Herbert D. Fullam, 62, Neal Abbott, 8, and Shirley Burton, 3. In critical condition in Springfield Hospital is Shirley's brother, James, 5.

SHE'S GOT EVERYTHING

Stella Chased by Producer

By RICK DU BROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—When Paramount Pictures calls a meeting of its female contract players, Stella Stevens—and only Stella Stevens—shows up.

She's it. The only actress the powerful studio has under pact.

And the betting around town is that Paramount may well build her into a star of Marilyn Monroe-Elizabeth Taylor importance.

She has everything: Blonde beauty, talent, humor, intelligence — and flamboyance. She was born in a town called Hot Coffee, Miss.—and no press agent could do better than that.

* * * *

BUT IT'S her flamboyance that has the film colony talking.

It's now a legend about how she was approached by a person who told her, "Did you know you look like Marilyn Monroe?"

"No," replied Miss Stevens, but my mother does."

Paramount is so intent on building her in the "sex star" image of Jean Harlow and Lana Turner that it has refused to let her accept outside roles in such movies as "Advise and Consent," because they don't emphasize her in the right way.

* * * *

MISS STEVENS takes her prominence at the studio with humor.

Before leaving this weekend for London for the world premiere of her latest film, "Too Late Blues," in which Bobby Darin is her co-star, a top studio executive called her in for a pep talk and told her:

"Think positively."

"All right," said Miss Stevens, "but what do I tell the press over there when they ask me what my next picture will be?"

"Well," the executive hedged, "we've got some projects we're thinking about, Stella."

* * * *

"ALL RIGHT," said Miss Stevens, "I'll tell them I positively enjoy the climate, I positively like traveling—and I positively have no idea what I'll be doing next."

Another time, Miss Stevens, who was reared in Memphis, Tenn., was approached at lunch by a producer who said:

"Have you read the script yet, sweetie?"

"No," she replied.

"Well, you know, sweetie, baby," the producer said, "Kim Novak would love to do the role."

"Yeah, I know," said Miss Stevens. "She wants to do all my parts."

* * * *

STILL ANOTHER TIME, she was introduced at lunch in the Paramount commissary to a producer who promptly told her:

"I know you're in love with me, or else you wouldn't ask to be introduced to me."

"No, I'm not," Miss Stevens replied, explaining she was brought over to meet him by another executive.

"It takes more courage to be in love than not to be," the producer persisted.

That night, when Miss Stevens returned home, she found the producer on her doorstep armed with champagne and roses. He followed her inside and chased her around the living room.

"It's a good thing my maid and son came home," she said. "I was getting tired."

NO ONE GUESSED

'Doll' Tells News —She's Expecting

HOLLYWOOD (AP) —Actress Constance Towers last week finished a seven weeks local stand in "Guys and Dolls," and announced that she's expecting a baby in two months.

No one in the cast, except Dan Dailey, knew it—and neither did the audience. Connie played Sarah Brown, the rescue mission gal.

"I had to tell Dan (who played Sky Masterson) so he would be gentle in our knockabout dance scene."

Said Dailey: "I know the show must go on—now I know why."

SULTAN AND CUTLASS MEET
Oldsmobile F-85 Cutlass convertible, Dick Browning Olds motorlog car, pauses beneath huge figure of Sultan landmark atop Dunes Hotel on Las Vegas Strip.

F-85 Cutlass Visits Vegas

By ART STEPHAN
Auto Editor

Last week-end was the zenith, the ultimate, the very top. Referring to our dining experience at the luxurious Sultan's Table of the plush Dunes Hotel in fabulous (so, what other word fits?) Las Vegas.

We've done many motorlog tours over the past three years—this was No. 46, to be exact—it's been our lucky lot to visit the posh hotels and scintillating spas of the Southland, but this dinner at the Dunes topped everything we've ever experienced.

Here's the picture. You're sitting there in this lavishly decorated, softly-lit dining room. The light of your life is by your side while martinis set the mood. Now from a revolving dias in the center of the floor comes the music of two grand pianos and 11 violins played to perfection by musicians in white ties and tails.

Arturo Romero and his Magic Violins are the artists and they're the talk of the Vegas Strip by those who like their melodies from the masters.

And the food was in keeping with the lavish surroundings, we found, as we dawdled over succulent steaks, sparkling wine and crepe suzettes for our most memorable dining-out event ever.

FOUR IN PARTY

There were four of us made the tour to Vegas last week-end; John and Lou Schwoerer our longtime friends here, accompanying us to never-never land. And our conveyance was a cute, classy and comfortable Cutlass convertible which, as you know, is Oldsmobile's F-85, compact brother to the famed "88" and "98" models. A good-looking white job with red interior, the Cutlass had comfortable bucket seats, plenty of interior and trunk room and Oldsmobile's new 185 h. p. aluminum V-8 which performed quietly and effortlessly on the 302-mile trip.

It was impeccable Ivy-leaguer Bill Blankenship, sales manager of Dick Browning Oldsmobile, who loaned us the Cutlass for the Friday evening jaunt to the city of revelry. Several new freeway improvements have cut driving time considerably on the Las Vegas run and, four hours and 40 minutes after we left the Browning agency Driver Schwoerer eased the F-85 to a stop at the Sultan-crowned Dunes.

With our accommodations arranged through the hotel's Beverly Hills office, we were shown to spacious adjoining rooms on the second floor overlooking one of the Dunes' three huge pools. Hi-Fi, remote-control TV and a Sultan-size bed were included in the furnishings for lavish living in the Las Vegas mode.

ACTION ALWAYS

Well, in "Lost Wages," as some cynics are prone to call the place, there's never any lack of action. Arriving too late for the Dunes' 8 o'clock dinner show, we sampled the bountiful buffet in the hotel's Aladdin Dining Room where you feast on a variety of at least 50 tasty items, all you wish to eat, including drink and dessert for $2.50.

Then it was time for the midnight show in the breath-taking Arabian Room where Steve Parker's giant spectacular, "Philippine Festival," played to a packed house. Conceived and created in Manila, the show features over 100 Filipino players in a tableau of island activities.

Show over, we watched the activity in the Sindbad Lounge where top stars perform adjacent to the gambling tables. Here the comic Fraim Brothers were knocking themselves out for the many patrons taking a breather from the casino activities.

We retired early (5:30 a.m. is early, wouldn't you say) and were enjoying a hearty room-service breakfast at 4 p.m. next day in our dining alcove overlooking the pool.

STRIP TOUR

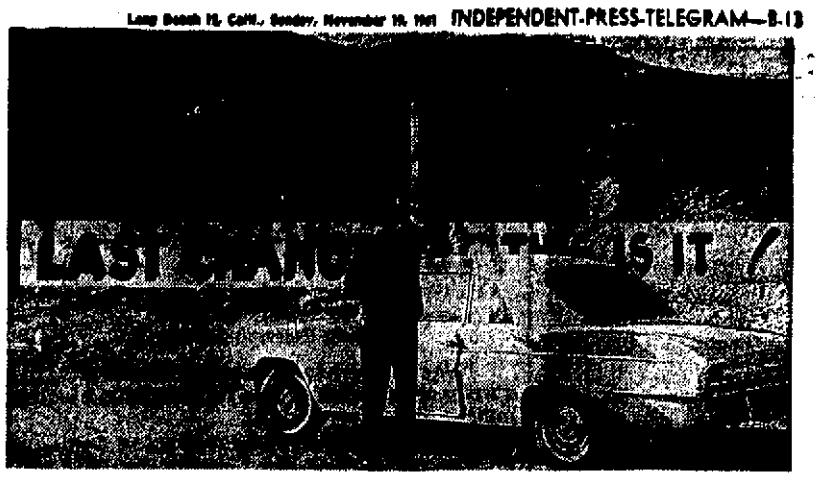

You seldom sit still in Las Vegas and we followed the usual pattern. Back in our Olds Cutlass for a tour of the bustling Strip, we sampled the lounge entertainment in a variety of name hotels. Although the big names like Sinatra, Danny Kaye, Kay Starr, didn't appear till the dinner shows, we did enjoy the talents of Roberta Lynn, the De Castro Sisters, Harry James and a few other lesser names in the entertainment world.

Then it was time for that gourmet dinner delight at the Sultan's Table which I described earlier in the article and after that, anything in glitterville suffered by comparison.

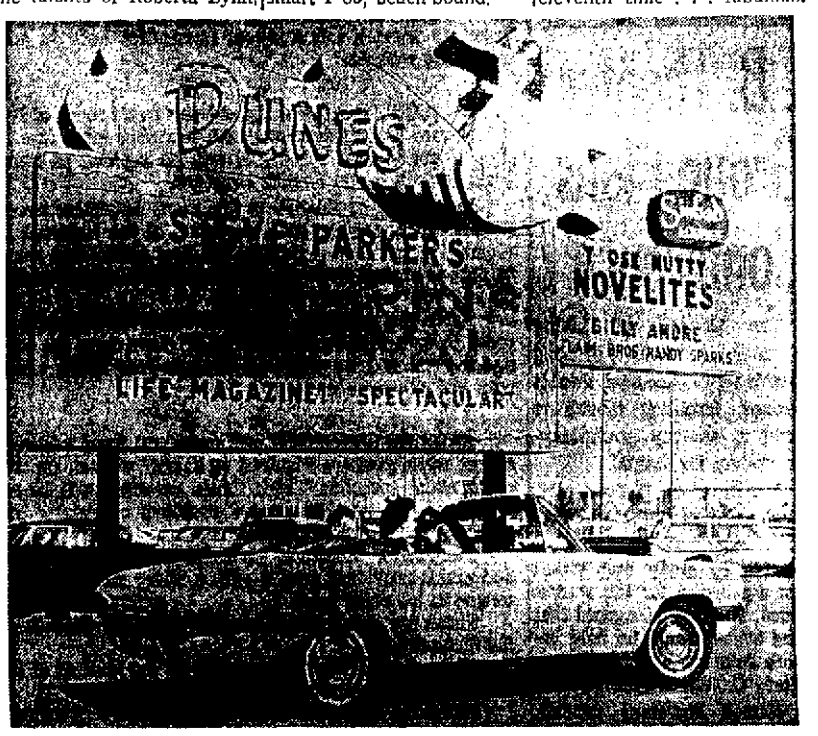

Suddenly, our two days in Las Vegas were gone. Late Sunday afternoon found our foursome once more in our smart F-85, beach-bound.

Checking gas mileage at Browning's 1227 L. B. Blvd. plant Monday morning the F-85 speedometer showed we had gone 629 miles while using 34.5 gallons of gas for an average of 18.2 miles per gallon. This in a brand new Olds with automatic transmission at top-speed driving nearly every mile. Seems like a creditable performance.

As to Las Vegas and the Dunes Hotel . . . fun, fantastic . . . and for the seventh or eleventh time . . . fabulous!

ELECTED QUEEN

Carol Plumlee, 20, daughter of Navy Capt. and Mrs. C. H. Plumlee, Long Beach Naval Station, has been elected 1961 Pomona College Homecoming queen. She reigned over festivities Saturday.

L.B. Theater Group Plans Conference

The Council of Living Theater, organization of Long Beach legitimate theater groups, Saturday moved to hold a one-day conference-workshop on drama.

Dr. David W. Sievers, elected chairman of the organization, named a five-man committee to study and report on a program for the conference. The Council agreed that the event should be held before June and at Long Beach State College if possible.

Named secretary pro-tem for the council was John Paap, president of the Long Beach Community Playhouse.

* * * *

COMMITTEE appointed by Sievers, professor of drama at State, to make recommendations to the full council includes Gerald Brown, managing director of Magnolia Theatre; Eleanor Shibley, president, Off - Broadway Theatre; James White, drama director at Long Beach City College, Business & Technical Division; Paap and Mrs. Irwin Cohen, of the Jewish Community Center Players, who will be chairman of the group.

The committee is scheduled to report to the full council at its next meeting Jan. 6.

Orange, U.S. Disagree on Swamp Cost

A proposal to convert swamp land at Sunset Beach into a small-craft harbor is at a standstill after the County of Orange and the Federal Government failed to agree on the appraised value of 63 acres of surplus Navy land.

Kenneth Sampson, county harbor manager, reported there is a 300-per-cent difference in appraised values on the swamp land. He said federal and county appraisers couldn't agree on the price to be paid for the property.

The county seeks to develop a small craft harbor and beach recreation area in the slough area.

County appraisers, according to Sampson, have valued the property at $3,750 an acre and county officials have indicated the price is right. However, General Services Administration appraisers set the price at $11,000 an acre.

This leaves negotiations at an impasse, Sampon said.

The Orange County Board of Supervisors has instructed Sampson to call in a third party to act as an independent appraiser in order to save the plan and reach an agreement on the price.

Seat Belt Boom

NEW YORK (AP)—The Ford Motor Co. says seat belts are catching on. Delivery of belts to its dealers has jumped more than 255 per cent—from an average of 6,000 a month last year to about 21,300 a month in recent months.

GRADE CARD

English and the Humanities Basic

By HARRY KARNS
School Research Associates

"Why do I have to take English? I'm not going to be a writer or an English teacher. I'm going to be a businessman."

To English teachers those lines are as familiar and irritating as the sound of a fingernail screeching across the blackboard.

Teachers of the humanities regularly encounter resistance from students who think engineering or business have nothing to do with such subjects as language and history.

Successful businessmen and engineers are among the first to tell those students otherwise.

HOWARD MARGENS is not an English teacher. He is a highly successful businessman—president of Procter & Gamble. Here's what he has to say on the subject:

"Tomorrow's managers—who will be so very important to society—can learn much from the humanities. They can certainly profit by an understanding of history, of political philosophy, of both the social and the natural sciences. The great literature and the great religions of the world can contribute much to their understanding of people and of human values.

"Professional training is, of course, absolutely vital in these times, but professional training alone can never really solves the problems of the world. So let's never forget to nourish the study of humanities both in and out of the colleges."

BY DEFT footwork a student can avoid most of the the courses in the humanities. But sooner or later, in college, if not in high school, he will be exposed to some basic courses in the English language.

Knowledge of English is important in almost every field. In fact, a fairly good command of the language is required to get into a field in the first place. You must be able to explain to a prospective employer what you can do and why you want the job.

After you get a job, you must know the language in order to understand orders that come down from the boss and to communicate your own views to your fellow workmen and subordinates.

SKILL IN LANGUAGE will make you stand out from others when you are required to submit written reports or to make speeches. These things certainly will be required of you as you assume positions of greater importance in your chosen field.

Languages, literature, philosophy, history, painting, and music provide a person with a wider range of ideas to use in his daily work.

These are the practical, bread-and-butter aspects of the humanities.

They should offer an incentive to the student if the sheer joy of a well-rounded education does not.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Weather Effect on Heart Told

By BEN ZINSER and GEORGE X. TRIMBLE, M.D.

Additional evidence that weather and climate influence the heart-attack rate has been reported by Tulane University researchers.

Drs. N. P. DePasquale and G. E. Burch studied the seasonal incidence of acute coronary heart attacks in New Orleans for the period of 1952 through 1955.

They did this by checking the records of 1,582 heart-attack patients admitted to Charity Hospital of Louisiana in New Orleans.

Most attacks, they found, occurred in August, the city's hottest and most humid month. The fewest attacks were seen in December.

The incidence of heart attacks declined gradually from January to June, they report. It increased in July and August. Then it declined again.

The doctors say that heat stress appears to have a cumulative effect. Although June is a hot and humid month, there was no increase until July.

"The influence of weather and climate (in heart attacks) cannot be ignored," the doctors state in the American Journal of the Medical Sciences.

A YOUNG MOTHER with one mongoloid child is much more apt to give birth to a second mongoloid than is an older mother.

The finding is that of Drs. C. O. Carter and K. A. Evans of the Hospital for Sick Children in London, England.

They studied 642 mongols born between 1944 and 1955 and found that the younger the mother, the greater the likelihood of her bearing more than one mongol child.

Mongolism, called Down's syndrome by doctors, is a form of mental retardation.

Specifically, the British study shows:

- If a mother with one mongol child is under 25, there's a 50-fold risk she'll bear another child similarly afflicted.
- If the mother is between 25 and 34 years old, the risk of having a second mongol child is fivefold.
- Over 35, there's no increased risk.

ANIMAL BITES are up from 16,609 to 18,658 a year in Los Angeles City, health authorities disclose.

Here's a run-down on some of the unusual bites reported the past year:

Ape 4, badger 1, bear 1, chinchilla 1, chipmunk 16, coatimundi 3, coyote 2, deer 1, donkey 7, fox 4, goat 5, gopher 91, guinea pig 52, hamster 347, kinkajou 3, ocelot 7, opossum 16, otter 1, raccoon 4, rat 224, skunk 13, squirrels 93, weasel 6, mole 3, bat 4.

The greatest number of bites (15,180) were inflicted by dogs. Next in line were cat bites—2,078.

Bites reported during the previous year—but not in 1961—include eland 1, leopard 2, mink 1, parrot 4.

AN AUTHORITATIVE study of the structure and function of the human body has been prepared for public distribution by the American Medical Association.

Entitled "The Wonderful Human Machine," the 56-page book describes in detail—but in easy-to-read language—the composition and functions of the skeleton, muscles, nerves, heart, lungs, skin, digestive system and sense organs.

Illustrated in color, the book was written for the layman. It's authoritative enough to serve as a basic reference work for a beginning biology class.

As a public service, the AMA is distributing the book for a price less than the cost of producing and handling it.

For your copy, send $1 to the American Medical Association, 535 N. Dearborn St., Chicago 10, Ill.

Masai to Send Kennedy Thanks

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP)—The 8,000 primintive Masai tribesmen will send President Kennedy a tribal shield and spear as thanks for saving them from starvation. The tribe has been kept alive in its drought-stricken preserve for three months by U.S. famine-relief corn.

The corn has helped to clothe as well as feed the tribesmen. Masai children wear dresses made of the corn sacks, which bear the message: "Corn Donated by the People of the United States."

These are confidential services, administered by qualified and experienced personnel.
Business uses the lie detector for: pre-employment screening—to immediately verify employment application information; periodic employee screening—to reduce management loss and provide employee control; and to protect innocent personnel and maintain company morale in specific instances of theft.
Progressive businesses use our services to increase efficiency and maintain their security.

Buffum Fete Brings Aid to City of Hope

FUNDS FOR CITY OF HOPE

President Morris Singer of the Long Beach Sponsors Club receives a check for $30,412.48 from Harry Buffum for the City of Hope. The money was contributed by many who joined in sponsoring a portfolio of recognition to Buffum for his help for the City of Hope.

Another $30,412.48 has gone to the City of Hope thanks to the Long Beach Sponsors Club and Harry Buffum.

Buffum recently was honorer with the Torch of Hope Award at a dinner organized by a steering committee of the Sponsors Club. The award was for the great assistance Buffum has been in helping finance the City of Hope.

Wednesday night the club held a dinner to honor the steering committee for the success of the Buffum affair and during the evening Buffum presented club president Morris Singer with a check for $30,412.48. The sum represented donations made by people who joined in sponsoring a portfolio in recognition to Buffum.

Aaron Schultz, past president of the club, awarded plaques of recognition to the committee who directed the Buffum fete. They went to V.G. Young, honorary chairman; H. E. Ridings Jr., chairman, Sam Cameron, Henry Clock, Darrell Neighbors and Robert L. Irvin.

The Sponsors Club is devoted to sponsoring financial help to the City of Hope.

Wins Contest

Roger L. Anderson of Rossmoor, realty loan consultant for American Savings and Loan in this area, won the association contest for the most loan volume in October in the Garden Grove office and received a television.

NOTES OF BUSINESS

Van Camp Testing Aluminum Tuna Can

Experimental packing of limited quantities of tuna in aluminum cans is under way as part of a research program in which Van Camp Sea Food Co., Long Beach, is cooperating with the American Can Co. and Reynolds Metals Co.

The research project involves cans of the half-pound or regular size. The containers used in the testing program were manufactured at the Wilmington plant of American Can. The aluminum for the cans was supplied from Reynolds plant in Alabama.

* * * *

OFFICIALS SAID that the pilot pack in aluminum cans is part of Van Camp's continuing program of research and development in a variety of fields involving laboratory studies and test marketing to determine consumer reactions. The firm's commercial volume of tuna in the half-pound or regular size continues to be packed in conventional tinplate cans.

The aluminum half pound container in experimental use is a drawn seamless round can. Van Camp is the first seafood packer to test market tuna in aluminum cans. Officials said the market test will continue for several months.

THE REAL ESTATE firm of Walker & Lee, Inc. represented buyers or sellers in four recent transactions totaling $4,060,000, Frank R. Hart, executive vice president, announced.

"Walker & Lee represented the Cypress Mines Corp. in in the $2,500,000 purchase of the Forest Cox property in Phoenix, from the trust department of Valley National Bank in that city," Hart said.

The property will continue to be developed as a residential subdivision, following plans of the previous owner who was killed in an airplane crash early this year.

In the second sale, the firm represented the Isabel Lewis Co. Inc., in a 3,300-acre transaction for $1,000,000. The property is contiguous from the north entrance at Vandenberg Air Force Base.

In Ventura County, Walker & Lee obtained a 46-acre parcel for $560,000 for the building firm of Davies, Keusder & Brown Construction Co.

In an exchange of property worth $500,000, Sam Neville, manager of the Walker & Lee commercial and industrial division, represented both buyer and seller.

Southland Growth Over 1,000 Daily

Southern California's population is estimated to have increased by 377,600 during the 12-month period ended July 1, 1961, Security First National Bank's research department reports.

Only four years—1951-52, 1955-56, 1956-57—have registered greater numerical gains.

* * * *

THE STATE as a whole had a population increase of approximately 585,000 in the 1960-61 period, with the 14 southernmost counties accounting for nearly 65 per cent of the gain, Security Bank said.

Counties having the largest numerical gains were: Los Angeles, 155,600; Orange, 72,000; San Diego, 66,800; Santa Barbara, 14,600; Riverside, 14,400; Ventura, 12,600; and San Bernardino, 12,400.

Couties showing largest percentage increases were: Orange, +10%; Santa Barbara, +8.5%; San Diego, +6.4%; Ventura, +6.2%; San Luis Obispo, +4.8%; Riverside, +4.6%; and Kings, +4.2%.

Palm City Opening Is Continued Today

Grand opening of the second unit continues this weekend at Palm City, the $30 million desert retirement community near Palm Springs, following special ceremonies held Nov. 11-12.

An estimated 8,000 people visited the city-size senior citizens project during the first week of the new unit's opening, according to developer Nels Severin.

In addition to a tree-planting ceremony Nov. 11, refreshments were served to visitors, free packages of dates were given away, community singing was led by television personality Art Baker.

VISITORS TOURED the seven furnished model homes, the cooperative apartments, recreation center, assembly hall, two swimming pools, therapeutic pool, shuffleboard courts, horseshoe pits, and patio and picnic areas.

Severin, nationally-known Los Angeles builder, presented a large gold key to Art Baker as "honorary mayor of Palm City." Mr. and Mrs. Baker own one of the retirement homes.

Severin said he was "overwhelmed and gratified" at the response shown by senior citizens to his project.

HE NOTED that the first unit of 450 homes, opened last March, was nearly sold out before opening of the No. 2 section.

The second unit will consist of 463 two- and three-bedroom homes, offered in 31 exteriors. Also 184 cooperative apartments will be built.

The homes, many of which have two bathrooms, are moderately priced, starting at $12,995. One member of each family must be 50 years of age of over, and children under 18 are not allowed, except as visitors.

Sales agent is Tom Key Realty, Inc.

Palm City is located 16 miles southeast of Palm Springs, and a few miles north of Hwy. 111.

Dollar Display Weight Problem

SEATTLE (AP) — Wonder what a million stacked dollars look like?

Northwest Historical Medals, Inc., of Walla Walla, Wash., may show you at the Seattle World's Fair next year.

The biggest bugaboo may be the weight problem. The million would weigh about 63,000 pounds—heavy enough to collapse an ordinary floor.

Family Wins $100 in Toys at Sears

The Sidney Engel family of 2006 W. Spring St. won $100 worth of toys of their choice in a drawing held Nov. 11 at Sears, Roebuck & Co., Fifth and Long Beach Blvd.

The Engels have a son, Allan, who showed typical 13-year-old excitement and enthusiasm over the fun of picking his toys.

However, the real excitement was that of a foster child, who is in their charge, 8½-year-old Gabriel Drapel, a refugee from Cuba. His parents are small shop owners in Cuba who sent the boy here for his safety. The Engels took over his care through a charitable organization. Young Gabriel was extremely excited in this marvelous world of toys and was especially grateful in view of the fact that he has had very few toys of his own.

WIN $100 IN TOYS

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Engel and their son, Allen, 13, and Gabriel Drapel, a Cuban refugee lad in their care, are pictured in Sears where they picked up $100 in toys of their own selection. They won the toys in an award Nov. 11.

Clark Staves Realty Speaker

Bill Ballard, program chairman for the Long Beach Board of Realtors, announced that Clark Staves, vice president and chief titleofficer of Security Title Insurance Co., will be the guest speaker at the breakfast meeting at 7:15 a.m. Tuesday, at the Crown Cafeteria. His topic will be 'Automatic Subordination.'

Marine Terrace Homes Selling at Rapid Pace

ELEGANCE IS KEYNOTE
This living room in a Marine Terrace Home features the floor-to-ceiling fireplace of Palos Verdes stone, beautiful paneling and wall-to-wall carpeting as well as big picture windows. Elegance is the keynote throughout the homes.

Large, luxury homes in Marine Terrace, in the heart of the Palos Verdes Peninsula, are selling at a record pace and the 112 homes should all be gone in a short time, Crest Realty, sales agents, announced.

As of Saturday only 44 of the homes remained to be sold but they still provide buyers with a full selection of the models offered in the development.

Beautifully situated on Palos Verdes Drive West, Marine Terrace is just 1½ miles west of Marineland. The homes, designed for gracious living and entertainment, front toward the Pacific Ocean and majestic cliffs.

* * * *

Offering three or four bedrooms and two or two and a half baths, most of the homes have separate dining areas and contain from 1,900 to 2,000 square feet of living space plus large garages.

There is wall-to-wall carpeting throughout, central vacuum cleaning system, forced-air heating. The Medallion all-electric homes have complete built-in electric kitchens with range, double oven, dishwasher, disposal and the cabinets are in natural ash.

* * * *

BEAUTIFUL Palos Verdes stone fireplaces, slate entryways, covered patios and private dressing rooms are among other features of these luxury homes which are priced from $31,500 to $39,600.

Although in a secluded setting these big homes are only minutes from downtown Long Beach. From here they may be reached by driving west to Western Ave., turning right on Palos Verdes Dr. West and to the models.

Tiny Schools Still in Use

NASHVILLE (AP)—The traditional one-room school isn't completely removed from Tennessee. In 1960 there were 364 serving 7,280 students in the state. Tennessee education commissioner Joe Morgan says, however, this is only a fifth of the number which taught 21,980 students 10 years ago.

Garden Park Estates Sales Hit $10 Million

A GARDEN PARK ESTATE

Current showing of Garden Park Estates' "1962" Series of spacious, quality-built luxury homes coincides with the community's passing of the $10 million mark in home sales, W. R. Effinger, sales director for Shapell Land Co., announced. Here is one of the many models offered.

Showing of Garden Park Estates' "1962 Series" of architect-designed luxury homes coincides with the report that the $10 million mark in sales has just been passed in this home community at Knott Ave., and Garden Grove Freeway, W. R. Effinger, sales director, announced.

Current opening introduces all-new designs, new features, new "everything but the quality construction," Effinger said.

Even the financing is new. Veterans are now offered VA loans with a "move-in" of $97.97 with monthly payments from $97.97, including principal and interest, and along with Cal-Vet and good conventional loans, buyers now have the new 35-year FHA loans. Full prices are from $17,450.

Built by S & S Construction Co., well-known Southland builders noted for quality construction, the homes have been individually styled. Exteriors embrace a range of architectural elevations that include Ranch, Modern, Conventional and handsome Contemporary. Flexible and spacious, the plans are designed with three and four bedrooms with dining area and family room and two luxurious baths as well as big two-car garage.

All plans are designed around a convenient center hallway anad all have entry halls. In many there are master bedroom suites and separate service porches. The garages provide extra storage space, and an Orange County "first," there are concrete driveways.

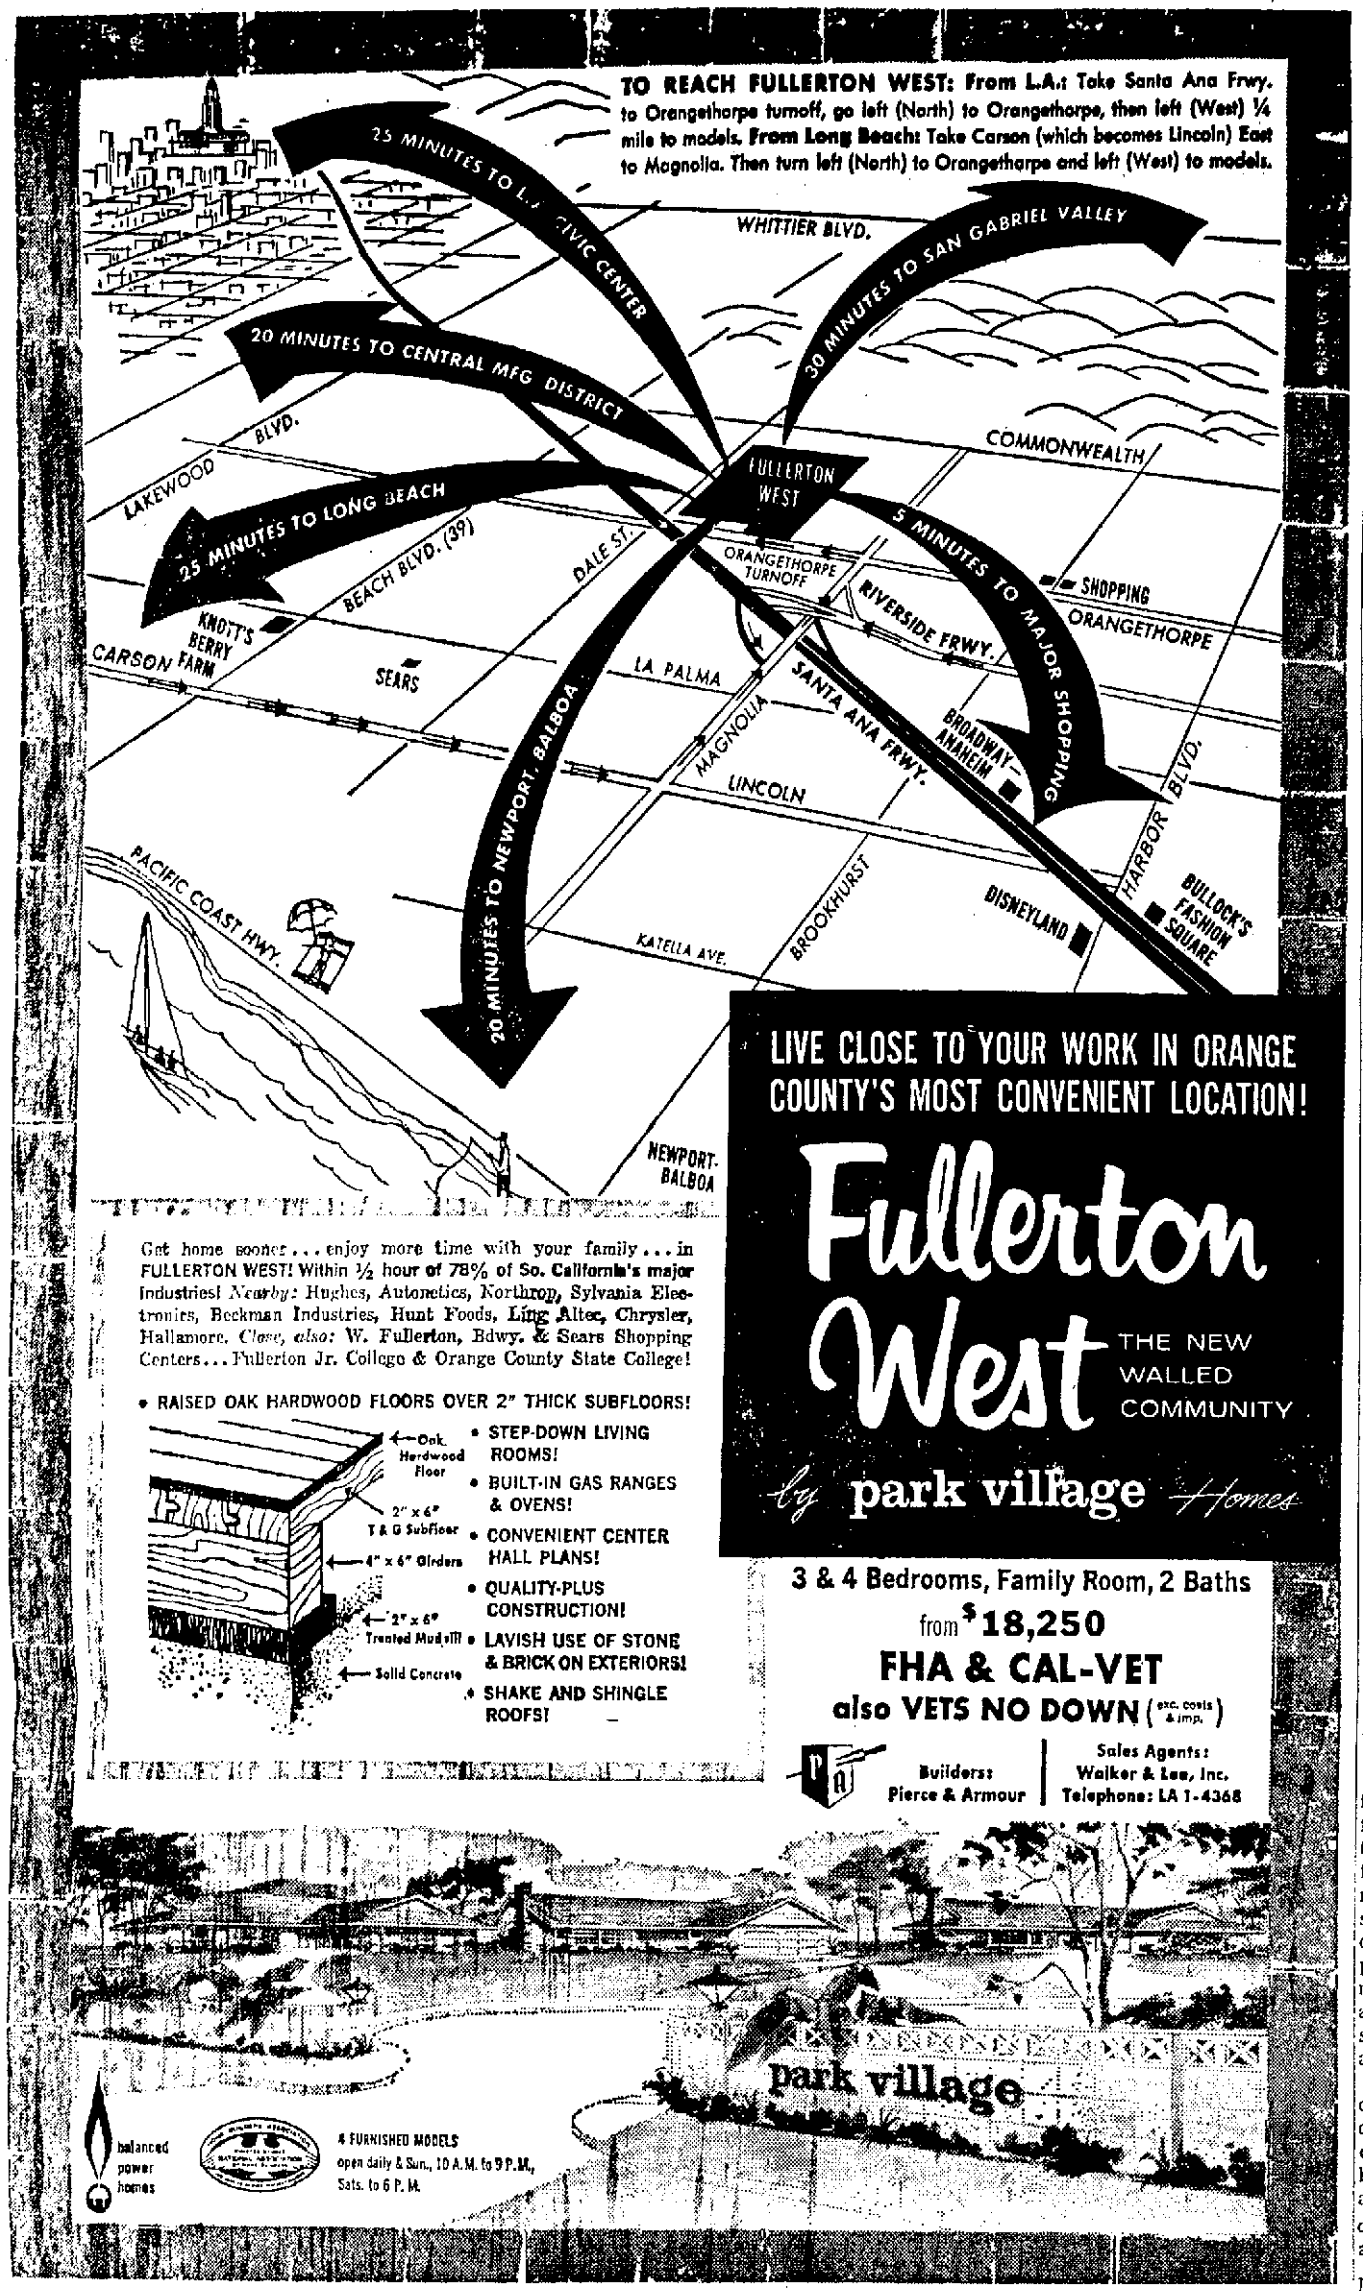

* * * *

AMONG THE many fine features are wood-burning fireplaces, sliding glass doors to the garden-patio areas, forced air heating with thermostat and summer cooling switch, attractive baths with colored plumbing fixtures and pullman lavatories, new decorator selected lighting fixtures and sound conventional construction with genuine lath and plaster walls and ceilings.

Kitchens are color-coordinated and equipped with color-matched range and wall oven with matching range hood with light and fan, semi-automatic faucet dishwasher, disposer, hardwood cabinets and counters topped with superamic tile.

Furnished model display is reached by driving from Long Beach east on Seventh Street past Long Beach State College, straight to Knott Avenue, and the models.

Spanish Style Home Is Proving Popular

IN GOLDEN WEST ESTATES

An authentic Spanish-styled exterior, complete with Spanish style roofing and attractive front-entranceway patio, is proving highly popular with buyers at Golden West Estates in Huntington Beach, said Jim McCarthy, vice president of McCarthy Co., co-builders with Sant Construction Co.

The Spanish-style plan also includes a secluded side patio, with both patios accessible from the spacious kitchen-family-living room complex, he said.

Besides the Spanish styling, Golden West homes are offered in Hawaiian, Monterey Ranch, Contemporary, Colonial, and Provincial exteriors.

* * * *

PRICED from $17,500, the homes include three or four bedrooms, family room, two baths, and a large two-car garage. Available are outstanding new 35-year, 5¼ per cent FHA terms. FHA down payments are from $800. Also offered are VA no-down-payment terms, as well as conventional terms with down payments from $695.

Quality features of the Golden West homes include modern breakfast bars, natural ash kitchen cabinets, sliding glass doors, forced-air heating, stall showers, large service areas, exhaust fan in kitchen and baths, center entry halls.

From Long Beach, the homes may be reached by driving east on Seventh St. to Golden West St., then right to furnished models.

Two Model Homes Now on Market

The final two model homes of the popular Anawood development in West Anaheim will be put up for sale today to close out the well located development, the builders reported.

The two landscaped and fenced models will bring to the buyer who wants immediate occupancy a choice of a three-bedroom home with family room or a four-bedroom home with family room, the Anawood builders explained.

* * * *

FLEXIBLE TERMS and occupancy within a few days is promised on either home. Both have built-in kitchens, custom cabinets, mural wallpapers, attractive fireplaces, wood paneling and many other features.

The four-bedroom home has wool carpet throughout and is fully custom draped.

To visit the Anawood model homes, drive east on Seventh street to Beach Boulevard and turn north to Katella, then east to Euclid and north to the models.

Right Words Aid Business

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) —Don't say "off season." Say "thrift season" or "economy season."

This can make all the difference in the world for a summer resort, G. Raymond Wood, executive director of the Southern New Jersey Development Council, told a civic group.

"The phrase 'off season has an indication that there is nothing doing," he said.

ON BOARD

James B. Taylor, 3925 Pacific Ave., general manager of the gas department of Signal Oil, has been named to the board of directors of the National LP-Gas Council, the sales promotion and public relations arm of the liquified petroleum gas industry.

Attorney to Talk to Accountants

Attorney William G. Wells, specialist in business and financial law, will be the speaker for the Nov. 15 meeting of the National Association of Accountants, Long Beach Chapter. The topic will be "Leasing—A Management Tool for Improving Profits."

Wells has an extensive practice with various leasing, financial and industrial firms.

The meeting will be held at the Long Beach Elks Lodge.

Big Pacesetter Homes in Mesa Verde Development in Demand

Sales in Unit 2 of Pacesetter Homes, exclusive Mesa Verde development, have already zoomed to the half-million dollar mark, although the first of these newest luxury homes won't be ready for occupancy until late November or early December.

That's the word from John Klug and Walter Gayner, partners in Orange County's fast-paced Pacesetter joint venture, and builders of Units No. 1 and 2 of the present subdivision.

* * * *

THE MESA VERDE homes, under construction in Costa Mesa's Mesa Verde Country Club district, represent only one of several fine home developments which have been initiated under the Pacesetter banner, and are responsible for an outstanding sales record thus far, according to Klug.

The development, which features a limited edition of custom-styled homes, offers a choice of four models, 15 exteriors and several floor plans. Unit 1, recently completed, still affords the purchaser who is interested in immediate occupancy, a limited choice of styles, sales manager George Niederauer reported.

According to Niederauer, an unusually popular drawing card seems to be the smog-free climate which the Harbor Area enjoys. "We're getting buyers from as far away as San Fernando Valley," he said.

Prices on the three and four-bedroom homes begin at $25,650 with $1450 down and conventional financing.

Pacesetter Homes are located on Mesa Verde Drive just off Adams Street in Costa Mesa. They may be reached from the Santa Ana Freeway by taking either Harbor Boulevard or Brookhurst Avenue to Adams Street in Costa Mesa.

Grand Opening Today for East Orange Grand Highlands

Grand opening of Highland Gardens in East Orange will be held starting today with furnished models open for inspection, according to Gilbert J. Hayes, sales agent.

The suburban area should please many families with children, with its quiet, tree-lined streets, yet Highland Gardens is within easy distance of many fine shopping areas, new schools and churches, Hayes says. The Newport Freeway, now under construction, is just a few blocks away and connects with both the Santa Ana and the Riverside Freeways for fast, efficient traveling to employment and the fun centers.

* * * *

AMONG MANY fine features, Highland Gardens homes have unique "living ceilings," which capture and reflect light; wall-to-wall carpets, built-in range and oven, forced-air heat, spacious living rooms, fireplace, kitchen cabinets in natural finish, exteriors richly embellished with stone, plus a host of other features tailored to the modern family's needs.

The three and four bedroom, and ¾ bath homes are priced at $16,995 with just $95 down, and are easily reached from the Santa Ana Freeway by taking the Chapman Avenue turnoffs east through the city of Orange to Alameda St., two miles east of Tustin Ave. Turn north on Alameda to Bond St. and the model homes in East Orange.

Setting Fast Pace for Sales

Fullerton West, walled community by Park Village Homes, reports its third unit one-third sold shortly after the grand opening.

The unusual public response is attributed by sales agents Walker & Lee to "the right house in the right location at the right prices and terms."

The development, while in a residential setting, is a couple of minutes from entry to the Santa Ana Freeway, and 25 minutes from Los Angeles Civic Center. Strategically located in the western section of the city of Fullerton, it is close to elementary and high schools, colleges, shopping centers, and major employment plants.

A WIDE CHOICE of three and four-bedroom and family room plans is available. Massive stone fireplaces and sliding walls of glass to patio and garden area are features of dramatic living rooms, many of the step-down variety.

Another popular feature is select oak hardwood floors over tongue and groove subfloors. Wrought iron railings, hardwood paneling, decorator wallpaper and shake and shingle roofs are other Fullerton West highlights.

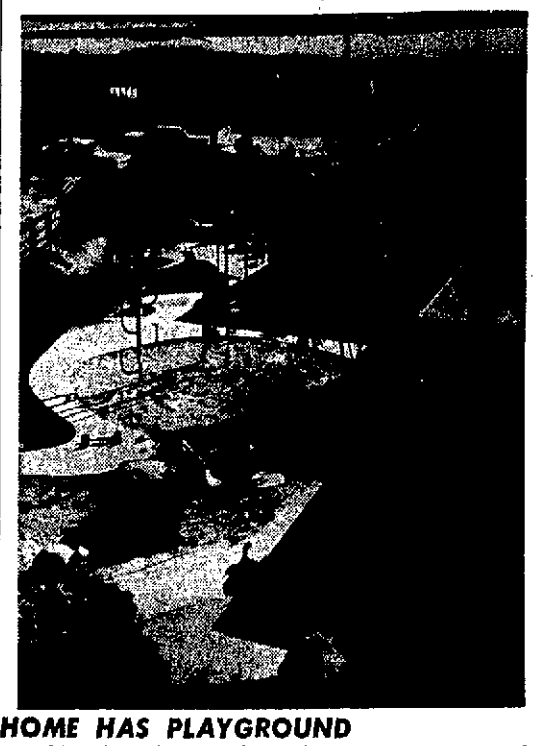

Kitchens provide built-in gas ranges and deluxe wall ovens with rotisseries, built-in menu planner desks, tile draiboards and ash cabinets.

From the Long Beach area, take Lincoln to Magnolia, then left to Orangethorpe and left to models.

Homes are fully priced from $18,250, and may be purchased on a variety of terms, including "VA-No Down" and FHA.

Big Niguel Terrace Sites Hold Appeal

HOME HAS PLAYGROUND
This Niguel Terrace home has a large playground showing how large the sites are for the homes.

Large lots on which homes in Niguel Terrace are being erected, have been meeting wide approval of home viewers.

To show the extra space provided in these luxury homes in Laguna Niguel, one of the model homes now open has a special play yard in the rear, in addition to a large patio.

Niguel Terrace and Monarch Bay are the first sections to be developed in this ultimate community of homes and apartments, shopping centers and churches, schools and recreational facilities, scheduled for completion in 10 years.

* * * *

OVER TWO million dollars in land and homes has been sold since July, with many homes completed or under construction. Thirty homes completed or under construction. Thirty homes will be available shortly.

More than adequate water has been provided for the entire project. The golf course is being landscaped for play next summer.

Houses with lot, start at $40,000. Lots are priced from $10,500.

Laguna Niguel may be reached via the Santa Ana-San Diego Freeway to Capistrano Beach, then north two miles on 101A Pacific Coast Highway or through South Laguna to 32802 Pacific Cst. Hwy.

"THANKS TO REAL ESTATE, MY SON'S GOING TO COLLEGE,"
says Mr. Martinez

"We've always hoped we'd be able to send our boy to college," Mr. Martinez told us. "That's why, years ago, I started saving a dollar here, a dollar there. The only trouble was, it wasn't adding up very fast...not until a friend told us the secret of how to save."

"For once in my life, I took some good advice. When we had a couple of hundred dollars saved, we went to a realtor and told him we wanted to make a down payment on some land for investment. He really worked hard for us, and finally found us a fine piece of property in a growing area."

"With his help, we arranged for financing, and a few days later the seller and I opened an escrow. The escrow officer was a real help, too. In addition to handling all the paperwork, he recommended that we protect our ownership rights with a Title Insurance and Trust Company title policy."

"This policy,' he told me, 'is your, and your heir's, ownership protection for as long as you own the property you buy. And, of all title companies, T.I. has the best facilities for searching the titles of California property. That's why I recommend T.I. to all my customers,' he said."

"Over the years, I've continued to buy land. When I get one piece paid for, I sell it for a profit and use the money as a down payment on another. The last piece I sold gave us enough money to finance my son's entire college education. California land's certainly been good to us."

"And, with every purchase, I've had my title searched and insured by T.I. They've got up-to-date land records plus the largest staff of title experts. That's why their service is so fast and low-in-cost. Take some good advice from me. When you sell or buy, specify T.I."

"'The secret,' he said, 'is California's own—California land. Over the years, it has increased in value. So, when you buy it by the month, you're actually forcing yourself to save a certain amount every month, and you're buying something you may be able to sell later for a profit.'"

Dutch Haven Moderate Prices and Location Proving Popular

MANY CUSTOM FEATURES OFFERED
This is an interior view of one of the Dutch Haven Unit 19 homes showing how many custom features are provided in the moderately priced dwellings in Huntington Beach.

Desirable location near several of Southern California's most popular beaches moderate prices and award-winning floor plans designed for family living are attracting increasing crowds to Dutch Haven's Unit 19, on Edinger Ave. near Bolsa Chica in Huntington Beach.

Previewed two weeks ago, the new community of "American Homes Series" residences is experiencing steady sales increases and all present signs point to an early sellout.

Edward S. Boyd, sales agent for Unit 19 said that another important factor contributing to the community's immediate success is the decision of developers to maintain previously established selling prices, while still offering custom features identical with those shown at prior Dutch Haven communities.

* * * *

UNIT 19 is the third Huntington Beach unit opened since May by Luxury Homes, Inc., developers of Dutch Haven communities. The other two units, No. 17 and 18, are on Bolsa Chica and on Beach Blvd.

The opening of Unit 19 places Dutch Haven development plans in the Huntington Beach area six to eight months ahead of original schedules. Speed-up of proposed plans resulted from unprecedented buyer response to Units 17 and 18.

* * * *

SEVERAL FLOOR plans being featured at Unit 19 have won national recognition in home magazines. There are 16 exterior elevations, including the Dutch Provincial, Ranch House, Colonial and Hawaiian modern styles which have been best-sellers at previous Dutch Haven communities.

Homes are three to four bedrooms with family room and up to two full baths. Prices start at $14,950 with $95 move-in cost to veterans on VA terms. Cal-Vet terms and FHA loans at the newly authorized 5¼ per cent interest rate are also available. There are no hidden charges, second mortgages or balloon payments, the spokesman declared.

To visit the homes from Long Beach, drive east on Seventh St. to Beach Blvd. then right to the models.

NEW 35-YEAR—5¼% FHA TERMS!

Sunkist Plaza FHA Terms Boost Sales

New FHA terms at Sunkist Plaza have inspired a countless number of sales, according to a spokesman at this Huntington Beach development.

The new terms incorporate a 35-year loan plan which in many cases has been the allowing factor for purchase of these homes.

Immediate occupancy at Sunkist Plaza has been another contributing factor toward the heavy sales of these homes.

This is the first phase of a proposed 2,200 unit development which consists of more than 100 contemporary-designed homes. The new homes feature the finest in construction and also four convenient floor plans along with 25 exteriors.

* * * *

THE PLANS include three or four bedrooms, family room, two baths, built-in gas range and oven, wall-to-wall carpeting, slump stone or brick wood burning fireplaces, and thermostatically controlled forced-air heating.

Other desired features include color coordinated range, hood and light with electric fan, disposals, lavish ash cabinets, coved Formica counters throughout, matico vinyl-asbestos tile, pullman cabinets in bathrooms, rock wool insulation over entire ceiling, and 100 amp. electric service.

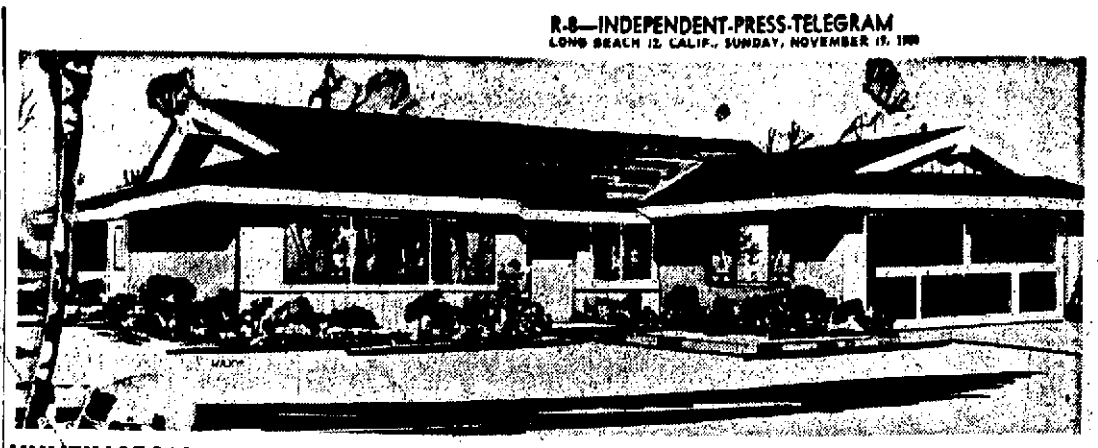

Other terms at Sunkist Plaza include Cal-Vet, along with VA terms of no down payment and just $95 total move-in cost.

* * * *

FULL PRICE of these spacious homes is as low as $17,450. Monthly payments are as low as $96.28, principal and interest.

According to Sy Bram, general manager, "Huntington Beach is the fastest growing area along the south coast." Bram reports that the community concept insures the buyer that every convenience and service is furnished. New shopping centers and schools, expanding local employment and recreational facilities are particularly suited to meet the needs of the growing family.

From Long Beach, drive east on Westminster to Springdale; right (south) on Springdale to models.

Now Selling Las Lomas Apartments

The first of a series of projects in an extensive upgrading and rehabilitation program will be open to viewers today in residential Long Beach, announced a spokesman for the Mills Construction Co.

Situated in Park Estates, the Las Lomas Apartments project is part of an improvement program which will total three-quarters of a million dollars when completed, the spokesman said. Completely remodeled and refurnished by the Mills Construction Co., the apartments are already 50 per cent sold to investors.

* * * *

ATTRACTIVENESS of the apartments lies in a combination of interior roominess, spacious grounds, and a favorable location in an area known as the "Beverly Hills of Long Beach," he said.

Las Lomas Apartments are situated just across from Recreation Park golf links, with easy access to inviting Pacific Coast beaches. Nearby are Long Beach State College and the Long Beach Marina.

Will Direct Home Sales

Costa Pacifica Inc., home building firm, has signed a contract with the real estate firm of Walker & Lee, Inc. to handle sales of four pilot model houses in Newport Harbor area, William O. Thagard, vice-president of the sales organization, announces.

Ted. E. Gildred and Dick Hoerger, partner-owners of the construction firm, said the four pilot houses will be ready for occupancy in the Newport Heights section of Orange County by Dec. 10. The models may be viewed at 2050-2054-2058 Aliso St. and 2059 Paloma Drive. In addition the firm announces 44 homes in the City of Orange will be completed by early spring of 1962," Thagard said.

Luxury Homes

(Psst, Santa! It's Only November!)

WHAT! SANTA CLAUS is here before Thanksgiving? Yep. And for a very special reason. He dropped in to help Rick Rackers announce the first of the big, bright holiday parties. Junior auxiliary to Assistance League will spearhead the season with a smart dinner dance benefit on Dec. 2 at the Lafayette Hotel. Shown taking Santa out of gift wraps are (from left) Mmes. Gene Kirkpatrick, Paul R. Parrish, Leslie Weed, Robert H. Lintz and (seated, right) Mrs. Ray Green Jr. His Honor, Kris Kringle (isn't it surprising how much Santa and Patrick B. Phelan favor each other?) enjoys his brief respite from busy chores ahead. Ball chairman is Mrs. Phelan. Her committee includes Mmes. Green, Parrish, Weed and I. S. Runolfsson, Dan B. Welty and Vernon M. Lewis. Invitations have been extended to civic and social leaders of this city.—(Staff photo by Joe Risinger.)

Ball Will Herald Merriest Season

Surprised to see Santa Claus—even before Thanksgiving? Well, Rick Rackers have been keeping him under gift wraps just waiting for this chance to announce the beginning of the season's glamorous holiday parties.

Their 11th annual "Winter Wonderland" ball, to take place Dec. 2 in International Ballroom of Lafayette Hotel, will mark the first major formal function of the Christmas season.

With its reputation as one of the most sparkling social events of winter, the affair is designed to raise funds for Assistance League of Long Beach Girls' Clubs. Rick Rackers is a junior auxiliary to the league.

* * * *

Music for dancing will be provided by Sammy Weiss and his orchestra.

A city-wide flurry of preball at-home parties are planned with each Rick Racker entertaining individually or joining with another member as co-hostess.

Lovely Mrs. John R. Brennan, chairman of Rick Rackers, will greet her guests in a Don Loper gown of emerald green peau de soie. Blond Mrs. Patrick B. Phelan has chosen a Ceil Chapman party dress of champagne peau de soie and lace with beaded bodice.

A striking Sybil Connolly original will be worn by Mrs. Ethel Severson. The dress, of Irish linen, is grey with pleated floor length skirt. With it she will wear a matching stole with white satin fringe.

* * * *

ALSO ADDING international couture interest will be Mrs. Reed Williams whose floor length gown of imported silk brocade is from Tokyo and Mrs. Kenneth S. Wing Jr., who will don a dynasty print sheath in red and gold from Hong Kong.

A heady print ball gown in shades of pink, lilac and fuchsia designed by Harvey Berin will be worn by Mrs. Robert A. Wenke.

Mrs. Norman Jaques has chosen a jeweled ice-blue satin gown for the occasion while Mrs. Robert Barmeyer has selected a floor length Ceil Chapman design with slender Grecian lines.

Festivities for the posh and fun-filled evening are to begin at 8:30 p.m.

ARTFUL ARRANGEMENT
Mrs. Mac Alan Freitag demonstrated the art of flower arranging when she entertained members of Tomo-no-yube in her home, 1718 E. Ocean Blvd.

Friends Gather to Talk

---of dolls, dances, kimonos, kotos

By ELISE EMERY
I. P-T Staff Writer

When friends arrived recently to spend an evening with Mrs. Mac Alan Freitag, 1718 E. Ocean Blvd., they bore armloads of fragrant flowers, bright berries, green grasses.

Soon tables and kitchen counters were heaped with carnations, chrysanthemums, lilies, roses. A dozen women gathered round as petite, dark-haired Junko showed them traditional and contemporary techniques of Japanese flower arranging. Then each guest began to create her own beautiful flower composition.

This was a meeting of Tomo-no-yub—a club with no officers, no dues, no formal organization.

There is just one requirement: Members must have lived in Japan.

IT WAS IN TOKYO that Junko studied the Sogetsu style of flower arranging with the master, Shuko. According to tradition, when she achieved a high degree of proficiency she was given a professional name incorporating the last syllable of the master's. She is now entitled to be called Kosen.

Before Junko and her husband, Lt. Col. (ret) Freitag, came to Long Beach they lived for a time in Guadalajara, Mexico. It was there that they learned from friends and from Japanese newspapers of Tomo-no-yube. The club was one of the factors that brought them here.

The group's sole purpose is expressed by its Japanese name which means "Evening With Friends."

"We get together just for the fun of sharing our knowledge of Japan and our experiences there, explains the originator of the club, Mrs. Donald Cannalte, a pretty young matron who lives at 4071 Perlita Ave., Apt. B, Los Angeles.

"MY HUSBAND and I lived for three years in Tokyo when he was working for the U. S. Government. When we returned a year-and-a-half ago, I talked so much about Japan that my friends finally refused to listen any more!"

With the help of her husband, now publicity representative for United Air Lines, the hazel-eyed brownette prepared newspaper notices inviting women who had lived in Japan to meet with her.

"I was amazed at the response. I discovered others who loved Japan and its way of life. We have about 25 members from Santa Monica, North Hollywood, Pasadena, Glendale, Los Angeles and the Long Beach area."

Not only do Tomo-no-yube members share memories of Japan, they also exchange views and discuss experiences in this country.

JUNKO, FOR INSTANCE, became an American citizen in 1959.

Her pride and enthusiasm are so contagious that several friends are now qualifying for citizenship.

Meanwhile, she is improving her English in adult education language classes, learning to shop in supermarkets instead of specialty stores and adapting cooking and dressmaking skills to American ways.

Others in this area who attend Evenings With Friends are Sumiyo Ogawa, 1455 Banning Blvd., Wilmington; Kimiko Stratton, 20817 Double Ave., Torrance; and Yukiye Kanshige, 1907 Galstea Terrace, Corona del Mar.

"We would like to have more members from Long Beach," says Mrs. Cannalte. "With so many Navy persons here, there surely are others who would like to share their Japanese experiences at an Evening With Friends."

Two Belles Accept Rings

Susan Stivers

Jill Hosier

Jill Hosier's engagement to John Michael Uttz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Uttz, South Gate, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ral Hosier, Long Beach.

The bride-elect revealed news of her betrothal to members of Delta Gamma at a recent ceremony in the sorority's LBSC chapter house.

She was graduated from Millikan High where she was a member of Anchor Service Club and from LBSC.

Her fiance, a member of the U.S. Army stationed at Ft. Devins, Mass, also was graduated from LBSC where he was a member of Sigma Pi fraternity. He is a past master counselor of DeMolay.

The wedding will take place late in December.

Stivers-McCarger

Engagement of Susan Stivers to Charles McCarger was announced recently at a family gathering at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stivers, Whittier.

The bride-to-be is a senior at Occidental College. She is a member of Kappa Mu Epsilon and president of Occidental Dance Group.

Her fiance, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black of Long Beach, was graduated from Wilson High and Cal Poly at San Luis Obispo with a degree in aeronautical engineering.

During his college years he was a charter member and pledgemaster of Kappa Chi fraternity.

The wedding will take place next July.

Allyn Jefferson and James L. Young Wed

Making their home at 4546 Keever Ave. following a honeymoon motor trip through Arizona and Las Vegas are Mr. and Mrs. James L. Young (Allyn Andrea Jefferson) whose recent wedding took place in North Long Beach Brethren Church.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. George Jefferson of Los Alamitos. Her wedding gown was of white peau de soie accented with seed pearl and sequins, its skirt falling into a chapel train. She carried orchids surrounded with tiny rosebuds.

Bridal attendants were Mrs. B. G. Dollar, her sister's matron of honor; Mrs. Thomas C. Creighton, Julie Fedderly and Cynthia Combs. Ring-bearer was Stephen Dollar.

* * * *

Mrs. James L. Young

Both young people were graduated from Polytechnic High School where she was a member of Phi Gamma Chi and Lambda Phi and he of Comus. They also attended LBCC.

PRE-HOLIDAY PANIC?

Here's Help for Hostesses

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

If you find yourself counting buffet plates and silver instead of sheep before you fall off to sleep, chances are you have the pre-holiday social season quivers.

"The majority of hostesses go through the same pre-party jitters," says clinical psychologist, Dr. Daniel Brower of Montclair, N.J. He advises that you analyze everything from peas to cues beforehand, and you can arive at a formula for those would-be snags to party success.

Some people fear that they will confuse the guests names, because of their bad memory.

* * * *

"THIS shouldn't happen if you memorize the names in advance and use word associations to do it. If you have invited a Mrs. Hall, for example, keep a large empty room in mind when you think of her," he advises. It's unlikely you'll call her "Mrs. Space or Mrs. Empty."

Another tortuous thought for some hostesses is that the party will be dull because the guests won't get along, he says. But you should have thought in advance to invite people who have something in common.

* * * *

"IT'S UP to the host and hostess to steer people into groups, reminding someone that a friend is at the opposite end of the room."

Steering friends to each other can be a trap, of course, Brower admits. Happy little cliques hate to be broken up, never giving a thought to the not-so-well-acquainted guests on the sidelines.

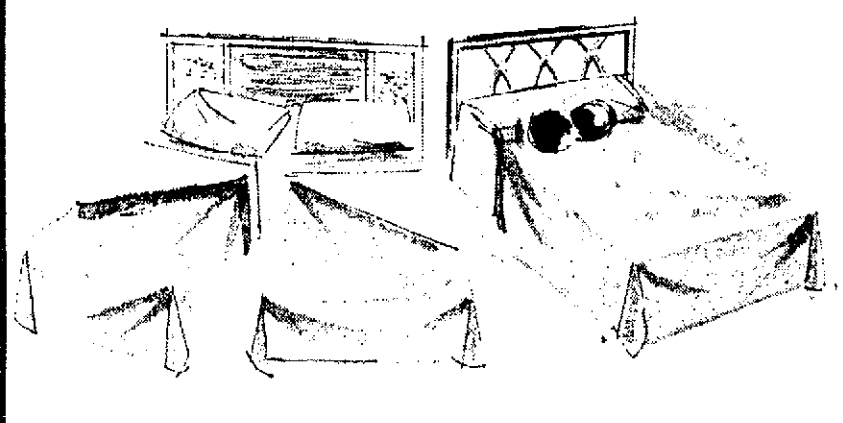

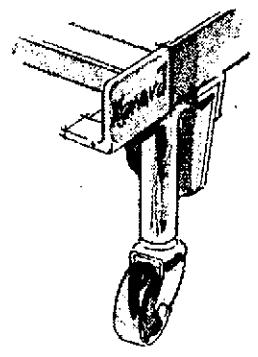

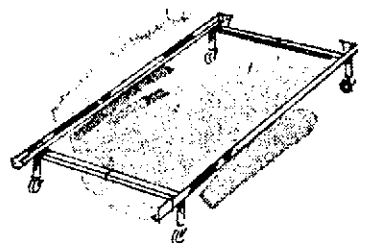

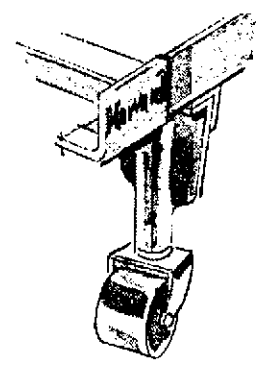

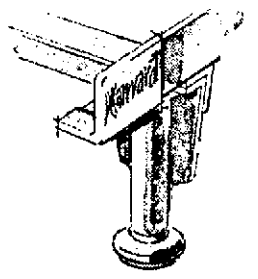

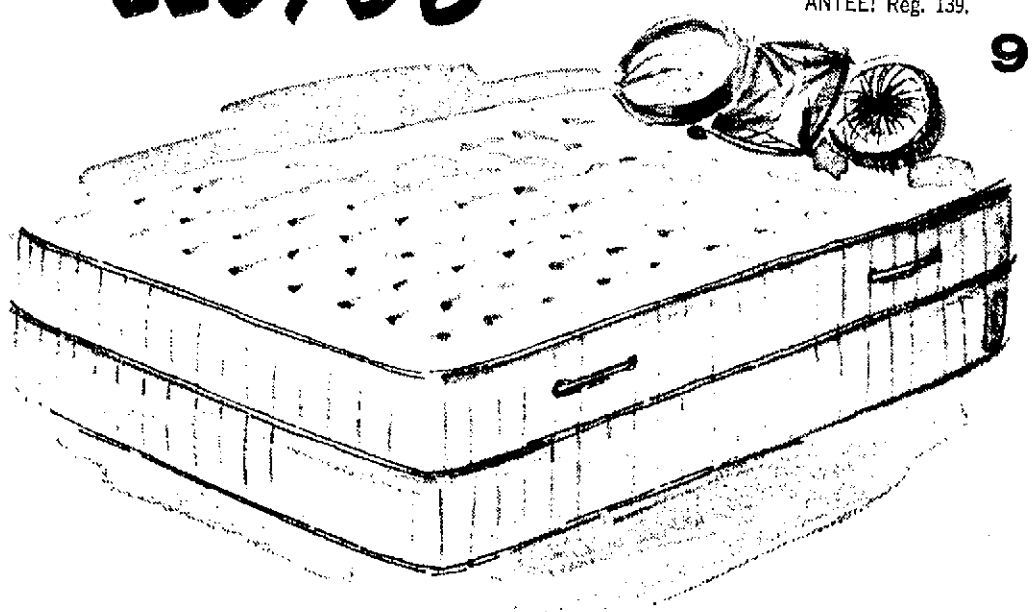

"The host and hostess should move in gently on little groups," he advises. "You don't have to break up the conversation obviously."

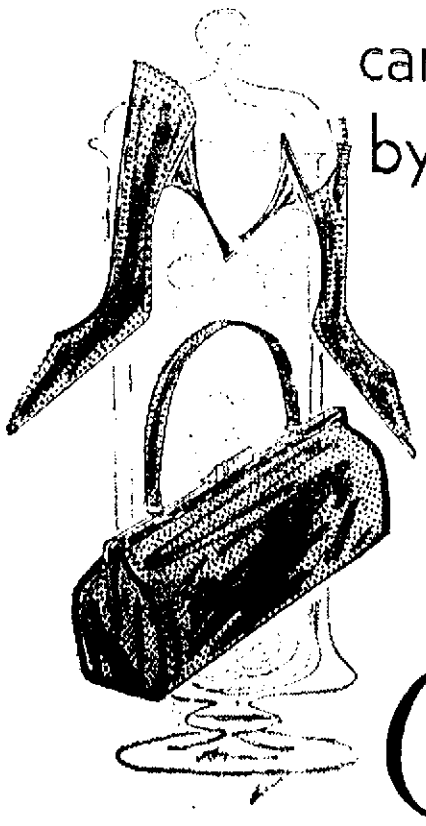

* * * *

WHAT to serve guests is another worry, but Brower advises that "most people come to see one another. Don't wear yourself out preparing food. Simple cheese and vegetable relishes should fill the bill."

An experienced party giver usually has a well-stocked bar for holiday toasts. But a large group can be a source of concern and expense unless you settle for a punch or one drink for all.

"Keep the bar simple," he suggests. "You can't expect to suit everyone. Some people drink and some do not.

. . . She Gives Credit Where Credit Is Due

By MARY NETH
I. P-T Staff Writer

Virginia Culver holds all the cards when it comes to unpaid gasoline bills.

As head of credit card collections for Signal Oil and Gas Company, she's in charge of mailing reminders to motorists running low on gas—the pay-later way.

Says she, "Most people try to keep up with their bills. Overdue accounts usually are due to loss of work, a budget-draining illness or mere oversight."

So, Miss Culver approaches her job of collecting dollar debts with lots of sense plus optimism and sympathy.

* * * *

AND IT'S NOT the impersonal type of work one might suppose. "People write chatty letters telling me all about their families, work and woes," says she.

Take the case of the lady whose note explained her expenses had doubled. "She included pictures of her two new premature babies as indisputable proof," says Miss Culver. "What could I do but give her extra time to pay?"

Miss Culver doesn't find customers' personal letters and calls a surprise. She's been in the collection business for 14 years here, plus many years in the east.

* * * *

"BUT I'M A RARITY in the field," says she. She is, as far as she knows, the only woman in oil industry holding her type of job.

What kind of person does it take to handle such a position? "One with a happy disposition, sincere regard for others and the ability to write a good letter."

Miss Culver's office includes a staff of six girls, lots of typewriters and plenty of letter openers.

"We send and receive about 700 letters a week." Accounts include service station customers in California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Texas, Louisiana and Florida.

"As we aim to retain the customer, we write letters to the point but friendly," she explains.

Results are sometimes puzzling. "The same letter to two persons will get two entirely different reactions. One customer will thank us for the kind note, the other will chide us for being so snippy," says she.

Though reactions are individual, Miss Culver has found that similarities do appear in her mountains of mail. "Handwriting is revealing," she says. "A person deeply trouble and depressed invariably writes his lines with a down to the bottom of the page slant."

* * * *

TO MAINTAIN a good feeling between customer and company, Miss Culver sometimes goes out of her way in willingness to help.

"I hate to turn an account over to a private collection agency," she says. "Sometimes people do need help badly."

Take the time a tearful young mother called Miss Culver. No one would help her, she sobbed. Her husband was in jail and she had no money for bills, rent or food for her three children.

Miss Culver advised the young woman to go to the judge and tell him her story. She also sent the family a box of groceries.

The result, a happy ending for all. The judge commuted the husband's sentence, the babies were fed, and the account went back into the black.

* * * *

SOMETIMES Miss Culver finds her job has turned into a real detective game of follow-that-car nature. When a credit card is stolen and the thief goes on a "free"-way gas spree, she sends out a warning to the service stations.

* * * *

"THINGS ARE FAR from dull in this office," concludes Miss Culver. "I never know what the morning mail will bring."

Her favorite: The letter from the devout man who wrote that if God thought he should pay, the money would be provided. Until then the debt would have to wait.

"We were all greatly relieved and pleased when the account was paid," says Miss Culver. "It gave us the feeling that someone was on our side."

"DEAR ABBY" has nothing on Virginia Culver, 5960 Jaymills Ave. As head of credit card collection for an oil and gas company, she listens with sympathetic ear to many a tale of woe. Here, lady in distress, posed by co-worker, shows her sheaf of unpaid bills—tells how it happened. Says Miss Culver, "I like people so I try to help if I can."—(Staff photo.)

Whitford and Holmes Engagement Is Told

Beverly Ann Whitford

Engagement of Beverly Ann Whitford to Donald Eugene Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Holmes, Huntington Beach, has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David B. Whitford, Lakewood.

The bride-elect was graduated from Wilson High School where she was recipient of a Gold W award and member of a cappella choir. She attended Brigham Young University for four years where she was affiliated with the Theta Alpha Phi national dramatics fraternity and University Opera Workshop. She now is a member of Long Beach Civic Light Opera and the Morman Choir of Southern California.

Her fiance, a member of the United States Air Force, attended Compton College.

New Light on Beauty

For beautiful and flawless results when making-up, your face should be flooded with light as you apply your various beauty requisites.

One beauty authority points out that unless you can see every stroke of make-up that you apply, and are able to see the colors in their true shades, your making-up application will fall short of perfection. If you are making-up for daytime, apply your requisites near a window where the light is abundant enough to guide you.

FEELING LIKE they were part of the headline news of the day were Bob Dilday and son, Burr, when they boarded a plane for Mexico City Tuesday. They were flight-mates of India's Prime Minister Nehru. I am told that Bob and Burr and all other passengers were carefully checked — fine-tooth combed with a geiger counter, as well, to safeguard the distinguished visitor.

Once aboard it is safe to imagine they shared Nehru's huge birthday cake which was presented to him at the airport and which (geiger counted, too, undoubtedly) went along for the flight.

Bob went to attend a Shrine event; Burr planned to do some "tiger hunting" —the jaguar type pussycat. They'll be gone ten days.

MAYBE YOU CAN keep a good man down—but you can't keep him from getting where he wants to be. As a case in point take Willis Boyd, who is in a full body cast following spinal surgery a month ago. When he heard the I.A Yacht Club's annual family night program would feature films on a cruise to Tahiti he simply refused to be denied, as they say on the sports pages. He hired an ambulance to make the trip to Smogvale. Along went wife, Katie, and daughter, Jeanie, plus friendly attendants Jack Dilday and Tad Jones. Everybody, including the boys in white, had a whee.

NEITHER RAIN, nor sleet nor snow can stay the Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of the State of California from her appointed rounds. Nor dark of night or any other doggone thing, J. C. Florence Smith and husband, C. Curtis, are just back from a two-month tour of chapters in Northern California where they endured every kind of weather. After umpteen dozen stops in that many cities they decided Weaverville was their favorite.

DINING, dancing and old-friending it were a happy gang at Long Beach Yacht Club the other night. A few of those creating the sounds of merriment were Helen and Harold Teeple, Zeletta and Kenny Cummings, Mary and Wilson Emrich, Iola and Homer Souers, Joanne and Ben Polay and Kay and Warren Richardson.

TALK ABOUT your optimists! Bob Woodruff, who is currently residing at Harriman Jones following some tummy repair work, lies there gleefully dreaming about his release in a day or two. At the top of that day-dream is Bob Woodruff sitting down to a great, big bowl of chili! He candidly admits he thinks about con carne all the time; if the whole truth be known, probably sees it topped with chopped onions, served with side orders of salad with bleu cheese dressing and garlic bread. Dream on, senor. It can't hurt you —as long as it all stays just in your head.

"How Many Bowls?"

SCOUTS slipped up on reporting this one, I'll say. It's been a foursome for Jane and Bill Began since arrival of another daughter, Lora Louise, 'way back on Oct. 29. Tsk tsk. She's a diplomat, too. Chose to arrive on grandma Louise Began's birthday. Other grandma is Lora Mannex, who forgives this early favoritism.

BORROWING from the French to fashion their name, M'Aidez League (pronounce it, think of it exactly like May Day—the international code call for help me) is a fairly new group dedicated to helping with the community's psychiatric problems—wherever that help is most needed. They'll meet for a discussion and cocktail hour at Joyce and John Dixon's today. Joan Bradley will have her husband, Dr. Warren Bradley, there to answer questions—help the husbands understand the kind of good deeds their wives are performing in membership work.

IF YOU want to know all about future trends in china, ask a local Pi Phi. A number of alums scooted up to L.A. the other day as guests of Japan's Noritake Co. They went to help the company decide on which designs (70 were displayed) would be most saleable in the U.S. In return for the favor the alumnae's treasury will benefit in direct proportion to the number of people they took along to judge. A few of those involved were Judy Million, Lee Wright, Caroline Lockhart (these three the committee), Winnie Schlip, Bev McGuire, Helen Cunningham and Mary Wilson.

DUE HOME last Thursday from a glamorama tour of the Orient were Pat and Van Van de Water. They visited Hong Kong and Singapore (where they stayed at the famous Raffles Hotel), Bangkok and the "Mystery City" of Cambodia (featured in SatEvPost last week). They played the Pebble Beach of Japan, Kawana Golf Course at Ito, where the high cost of caddies (girl types only, they wrote) ran to fifty cents for one, sixty cents for the other. Apparently one was ten cents tsronger than the other. Anyhoo, returned via Honolulu.

ANTICIPATION is at high tide at Dorothy and Larry Updike's. Due to arrive next weekend from Switzerland (where they've been wintering in an honest-to-gosh chalet) will be daughter, Joan, and Bernard Cahier. As European editor of Sports Car Graphic mag, this is both biz and pleasure trip for them. Left their two small fry, Paul-Henri and Michele, in school in Switzerland and grandmother is triste. Will be here week or ten days before going to Nassau.

Golden Wedding Fete Today for Greivings

Their golden wedding anniversary will be celebrated today by Mr. and Mrs. William J. Greiving at a reception given in their honor at the Long Beach Petroleum Club from 2 to 5 p.m.

The Greivings were married in 1911 in Chicago, Ill. They have been California residents for the past 36 years, living for 20 years in San Bernardino where he was in the restaurant business.

The past 16 years they have resided in Long Beach and are now at 5362 Wardlow Road. Until his recent retirement he was associated with Hughes Tool Co.

CELEBRATING with their parents will be Mrs. Ray Stricklin, Rossmoor; June Greiving, Redondo Beach; William Greiving, Lakewood; and Lawrence Greiving, Lynwood. Six grandchildren who will honor their grandparents are Randall and Tony Stricklin; Victor, Tommy, Paul and Karen Greiving.

Out-of-town guests will include Mrs. Greiving's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Topp, Los Angeles; Mr. Greiving's sisters, Mrs. Eleanor Walsh, Phoenix, Ariz.; Mrs. Mary Austgen, Pontiac, Ill.; and brothers, Henry and Victor Greiving, Dyer, Ind.

Chapel Nuptials Link Localite, Oregonian

Garden Wedding Chapel was setting for an afternoon ceremony uniting Anne Elston Graham and Ralph Warren Adams.

Mrs. Ralph W. Adams

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norris J. Graham, 3724 E. Third St. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Paul Wright of Newberg, Ore., and the late Bert C. Adams.

For her marriage the former Miss Graham chose a ballerina-length gown of white brocade worn with a pearl crown and veil of illusion.

She was attended by her cousin, Jean Elston, maid of honor, and Eleanor Joyner, bridesmaid.

So Glistening Damp, So Fresh, So Color Right

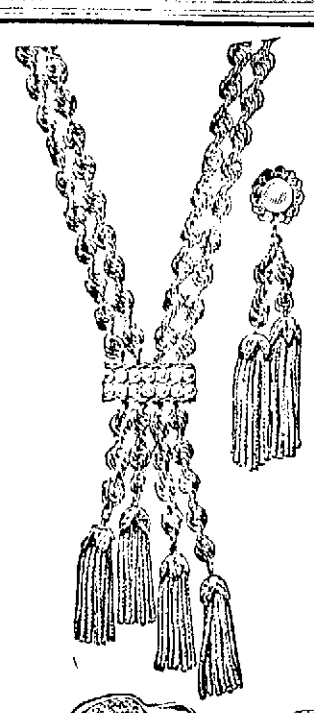

What I sincerely hope will be the final dust story of the year, by sheer force of lack of wind, is this: And this one was almost bad enough to make an old man out of Beverly and Lon Crabtree, both of 'em.

"How to grow old in a hurry"

Ingeniously they had hung all their living room shutters on the clothesline to paint them. As they hung there, so glistening damp and dewy fresh, left out over night to dry . . .

Yeh. The big, bold, dusty blow.

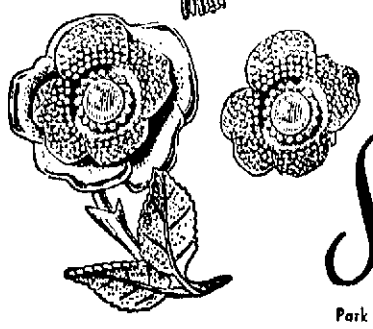

As if by extra sensory perception, the color scheme they chose was Desert Sand.

KINKIN-HOLLADAY

Mr. and Mrs. Gerard Kinkin Jr. of Lakewood are announcing the betrothal of their daughter, Sheryl Alice, to Richard Maurice Holladay, son of the Maurice E. Holladays of Long Beach. The wedding date has been set for Jan. 20.

Miss Kinkin was graduated from Lakewood High School where she was a song girl and member of Ceres Welfare and Socii Social Clubs.

Holladay is a Wilson High alumnus and attended LBCC where he was a member of Thor fraternity.

Tri Sigmas Slate Dance

Sigma Sigma Sigma alumnae will meet at the home of Mrs. Virgil G. Nolde 120 Surf Place, Seal Beach at 8 p.m. on Monday. Making Thanksgiving tray favors for patients at Long Beach Hospital will be on the agenda.

Mrs. Robert S. Gilman, social chairman, announces that reservations will be taken for the group's Christmas dinner dance on Dec. 2 in Anaheim, held jointly with Orange County Alumnae Association.

Newlywed Schmidas Return From Trip

The bride, the former Madeline Rumfola, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Rumfola of 2115 Zandia St. She was graduated from Wilson High and attended LBCC.

The bridegroom, who also attended LBCC, is a Poly High alumnus. He is the son of Samuel Catalano, San Diego, and Mrs. Val Scanlon, Long Beach.

For the ceremony the bride chose a gown of rosepoint lace and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

HER ATTENDANTS included Mrs. Robert Gallagner, matron of honor; Mrs. Richard Shockley and Dottie Mageean, bridesmaids and Kathleen Rumfola and Ria Petrella, flower girls.

Thomas C. Thompson was best man. Completing the wedding party were Kim Stowers, ring bearer and Gerald Eischen and Charles R. Rumfola ushers.

The newlyweds departed for a honeymoon trip to Monterey, Carmel, San Francisco and Las Vegas following a reception at Dominguez Hall.

Travelers Back

Just returned from a trip to Europe are Mr. and Mrs. David Weiss, 5409 Anaheim Road. Their trip included London, Paris, Italy, Switzerland, Israel and Greece. They spent several days in New York en route.

PLAN VOWS

Announcement is being made of the engagement of Jordan High graduates, Linda Sue Gough, daughter of the E. E. Goughs of Paramount, and Wayne Earl Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Johnson of Long Beach. A September, 1962, wedding is planned.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD

Traumatic Tresses

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

My wife and I are both in our late twenties and have been married for six years.

My problem came after our first child was born. My wife said she needed "perking up," so she went to the beauty shop and had her light-brown tresses dyed black.

I told her then I didn't think black hair was becoming to her and suggested that next time she have it dyed blonde. I pointed out it would make a nice contrast, as I have black hair. And I guess I made a mistake when I told her blonde hair would make her look slimmer, because you'd see the blonde hair first.

Not long after that this couple dropped by, and the wife is blonde and very attractive, and we did a lot of laughing and joking together while my wife was in the kitchen fixing the baby's bottle.

Well, she heard us laughing and all and it burnt her up and she started making remarks about "peroxide blondes."

Now, it's gotten to the point whenever I take my wife any place and there is a blonde around she creates a scene if I so much as look at her.

This is all very humiliating to me, especially since my boss's wife is blonde, and my wife continually makes snide remarks about the color of her hair. So far Mrs. Boss has laughed it off, but the wear and tear on me is terrible. — HUMILIATED HUSBAND.

DEAR HUSBAND:

I tell you what, why don't you hand in your resignation to the "gentlemen prefer blondes" club for awhile and like your wife's hair, no matter what color it is. You might also suggest that she try a nice henna shade if she wants a change, and drop a little remark that blondes do look faded after a bit.

But don't, for gosh sake, say henna hair would make her look slimmer. Just say it would ENHANCE her glamor. Women, well, you know how we are. At least you're learning!—M.M.

DEAR MRS. MAYFIELD:

I have a boy friend who I am allowed to see Friday and Saturday nights. I'm 16 and he is 17, and my parents won't let me date except week ends.

However, they are real nice then and leave the living room to us so we can watch TV and be alone. But it's the TV part that gets me down.

I think every fellow and his girl ought to get in a certain amount of love-making, let's say. Well, he won't kiss me, or even pet a little as long as one of his favorite programs is on.

When there is a half hour and there's nothing he wants to see, it's different. But then he'll look at his watch, and say hey, we mustn't miss so-ond-so or whatever, and all smooching stops by the next dull program.

What would you do?—AGNES L.

DEAR AGNES L.:

By gum, I'd have the TV disconnected, that's what.

But frankly, if he's that kind of a lover boy, who adjusts his lovemaking to a TV dial, I'd tune in on another one.—M.M.

What's on the Menu?

Dress Your Age, Please

Dressing for your age, whatever it may be, takes the ability to face reality. Most girls of 20 yearn to be 40 and sophisticated. Most women of 60 yearn to be 20, dressed in pastel, fluffy ruffles. Sometimes, they mix their roles and dress the part with disastrous results.

No country in the world has made it easier than this one for a woman to look beautiful at her age. But this means following a few simple rules of good taste.

SHE HAS a wealth of young, chic and infinitely flattering clothes to choose from. She is in her heyday in a country that favors youth. There are some must nots for the older woman, too, if she really wants to look her best.

No shorts, ever. Trim, tailored pants if she's slim. Otherwise, skirts, please! Or culottes. No two-piece or skimpy bathing suits. Preferably, bathing suits with cap sleeves to cover that upper arm.

Mrs. Joseph Meyer Plans Party for Son's Fiancee

More than 200 guests have been invited to a tea this afternoon by Mrs. Joseph F. Meyer of 6934 Long Beach Blvd., to meet Joan Louise Gardner, bride-elect of Robert David Meyer, the hostess' son.

Miss Gardner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Gardner, 6971 Lime Ave. Both young people were graduated from Jordan High School, and he attended LBCC.

The wedding is to take place Dec. 2 in Bellflower.

Pick Up Hollywood's Fashion Cue
...Style Drama, On Stage or Off

by mary ellis fashion editor

LONG AN EXPONENT of "at home" designs, Addie Masters interprets matte jersey into dinner culottes (above) of flowing lines. Deeply embellished at neckline with bugle beads. Don Loper's elegant and feminine restaurant ensemble (right) is of French re-embroidered lace. Matching peau de soie bands outline neckline, confine free-swinging jacket back.

Maybe it's because California designers never forget that the world's most glamorous movieland was born right beside them that they always come up with something so dramatic, so sexy and so frankly feminine.

Fashion editors from over the nation, in Beverly Hills the past week to review resort-spring collections, were once again reminded that California couturiers play a starring role in the tour de force that is American fashion.

For sheer dramatic effect, there's movie designer Helen Rose's long Grecian gown done in four shades of blue chiffon with a beaded bolero in Greek Key design.

For the "kind of forever" dress, there's Irene's black lorganza sheath with a cascade ruffle circling the neck and trailing down the front to the hemline.

Add to these Helga's airy evening things that fairly glide across the body . . . Walter Pearson's skirt animation, achieved through the use of softly folded panels and many tunics, both slim and full, cropped to show a scant four inches of underskirt . . . Travilla's floaty Loretta Young type creations and Marusia's printed silk costumes—all designed with one thing in mind, to make a girl look like a girl.

* * * *

CALIFORNIA'S arrogant couturier Don Loper, whose three-dimensional personality encompasses fashion design, decor and dancing, as usual sipped champagne while showing his "wears." Also, as usual, he wore a Loper signature black suit with tight, high-water trousers.

His fashion spectacular for the day: A full-blown polo coat, sashed and sporting puffy three-quarter sleeves eased into a band. Shown in pink, it comes in 36 other colors.

Another was his extravagant ball gown of cut velvet on satin, short in front and trailing in back—designed to put any lady in the pink, her husband in the red. "It has 42 shades of pink," said he. "Count them." (Editor's note: I was too tired.)

* * * *

Another look: silk dupioni body skimmers that can, by whisking away the belt, go chemise.

Oscar-winning Helen Rose, a pert and piquant brunette who has designed motion picture clothes for 20 years (18 of them at MGM where she still is under contract) does floaty, frothy things with chiffon—designed to make any swain swoon.

* * * *

AT THE HAUTE couture salon of former MGM designer Irene, fashion editors alighted from the bus onto a red carpet rolled to the curb. Gaunt models slithered down the "primrose path" runway wearing exquisitely tailored suits with Dietrich style slouch hats . . . tea rose and lavender floral dresses with umbrellas to match . . . and beautifully engineered peel-off suits with figured flip-sides to give them dual personality.

Chiffon, that old standby of sheer seductiveness, floats through almost every collection. Shown printed and plain, it comes in black, brown, navy, fire engine red, vivid green and a riot of pastels.

It rates as a chic fabric from the time you punch the office clock in the morning until lights out at night.

BOUVAIS BEADING forms pastel floral sprigs scattered over white sequinned background of gently fitting bodice on dress (above) created by William Pearson. Full, full skirt is of multi-layered white organdy.

Rossmoor Women Greet December at Gala Dance

Rossmoor Woman's Club will present its annual Christmas dance Dec. 1 in the Lafayette Hotel.

Mrs. Robert Beaver, dance chairman, has announced that ticket sales for the holiday event are being handled by Mrs. Charles Jones, 3311 E. St. Albans Drive, and section chairmen.

MORE THAN 400 persons are expected to attend. Deadline for ticket sales will be Nov. 27 with Mrs. Alan Polack responsible for table reservations.

Music for the evening will be provided by Eustice Rojas and his orchestra. Dress will be semi-formal with dance decorations to carry out a Christmas theme.

Yule Aid for Hospital Vets

Preparation is under way by volunteers of American Legion Auxiliary for their annual Christmas gift shop for veterans at Long Beach VA Hospital in pulmonary disease wards.

Each year a survey is made to determine needs, sizes, addresses of families of each patient. Gifts are provided by units of the 19th and 29th Legion Districts who purchase or make them.

They are taken to wards on carts so each patient can make personal selection. He signs enclosure cards, and gifts are then wrapped and mailed with funds provided by the auxiliary's rehabilitation fund.

The gift shop is under direction of Mrs. Jesse A. Burckle, hospital representative, and Mrs. Ernest Jones, chairman.

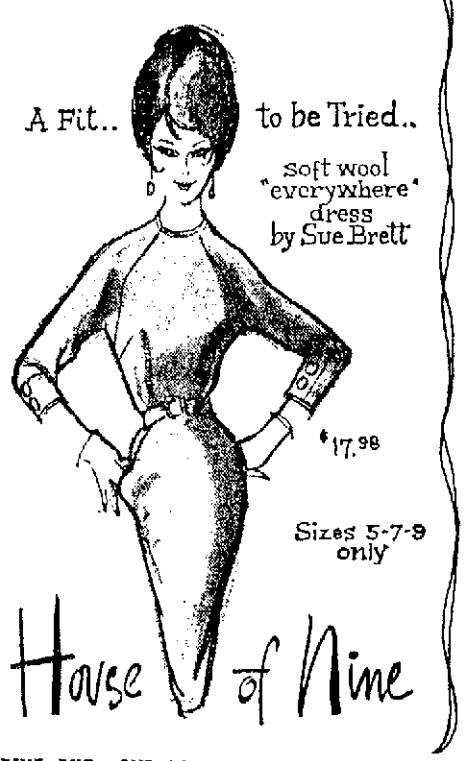

Use Cream to Foil Winter

If your skin tends to be very dry in winter, keep a moisturizing lotion on it all day.

Apply it first thing in the morning, then proceed with the rest of your make-up as usual. It will prevent cold and wind from drying out your skin during the day.

And at night, of course, use a rich cream to lubricate your skin overnight. If your skin has a moist, smooth feeling in the morning, your cream is doing a job.

THANKSGIVING NOTE PERMEATES BTD NEWS

Business, Technology

The spirit of Thanksgiving is being observed in a variety of ways this week by students at the Long Beach City College Business and Technology Division.

Dr. Lawrence E. Vredevoe, professor of education at UCLA, will address the student body assembly at 11 a.m. Wednesday on "Things That Matter Most."

Medical Office Assistants are now planning a complete dinner for a needy family this Thanksgiving. New officers of MOA, class of '62, are Jan Mason, president; Carol Simson, Frances Switzer, Susan DeLacy, and Mary McElwain.

To depart briefly from the Thanksgiving theme, members of the Airframe and Powerplant Club pulled off the most spectacular advertising stunt of the year when they arranged to have a helicopter land in the parking lot and to give Dean Clifton N. Patterson an aerial tour of the BTD campus. The object, and it succeeded very well, was to call attention to their sixth annual dinner, held Saturday night.

Finally, the ASB Student Body Council of BTD wishes to extend a sincere wish for a happy Thanksgiving to the entire community, in appreciation of the opportunities available to students at Long Beach City College.

Liberal Arts

The LBCC Liberal Arts campus will be comparatively quiet this week, since students will be dismissed from classes Thursday and Friday for the Thanksgiving holidays. But the poets, radio-TV students and thespians are all busy.

Jim Lytell of Skalds announces that the literary club is now accepting poems written by LAD students for the annual Poet Laureate contest. The winner will be suitably honored (with a laurel crown, yet) at the semiannual Publications Banquet in January.

Members of the Radio-TV Guild will travel to Hollywood Friday evening to tour NBC television studios and see the filming of the Steve Allen show.

With opening night just six weeks away, drama director Jim White and cast have begun active rehearsals for "The Late Christopher Bean," set to open Jan. 12. The word is that the last play ("The Skin of Our Teeth") was so successful that the next production will run for two weekends.

And history was made at the recent Women's Athletic Association regional conference when LBCC students Jerry Shulte and Wally Tucker appeared on a panel discussing coeducational sports activities. They were the first male delegates ever to attend the WAA conference.—DEL DANIEL

Dummy Saves Bid

Simon Becker of Philadelphia and Professor Eugene Davidson of Duke University qualified for the Houston tryouts by finishing second to Curtis Smith and your columnist at the New York Nationals.

Today's hand illustrates their aggressive bidding style and some fine dummy play by Gene.

Gene won the opening trump lead in dummy and noted that he would have little trouble with the hand if the spade finesse would work, but he suspected that it wouldn't and looked around for a way to avoid it if possible.

He decided to start with the diamond suit so he played ace, king and another diamond and ruffed third diamond in his own hand. This cleared up all his troubles with that suit.

HIS NEXT step was to lead two more rounds of trumps so as to get rid of any possible ruffs and also any possible red suit leads. Then he led dummy's deuce of clubs and put in his ten spot.

West won the trick with the ace and was completely end played. A club lead would allow two spade discards from dummy. A spade lead would be equally unfortunate for West and the hand was made.

Major & Minor Notes

SUDDENLY IT'S COMEDY ON TRAGIC OPERA STAGE

By RACHEL MORTON
I. P-T Music Critic

Just for variety in my column today I would like to tell of some humorous tidbits that have come to me in my long association with music.

Opera can be tragic, but it can, inadvertently at times, become comic. I recall a performance of "Tristan and Isolde" in which I was singing the role of Isolde. A very tense moment in the first act comes when Tristan, instead of sharing the poison death cup as agreed between them, is, like a true gallant, draining the cup himself. I reached over in my most dramatic gesture and with both hands seized the cup from him. Imagine my horror to find that I had at the same time pulled off his beard!

My very first appearance in opera was as Donna Anna in Mozart's "Don Giovanni." I mistook exits and when the curtain fell I was left outside the curtain to the huge delight of the audience.

Once our conductor became suddenly ill and a novice was rushed in. Things were going from bad to worse when I heard the first violinist hiss at him: "With us, guvner, with us!"

* * * *

MARIO CAJATI, conductor of the Downey Symphony, tells this true story. When a very young man, he conducted in a little opera house in Italy where the audiences did not hesitate to express their innermost feelings loudly and vociferously. The opera was "Il Pagliacci" and the baritone had sung The Prologue very badly. The audience booed and whistled and jeered. The poor, unfortunate fellow stood before the parted curtain until the frenzy had died down. Then he said quietly: "If you think I was bad, wait until you hear the tenor!"

* * * *

JAN POPPER told me that his first appearance as an opera conductor was really tragic. Waiting for the signal to begin the second act, he became impatient at the long wait and pushed a red button in front of him. Suddenly the theatre was empty and fire engines clanged outside. He had rung the fire alarm!

Only recently, in a performance of "Tosca" by the San Francisco Opera Company, I witnessed a convulsingly funny mishap. That wonderful baritone, Georgio Tozzi, was giving a stirring performance as Scarpia. Suddenly he seized a large empire chair and began chasing Tosca. All at once the stuffed back of the chair fell out and Tozzi continued the chase, his head and chest framed in the empty back of the chair!

* * * *

I LOVE THIS story. A German conductor, new to the orchestra, was having a bad time with the men. Finally he cried out: "Gentlemen, pleeze—the weiss (white) iss the paper, and the bleck (black) iss the notes. Play the bleck!"

Often on tour with the opera company in England we would "borrow" a youngster to be the child of Butterfly in Puccini's "Madame Butterfly." One night our Butterfly came off stage crying and wringing her hands, after the farewell scene with her child. During the tender scene she had been bitten on the ears and her kisses were warmly reciprocated. We discovered that we had with us a male dwarf of 25!

'Young, Damned' Film at Museum

"The Young and the Damned," filmed in Mexico by director Luis Bunuel, will be shown on Long Beach Museum of Art film series Friday at 3 and 8 p.m. There is no admission charge.

Bunuel depicts the outskirts of Mexico City where adolescent gangs fight out of hate, fear, lawlessness and hunger. It is a penetrating treatment of desperate, poverty - haunted youth.

LIMELITERS

East, West Meet in Newest L.B. Gallery

BY VIRGINIA LADDEY

Disavowing "East is East and West is West" is the Florence Ames Gallery which has in its opening show today both a one-man exhibit by painter Forrest G. Hooper and a collection of Oriental objects d'art.

Hooper's recent work has a mystical mood achieved by delicate, almost intangible, forms and colors. Oils vary from thin wash to high glaze, frequently with a pattern of fine lines scratched in. "Fading Dump" is a small oblong painting in washes of black and brown. "Beatrice" is a particularly sensitive treatment of that remote lady. Several of the works, like "Anatomy of a Building," investigate an unknown city.

* * * *

WITH MRS. AMES' personal collection as a nucleus, the Orientalia ranges through ceramics, brass, lacquer, porcelain, painted silk scrolls, and small sculptures in wood and ivory. In the latter is a lovely "Kwan Yin" with minuscule detail. A Japanese screen made up of six panels 5'5" high and said to be 300 years old, shows court scenes painted on gold.

A fragment of painted soapstone is most interesting; the artist has employed the graining of the material as part of his landscape. One ceramic plate has two surrealist bird-headed human figures on it. Two works of gold-painted black lacquer, an octagonal box and a fluted tray, appear quite ancient. Authorities on Oriental arts will enjoy identifying the many objects.

Limited Run for 'Godet' at Off-Broadway

Samuel Beckett's controversial play, "Waiting for Godot," opens Friday for a three-weekend run at Off-Broadway Theater, 211 Lime Ave.

When the play was produced on Broadway, it aroused audiences to such demonstrations of anger, irritation and enthusiasm that the producer printed this warning:

"We respectfully suggest that those who come to the theater for casual entertainment do not buy a ticket for this production."

The story concerns two dilapidated bums who fill their days as painlessly as they can as they wait for Godot, who will explain their interminable insignificance or put an end to it. They spend their time quarreling and depending on each other.

* * * *

In the Broadway play, Bert Lahr scored a personal success as one of the bums. In the Long Beach version the role is taken by Will Dimmitt. Edward Young plays the other bum. Paul Lorenz, Michael Nash and George Spelvin complete the cast.

Pianists to Compete for Award

The Kosciuszko Foundation of New York City, which provides several musical scholarships, again offers its national competition to select a highly talented young pianist for its Chopin award of $1,000. This will be the 13th consecutive year that this scholarship has been made available to young Americans or legal residents of the United States, regardless of their nationality, race or creed.

The first winner, in 1950, was Roy Eaton, a young Negro boy from New York, who within a few days received an invitation to play a Chopin concerto with the Chicago Symphony Orchestra at a young peoples' concert.

Van Cliburn was the third winner, entering the contest shortly after his arrival in New York from Texas. This was his first national recognition, a step toward a distinguished career and worldwide fame.

Final Auditions for 'Mikado'

Trained dancers, 14 years of age or older, are invited to attend final auditions for "The Mikado" today at 1 p. m. at Mayfair Park, Clark Avenue and South Street.

The production will be the next offering of Lakewood Philharmonic Association's Dance and Drama Workshop. Henri Scanlon will direct; Lillian Babo will assist with choreography.

Wins Art Award

John Bates, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bates, 3962 Gaviota Ave., was one of 12 students who won awards in the current annual Student Art Association show at Stanford University. He took third place in the water color division.

Panel to View 'Artists' World

By ELISE EMERY
Arts Page Editor

A panel discussion, of interest to both artists and laymen, will be staged by Long Beach Art Association Tuesday night in the association gallery, 800 E. Ocean Blvd.

The topic: The Artist and His World.

The panel will be composed of Florence Arnold, past president of Orange County Art Association; Bertha Lewinson, gallery director; Marvin Saltzman, artist; and Dr. Charles Thompson, associate professor of art at Long Beach State College. John Weeks, educational curator at Long Beach Museum of Art, will be moderator.

The panel thus is representative of influences that affect the artist — teacher, gallery, museum and art association.

Members will meet for a business session at 7:30 p.m.; the program will be open to the public at 8 o'clock.

CHASES, TURTLES AND GALLEY PROOFS

New World of 'Makeup'

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Mrs. Frank Hardesty, whose byline Betty Hardesty long has been familiar to readers of I, P-T Southland magazine and whose unbylined stories chronicle activities of Long Beach Branch, American Association of University Women in the women's section, was invited to watch the final stages of assemblying a Sunday section—from office to composing room. Following are her impressions.)

By BETTY HARDESTY

"Here's one to cut, Joyce," called a makeup man above the din of machinery in the composing room on the third floor of the Independent, Press-Telegram.

Joyce Kent, assistant women's editor, turned to assist Paul Hobbs who was assembling columns of type in a metal frame holding page three of the women's section for Sunday, Nov. 12.

At the same time across the narrow aisle, I watched as Iola Masterson, women's editor, helped Dale Livengood in cutting down her Wild Waves column to fit the actual physical space in the frame (chase) set up for page four.

From a narrow strip of paper (galley proof) printed with her column, she read the opening words of a paragraph and watched the makeup man locate and pick up the five or six lines. Thus they took out several paragraphs of type before he pushed the columns of type together to make space for the concluding words.

"Every word is precious, every single word," Iola quipped, "but out they go. Seriously, though, this is a problem I wish all club press chairmen—and even mothers of brides—could understand and why I invited you to watch us in action on 'Frustrating Friday'."

* * * *

I ARRIVED at the I, P-T at 10 o'clock, the usual time Sunday "sox" makeup begins, but on Nov. 10 things were running late. As it was explained to me, the makeup men first had to "kill" the type used in that morning's Independent as well as assemble the real estate section. Then, when the empty chases were lined up on their turtles (carts) advertisements were inserted before makeup began.

"The position of ads is prearranged, so we must fit our stories and pictures around them," Joyce explained to me as she pointed out the green "dummy" sheets standing in view to guide each page's makeup —one indicating ad placement, a second on which she had previously marked locations for photos, features and the big stories of that issue.

Attention was called, too, to the difficult process of preparing that Sunday's spectacular front page which contained a full length fashion figure in black and white plus two color pictures. The solution to this page problem was being worked out by Carl Lenz with the confident precision of 47 years experience with the I, P-T.

Joyce went back and forth, with me dogging her steps, reading type upside-down, double checking each page as it progressed, cutting as required and marking each story when used off her master schedule.

* * * *

WHEN A PAGE was ready, the makeup man added blank leads to make each column fit snugly, tightened the bolts on the chase and then wheeled it over to run a page proof.

As other page proofs were ready, they were taken to the women's department for careful proof reading by members of the women's staff.

"Even with all our care, errors still slip by," was one of their more rueful laments.

Each member of the staff cooperates in handling bridal stories, clubs, rewrite and features, and also each has a specialty. In addition to the tasks of Iola and Joyce, many of which I've outlined, staff members are Elise Emery, art; Mary Ellis, fashions; Mary Neth, P-T.A.

Their office's pale green walls are complemented by figured draperies at the three large windows, while paintings on loan from Long Beach artists add interest. Five matching desks are laden with paraphernalia of newswomen, even on a Friday afternoon.

"You imagine how my desk looks on Monday," Iola remarked to me, "when I tackle a 12 to 18 inch stack of mail."

She opens and reads each letter carefully, designating the size of headline and date of publication, before it is placed in a central box to be edited or rewritten by a staff member.

I learned, too, that, in keeping with the paper's policy, she has the responsibility of giving preference to photos and items which will attract the most readers.

I came away from my visit with the realization that in every news release, "each name and word is precious." Nevertheless, in the tense atmosphere of newspaper deadlines, page restrictions and column space, something has to give. Even, sigh, an occasional paragraph or page from one of my stories for AAUW!

Psychologist Speaker for Lawyers' Wives

Thanksgiving themed decor will grace luncheon tables for the meeting of Lawyers' Wives Club on Tuesday noon at Assistance League Clubhouse. Mmes. W. C. Babcock, chairman, Donald Lane, Edwin Illff and William Fitzmorris are in charge of the luncheon.

Mary Knapp, school psychologist, will speak on "New Horizons of Long Beach School System," and will be introduced by Mrs. Everett Demler.

* * * *

UNDER discussion during the business session conducted by Mrs. Jack Grisham will be details of the club's annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. Richard McWilliams.

Report on a state board meeting when plans were made for a Northern conference in Feb. 1962 at Stanford will be given by Mrs. Floyd Webster, state membership chairman. Decisions will be made concerning refurnishing of the Long Beach Legal Aid office.

GREEKS WIND UP WITH HOMECOMING TROPHIES

Here's a quick rundown on prize-winners at last week's Long Beach State Homecoming: Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity's float won the sweepstakes trophy, and with it the Mayor's and the President's trophy. Phi Kappa Tau won the novelty class award, Sigma Phi Epsilon was first in the "B" category, and Tau Kappa Epsilon was second in the "A." . . . on campus, Sigma Kappa sorority won first prize for their picture frame, and Alpha Phi was second.

Loretta Davis, Delta Delta Delta's very capable publicity chairman, tells us that Judy Irwin was named Phi Kappa Tau fraternity's "Honorary Pledge of the Year," in a recent ceremony on the steps of the Tri-Delt house which included a bouquet of red roses and some PKT serenading . . . last Wednesday was Founders Day for the sorority: the 74th birthday found the original five members at Boston University now grown to 68,000 in 107 campus and 284 alumnae chapters . . . come Nov. 30, Delta Delta Delta hosts members of the faculty and administration at the annual "Apple Polishing Party."

* * * *

SPEAKER FOR LAST WEEK'S meeting of SAM (Society for Advancement of Management) was Thomas Blodgett, president of the 1966 World's Fair in Long Beach. He explained some of the effects which this billion dollar exposition will have on SAM members and others in the Long Beach community.

Tonight, Phi Lambda Chi (pre-law club) meets in the Soroptimist House at 8 p.m. Ray Cullom, formerly with the Long Beach Public Defender's office and now in private practice, will be the main speaker. Three weeks hence, on Dec. 11, the group presents James L. Malone, associate dean of the UCLA Law School, in two campus appearances. The first, at noon in lecture hall 151, commemorates "Bill of Rights Week." The second, a luncheon for PLC members, finds Malone discussing some of the aspects of law school.

Delta Zeta sorority honored past chapter advisor Mrs. Frances Gregory at an open house last Sunday. Taking note of her untiring efforts in behalf of the chapter, DZ actives, alums, and members of the Mothers Club, presented Mrs. Gregory with a trophy . . . Sunday, Dec. 2, the sorority will have an open house for city officials, parents, friends, and neighbors . . . tomorrow night, the chapter attends an anti-Communist lecture at Long Beach CC; it will be the second event on the yearly standards program . . . three of the eight LBSC coeds listed in this year's "Who's Who in American Universities and Colleges" are DZs: Karen Koto, Lynne Winnik, and Colleen Logan.

Knights to Give Party

A gay Harvest Festival is planned by Lakewood Knights of Columbus to take place Wednesday from 9 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the council meeting hall, 4433 Village Road, according to Grand Knight Herb Stumpf of Cawley Council.

Dan Moss, council lecturer, is chairman for the dance and party which will feature a popular dance band, entertainment and refreshments. Members will have an opportunity to greet new members and their wives.

Chanukah Event

Newly formed Sisterhood of Temple Beth David will have a Chanukah workshop on Monday, 8:30 p. m., in Pilgrim Hall, Los Alamitos Blvd. and Katella Ave. Mmes. Harold Gordon and Arthur Becker are in charge of reservations. Items to be made have been put up in do-it-yourself kits.

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

For the Love of Texas!

DEAR ABBY: I am a college junior and my roommate is a guy from Texas. He keeps a shoe box filled with plain, ordinary dirt under his bed. Nobody is allowed to move it because it is TEXAS dirt. Do you think this guy is all there?- NOT FROM TEXAS.

DEAR NOT: Of course he is. It doesn't matter if he's got dirt UNDER him or OVER him, once a Texan —always a Texan.

* * * *

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: Every girl needs someone to talk to, but I am afraid I've been talking to the wrong person. She is my aunt. She is almost 50, and has never been married. She claims all men are no good, and has drummed that idea into my head ever since I can remember. I idolize my aunt, and have grown up believing everything she has told me. I am 25 and not married, although I have been called "beautiful," and I am constantly being asked out.

My aunt made me promise I wouldn't date a man until she met him. I kept that promise. I realize now she has found fault with every man who showed an interest in me. I recently met a man I could love. I broke my promise, and have been seeing him. I am afraid to introduce him to my aunt because I know she'll tear him down like she did the others. Should I introduce him and clear my conscience, or not?

—MIND OF MY OWN.

DEAR MIND: Your aunt sounds like a player who never made the team, but is right in there intercepting passes. By all means, introduce him to your aunt. But tell her how you feel about him and ask her not to blow the whistle on this one until she has seen him in action.

* * * *

DEAR ABBY: Someone who is soon to be in our family is badly in need of dental care and we don't know how to broach the subject. We are all very fastidious and this problem is fast changing our attitude toward this person. We fear it will be a hindrance in his finding employment in keeping with his abilities. Please advise us as it is causing us a great deal of angush.—ANGUISH.

DEAR ANGUISHED: The person who is responsible for bringing this man into your family should tackle the very delicate assignment and do it now. The man in need of dental care probably is aware of it—but has put it off, become used to the condition and is hoping no one else notices.

* * * *

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to Abby in care of this paper. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

WHY GROW OLD?

Varicose Veins Should Have Early Treatment

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Varicose veins are a pain in the leg to many women. Not only are these unsightly but they can cause much discomfort.

So many young women have varicose veins today. I have not heard a medical guess as to why this is. My own guess is that one factor may be the large families young people are having today. While many women have several children without developing varicose veins, pregnancy is often a contributing factor.

* * * *

THERE ARE many causes for varicose or enlarged veins. Long hours of standing or being on the feet, wearing apparel which constricts the veins and pregnancy all place a strain on these blood vessels. Inheritance also plays a part. Some folks are just born with stronger tubes.

Sometimes injections are used and in severe cases the veins may be removed by surgery.

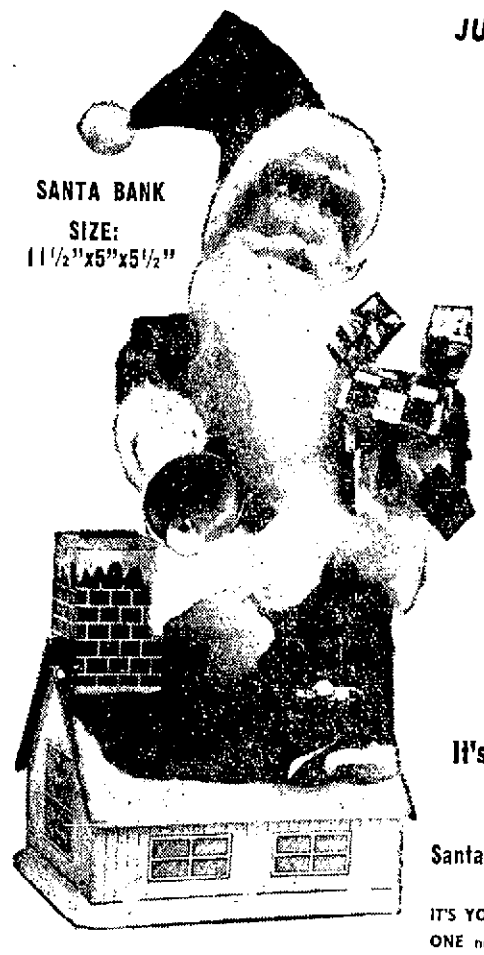

* * * *

IT IS important to treat these liabilities in the early stages. Elastic stockings which often are recommended, can be worn under regular stockings, and today elastic hosiery is so light weight that it can sub for the regular nylons.

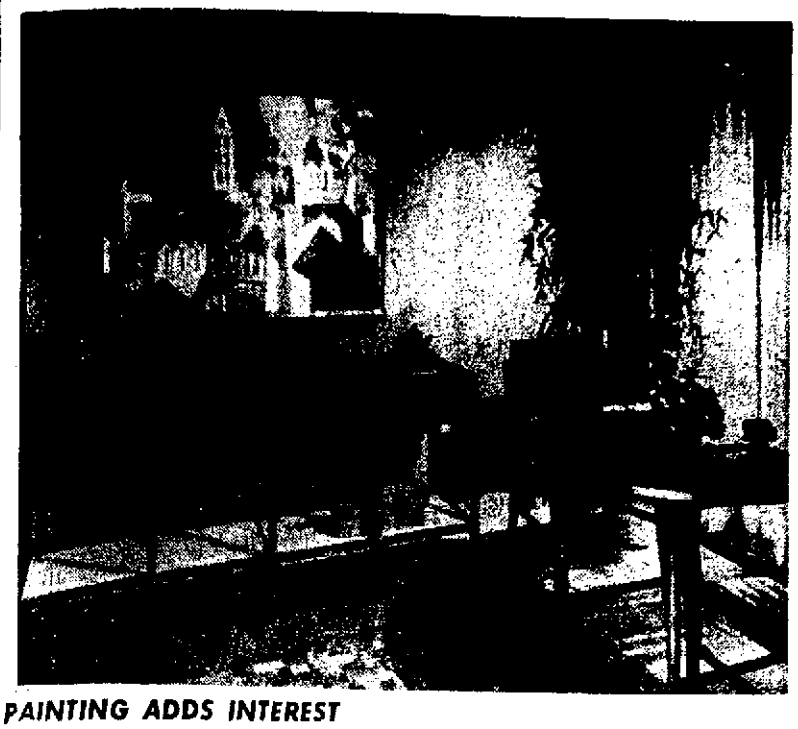

If you wish to avoid varicose veins, do not wear restricting clothing, especially round, elastic garters. Do not sit for long periods with your knees crossed. When sitting for some time get up and walk around the room periodically.

CHEF OF THE WEEK

He's a Director and Here's "Y"

By MILDRED K. FLANARY
I.-P-T Food Editor

His arrival in Long Beach brings to it the fine qualities of a man completely dedicated to his work—with a gee-whiz flash of humor—the patience of the gods, and leadership ability second to none.

Robert M. Farnham, today's Chef of the Week, is executive director of the new Armed Services YMCA, relieving veteran "chef" George McLean. Farnham is the son and brother of the late O. E. Farnham, and Daniel W. Farnham, local attorneys. Dan "cooks", too!

Farnham is not a newcomer to Long Beach however. He first appeared on the scene in 1923, straight from Belle Fourche, So. Dakota. It was in the dead of winter and he came complete with suitcase full of winter-protective "undergear". This he proceeded to spill as he alighted from the old U.P. train which used to chug up Ocean Blvd. He would like to forget, too, the time that he, while spending Christmas with his grandmother, signed-up for some "needy-family" Christmas aid. She, a pillar of society, didn't quite see his point.

After completing the requirements of Franklin Junior High, Poly High and Long Beach Junior College, he enrolled at Whittier College from which he was graduated in 1933. While there he shared fraternity doings with Richard M. Nixon, also a "chef."

* * * *

ALTHOUGH Farnham majored in business administration and sociology, it was his "minor" which became his vocation — YMCA work. Perhaps his dedication to the "Y" began when he "summered" in that endeavor while in school. Then, to cinch the deal, there were just two students in the "Y" class at Whittier, he and a lad from Honolulu. With a mind that extended itself, he figured the percentages of "being placed" were 99 to one. The depression was hitting hard at the time.

His first official position was with the Armed Services "Y" in San Pedro. When the first Navy YMCA was established in Long Beach, he crossed the channel to become its program director.

In 1938 he continued his Navy work in Norfolk, Va. Five years later, he returned to the West Coast where he served the Armed Services "Y" in San Diego, first as program director, then business secretary and finally as associate executive. It was while in San Diego that he authored one of the most eloquent slogans ever coined for a Community Chest campaign. It was, "We're carrying all our begs in one asket." The position of area executive of the USO in Wichita Falls, Texas, preceded his acceptance of his present position in Long Beach.

ROBT. M. FARNHAM

* * * *

A MEMBER of the Long Beach Rotary Club, Farnham serves on the military affairs committee of the Chamber of Commerce.

One of the pleasant sidelights of his personality is his fine tenor voice. It was while singing the lead in "The Mikado" that he, complete with wig and grease paint, met his wife. Theirs was a courtship which began across the footlights. Today his music is mostly confined to the Methodist Church choir and the SPEBSQSA variety—(barber shop, that is). He takes a mean aim with a golf club —and for family fun, they go camping.

By "family" we mean a married daughter, Kay, and a toddler grandson; a son, Bob, in the air force; and 13 year old Lyndell, still on the home front.

Today we show him busily flipping buckwheat hotcakes. We might just tell you that this picture was taken at the Armed Services "Y.". No family of three could ever eat that much.

BUCKWHEAT HOTCAKES

- 1 quart buttermilk
- ½ cup butter
- 1 tsp. baking soda
- 2 tblsp. baking powder
- 4 eggs
- ¾ cup hard wheat flour
- 1 cup buckwheat flour

Whip eggs thoroughly. Add buttermilk and soda.

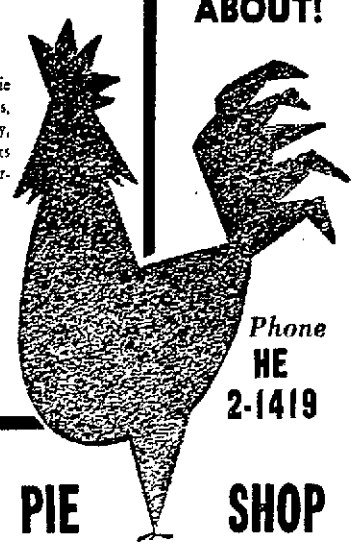

Sift together both flour and baking powder, and add to liquid mixture. Beat all together. Add melted butter. Bake on hot griddle or iron skillet.

OUR COVER

Rugged ship and sturdy Pilgrims crossed the sea and established new freedom, taming wild land and shaping it into a colony. They set a new tradition in their adopted home, giving thanks to the Deity for their successful venture and partaking of His bounty on a day set aside for the purpose. Thus was founded America's Thanksgiving Day. Among the symbols of this rite in modern times is the Pilgrims' ship, the Mayflower, and, in order that this symbol might become also an emblem of the friendship and the close relationship of two great nations, a new Mayflower, pictured on today's cover, was built in Britain and sailed to America. The story of the two Mayflowers is told on Page 7 as Southland joins in observing the day of Thanksgiving.

NEXT WEEK

Popularity of the poinsettia in the Christmas season has created a Southland industry that spreads brilliant color across hundreds of acres of farmland a few miles south of Long Beach. Hundreds of thousands of these rich red beauties must move to the flower market in the coming days and the harvest period is a time of festival in San Diego. Southland Magazine brings the story of the poinsettia and its legends next Sunday in "Flower of the Holy Night."

ANTIQUES

In Mrs. O'Leary's Day

By Helen L. Gillum

IT IS A LONG journey back to the first crude, hand-pulled, hand-pumped firecart of the 1700s, manned by volunteers who had to depend upon a bucket brigade and the village well to fight the flames. Gone, too, are the steam pumpers and the faithful fire horses of later years, who needed only the clang of the gong to set them to prancing in anticipation of a "fast run." Unique relics from those colorful days do remain, however, to intrigue the collector — and perhaps amaze the modern fire laddie, confidently manipulating his power-operated equipment of gleaming red and chrome.

Paul McGinnis of 1342 Market St. owns several of these mementos. Particularly interesting is a fireman's speaking trumpet, once an indispensable item in fire fighting methods. There were actually two kinds of trumpets, the hardy "working" trumpet of tin or brass being carried by "foremen" and other fire department officials to call the fire boys to "Turn out! Turn out!" at the first sign of a blaze. These were also used to shout instructions to the crew fighting the flames. That a trumpet could likewise serve as a handy weapon in the instance of a fight, or with the mouthpiece removed and plugged with a cork, as a "drinking horn" for ale or beer is probably worth mentioning here, to give the old-time souvenir full credit.

THERE WERE also the beautifully decorated trumpets of silver, ornate with carvings and inscriptions, and often inlaid with gold, which were known as "presentation" trumpets. These were strictly honorary or commemorative in nature, and given to the chief as a token of esteem at a special event. McGinnis' trumpet, while now blackened with age, could possibly be a silver presentation horn, for it is engraved, "Won at Catholic Orphan's Fair, 1867. Mechanics Fire Co. No. 7, by Popular Vote, Mobile, Alabama."

An old leather fire bucket owned by McGinnis is believed to date from the early 1800s. Fire buckets were first used in New York. They were made by shoemakers, and were hand-sewn and constructed of the best tanned leather, as were the very early fire hoses. The buckets hung on or near the front porch, ready to be tossed into the street at the sound of the fire alarm and the cry, "Throw out your buckets!" Firemen and civilians alike dropped everything to race down the street to the water supply, grabbing buckets as they ran.

(AN AMUSING story is told of the housewife who stored beans in the family fire bucket. The firefighter who grabbed this bucket, unaware of or forgetting the unusual contents, emptied the beans into the pumps, clogging them and rendering the engine useless.)

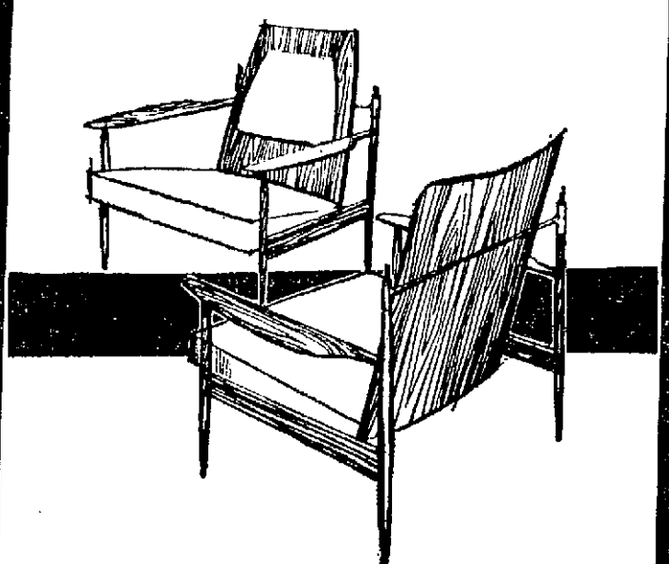

After a fire was put out (or burned itself out), a watchman was sent to shout the familiar "Claim your buckets!" which signified that the containers were waiting at the City Hall for the owners to retrieve.

The early type fire extinguisher is brass, was patented in 1830, and was made by Robert T. Deakin & Co., Philadelphia. Working on a suction-and-ejection principle, it could have possibly doused a small fire if zealously applied.

Originally, firemen's hats were made of leather. The one owned by McGinnis is made of aluminum and is dated 1900. It is interesting in that it bears the label, "Engine No. 9, L. B. F. D." It has a front shield and eagle-head holder, the latter being used for breaking glass in emergencies.

Havoc in the Beehives

By Aubrey B. Haines

LOS ANGELES County had 585 beekeepers with 21,000 colonies during the past fiscal year, but most colonies have been moved elsewhere in search of food.

"The colonies number between 35,000 and 40,000 during the summer," says A. Douglas Phelps, county bee inspector. "Most of these may be found in the Antelope Valley, where alfalfa abounds."

Drought has affected the bees for the third successive year. With no food in the hills, the bees can find nectar only on irrigated lands, where citrus and alfalfa grow.

As a result they have flown to Nevada, Arizona, and even as far away as Montana and South Dakota. Perhaps 10,000 colonies — or an estimated 90,000,000 bees — have left the Southland, accompanied by their keepers. A bee census is taken each Nov. 1 in accordance with state law.

Normally beekeepers migrate twice or thrice a year, following the crops. Some of their trips take them long distances. They do not have to pay for the privilege of treating their bees to flowering plants, for the ranchers appreciate having the bees around.

The value of the honey that the bees produce—over and above what they require for survival — is practically nothing compared with the value of bees for pollination purposes.

YEARS AGO, California had about 500,000 colonies and produced 10 per cent of the honey in the United States. The chief dairy state, Wisconsin, is also the principal honey state. Subdivisions as well as drought have cut heavily into the bee business. A good winter rainfall will bring the bees back to the Southland but not in their former numbers.

Scientists are fascinated with the study of bees. By observing bees' behavior, man has learned how to halt swarming and why the drones are cast out to die when food is short.

A queen becomes the parent of a colony, laying up to 3,000 eggs a day—until the food supply dwindles. Most of the eggs hatch into workers, or honey-gatherers. These are undeveloped females. The drones are males, and not badly needed.

Bees not only keep the hive warm but cool as well. They flex their muscles in extremely cold weather and can raise the hive temperature to 94 degrees. In hot weather they flap their wings and create sufficient breeze to lower the temperatures.

Not native to North America, bees were brought here apparently from Holland about 1634 by the British or Spaniards. Indians called them "the white man's fly."

Southern California's bee population and ranks of beekeepers have thinned by large numbers in recent years.

LA REINA RULE

WHAT YOUR NAME MEANS

Send your name to La Reina Rule in care of Southland Magazine, Independent, Press-Telegram, 604 Pine Ave., Long Beach 12, Calif., for origin, meaning and brief genealogy, for reply only in this column.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would you explain KINNEY, KENNEY and McKENNA. — K.K., Buena Park; M.M., Long Beach; C.M., North Carolina.

K.K., M.M., C.M.: KINNEY and KENNEY are shortened surnames from the clan MacCionaodha deciphered as "Sons of the Fire-sprung one," a mystic pre-Christian Gaelic cognomen. McKenna is another modern spelling of the old Gaelic name. The clan MacCionaodha were chiefs in north Monaghan. The family coat-of-arms has two narrow black vertical stripes between five red spur-rowels in the form of an "X" on a silver shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: What is the story on LA FOLLETTE. — G.F., Bellflower; C.B., Long Beach.

G.F., C.B.: LA FOLLETTE is based on the ancient French phrase "Foulet" meaning "From the place of the beechtree." La Follette, often spelled Follet, was acquired by a family living on property landmarked by a beautiful large beech tree. The Follet coat-of-arms was granted in Belgian Flanders. The shield is gold, emblazoned with three red mallets or hammers tilted diagonally. Robert La Follette (1855-1925) was a famous U. S. senator.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please analyze DAMMANN and DAMMAND. — R.R., E.A., V.H., Long Beach.

R.R., E.A., V.H.: DAMMANN began as a 13th century German trade title for a "Dam-man" or "worker on a dam or dike." This name also refers to a progenitor who lived on or at a dike. DAMMAND is a varied spelling of DAMMANN. The Damman coat-of-arms granted in Holland has three golden diamonds with red, circular center accompanied by four silver flames on a red shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Please give the origin of BONNINGTON.—A.F., Long Beach.

A.F.: BONNINGTON has an 11th century English background. The source was the old Anglo-French phrase "Bon-Ing-tun" meaning "from the Good-one's family estate." The Bonnington coat-of-arms from Derbyshire has a gold chevron centered between three gold roses on a black shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like genealogy on BECKHAM. —K.E., M.B., Long Beach.

K.E., M.B.: BECKHAM, nine centuries ago, described an Anglo-Saxon locality in England. Beck-ham is revealed as "Dweller at the combatant's estate." The Beckham shield has an ermine-coated stripe across the center of a background composed of checkered gold and black squares.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like the source of RAAB and RAABE. — B.R., Downey; H.R., Anaheim; Mrs. J.R., Long Beach.

B.R., H.R., J.R.: RAAB and RAABE are old German names altered from the 13th century hero warrior name Hrabo meaning "raven." The raven was held in great reverence as a symbol of wisdom in Europe in the Middle Ages. The Raab coat-of-arms from Prussia has a black, gold-crowned raven representing the name meaning, standing on a small green mound centered on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Am interested in NORTHCUTT.—D.N., Long Beach.

D.N.: NORTHCUTT was acquired by this family from their home town of Northcutt in Berkshire, England. Northcutt is a distortion of "Northcourt" which was a designation for "north-farm" in medieval centuries. The Northcutt and Northcott coat-of-arms from Devonshire has three diagonal black stripes crossing a vertical silver bank on a golden shield.

DEAR MISS RULE: Would like history of CROCKETT and CROCKET. — J.W., Mrs. H.V., Long Beach.

J.W., H.V.: CROCKETT, an early French-English and Scotch personal name, is from "Croquet" meaning "little, bent one." Primary ancestors include William de Cruket of Southampton, 1292, and Avicia de Cruket of Dorset, 1272. Crocket is the short spelling of this name. The Crockett coat-of-arms from Scotland has a blue chevron between three blue spur-rowels on a silver shield. The most noted American ancestor was Davy Crockett who died at the siege of the Alamo in Texas in 1836.

DEAR MISS RULE: Kindly give brief genealogy on VAN GUNDY.—Mrs. M.V., Los Alamitos.

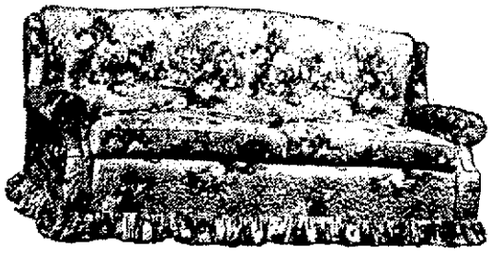

M.V.: VAN GUNDY is an American respelling of the Dutch surname Van Gundig or Van Gunde, which translates as "Descendants of the little warrior." I find no coat-of-arms or other data available on this old lineage.

No Thanksgiving story is complete without a chapter about

The Two Mayflowers

By Betty Hardesty

Drawing of the Mayflower as reconstructed in 1956 for building of the Mayflower II. Cutaway shows how supplies and human cargo were stowed.

SYMBOL OF the common heritage and continuing brotherhood of two great nations, the Mayflower II is moored at Plimoth Plantation as a gift to the United States from Great Britain. She is a duplicate of the vessel in which the Pilgrims sailed into their great adventure and to the New World.

The arrival of Mayflower II at Plymouth, Mass., on June 14, 1957, after her own voyage across the Atlantic was an occasion of international interest but the whole story of the accomplishment in the light of the Pilgrim story, is especially worthy of review at Thanksgiving time.

The Pilgrims set forth, originally, in two ships but the Speedwell proved unseaworthy and after making two false starts, 102 of the original 120 colonists in her crowded aboard the Mayflower. William Bradford recorded it this way: "Sept. 6: These troubles being blown over, and now all being compact together in one ship, we put to sea again with a prosperous wind, which continued divers days together, which was some encouragement unto us."

INFORMATION about the Mayflower is scant but it is certain that she was a ship of 180 tons burden. According to the official guidebook issued by the Plimoth Plantation Inc. (non-profit), she had probably been in the wine trade during her 20 years of service as well as acting as a whaler. Twelve of these years had been under Master Christopher Jones who sailed her for the Pilgrims.

How he managed to stow his "cargo" of more than 100 colonists and their belongings is somewhat of a mystery. Besides the discomforts of crowding and lack of privacy, rough and stormy weather because of the lateness of the season, had to be endured. The shores of Cape Cod were finally sighted after 66 days and on Nov. 8 the anchor was dropped in Provincetown Harbor. During the ensuing month groups of 15 to 18 men explored the shores looking for a suitable place for a settlement. Then, after they found Plymouth, it was several more days before the actual site was selected.

There was no wholesale landing of the Pilgrims on Plymouth Rock as depicted in popular illustrations. There is strong evidence, however, that the Rock then located at the mouth of Town Brook was used as a landing place, if not initially, at least as the base of a pier from which people and goods could be unloaded from small boats plying between shore and the Mayflower, anchored in deeper water.

THE SMALL BOAT used to land and explore was the Mayflower's shallop which had been cut down and stowed in quarters inside the ship. "Mourt's Relation" account of the Pilgrims says, "She was much opened by the people lying in her . . . and it was 15 days before the carpenter had finished her"—repairs. From accounts such as Mourt's and Gov. Bradford's and maritime records of three centuries ago, information was obtained to ascertain the dimensions for the construction of a second shallop which was ready in 1957 to meet the Mayflower II.

William A. Baker, naval architect who reconstructed the shallop's replica, had also been commissioned in 1951 to research for the building of Mayflower II. After four years of study, his conclusions published in the American Neptune, 1955, were quite similar to those of Dr. R. C. Anderson who made the first model of the Mayflower in 1925, now displayed in Pilgrim Hall, Plymouth. Baker's plans did allow more head room for the taller men of today who would man her.

From this model and many plan-drawings, the replica was built at 181 tons by 17th century formula. She is 106 feet long overall with 78-foot, 8-inch waterline, a beam of 25½ feet and draft of 13 feet, square rigged on her fore and main masts with a lanteen sail on her mizzen mast. One inexperienced with ships would speak of her high poop and bright red and green striped trim.

The events which led to the building of the new Mayflower began years ago and many thousands of miles apart. In 1947, led by Henry Hornblower II, a group of men in Massachusetts formed Plimoth Plantation to build a reproduction of early Plymouth as a dramatic setting for telling the Pilgrim story. Hornblower had already contacted experts on both sides of the Atlantic in regard to the feasibility of creating a new Mayflower as part of the plantation idea.

Meanwhile, a young Englishman, Warwick Charlton, who had been a press officer in the British-American forces of World War II, had conceived and become fascinated with the thought of building a new Mayflower and sailing her to America to foster Anglo-American relations. Charlton, therefore, proposed that the plantation plans be supplied him and he in turn would build and give them the ship. By agreement, Project Mayflower, Ltd., of London, began construction of Mayflower II in 1955.

HER MAIN beam was cut from a solid log of Devon oak of 116 cubic feet. That it measured only 55 cubic feet after converting gives an idea of the work involved in turning the working designs into a ship that would sail. Shaping and trimming the complicated timbers had to be done with an adze, a tool which has survived unchanged since Pilgrim days. In fact, some of the tools used were 200 years old. Timber for masts and spars came from Canada but the main mast was made of 80 feet of tough Oregon pine.

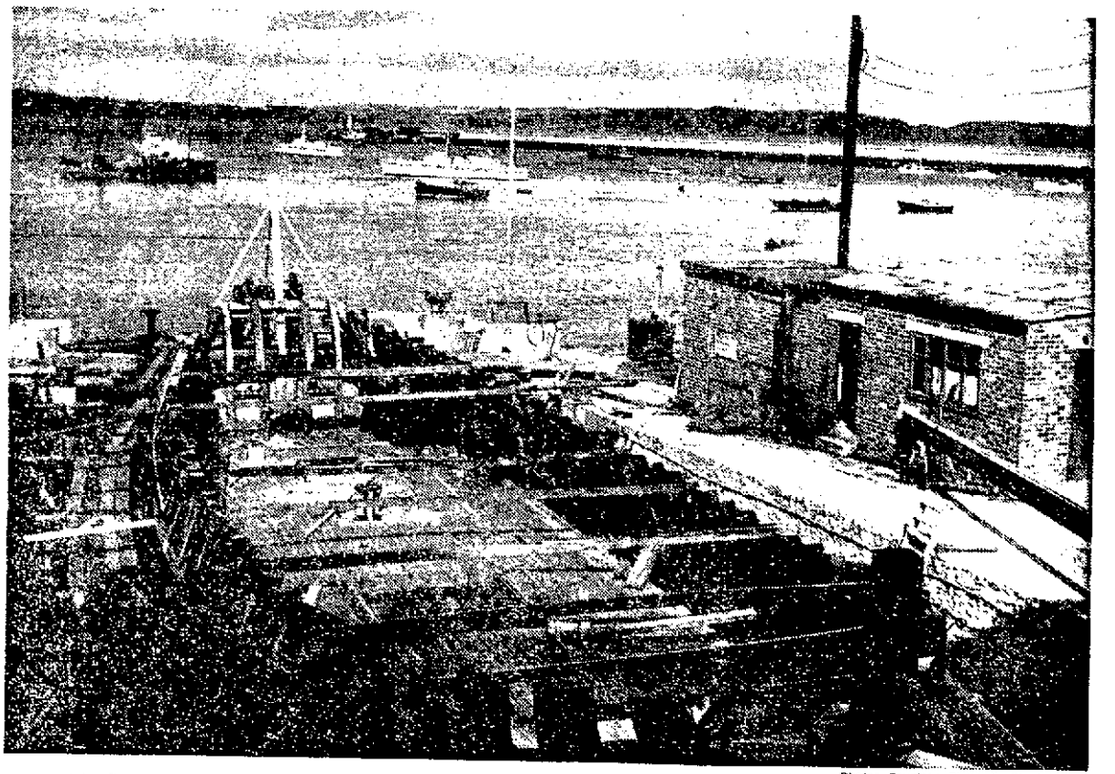

The know-how for making flax cloth for sails had been handed down for generations at Francis Webster & Sons and Harold Bridge of Brixham cut and sewed the sails by hand as builders and craftsmen fitted the ship in Brixham Harbor with special care and interest.

While Mayflower II was being built, her new captain, Alan Villiers, chose the 33 crewmen from hundreds of applicants. Capt. Villiers, as "rugged and square-rigged as the ships he sails" and considered the foremost writer on wooden sailing ships, wrote accounts of the construction and of the voyage of Mayflower II for the National Geographic Society, published in 1957. His existence, ability and willingness to sail the Mayflower II were providential. In 1930, he took the famous Joseph Conrad square rigger sailing school ship more than 60,000 miles around the globe and had sailed for 40 years when the Mayflower II put to sea from Plymouth, England.

Two days were required to clear the English Channel but on April 22, 1957, strong northerly winds caught the sails and the Mayflower II began ploughing briskly southwesterly. Bad weather, the little ship, short and jumpy, her top-heavy rigging and heavy ballast which made her "stiff," leaks above water line and other discouraging factors soon caused Capt. Villiers to abandon the plan to retrace the original Mayflower course. "After all," he thought, "I am bringing a mighty important little ship across the Atlantic."

INSTEAD OF making 10 knots, Villiers explains, she could make only 7½ and the longer route might keep them at sea 70 to 80 days. He decided to ration their fresh water to 30 gal-

Christmas Facts, Foods and Fancies

Christmas tree traditions date far back into history of the Old World. Modern ornamentation turns the trees into symbols of marvelous artistry.

Living and eating differ, but people everywhere feel the same about Yuletide

By Frank L. Remington

FOR ALMOST 2,000 years Christmas has been the most celebrated holiday of every year. Celebrated by all kinds of people in all parts of the world—people whose tastes in living and eating differ, but whose feeling about Christmas is the same.

Our Christmases never get "better" as the years go by, because the Christmases of our childhood are "best." Perhaps it is for this reason that we draw on the traditions and symbols of yuletide with which our parents brightened our Christmases.

To everybody, Christmas means shining lights and shining eyes, gaiety, laughter, peace and joy, as well as prayerful thanksgiving. Christmas means good cheer—and good food. Christmas is stuffed goose, plum pudding, roast beef, a wassail bowl, magi cakes or lebkuchen—depending on where you come from and what your inherited traditions are. Christmas is a spicy smell, filling homes from one end of Christendom to the other.

It was always so with Christmas. This, of all times to people everywhere, is the time of seasoning— the time when the magic of cinnamon, powdered cloves, ginger, nutmeg, anise, allspice and aromatic bitters are brought to bear on the foods which will grace the festive board. And the Christmas feast is an integral part of the holiday.

IN THE TIME of the Saxons, the festive board was spread with its "bord-cloth" and the guests waited for the two special dishes that marked Christmas: the peacock and the boar's head. The peacock, always borne to the table by a lady, perhaps the most beautiful of the female guests, sometimes arrived in the form of the crust, and its wide-spread tail from the other. More often, the bird was skinned, stuffed with herbs, and roasted. Just before it was served, the skin was replaced.

Legend has it that the boar's head was served to commemorate the brave English student who was attacked by a wild boar while he studied Aristotle in the woods. As the beast bore down upon him, the intrepid young man crammed the philosopher down the throat of the savage. Hence, the head of the boar was always served with a large apple stuffed in its mouth.

The English Christmas feast of that era ended always with a dish unknown to modern times. It was called "frumenty" and consisted of wheat boiled till the grains burst. When the mixture was cool it was strained and boiled again with broth or milk and yolks of eggs. As the years passed, more imaginative cooks added other things: raisins, prunes, mace.

By 1670, some enterprising culinary artist had revised the recipe further and chopped in some suet, to produce the first plum pudding. Today, plum pudding is as traditional in American Christmas feasting as it is in English. And American cooks have further embellished the plum pudding recipe of the Old World by experimenting with flavoring agents and seasonings.

MINCE PIE is also a decidedly British addition to the Christmas feast. As early as 1596, "shrid pye," or shredded pie, was popular. The delicacy symbolizes the gifts of the Wise Men to the Christ Child, representing a compound of the choicest spices of the world. Today many Americans still make their own mincemeat, a rewarding experience in itself.

To the English, too, we owe the origin of the mistletoe kiss. The Druid priests of Old England at Christmas time went out into the woods and cut mistletoe from the boughs. They blessed the branches and gave them to young men to carry to the homes of the people. It was the duty of the populace to accept the mistletoe and to show their appreciation for the blessing by offering alms to the young men. The mistletoe was then hung over the doorposts of the homes and it was thought that only happiness could pass under the branch.

In Scandinavia, the festive "bord-cloth" becomes "smorgasbord," which literally translated means "sandwich-table." This, however, is a meager description of the untold varieties of delicacies which adorn the Christmas table of the Swedish, Norwegian and Danish people and their descendants in this country.

Here are found, in wondrous array, cold roast pork with currant jelly, veal with mustard sauce, jellied calf tongues, and radish roses, smoked whitefish with capers, pickled herring in dill sauce, anchovies, smoked salmon, pickled pigs feet, assorted fruit and vegetable molds to create color contrast, molded fish mousses, endless varieties of cheese, brown beans cooked in molasses, meat balls, and half a dozen kinds of spiced Christmas breads. Many of the breads are baked only at the holiday season, and are as much a part of Christmas as the dawn church service, Jullotta.

CHRISTMAS in Sweden is also a time for glog, a Viking drink as old as the history of the Scandinavian countries and served to warm the bodies as well as the hearts of the celebrants.

Christmas, in all countries, has always called for special decorations. The earliest were the handiest—greens from the forests. Since the season determined that these be evergreens, the "Christmas tree" that evolved was a pine or fir. The use of trinkets on the tree dates from the early Roman days when masks of Bacchus were hung on trees to impart fertility to those who gazed upon them. The United States has a National Christmas Tree, so designated by the Department of the Interior. It is 268 feet high and is located in Gen. Grant National Park near Fresno.

For a young woman to accept a bunch of edelweiss on Christmas, in Switzerland, is also to accept the man who proffered it. In Denmark, some of the bread baked at Christmas is mixed with the seed at sowing time to insure an abundant harvest. In Spain, cows are honored at Christmas time because it is believed that cattle breathed upon the Christ Child to keep him warm.

In Czechoslovakia an unmarried girl who throws apple peels over her shoulder at Christmas time can read the initials of her future husband from the shape of the peels. It is an old tradition that associated Christmas with marriage, and it blends

Holly, too, has a traditional background as a yule symbol. Foods and fancies of the season run the gamut of Christian lands of the world.

Desert adaptation of the Christmas tree gets adornment by western gals.

Odd sidelights of history revealed in Southland exhibit

2,000 Years of Locks

By Bob Reardon

A STROLL through "2,000 Years of Locks," current exhibit at the California Museum of Science and Industry, Exposition Park, Los Angeles, reveals odd sidelights of history.

Perhaps the unsung lock has played a mightier role in the past than it has been given credit for. Or so it would seem by the 232 locks and keys on display which show man's attempts to safeguard his possessions and prisoners down through the ages.

One of the locks is said to have caused the madness of Ivan the Terrible. Suspicious of the fidelity of his Czarina, Ivan locked her in the royal suite and went off to war with the key. During his absence she gave birth to a child without medical attention. Both mother and child died. Soon after the tragedy Ivan began the reign of terror for which he is infamous.

ANOTHER LOCK, from 18th Century India, was used by a victorious conqueror to jail a group of 123 captives. Forced into a room 18 feet square, all the captives died. The room became known as "the Black Hole of Calcutta."

A string of 99 platinum padlocks in the collection was created for Catherine the Great of Russia by a master locksmith serving a life sentence in Siberia. Each minute padlock operates with a different key. Legend has it that Catherine was so impressed she granted the locksmith his freedom.

The jewel box of Queen Isabella of Spain, reputed to have financed the discovery of America, is also on exhibit. Etchings on the box are of the Queen, King Ferdinand, Columbus and other court notables.

Oldest of the locks, an Egyptian teakwood gate lock, dates back 2,000 years to the time of Cleopatria VII. It was discovered when the Suez Canal was under construction in 1865.

OTHER interesting items include the key to the room in the Bastille which held the famous Man in the Iron Mask; the key to Schoenbrunn Palace in Vienna; prison keys from all over the world collected by Scotland Yard; and keys used on the dungeons of St. Augustine Prison in Florida.

Also in the collection are early Roman keys found in the ruins of Pompeii; an ancient scorpion-shaped padlock from India; an ornate 15th Century German cathedral lock 24 inches long and 8 pounds in weight; and the key to the gate of Quebec.

The historic items are from the Schlage Lock Co. collection and will be on display through Jan. 3. The museum is open daily from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. There is no admission charge.

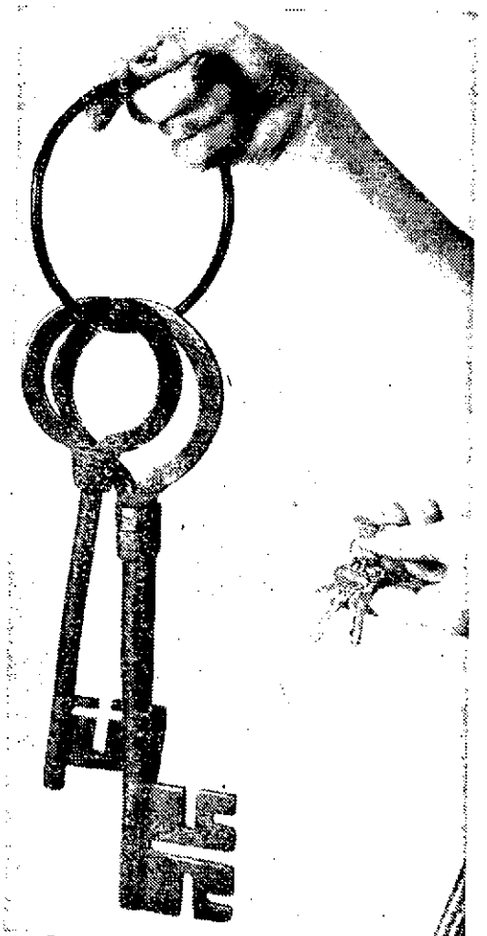

String of 99 platinum locks of Catherine the Great's time are on display in an historic lock collection at California Museum of Science, Industry.

In 1756, 123 captives perished in the "Black Hole of Calcutta," an 18-foot-square room secured by this brass lock.

Contrast: Tibetan temple keys, 300 years old, weigh three pounds, in contrast to modern door keys which weigh two ounces.

Hollywood at Night

Flame-tressed Rhonda Fleming's star seems to get brighter with the years, and she's always decorative in the lights of Hollywood at night. She started as a model, made the switch to actress, glamour girl and, most recently, singer. Above, she dines at a Hollywood night spot with attentive Ken Scott. And, if Ziva Rodann thought her gown would get her photo in the papers—well, see below! She's not at a costume party, the peppery young Israeli actress just felt like dressing this way for a night out. And she has the figure for it. Such a state of undress may not be necessary, but escort, Dan Busby, seems able to take it in stride.

Judge With a Different Slant

By Olive Breed

Writing verse gives relief from courtroom tensions for Superior Judge Frank Swain.

"SAN QUENTIN Convict Plans to Shoot Judge Swain."

When Judge Frank G. Swain read that headline in the newspapers, he had already adopted the philosophy he considers necessary to survival, "Always keep your sense of humor." He also had his sure-fire plan for easing the type of tension such headlines produce—he was, and is, a verse-writing addict.

The threatening convict was, and still is, petitioning for parole, to date not granted. The judge's answer a jingle, was not delayed:

"If I were shot dead by a stranger,
"I know that would mortify me,"

Which was also taken up by headlines across the country, and launched on radio by Lowell Thomas, which helped to introduce the judge's first volume of verse, "Judicial Jingles."

WITH HIS USC bachelor degree in hand, Swain, who was born in Florence and reared in Whittier, went on to Wyoming University, and from there to Oxford University as a Rhodes Scholar. His third year there was interrupted by World War I.

He was admitted to the bar in 1919, he practiced at Whittier until 1930, when he joined a Los Angeles firm as the partner of William Gibbs McAdoo.

In the 26 years since he was appointed to the bench by Gov. Merriam, Judge Swain has served in practically every special department of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, but perhaps the years spent in Criminal Court were most colorful and productive of slightly greater tensions and tests of his philosophy. He wrote of this period:

"I've had most able counsellors,
Defense and for the State;
But from this point I walk alone
While I decide his fate."

He states emphatically, "I do not write jingles on the bench, nor do I read them in court." And he adds, "Writing verse is not foolishness. It releases tensions that build up in the courtrooms, and if what I write has humor, this has been of great benefit. Humor has therapeutic value."

The nearest his verse writing ever gets to the judicial scene of action may be during the drive to his home which is built where Whittier invades La Puente Hills. If traffic gets light and his mind free, an idea might strike, in which case he pulls over to the curb and jots it down. Another fertile spot for ideas is his almost perpendicular garden on the side of the hill, in which case he takes a run uphill for pencil and paper. And Judge Swain is not above that old cliche, "I thought of it in the night," or "in my sleep," and keeps pad and pencil beside his bed.

DURING HIS term on the bench, Judge Swain gave as much time and energy as possible to the prisoners who, between conviction and sentencing, requested an interview with him. Evidence that these visits paid off is in the great number who came to see him upon being released.

"A man can keep his sense of humor in prison," declares Swain, "but this is not true of women prisoners."

Then there was a man in Folsom the judge could not quite dismiss from his thoughts. He did not want to make direct inquiry about him, but verse creates a world all its own, having nothing to do with men as the judge and the judged, and perhaps Frank G. Swain's most famous lines were entitled:

PROS AND CONS
"Our voices raise
In Folsom praise
For these unhallowed walls,
etc.

He was not sure the poem would be accepted as it was meant, but took the chance and sent it to the prisoner who had disturbed his thoughts. It happened that inside the Folsom walls this man was in charge of athletics for a three-day holiday game schedule. He published the Swain lines in the prison paper, together with "The Cons' Reply" from an unnamed prisoner, and Judge and Mrs. Swain were invited to the festivities. The Swains accepted, and went as guests of the warden.

The warden provided seats in the balcony for his guests, but the judge, who had offered a prize for the best loser, occupied a seat of honor among the prisoners in the quadrangle. He was pleased when many gathered around in friendly fashion as he was preparing to leave.

JUDGE SWAIN is in demand as a speaker, and has had experiences rare indeed for the contemporary poet, when several of the newspapers whose avowed policy is, "We positively never publish poetry," have asked him for his, and two of them, The Whittier News and the Los Angeles Daily Journal, publish his verse every week.

Now, as Presiding Judge of the Appellate Department of the Los Angeles County Superior Court, and president of the board of trustees of the Los Angeles County Law Library, one of the great law libraries of the nation (the largest branch of which is in Long Beach), Judge Swain still feels it necessary to find release from pressures inherent in the judiciary. His second book of verse is being prepared for the publisher.

Antiques, many of them with interesting backgrounds, provide a basic theme in the furnishings of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. West in Artesia. House has beamed ceiling, dark wood of Spanish styling.

SOUTHLAND HOMES

House With a

Dining room is seen here from the entry. The ornate clock is a rare antique item.

By Stella George

SPANISH in architectural style and with a small estate look, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don A. West, 11435 183rd St., Artesia, contains a treasure of interest and comfort.

The home is set at the end of a winding driveway that is flanked with flowers, shrubs and lawn, and in a site comprising something more than an acre. A collection of blue milk glass dresses diamond-designed windows of the dining room, visible from the driveway and offering a welcoming accent.

Interior beamed ceilings and dark woodwork are marks familiar to those with a ken of Spanish structures. Antiques predominate in the decorating scheme and most of them have interesting histories. A few new pieces were purchased to fill in certain areas and were chosen with such good taste that it is difficult to tell one from the other at times.

THE ENTRY HALL is large and square, almost the size of a small room. In one corner is a virtually priceless clock. It is about seven feet tall and of superb workmanship. Heirloom needlepoint pieces are displayed in the hall. On either side of the front door, recessed shelves hold antique bric-a-brac.

The living room is long, wide and high-ceilinged, well suited to the furniture it holds. A new Persian rug enhances and is enhanced by the fine pieces which rest upon it.

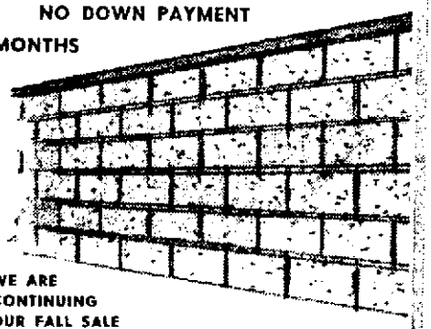

At one end of the living room is a stately fireplace with polished brass antiques on its hearth—many with background stories. A large picture window, unadorned by drapes which would spoil the view of the garden in the rear, is in a recessed alcove near the fireplace. TV and a comfortable chair or two are nearby.

Result of a 32-year hobby, a collection of rare blue milk glass is an attractive feature of this interesting dining room. The glass is set out on the buffet (right).

Small-Estate Look

Flanked by flowers and shrubs, a winding driveway leads to the entry, past window with glass display.

A tall crystal lamp on a table in a bay window near the couch could pass for a priceless heirloom. It is new. An organ is near the couch on the other side. A small, glass-enclosed end table filled with pieces of English china is near an occasional chair.

The dining room in the home is in the manner of the living room. A built-in buffet with cupboards and drawers below lines the entire wall beneath the windows in front. The blue milk glass is displayed on the top of the buffet. A collection of cups and saucers is on a high shelf above. An enormous collection of fine china pieces is hidden in the cupboard below.

A BUFFET on the other side of the room holds an old silver tea set and cruet. The mural which adorns two walls appears to be Early American, and fits well with the decor. Actually it is a French scene.

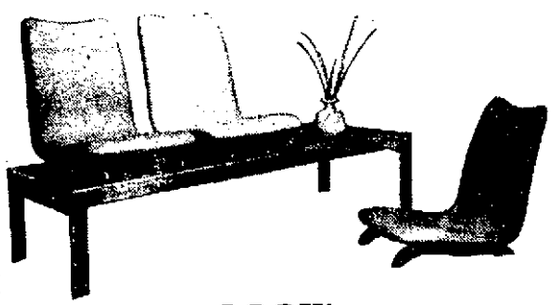

The master bedroom is spacious. At one end, gay wallpaper blends with the mauve of a room-length built-in chest of drawers. The bed is a four poster.

The second bedroom is smaller but nicely furnished. The far wall of the room is unusual in the sense that it is actually a large bay window which affords a view of the garden beyond.

The kitchen is not large, but very well planned. The dinette table folds back into the wall when not in use forming a cupboard door for many shelves in back. When pulled down, it is a regular dinette table; the design is an excellent space saver.

This is a warm, inviting home, reminiscent in some ways of homes in old England. Certainly, many of the fine antique pieces would be at home in England's finest private residence.

Snow Family Says 'Noel!'

'TIS THE SEASON to be jolly! And here's a happy snow family that will not only add cheer to your yard; it will add sparkle to the whole neighborhood. Snow or no snow, cold or warm, this delightful little group welcomes all holiday visitors. Even old Scrooge would be touched by the spirit of these light hearted snow folks.

Father Snow, who carries the lantern, is more than five feet tall. Mother Snow is about 4½ feet and as you can see, the youngsters and dog are in proportion. Mrs. Snow is sweet and demure just like all mothers should be. Like everyone, at this time of the year, the little boy and girl are having a good time dancing and singing Christmas carols. The snow dog wears a bright red sweater with Christmas bells on his collar.

HERE IS A group that will be just as much at home on your roof as in your yard. Because of the light colors, they show up brightly at night when lights are turned on them. They make excellent decorations for store windows, city parks, civic buildings or anywhere else that you may choose to show your Christmas spirit.

Building the snow family is easy because the pictures come to you printed and ready to glue on plywood, after that saw them out and they're ready to be placed in front of your home. The colors are waterproof and will withstand all kinds of severe outdoor weather looking just as good as new. They may be used year after year. Complete directions are included with each set.

TO OBTAIN the snow family pictures listed below, send currency, check or money order to Steve Ellingson, Long Beach Independent Press-Telegram Pattern Dept., P.O. Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif. Specify No. 218, Mr. Snowman, $2; No. 226, Mrs. Snowman, $2; No. 227, Two Snow Kids, $2; or save $1 and get the whole family including the dog, for $5. Ask for entire Snow Family assortment No. C-6.

WHAT'S YOUR HOBBY?

Her Dolls Almost Sing

By Anna Lemley

AN INTEREST in one subject leads to new hobbies and activities, according to Mrs. W. T. Thomas, 2611 Senasac Ave. Long interested in attending opera performances, collecting fine records and studying the stories and music of that magic world when the house lights dim and the curtains part, Marie Thomas had an idea. Why not a do-it-yourself project, the of a few dolls to represent well known operatic characters? The idea developed into a real hobby, unexpectedly became a way of preserving family keepsakes, and has resulted in numerous requests that Mrs. Thomas exhibit her unique dolls.

"The collection is not large for this is truly a do-it-yourself project, not a collection of already created characters," Mrs. Thomas explains. "I must study the costumes usually worn by a character, look for physical descriptions and temperamental traits in the opera score. The eight-inch dolls I use come with wigs of all colors and the facial expressions vary (I emphasize this, of course). One problem is that all the girl dolls have blue eyes and all of the boys have brown. Tosca's often mentioned dark eyes were my first task in recoloring the tiny eyes."

MRS. THOMAS designs and makes the costumes and jewelry, intricate work that takes time. Jewels are bits of earrings, sequins, gold or silver cord and tiny beads. Material is no problem although it must be beautiful fabric. Tosca's gown is heavy golden taffeta, a family memento made of material used for a bridesmaid's gown worn at the Thomases' son's wedding.

Carmen really started the keepsake angle, however. The lovely cigarette girl was complete — even to her very small rose. A family treasure from long ago, a dainty dress-up apron worn by Mrs. Thomas' great-grandmother, was edged in wide black lace and just right for making Carmen a beautiful heirloom mantilla.

Aida is gowned in filmy green chiffon, golden girdled. Lucia di Lammermoor's beautiful gown is made of white silk from China. The tiny barber or Seville wears striped sox and his black suit is edged with red and white trim. The gay little fellow seems ready to burst into a song. The filmy black robes of the Queen of the Night from the Magic Flute are studded with minute silver stars. Tragic Mimi from La Boheme is daintily feminine in rose and white and wears the lovely bonnet she so longed for.

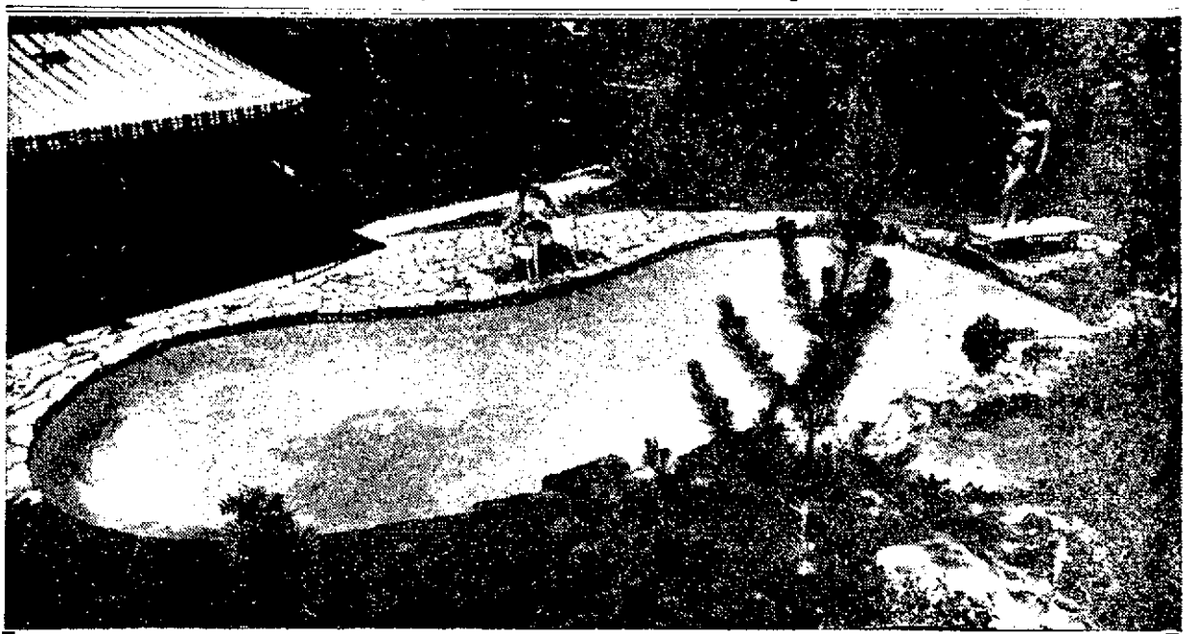

"MOST VIEWERS like Don Giovanni best," Mrs. Thomas says. "Certainly he was the most trouble to create. The cruel but dashing cavalier had to have a shirt front frothy with tiny ruffles, the hardest item I have made." The Don wears black boots, a handsome red velvet suit, and a black velvet cape that is a work of art in itself. Finding a plume for his tilted hat had Mrs. Thomas stopped until she mentioned her problem at a meeting of the City College Mothersingers with whom she has sung for 15 years. Members of the group searched for a real plume about one inch in length. The Don not only wears correct plummage but a memento of the Mothersingers Chorus. (The plume was found on a feather picture.)

Mrs. Thomas is searching for a dark skinned boy doll suitable for creating Othello the magnificent Moor, and plans an Oriental character, the much loved Madam Butterfly. She admits that her only real problem is finding a place to stop—a sure sign that a hobby is fascinating.

TWA Opens L. A. Space-Age Terminal

By Fred Taylor Kraft
Independent, Press-Telegram Travel Editor

View of Trans World Airlines' new space-age terminal just opened at Los Angeles International Airport. Jetway corridor in center unfolds accordion-like from boarding gate to load, unload passengers.

JET YOUR WAY around this shrunken old world and you'll stop at a score of ultramodern airports, but none more breathtaking in appearance and with more conveniences than the new space-age terminal opened last week by Trans World Airlines at Los Angeles International Airport.

Outfitted with latest electronic equipment, automatic weight-computing devices for baggage, passenger escalators, and decorated with murals reflecting the colors of the spectrum, TWA's new facility has been aptly described as a "unique symbol of the space age."

The terminal—representing an investment of almost $9 million by TWA and the City of Los Angeles—is a part of the 3,000-acre development which is the new home of the Los Angeles Airport, and consists of two labyrinthian structures, a ticket building and a satellite building.

TRAVEL WRITERS, civic officials and Southland dignitaries attending the official opening Wednesday were given a conducted tour of the facilities and shown how the terminal may handle the more than 500,000 passengers who arrive and depart on TWA flights each year through Los Angeles, and with more ease and efficiency than any terminal in operation anywhere.

Some of the new features pointed out by Bob McKay, director of public relations for TWA's western region, illustrate the space-age terminal's "better terminal for a better strip" concept:

The ticket building, fronting the main airport area street, features a modern 150-foot ticket counter designed to speed passenger check-in procedures;

A NEW BAGGAGE weighing scale device which automatically computes the weight as well as the rate for over-weight baggage;

A baggage handling system which includes a 700-foot-long conveyor belt that moves luggage from the plane to the claim area at the rate of 150 feet per minute;

A carousel-type device which enables the passenger to stand leisurely by while his luggage rotates past him on a huge revolving "merry-go-round."

Other outstanding features of the ticket building are the latest in electronic flight information equipment, including closed circuit television and a giant electronic board which flashes latest flight information to waiting passengers.

DECOR AND design of both buildings create a California atmosphere and flavor. For example, the restaurant is decorated in the theme of California desert and mountain living.

Largest of the two structures is the satellite building which stands alone on the parking apron. Oval shaped, it provides 10 boarding ramps served by massive Jetway portable corridors which move accordion-like into position at the doorways of the TWA SuperJets. The interior of the structure, the huge, airy lobbies, are lighted floor to ceiling by windows of tinted glass which surround the perimeter of the satellite.

Underground passageways, decorated with murals, connect the buildings. They end with an escalator system which carries the passengers into the dome-like rotunda in the center of the satellite. Here are restrooms, news stands, lounges and restaurant.

On hand for the formal opening were TWA's board of directors who participated in the ceremonies. Also present was Voit Gilmore, newly-appointed director of the United States Travel Service.

NEW YEAR'S visitors to Catalina Island may enjoy music and dancing at the Casino Ballroom, for the first time in years. The Fletcher Henderson Band, under the direction of Horace Henderson, will be on hand Dec. 30-31. The Saturday program will include the Cotton Club Revue, the New Year's Eve party with all the extras that make a gala occasion, in addition to a floor show.

Baggage conveyor system is timed to deliver luggage to passengers as they arrive at baggage claim area.

WINTER activities are on in a big way at Palm Springs. Samples: Nov. 25-26—Third annual Pro-Amateur Invitational Golf Tournament, Bermuda Dunes Country Club; Dec. 26—Polo matches, opening of polo season, Eldorado Field; Nov. 27—sketch outing sponsored by Desert Art Center, Araby Wash, south of Hwy. 111; Nov. 28-Dec. 3—annual Southern California Open Golf Tournament, Indian Wells Country Club.

WEEKEND GADABOUTS: Nov. 25: This is a good day to stay in Long Beach. Sixty-five high school bands will march in the annual All-Western Band Review.

Nov. 22: Hollywood Santa Claus Lane Parade moves down Hollywood Blvd.; celebrities aplenty.

PALMYRA ISLAND, located in the center of a Polynesian triangle formed by Hawaii, Tahiti and Samoa, has been leased by the Fullard-Leo family and will be developed into a multimillion-dollar resort by Polynesian Paradise, Inc., subsidiary of Mercury International Insurance Underwriters of Los Angeles. There will be at least one major resort hotel and a community development consisting of sport fishing facilities, marinas, residences, clubs and native village—all in authentic Polynesian style of architecture. The island has a 6,000-foot airstrip, and a deep water anchorage will accommodate large yachts and trading ships.

TRAVEL AND RESORTS

Going Places

By SHIRLEY and BOB SLOANE

KYOTO, JAPAN

JAPAN'S National Railways Limited, named the Swallow, makes it here from Tokyo in a snappy six hours. That isn't quite as fast as Japan Air Lines' even snappier Convair 880-M jets, but it's more scenic. It's also a lesson in what railroading can be in this faster-than-a-speeding-bullet age.

"We regret to announce we are running three minutes late" said the conductor in English on the public address as we pulled in. This is the sort of line that would get a laugh on most North American railroads, where three minutes late is practically ahead of schedule. In Japan, it's losing face.

The first-class coaches are laid out like ours, but with enough leg room for two Japanese or one Texan. Each seat is equipped with a tiny hearing-aid type radio earphone for following "Just Plain Hideko" or "Ma Yamaguchi's Family." You may not understand what's going on, but it sounds as dramatic as a Kabuki play. Some deluxe trains have television.

THE CONDUCTOR makes detailed announcements before and after each stop. Each car is heated or air conditioned by six individually controlled ceiling units, and is equipped with Japanese and western style toilets (there really isn't any difference; it seems to be in deference to visitors). Coaches are kept immaculate by employes who come through and sweep up periodically.

Good European style food is served in the diner, where a marker board also keeps passengers posted as to the train's current location. If you choose to dine at your seat, you can pick up a Japanese box lunch for about 30 cents, consisting of sushi (wads of rice covered with strips of fish), sliced mushrooms, ham, fish-sausage, bean curd and seaweed, a sort of Japanese special-combination pizza.

The route is the classic Imperial road of ancient Japan, full of sights as familiar to the visitor as all the scrolls and silk screen paintings he has seen. It starts high above the waters of the Bay of Japan, where stand the oft-represented cypress trees whipped into grotesque shapes by the wind.

Beyond Fuji loom the jagged black-green mountains that look like no others. In the valleys from which they rise abruptly, farmers in coolie hats bend over the yellow rice fields in a timeless tableau. An occasional red arched bridge crosses a stream, though most have been replaced by modern vehicular spans.

Villages stand close by the tracks, still traditionally wood and paper—the cheapest and most esthetic Japanese materials — after thousands of years and thousands of fires.

'Old' in Sailing

Something new, or you might say something "old," has been added to the Matson liners Lurline and Matsonia in Hawaii service. Each sailing day from San Francisco and Los Angeles reverts to the "Roaring 20s," with members of the ship's orchestra dressed in striped blazers, straw hats; rinky-tink piano and banjos in the bar, and Charleston contests going on up in the ballroom. It's all part of the line's new "Funcruise" program.

I shipped a delicate ship model from Madrid and it arrived safely.

"2—Can I get my mail through some central agency?"

Have it addressed care of American Express—there are offices in every major city and tourist center. When you leave that town, leave a forwarding address with American Express. They are very efficient about this.

"3—Please suggest a place to buy a not-too-expensive chess set."

The best ones I have seen were in Italy and Spain.

"4—Where would I find most available earrings for pierced ears?"

Again Italy and Spain. But jewelers in those countries will change the screw-type earrings for a very small charge.

"5—At which beaches in Europe would you suggest I beachcomb for shells and driftwood?"

The Atlantic beaches — Portugal is probably the best.

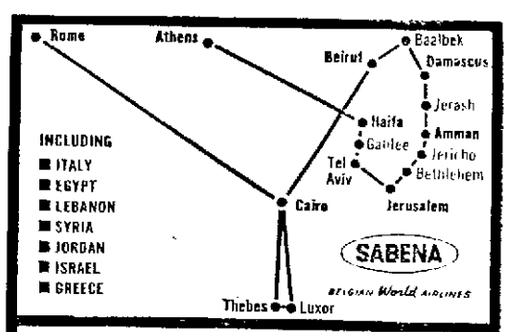

"6—Where do you get prescriptions filled?"

There are drug stores everywhere. No problem.

"7—Where is the best place to buy silk clothing?"

Italy is the place.

Ruth Ray paints the Nativity in contemporary setting to make Christmas story "real" to sons.

Artists Portray Nativity

During this holiday season many of them reinterpret the age-old story, alive with joy and drama, for the religious Christmas card collection of the American Artists Group.

Celebrating the Nativity in a classic portrait, the wide-eyed Child clings with innocent, perfect trust to the serene, ever-protective Madonna. Artist Harriet Rosendale captures the human, tender warmth of the Divine Birth in terra cotta tones. In contrast of style and mood, Ruth Ray imaginatively paints the Nativity in a contemporary setting, "to help make the Christmas Story real and important to my three sons."

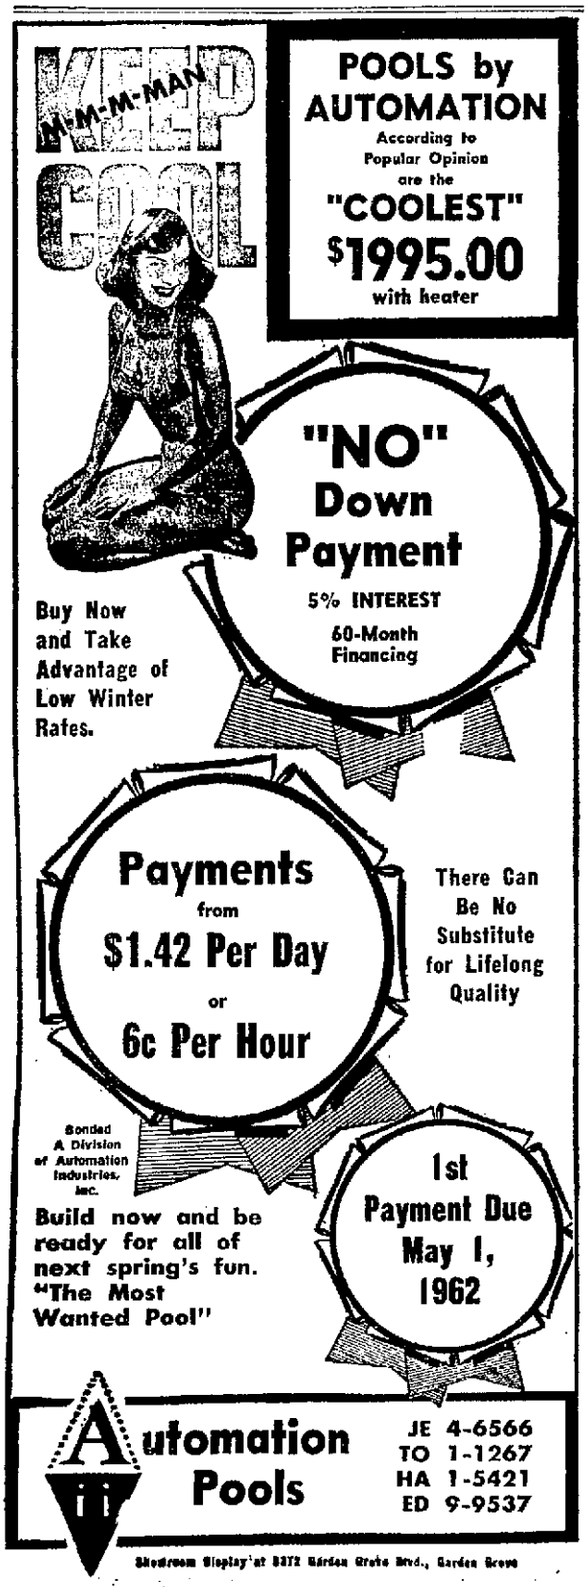

There are, of course, other impressive cards in this religious series, prepared by artists known from coast to coast.

In the collection, too, are cards of fact or fancy, city or farm, East, West, North or South — whatever region of America one loves best. In still others, Santa assumes many affectionate guises and holiday moods.

Humor often reigns. Al Paine, for instance, delineates a hilarious comment on the American scene by depicting Santa, the hobbyist, with a most ingeniously rigged camera tripod from a reindeer's antlers.

Santa rigs camera tripod from reindeer's antlers in Al Paine humor effort.

Candles That Never Melt

CANDLES that last indefinitely and never melt, break, smoke or drip are being introduced in Southland department stores and jewelry shops by Prepo Corp., Edgerton, Wis., pioneers of portable automatic gas torches and picnic stoves. The cost: about $20 a pair.

The candles are made of waxlike nylon, operate like cigarette lighters. Called Lumin gas candles, they contain fuel to burn for four or five hours at a cost of about 1½ cents an hour. Refueling from an aerosol can of butane gas takes 30 seconds.

Christmas Fancies

with another one that has St. Nicholas provide single girls with husbands. For, so the story goes, it was St. Nicholas, bishop of Myra in Asia Minor, who threw a purse of gold three times into the house of a poor father and so enabled the man to find husbands for his three daughters and give them a dowry.

IN IRELAND, if a person dies at Christmas Eve, the belief is that his soul automatically enters the gates of Paradise. Ireland, too, has a traditional Christmas drink, known only in that country. Called "Lambs-wool," it is made by bruising apples and mixing the juice with ale or milk. It is served with apples and nuts and considered indispensable on Christmas Eve.

Weinachten. Holy Night, is Christmas to all in Germany. These people have maintained their traditions through centuries and many of their customs have been adopted throughout the world. It was the German princess of Mecklenburg who introduced the first Christmas tree to France in 1840. Before then, this decoration was not a part of the French celebration. Today, at Christmas, the streets and shop windows of large cities throughout France are bright with decorated trees.

Everyone who has German ancestry—or German friends—knows the typical Christmas cookies: the Lebkuchen. It takes two days to make this wondrous children's delight, but the general consensus of opinion among those who have sampled Lebkuchen is that they are well worth the time and effort.

There is an old legend that the Christ Child wanders on the earth at Christmas; so in many European countries, in early days, people would place a lighted candle in their windows to light His way. In England, the candle was placed in the window to invite the Christmas carolers who walked the streets to stop beneath that window and sing. This beautiful custom is still followed in our country.

CANDLES, we are told, were first placed on Christmas trees to symbolize Christ, the light of the world. In England many families have a yule cake with a candle on it for each member of the family. Each person lights his own candle on Christmas Eve.

Christmas candles have come into popular use all over the world. There are the traditional bayberry candles of New England. Candlemakers have capitalized on the use of them, making them in all shapes and sizes. There are fat red ones, tall white ones, Santa Clauses, angels and snow men. But the Christmas candle still should remind everyone that Christ is the light of the world.

America has borrowed its Christmas customs from countries in every part of the world: but Americans have also added some of their own. The eggnog of Christmas is as American as Mickey Mouse; the aromatic apple pie that crowns the Christmas turkey meal is not traditionally served at holiday time in any other country; and the hot rum punch and old-fashioneds are ours alone.

The Story of the Two Mayflowers

lons a day. They had food and stores comparable to those of the first Mayflower; among them heavily salted meat which had been prepared to keep without refrigeration, and biscuits made from a 1600 recipe. Like her predecessor, Mayflower II had no plumbing nor electricity except for a radio required by modern maritime law. The captain found the 17th century cross-staff, forerunner of the sextant, "so approximate that I did not wonder Capt. Christopher Jones had fetched up off Cape Cod when he thought he was going to the Hudson River." Villiers put his modern navigation instruments "quietly away" when they reached America.

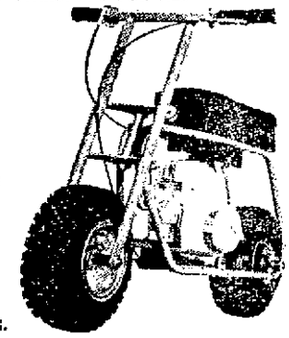

Off the Canary Islands, a deadening calm seized the ship for two weeks and after the trade winds picked up and she turned northwest, a furious storm caught her. With her canvas rolled and her high poop holding her into the wind like a weather vane, Mayflower II rode out the storm. After 53 days she reached Nantucket lightship, and stopped over night at Provincetown where Pilgrim costumes were put on for the tumultous welcome at Plymouth, her future home port.

Fruited corn bread dressing with apples and pineapple is a delectable accompaniment when serving roast duck.

FOOD

Tasty Idea for Duck

By Mildred K. Flanary
Independent, Press Telegram Home Economics Editor

DEPARTING a bit from seasonal emphasis on turkey and ham, Roast Duck with Fruit Dressing can make a cleavage with tradition an interesting adventure in good eating.

In preparing the dressing, coarsely crumbled corn bread provides crunchy texture and fresh corn flavor. Sprinklings of paprika and cinnamon enhance the tanginess of crushed pineapple and diced apples. Raisins add their own distinctive chewiness and flavor. The corn bread recipe makes enough that only half is needed for the dressing. The other half makes big corn bread squares to serve with plenty of butter.

Fruit Dressing

For two 4 to 4½-pound ducks:

- 2½ cups coarsely crumbled corn bread
- 2½ cups bread cubes, made from day-old bread
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon paprika
- ½ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups crushed pineapple
- 2 cups diced apples
- 1 cup chopped celery
- ½ cup seedless raisins
- ¼ cup melted butter or margarine
- Grated rind of 1 lemon

Lightly toss all ingredients together until thoroughly combined. (For a more moist dressing, add ¼ cup water.) Stuff lightly into body cavity and neck region of the ducks. Roast ducks according to standard roasting directions—in an uncovered pan in a slow oven 325 degrees allowing 20 to 30 minutes per pound. If the duck is very fat, prick the breast to let some of the fat run out. Baste every 10 minutes with drippings and one cup hot orange juice.

Corn Bread

- 1 cup enriched corn meal
- 1 cup sifted all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup sugar (optional)
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 4 teaspoon baking powder
- 1 egg
- 1 cup milk
- ¼ cup shortening, soft

Sift together dry ingredients into bowl. Add egg, milk and shortening. Beat with rotary beater until smooth, about 1 minute. Do not overbeat. Bake in a greased 8-inch square pan in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) 20 to 25 minutes. (Coarsely crumbled, ½ this amount is just right for the Fruit Dressing recipe.)

'Students' Get Tests

By Eleanor Avery Price

LIKE MID-TERM tests for a student, the Lakewood Dog Obedience Club's fall practice match will reveal what long hours of schooling have done for the scores of pets that will gather today in Del Valle Park. Entry fee is $1, judging starts at noon and the park is located on Woodruff Avenue between Carson Street and Del Amo Boulevard, Lakewood.

Practice matches are fun, they help brush up dog-owner twosomes and get them back on the path towards point trials. They are also interesting for potential obedience folk to observe and to ask questions about obedience classes.

Dog owners who join classes should make room in their schedules to work with their dogs every day. It will be well worth while, and it will also be worth time to read books on obedience training available at the library in pet shops.

FOLLOWING ARE a few thoughts on training that may prove helpful:

The daily lesson should be short, not over 15 minutes the first three months. Be somewhat leisurely about it, for your dog will sense your tension if you are in a hurry to get it over with.

Some trainers do not believe in offering treats for work well done in obedience training, since in the obedience ring tidbit rewards are taboo. Others claim that with treats in the offing, the dog learns to work joyously. Their motto is "Treat, don't beat."

It is very important that each lesson ends on a happy note. If possible, end it with another already learned, be it ever so simple. Then praise the dog so he is happy. Don't conclude that just because his tail is wagging that he is pleased. A dog swishes his tail in response to many things including fear.

OBEDIENCE training helps make your dog a better dog in every-day living. But exercises learned should be put to use in places other than a streotyped setting. Get the dog to "come" under every condition. Teach him to jump over objects other than regulation hurdles. Have him heel at your side on walks in a normal, natural way, with interest in his environment as well as in you. A dog that heels without ever taking his eyes off his owner may be too scared to do so. And for pity sakes, be natural yourself. A military strut down the street will have neighbors laughing at you.

Your dog might need an occasional vacation from training, especially if he is slowing down, getting old, or does not feel well. Keep him alert and happy with frequent play periods between lessons, your companionship and understanding, patience, consistency, and absolute kindness.

Here's a good tip for those who are having a rough time getting Fido to learn the sit-stay, a valuable lesson: spread a blanket or your coat on the grass, sit your dog on it, press a finger on his head, circle him, and command, "Stay!"

SCOTTISH TERRIER CLUB of California holds a puppy match today at Cambria Kennels, 1451 E. McFadden St., Santa Ana. Entries taken until 1:30 p.m.

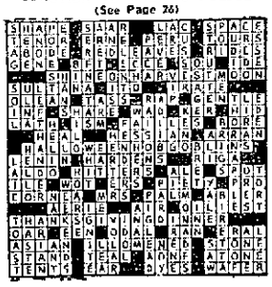

INTRA-VALLEY and Twin-Counties Cat Club show is set Nov. 25-26 at Orange County Fairgrounds, Costa Mesa.

CAMERA ANGLES

Get Good Portraits With a 35

Outdoor setting adds charm to this informal portrait, made in late afternoon, open shade. It won a prize for Muriel Reed, Reseda, in Kodak High School Photo Awards.

By the Shutterbug

IF YOU'RE a 35mm camera user who has avoided making portrait-type shots because you don't have the elaborate lighting equipment, backdrops, and other paraphernalia usually associated with that phase of picture taking, you've been needlessly neglecting a fascinating and rewarding side of photography. Your 35mm equipment can give you informal portraits of your family members and friends in color or black-and-white that will display an air of warmth and reality often lacking in traditional studio-produced photographs.

With a little imagination and planning, you'll find that many areas in and around your home, neighborhood park, place of business, or school will provide natural settings for informal, natural pictures of people. As for lighting, the existing illumination found in these places will often be more than sufficient for needed exposure; more important, this available light will give your portrait a feeling of reality and mood that is virtually impossible to duplicate artificially.

Bounce flash is a very handy technique to employ to complement existing light when the latter is too contrasty or too low in intensity to give the proper effect you're after, but beware of off-color results if you bounce from surfaces other than white or gray when working in color.

Indoors or out, lighting for natural portraits can be found in abundance and variety. Beware of mixing light sources such as daylight and fluorescent with color film.

Portraits are usually thought of as head-and-shoulder pictures, but there is no reason to limit them to this basic pose. Full-figure views have their place, as do extreme close-ups which include only the subject's head or perhaps just the face. When shooting head-and-shoulders or closer, a telephoto lens will render the subject's features in most pleasing perspective.

NORMAL FOCAL length lenses (45-50mm) often give distortion when used for the body closest to the camera, such as an ear, nose, chin, hand, or shoulder, to look disproportionately elongated or enlarged. Lenses in the 85 to 135 mm telephoto range enable the photographer to stay back from his subject while at the same time getting the closely-cropped close-up image he is after, rendered in correct perspective. If you don't have a telephoto lens or your camera doesn't accept one, you should stay back about 4 to 5 feet from your subject to avoid distortion.

DON'T SKIMP on film. Keep shooting, varying your subject's expression and pose as well as your camera position and angle as you go. Shoot liberally, but not wastefully, and you'll find your percentage of good pictures will rise accordingly.

Remember your tripod. While many natural portraits can be easily shot hand-held with your 35, there will be times when dim light, slow film, or need for great depth of field will call for a tripod-supported long exposure. If you're the jittery type who can't keep a steady camera position at shutter speeds slower than 1/60 second, or when using a longer than normal lens you have all the more reason to put your tripod to good use.

SHORT COURSE in photographic skills as well as a guide to efficient use of the company's arts products, a new, 60-page Graphic Arts Handbook is being offered by Ansco, a division of General Aniline & Film Corp., Binghamton, N. Y., and its dealers. Data is of value to cameramen, printers, lithographers and others involved in graphic arts production. It is illustrated and contains appropriate charts and tables.

BOOK REVIEWS

Carrillo's California

By Vera Williams

Independent, Press-Telegram Book Editor

LEO CARRILLO
No Arabian Nights

"IN MY family, I never needed the Arabian Nights. We had our own," wrote Leo Carrillo in "THE CALIFORNIA I LOVE" (Prentice-Hall, $5.) The death last September of the famed actor, horseman and dedicated Californian shocked the world. It is well that his story was recorded in time. Ed Ainsworth, Los Angeles newspaperman whose love for California is almost as great as was Carrillo's, collaborated. Chief Justice Earl Warren wrote the introduction.

Great-grandson of California's first governor, descendant of a Spaniard who came to California with Father Junipero Serra, Carrillo's roots were miles deep in his native land.

He was born in Los Angeles, near the Plaza Church, in fiesta time. All of his life was spent in California, except when he was east in dramatic successes.

More than an autobiography, "The California I Love" is compounded of priests, leather-jacketed soldiers, grizzly bear hunters, vaqueros as swift as the wind, ropers, ranchero grandees, dancing girls with castanets, and the siren song of California sung to the music of Spanish guitars in hundreds of jasmine-scented patios.

Carrillo gathered the stories from the traditions of Spanish California — many had not been recorded before.

The author described how his grandfather bet the entire family savings — eight huge octagon-shaped $50 gold pieces — on a horse race and lost, and how the most beautiful Carrillo senorita of all time refused to marry the governor of the state and eloped with the captain of a clipper ship.

The book is illustrated by Don Perceval, Western artist.

WHEN FRANK Lloyd Wright died at close to 90 years of age in 1959 the Journal of the American Institute of Architecture wrote that the achievements of 20th Century building would have been impossible without him.

Wright undoubtedly would have scolded the Journal for being inadequate in their praise.

For Wright, who liked to say he rarely saw a building, other than his own, he wished to see twice, is almost as well remembered for naked self-assurance and a legendary ego as the 700 buildings he designed and the revolution in architecture he single-handedly fomented during his lifetime.

His controversial and inimitable career — from an auspicious start as a Wisconsin parson's son to the master builder who blandly offered to build a skyscraper 528 stories high — is told in the first full-length biography of his life, "FRANK LLOYD WRIGHT" by Finis Farr (Scribner's, $5.95).

ACCORDING to a Chinese proverb "one picture is worth more than 10,000 words." At a time in history when there are too many poor examples of each to distract our attention along comes a photographic production which lives up to the proverb.

It is "PHOTOGRAPHER OF THE SOUTHWEST: ADAM CLARK VROMAN" (Ward Ritchie Press, Los Angeles, $12.50). His best work, according to the introduction by Beaumont Newhall, was done between 1895 and 1904 in Southern California, Arizona and New Mexico. Vroman was born in 1856 and lived until 1916.

The Pasadena book store owner's glass plates faithfully recorded Indians or landscapes equally well. The concluding few plates (there are about 100 in the book) show by contrast atmospheric conditions of the southwest and midwest and eastern parts of the United States. The publication has definite historic value.

"ROAD TO SODOM" by Jean Rees (Random House, $3.95) is a dramatic recreation of two of the great stories of the Old Testament —the rewarding life of Abraham and Sarah and the downfall of Abraham's nephew Lot.

Maritime Mayhem

NINETEENTH Century skippers oft-times ran their ships with such an iron hand that whole crews would jump ship in port.

"SHANGHAIING DAYS" by Richard H. Dillon (Coward-McCann, $4.75) tells how masters and mates solved their personnel problems.

Floggings, kidnapings, scurvy, brutality and tyranny were common on American ships at the turn of the century. A seafaring career was considered little better than slavery.

Dillon, head librarian of the Sutro Library, concentrates his accounts on events that took place in his native San Francisco.

But some of the maritime mayhem occurred in all ports — and Wilmington and San Pedro figure prominently.

Dillon's well-documented account of 19th Century waterfront corruption pulls no punches. It leaves the impression that sadism and terror are the heritage of the Navy and merchant marine.

"HOW MUCH IS THAT IN DOLLARS?" asks the American tourist of the Paris waiter, and is also the title of syndicated columnist Art Buchwald's latest collection of more than 75 humorous articles. The jacket drawing (above) is by R. Taylor. (World, $3.95.)

How to Cut Pansy Mortality

By Joe Littlefield

MORE gardeners lose pansies and violas because they thoughtlessly set plants too deeply when they plant them. Properly set out plants flop to one side, instead of standing up straight. Later, as the runner branches spread, the plants right themselves.

Bury the plant crowns even a quarter inch too deep, keep the soil damp, and month and a half or so later you have wilted pansies or violas. After rot sets in, sow bugs and false wire worms swarm in to finish off the plants.

As you set out pansies or violas, make sure the area where the new and thin runner branches are developing is slightly above ground level. Don't worry about the plants growing in flopped over condition. That'll correct itself later. Plant them as suggested and you'll lose hardly any plants at all.

Pansies and violas planted earlier and now established should be fed a balanced, complete plant food about once every three weeks to a month.

SWEET PEAS don't die off because they may be planted too deep. Usually gardeners keep the young seedling plants too wet and they rot. Aphis and mildew are two main problems gardeners should guard against.

Water sweet peas in the forenoons. Soak them deeply, then don't water them again until soil really dries.

It's not too late to sow sweet pea seeds now. Or you can buy young plants, ready to set out from plant bands.

Some gardeners soak sweet pea seeds in water several hours or even overnight before sowing. Others sow the seeds dry. The seed germination per centage is from 60 to 80 per cent good.

The best way to start sweet pea plants from seeds is to place the seeds between the folds of a discarded towel or burlap sack that is placed in a fruit lug box, or plant flat. The box is placed in shade under a tree. The cloth cover is moistened daily.

About five days later, sprouted sweet pea seeds are planted and non-sprouted seeds thrown away. Unless there are soil pests present, every sprouted seed grows!

Cover newly sprouted sweet peas with chicken wire until plants have grown four to six inches tall to protect young plants from birds.

John S. Armstrong, deep, distinctive, velvety red, is one of four 1962 All-America Rose Selections and the fourth grandiflora ever to be so chosen. Blooms range up to four inches across when fully opened, are colorfast in all stages. Unlike most dark reds, they will not burn or turn bluish. Blooms are borne in clusters with long individual stems that are good for cutting.

Pansies are colorful in garden plantings and grow well if not set too deeply and if watered wisely.

By Dorothy Jonson

Wooly aphis is the cottony looking substance you sometimes find in the crotches of plants such as Pyracantha, and it is really an enemy with two armies. 1. The "aerial" force which you see on the plant; 2. the "subterranean" force which you find around the roots.

When you spray your plants for wooly aphis, it is necessary to use considerable force in order to break down the cottony, protective covering. However, eradicating wooly aphis from the plant itself will not do too much good unless you eliminate it from the roots also. For that reason, I suggest using a material that combines Malathion and Dieldrin and thus with one product destroy the soil insects as well as those on the body of the plant.

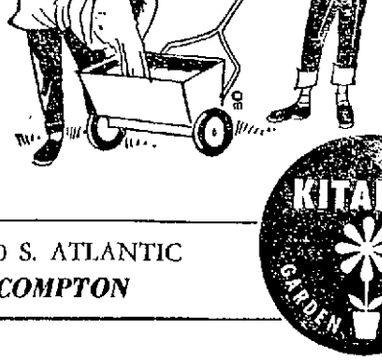

Long ago, wood ashes were recommended as a control for wooly aphis. Regardless of new and modern products, if you have a fireplace where you burn logs, I suggest that you save the ashes and scatter them occasionally throughout the winter and early spring months in the root growing area around your plants. Wood ashes constitute a simple natural control for these subterranean enemies in the soil.

JIM HAMMOND
A Treasure House

A STROLL past the gleaming serving counters at Clifton's Cafeteria in Lakewood Center is in many ways like a visit to an Arabian Nights treasure house.

Located at 5006 Pepperwood Ave., this restaurant is a gigantic, palace-like place with seating for 400 persons. Its displays of salads, entrees and colorful desserts stretch out for many yards, shining like the jewels, silver and gold in the secret storehouse of Ali Baba and the 40 thieves.

On Sundays, from 11 a.m. to 8 p.m., Clifton's serves a deluxe, seven-course dinner better than anything Ali Baba or Aladdin ever enjoyed. It consists of the following: choice of any one of three dozen salads; whipped potatoes, vegetable du jour, entree, bread or roll and butter, dessert and beverage. The entree selection can be roast turkey, ham, chicken or one of six other entrees. The dessert selection includes 15 kinds of pie, or puddings and cakes. Second and third coffee refills are served at the tables by gracious waitresses. The price for this repast is merely $1.77 complete. (Prime rib is 25 cents extra.)

The man responsible for the smooth way things are run at Clifton's is manager Jim Hammond, a youngish fellow now in his 29th year with the Clifton's organization. He started as a bus boy in L.A. when he was 16. A great one for pleasing the kiddies, he features "treasure tray" dinner plates for the youngsters which are 59 cents on Sundays and 39 cents daily. Small fry who capture a color-tipped flag get a free gift from Clifton's treasure chest.

On Monday, Wednesday and Thursday nights, Clifton's features $1 dinner specials, including entrees, salad, vegetable, bread and butter and beverage. Monday through Saturdays, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m., a large complete luncheon is served for 77 cents.

HOW WE'RE WINNING THE BATTLE AGAINST ARTHRITIS

by ROBERT P. GOLDMAN

Tireless researchers, such as this one at New York's Hospital for Special Surgery, are discovering basic new facts about arthritis that offer renewed hope to doctors and patients.

FOR 11 MILLION Americans with arthritic diseases, there is more hope than ever before.

Today, because of better treatment, more arthritics are living normal lives. There's even a realistic belief, based on exciting new discoveries, that the cause and cure for this age-old disease will be found.

The despair that hung over arthritis for generations is lifting. Doctors are not giving up on patients, and patients are not giving up on themselves. In short, we're winning the battle against the nation's No. 1 crippler. Here are some of the results:

1 Patients who haven't walked in three years are up and walking again.

3 Patients with gout are finding their disease can be controlled to an amazing degree.

4 Patients with "lupus," an arthritis-related sickness that used to be 100 per cent fatal, are now receiving treatment which in some cases prolongs their lives.

Only since World War II has optimism replaced pessimism in arthritis treatment and research. "The chaos is being removed from this field," according to Dr. Ronald W. Lamont-Havers, medical director of the Arthritis and Rheumatism Foundation. "We are seeing fewer and fewer severely crippled patients."

Dollars and men have combined to fight the disease. Today 22 times as much money goes into arthritis study as a decade ago. And there are seven times as many U.S. medical centers training specialists in rheumatic diseases.

Only fifteen years ago, there were few sure ways to determine if a patient was really being helped by a specific treatment. Today that's changed. New classification techniques tell doctors without guesswork how effective their treatments are.

The renaissance in interest in arthritic disorders has produced solid gains for millions of patients. Three categories of diseases in which progress has especially excited doctors and patients are rheumatoid arthritis, gouty arthritis and lupus.

RHEUMATOID ARTHRITIS

About 4 million Americans of almost every age have this disorder, which causes swollen and painful joints. It is the leading crippler among arthritic disorders.

At the end of World War II, about one in two rheumatoid patients received real benefit from treatment. These 50 per cent could continue working and functioning smoothly. Now as many as seven or eight in 10 can be restored to a high degree of self-sufficiency.

What brought the increase? Dr. Joseph Bunim, of the National Institute of Arthritis and Metabolic Diseases, Bethesda, Md., explains as follows:

Since 1952, cortisone and cortisone-type drugs have come into wide use. They have helped reduce pain and swelling—although if used promiscuously, they can produce serious side effects.

More important than cortisone or other drugs is the discovery that when a patient is allowed to remain in bed he generally gets worse. Take him out of bed, motivate him to exercise and move about, and he is likely to improve markedly.

Rehabilitation techniques based on this discovery have begun to be employed widely in the U.S. since 1950. And they are paying off. There isn't a single patient who cannot benefit from a consistent program of exercise and movement, according to Dr. Edward F. Hartung, of New York, one of the nation's outstanding arthritis authorities.

Young arthritis patient is fitted with a cast, one of several to help straighten stiff leg. She is a patient at Clinical Center, National Institutes of Health, Bethesda, Md., a pioneer in this type of treatment.

Casts and surgery are also being increasingly used to help the rheumatoid patient. The idea of "serial casts" is also gaining ground. These are used on joints that have been bent tight by contracted muscles. A graduated series of casts is made, each a little straighter than the last. They are put on successively over a period of weeks, and slowly they pull the knee, arm or wrist straight. Dr. D. M. Fried of the National Institutes of Health, who helped develop the casting technique, tells of a woman in her 30s, not an unusual case, who got up and walked after years of immobility when a series of casts straightened tight muscles in her knee.

Surgery is improving, too. Now a leg held rigid by tight muscles can be loosened by muscle surgery. The same techniques are employed with hands and fingers made rigid by the disease.

As Dr. Lamont-Havers points out, rehabilitation techniques have improved so greatly that the patient himself very often can lessen the severity of his disease by his willingness to cooperate.

GOUTY ARTHRITIS

This disease—erroneously thought for years to strike only the wealthy who ate rich foods—actually affects between 500,000 and 1 million Americans of all social groups. The story of gout in the past 10 years is probably the most encouraging one in the whole area of arthritic illnesses.

Before 1950, there was no way of consistently controlling chronic gout, which causes sore and inflamed extremities. Now there are three good drugs to do the job for 9 out of 10 patients: probenecid, sulfinpyrazone and zoxazolamine.

Probenecid is the one most widely used. Its task is that of all anti-gout drugs, to help push excess uric acid out of the patient's system. However, if an acute attack does strike, an age-old drug called colchicine can give the gout sufferer relief in 24 hours. A few patients also take colchicine as a preventive against attacks.

Probenecid's great value was discovered by accident. Just after World War II, doctors wanted a drug that would act to retain penicillin, then extremely expensive, in the body. They tried probenecid. It failed to hold back penicillin, but did result in speeding uric acid excretion.

'INCURABLE' LUPUS

Lupus, a disease afflicting several thousand Americans which can cause arthritis-like symptoms plus fever, fatigue, rash, convulsions and anemia, was regarded for years as a fatal disorder.

But scientists today are beginning to believe they were wrong about lupus. In the early 1950s they tried steroid drugs, but these seemed to have no effect. About three years ago they discovered that if steroids were given early enough in the course of the disease, some patients could be kept alive. Their disease seemed to be held in check.

At the University of Illinois, high steroid doses have kept one series of patients alive for more than three years. Among other groups of patients not so treated, the death rate has been high.

Undoubtedly, says Dr. Bunim, the drugs have saved some lives. This is a real advance and definitely provides a ray of hope to patients who once thought they were doomed.

These gains in treatment are impressive, but research continues. A new series of findings has buoyed up the field more than ever. Here are some new developments:

- A few years ago researchers discovered what they called "rheumatoid factor" in the blood of patients with arthritis. This chemical has since become very useful in diagnosing cases so they can be treated early —when treatment pays off most handsomely.
- A new concept has been developed which holds that arthritis may be what experts call an "auto-immune" disorder. In a sense the arthritis sufferer may somehow be allergic to himself. His cells may be manufacturing some substance that attacks other cells in his own body to bring on joint-swelling and pains.

Many researchers believe auto-immunity is the key to arthritis. They are convinced that ultimately they can find some way, chemically, to rid the arthritis-prone individual of his self-allergy.

- Other researchers are beginning to think that arthritis is caused by a virus, or by some other "living substance" that may hit and run. Although there is less evidence for this assumption than for the auto-immunity concept, there are a number of highly technical studies that do point to the possibility of virus involvement.

There are, too, a few non-technical scraps of evidence. After a bout with virus illnesses such as influenza or measles, patients sometimes have arthritis-like joint aches and pains for weeks, Dr. Lamont-Havers points out. This may be more than coincidence.

Such research findings, together with treatment successes, are making even the most restrained authorities sit up and take notice. Dr. Floyd Daft, Director of the National Arthritis Institute, puts it this way: "For patient and doctor alike, after years of stalemate, arthritis research is beginning to show real promise."

At long last some pieces of the incredibly complicated arthritis puzzle are falling into place. ■

REMEMBER those fairy tales about beautiful queens and princesses? Well, they aren't really fairy tales, after all.

The lucky girl who marries the handsome king and lives happily ever after in a splendid palace is more fact than fancy—and so are the stunning princesses.

The youthful queens on these pages may be found in their beautiful palaces in the kingdoms of Jordan, Iran and Thailand. India is the home of the graceful princesses.

To capture the glamor of these Eastern ladies in living color, photographer Milton Greene, beauty editor Karlys Daly and a hairdresser traveled to the Near and Far East. They took pictures of the five lovely women who appear here and on page 8.

Since no woman, queen or otherwise, would ever have her picture taken without first running a comb through her hair, Kenneth Battelle, who does Mrs. John F. Kennedy's hair, was sent along to get all the loose strands in place for the cameraman.

When childhood constipation occurs

Because

Fletcher's Castoria gives the prompt, yet natural-like relief from temporary constipation that medical authorities agree is best for a child's young system. Its pure extract of Senna is considered one of nature's finest vegetable laxative products.

Fletcher's Castoria is gentle, the prime requisite for a child's laxative. It contains none of the harsh drugs which are so often found in adult laxatives, drugs that can upset your child's system.

Fletcher's Castoria is liquid, so exact dosage is sure: from drops to teaspoonfuls as needed. Very important, too, Castoria tastes good. So children take it willingly, even lick the spoon.

Fletcher's Castoria is the only nationally-recognized laxative made especially for children of all ages. So why take chances... the laxative that's "right" for you can well be "wrong" for your child. Get famous Fletcher's Castoria today.

It takes a child's laxative to fulfill a child's needs

For a hairdo, a law was waived

What's it like doing the hair of a Royal Highness? Here is Kenneth's comment:

"I'll never be afraid of anything again."

Despite protocol, intermediaries and red tape, the women were good sports about the whole enterprise and cooperated even to the extent of offering a choice of gowns and jewels in which to be photographed.

In Jordan a Moslem law which forbids a man to touch a woman's hair was bypassed by Jordanian authorities, and the blue-eyed 20-year-old wife of King Hussein, Her Ladyship Muna Al-Hussein, had her hair set before having her picture taken. She even handed Kenneth the clips and rollers.

Before her marriage to the king early this year, Her Ladyship was Toni Gardiner, the daughter of a British military officer. She was a payroll clerk for a London firm. Although cognizant of her regal responsibilities, Toni is still a 20-year-old with a young girl's enthusiasms. She played Frank Sinatra records constantly during photo sessions.

Princess Salcha Sultan of Hyderabad, who wears her blue-black hair pixie-short, willingly made an appointment to have her hair washed and set in a beauty parlor in New Delhi, India. There, while salon attendants giggled, gossiped and watched behind the drapery, Kenneth dressed her hair for her portrait.

Doll like Queen Sirikit of Thailand, her hair already done by someone else, was vitally interested in the new coiffure styles of 1962 as her hair was recombed and softened for the pictures.

Besides lavish gowns threaded with 18-karat gold strands, the reigning beauties wore rare and fabulously costly jewels from their royal vaults.

Seeing Empress Farah Pahlevi of Iran so cool and austere in her white and yellow diamond tiara and her formal pale turquoise gown with gold and silver paillettes, one would hardly suspect that just a few years ago, before her marriage, she sat around Paris cafés like other students of the Architectural School. In her formal portrait she's every inch a queen. She rushed the sittings, however, because she was anxious to play tennis with her husband, the shah.

While Queen Sirikit of Thailand smiled prettily for the birdie, eight of her courtiers pulled up folding chairs and watched to see that no one treated the queen incorrectly.

Two attendants stirred a breeze in the warm courtyard of her palace in Bangkok with white plumed fans. For her portrait, the queen wore a modified adaptation of an 800-year-old Thai evening dress made of hand-woven gold-threaded fabric. Her necklace was of black diamonds set in gold.

Heavyweight Gowns

An Indian lady of spectacular beauty, Princess Salcha Sultan of Hyderabad, sent her servant on an overnight trip to pick up some gowns in which to be photographed. They were carried to a hotel room wrapped in large sheets and spread on the bed because no hanger was sturdy enough to hold the 36-pound gowns. The princess wore one of her four traditional wedding gowns, an emerald-green dress with a gold border.

To Western eyes, these beautiful ladies live in a land of make-believe. Yet, despite their youth—all are under 30—they realize that a jewelled crown is not only pleasant to wear but a great responsibility. ■

Beautiful Mrs. Nand Khemka, Princess Jeet of Nabha, gets a final touch-up before facing the camera at an ancient fort in New Delhi, India. Mrs. Khemka wears a pink sari with stylish pearls.

What DID Christ Mean: "...UPON THIS ROCK?"

Present-day Christians disagree sharply as to what Our Lord meant when He said to Peter:

"Thou are Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church."

Jesus, some contend, was not thinking of Peter as the "rock" on which His church was to be built. The Church, as they see it, was not intended to be a visible, humanly-controlled institution, but an invisible society of the faithful. All who believe in Christ would be members; their only guide and governor in spiritual matters would be the Bible.

This was not, however, the interpretation placed upon the Savior's words by the disciples who heard them first-hand. For as the Bible clearly relates, they did build a visible church and they did acknowledge Peter as its head. And they did claim for it, the right to act with God's authority in all matters pertaining to the spiritual life.

When the need arose to elect a successor to Judas, the Apostles met as a corporate body and chose Matthias. When a minor doctrinal dispute developed, the disciples gathered at a council in Jerusalem to discuss it. In the final decision they deferred to the authority of Peter, one of many instances in which they acknowledged Peter's headship.

Just as Jesus had assembled around Himself a body of His elect, in the persons of the Apostles and disciples, these first missionaries of the Faith expanded the priesthood by ordaining bishops and elders in all the churches throughout their domain. In each case those chosen were commissioned... just as Christ had commissioned the disciples . . . to "Preach the word... to speak and exhort, and to rebuke with all authority."

The need for a visible Church is clearly manifest in Christ's instructions to the disciples to "Baptize them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit." An invisible church obviously could not dispense this Sacrament. Likewise, how could He say: "If thy brother sin against thee... appeal to the church," if there were no visible church to which such appeal might be made?

In numerous passages of the Bible, notably in the Acts of the Apostles, the nature and authority of Christ's Church are sharply defined. A careful study of them may convince you... as it has millions of others... that the Catholic Church of today is the visible, organized, authoritative counterpart of the Apostolic Church.

FREE—If you would like to know more about the history of the Church, the missionary movements of the disciples, and other interesting aspects of Christ's expanding mission through nearly 2,000 years, write today for our free pamphlet. It deals also with the wondrously interesting story of the Catholic Brotherhood and such other interesting topics as... the Angels of God... the relation of the Catholic and Orthodox Churches... and the god of this world. PARADE'S SPECIAL INTELLIGENCE REPORT

THE NEXT WAR. In case of war, who would win? The Joint Chiefs of Staff, after a sober study, have concluded that Russia has an overwhelming superiority in conventional arms but that the U.S. still holds the nuclear edge. Since Russia might win a conventional clash, this raises the agonizing problem of how to isolate future military outbreaks. Gen. Maxwell Taylor, White House military adviser, believes conventional weapons can stop aggression. He thinks these would convince the Soviets of our determination to resist and give them time to reconsider without recourse to H-bombs. Use of nuclear weapons, he fears, would set off a chain reaction that would plunge the world into a hydrogen holocaust. But Gen. Curtis LeMay, the Air Force chief, believes the best way to stop aggression is to explode a small atomic bomb in its path. The Soviets would push and prod with conventional weapons, he warns, to find out how far they could go before bringing nuclear destruction down upon their heads. The best way to stop them with the least loss of lives, he urges, is to use nuclear weapons at the beginning. He points out that the U.S. has an arsenal of low-yield atomic explosives whose damage can be confined to the battlefield. The smallest has an explosive force of half a kiloton, which would devastate an area less than a mile in diameter.

GAMBLERS GOING SOUTH. The nation's big-time gamblers, driven out of business by the joint Justice Department-Senate crackdown on gambling, are drifting to Florida. Eager for action but afraid to risk arrest, they have been reduced to gambling with one another. For the first time, top gamblers are trying to take money away from each other. Meanwhile, illegal gambling has come to a near standstill across the nation.

THE SPACE RACE. Our space scientists desperately hope to launch the first American astronaut into orbit before the year's end, so history will record that both the U.S.S.R. and the U.S. accomplished the feat in 1961. Plans call for the U.S. astronaut to circle the earth three times.

CHINESE COLUMBUS? The latest Communist claim is that the Chinese discovered America. This new Red version of history reports that Chinese Buddhists made their way to the Aleutians and down the California coast 1,000 years before Christopher Columbus sailed to the New World in 1492.

BIRTH CONTROL BY PERFUME. Tomorrow's man may control his fertility by spraying himself with a birth-control perfume. The word comes from Dr. A. S. Parkes of England's National Institute for Medical Research. Dr. Parkes reports on experiments with newly-mated female mice that fail to reproduce if they are exposed to the smell of males from a different strain. "The attractive idea of a contraceptive perfume," claims the doctor, "is no longer incredible."

POISONED FISH. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service warns that sewage and seepage are polluting our streams and killing off fish at the rate of 6 million a year. Countless others may be too contaminated for safe eating.

COMMUNIST DIPLOMATIC SCHOOL. Prospective Red diplomats, both Soviet and satellite, are trained in Russia's most exclusive school: the Institute for International Relations. Located in Moscow, the institute accepts only selected students from Communist countries. Even the most fiercely loyal Communists outside the Soviet bloc are excluded. Each student diplomat is thoroughly investigated and indoctrinated, receives both military (12 months) and diplomatic (12 semesters) training. He is assigned after graduation to his country's foreign service, although his real loyalty belongs to the Kremlin.

"goodbye turkey" casserole

New party dish serves 6 or 24 . . . cooks in 30 minutes but only with Minute Rice

Hello guests . . . goodbye turkey! Easiest party dish ever—when leftover turkey, bubbling cream sauce, asparagus . . . and Minute Rice bake together into a memorable main dish! Who'd ever guess this feast could fix so fast!

No stopping to cook the rice. Minute Rice goes —right out of the box—into the casserole.

This long-grain rice puffs up bright and light with good turkey flavor, blends seasonings, cheese and asparagus into a taste that makes guests say "um-m-m wonderful." Or make it for the family —they'll think it's a party!

"Goodbye Turkey" Casserole	For 6 servings	For 24 servings
Sifted flour	5 tablespoons	1¼ cups
Salt	1 teaspoon	4 teaspoons
Onion salt	¼ teaspoon	1 teaspoon
Butter, melted	¼ cup	1 cup
Milk or light cream	2½ cups	2½ quarts
Minute Rice	1⅓ cups	5⅓ cups
Turkey or chicken broth	1½ cups	6 cups
Grated American cheese	½ cup	2 cups
Cooked asparagus	1½ cups	6 cups
Sliced turkey	2 cups (6 slices)	8 cups (24 slices)
Toasted slivered almonds	2 tablespoons	½ cup

Stir flour, half of salt, onion salt into butter. Stir in milk. Cook over hot water, stirring occasionally until thickened.

Pour Minute Rice (right from box) into 2-quart shallow baking dish. Combine broth, remaining salt; pour over rice. Sprinkle half of cheese over rice. Top with asparagus; then turkey. Pour on sauce. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake at 375°F. about 20 minutes. Top with almonds.

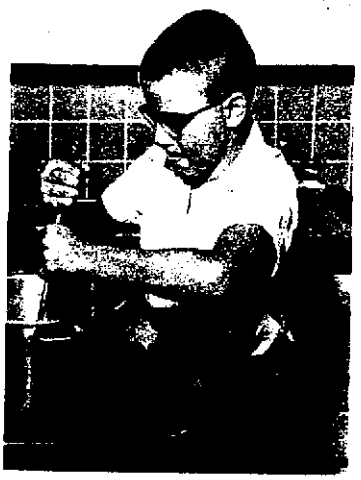

For 24 servings, divide ingredients between shallow baking pans. Bake as above.

Something for the boys

by BETH MERRIMAN Parade food editor

IF THERE IS a Boys' Club of America near you, give it your whole-hearted support, because where there is a Boys' Club delinquency diminishes. That fine organization, with 600 Clubs in 48 states, sponsors numerous activities designed to keep juniors out of trouble with themselves and the courts. Since boys love to eat, cooking is one of the most popular activities. Apart from the obvious delights of after-class eating sessions, cooking teaches them cleanliness, good manners and the art of conversation. These two recipes, simple but good, show what the young chefs can do.

With devoted concentration a boy chef stirs a big kettle of soup for a crowd.

SAVORY BAKED PORK CHOPS

6 pork chops, 1 inch thick — 3 large baking apples
1 medium onion, finely chopped
3 cans (8 oz. each) spaghetti sauce with mushrooms

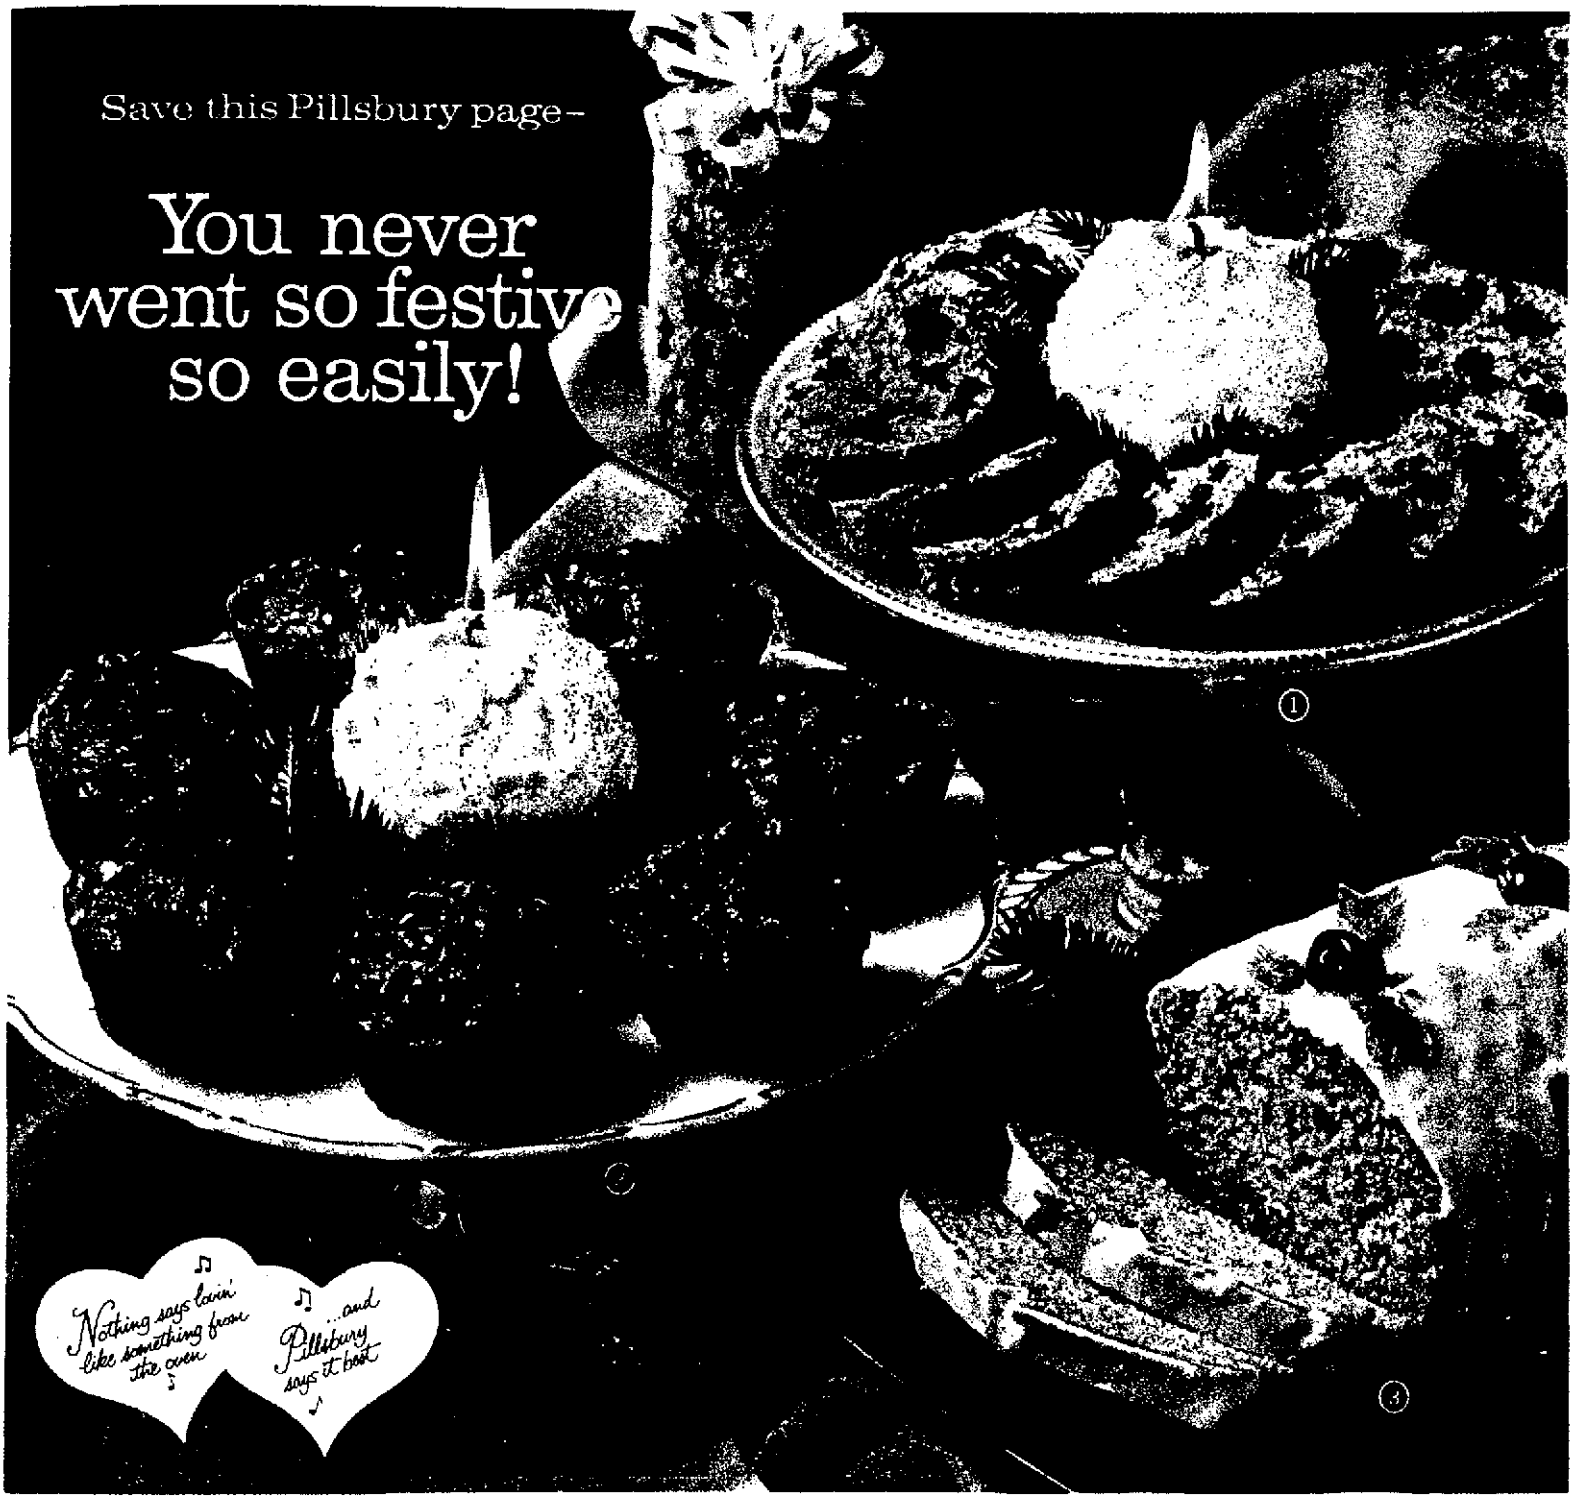

Preheat oven to 350°. Brown chops on both sides in skillet. Peel apples; core and slice. Place browned chops in baking dish. Place apple slices and chopped onion over chops. Spoon sauce over all. Cover tightly; bake 45 minutes. Uncover; bake 15 minutes longer. Makes 6 servings.

MEAT AND VEGETABLE LOAF

1 tablespoon instant minced onion — 1 egg, unbeaten
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce — 2 pounds ground beef chuck
1 can (10½ oz.) condensed vegetable soup

Add onion and Worcestershire sauce to soup. Let stand about 10 minutes. Add egg and soup mixture to meat. Mix thoroughly. Bake in greased loaf pan 8x5x3 inches in moderate oven, 350°, about 1 hour, 15 minutes. Makes 6 servings.

Thanksgivings

PLYMOUTH, MASS.

ON THURSDAY the people of this New England town will honor Thanksgiving as the Pilgrims did here in 1621. There will be turkey dinners, of course, but the main event of the day will be the picturesque ceremony called Pilgrim Progress. Townspeople dressed in the fashions of the first colonists will march under arms through a replica of "Plimouth Plantation," as the original colony was called, to First Church for a special service. Each marcher (see photos) will represent an actual Pilgrim—one of those who managed to survive the rigors of the first terrible New England winter and went on to plant their crops, tend and reap them and, in the fall of 1621, celebrate America's first Thanksgiving. ■

For the pains and fever of Colds and Flu
DOCTORS RECOMMEND ASPIRIN

BAYER®
BRINGS FASTEST RELIEF!

...the fastest, most gentle to the stomach relief you can get from the aches, pains and fever of a cold or flu!

This is a simple fact: in private conversations, in magazine articles, in newspapers and medical journals, doctors and public health officials have repeatedly recommended one thing for painful discomforts and fever of colds and flu. That one thing is aspirin. Specifically, aspirin.

In fact, when we asked thousands of doctors if they themselves took aspirin, better than nine out of ten said, "Yes."

So when any member of your family suffers the painful discomforts and fever of a cold or flu, help him to feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin, preferred by more millions of people than any other brand of pain reliever.

Now children, as well as adults, can feel better fast with Bayer Aspirin. You can give Flavored Bayer Aspirin for Children with your doctor's blessing; it's the 1¼-grain dosage doctors recommend.

MY FAVORITE JOKES

by WOODY WOODBURY

EDITOR'S NOTE: Woody Woodbury — real name: Robert Dennis Woodbury—is at 37 rapidly becoming legend on the Florida Gold Coast where entertaining tourists is a leading industry. A pianist turned comic, Woodbury is a former Marine aviator who fought in World War II and the Korean War. He made his comedy debut in 1946 at the Bath & Tennis Club in Daytona, later moved on to the Clover Club in Miami where he stayed seven years. Woody has been appearing in night spots throughout the country. After a recent date at the Crescendo in Hollywood, he was screen-tested by United Artists, may soon become a film comic. Tall, blond, and terribly normal for a comedian, Woody lives with his wife in Plantation, Fla. At the moment they have one and three-quarters children. Here are some of Woody's favorite jokes:

Did you hear about the two beatniks who were walking down the street? One fell into an open man-hole. He hollered to his pal, "Hey, man, how about a hand?"

And the second beatnik clapped like crazy.

These sailors were getting out of the Navy and the J.G. who was stamping the discharge papers said to the boy who was next in line: "Well, Seaman Smith, you never have liked me. I suppose you can hardly wait until I die so you can come back and spit on my grave."

The kid said, "Lieutenant, I'll never stand in line again!"

Two friends were conversing in a bar. One said to the other:

"Charlie, where have you been? I haven't seen you in six months."

"I just got married."

"That's good."

"Not that good, she's very homely."

"That's bad."

"Not that bad, she's very wealthy."

"Oh, that's good."

"Not that good, she's very stingy."

"Oh, that's bad."

"Not that bad, she built me a new house."

"Oh, that's good."

"Not that good, the house burned down."

"Oh, that's bad."

"Not that bad, she was in it!"

This wife rushed into the dining room and said, "John, John—the baby just swallowed the matches!" And the husband said, "Here, use my lighter."

There's the story about the drunk who was driving the wrong way down this one-way street. The cop stopped him and said, "Where do you think you're going?"

The drunk says, "I don't know but I must be late because everybody else is coming back already."

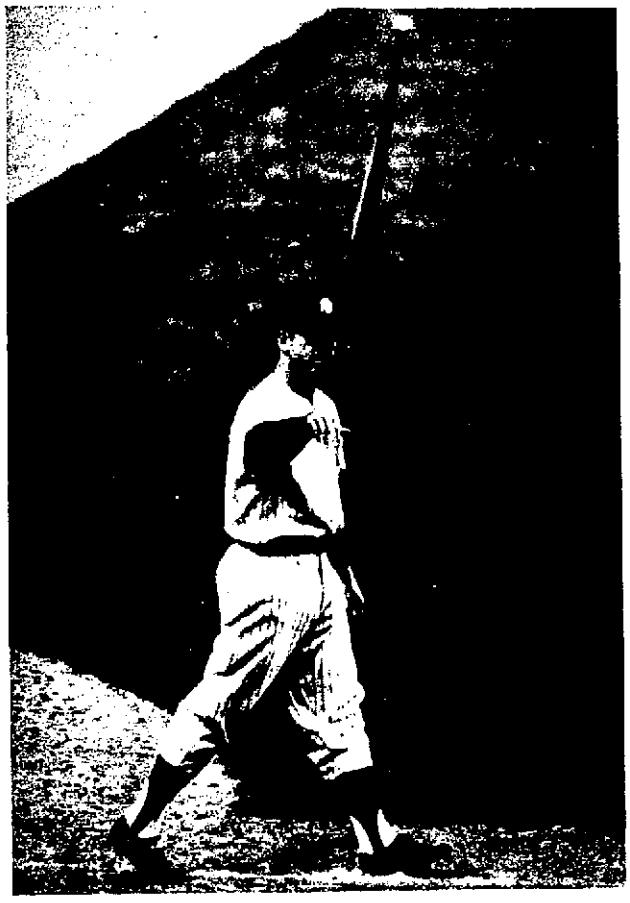

Reminds me of the story about the two drunks who stumbled into this bar and sat down. The bartender walked over and said, "Well, fellows, what'll you have?"

One of the drunks says, "Bring me something long and tall and cold and full of whiskey."

The second drunk says, "Take my wife."

And that reminds me of the wife who turned to her husband and said: "I'm so sick and tired and fed up with you and that golf. The kids never see you, I never see you. You're on that golf course all the time. I think if you stayed home one Sunday I'd drop dead!"

And the husband replied, "Don't you try to bribe me!" Then he decided to try to make a few points with his wife, and he said, "I'll take you golfing." He had about seven martinis and stumbled out to the first tee. He weaved back and forth and swayed over the ball, then finally hit it—a big slice, across the canal and onto the next fairway. It hit another woman right on top of the head and knocked her cold. Her husband was a great big brute of a guy and in one tremendous leap he cleared the canal, ran up to this drunk, shook him like a rag doll and said: "You idiot, you stupid fool. Do you realize you almost killed my wife over there?" The drunk answered, "Don't get so excited. Here's a golf ball, have a shot at mine!"

Mickey Mantle throws caution—and his bat—to the winds after striking out.

IF FRUSTRATIONS have you in a tizzy, take a tip from the heroes of sport shown here. They've learned how, in one action, to release both tension and the tools of their trade—with emphasis. We don't recommend heaving typewriters out the window or quitting the job and setting sail for green Tahiti. But for a vicarious release that won't break any windows, glance at these pictures. Your own problems may seem a little smaller.

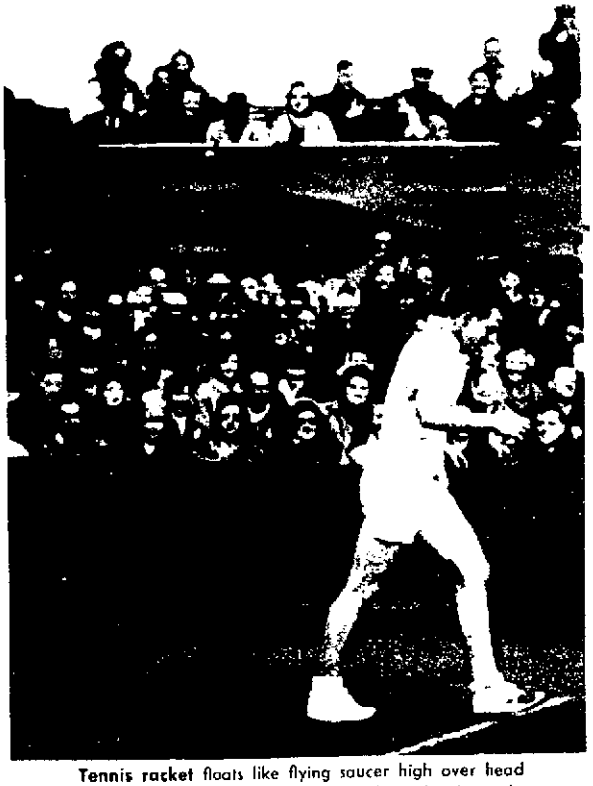

IT'S TOUGH TO LOSE

Melina Mercouri

One of the world's most fascinating women

MELINA MERCOURI, born in Athens some 40 years ago, is tall (5 ft. 7 in.), thin (110 pounds), fiery, emotional, and at the moment blonde. Daughter of a prominent Greek family, she learned English, French, and German as a child, married at 17, attended drama school when the marriage broke up. "Exciting" is the adjective most critics use to describe her. In Greece she is regarded as a truly great and versatile actress, capable of ranging from tragedy (Mourning Becomes Electra) to comedy (Never on Sunday).

by LLOYD SHEARER

HYDRA, GREECE.

MOST MOTION PICTURE actresses under the age of 40 are not worth interviewing.

Generally they are too career-obsessed, self-obsessed or men-obsessed. Frequently they are also fatuous, uneducated, semi-illiterate, incapable of discussing any vital subject with depth, erudition, or reflection.

The best interviews are given by actresses 40 or older, mature women who have paid the high tuition necessary to obtain graduate degrees from the college of experience—stars such as Bette Davis, Katharine Hepburn, and Joan Crawford.

These are women who have seen through the illusion of life, who can verbalize their experience and philosophy with honesty, intelligence, and no fear.

Melina Mercouri, possibly the greatest actress in Greece today, belongs to this group.

Best known throughout the world as the unforgettable tart with the kind heart in Never on Sunday, the vivacious, willowy Mercouri is currently slaving on this historic rock of a Greek Island in Phaedra, another film directed by her enormously talented American friend, Jules Dassin.

Phaedra is a modern adaptation of Euripides' great play, Hippolytus, the story of a tragic love affair between the beautiful wife (Mercouri) of an older man (Raf Vallone) and her young, sensitive stepson (Anthony Perkins).

The picture is budgeted at $750,000 which is five times what it cost the team of Dassin and Mercouri to turn out Never on Sunday, a sleeper which should gross $10,000,000 by the time it has played out its world-wide release.

Melina Mercouri is a woman who lives for love and work or work and love—"I'm not sure of the order," she says.

To Melina in her early 40s, money means relatively little—probably because she has always had enough. She belongs by birth to one of the oldest and most prominent families in Greece. Her father, Stamatis Mercouris, has been Minister of the Interior several times and is presently a member of the Greek parliament. Her grandfather, who named her Melina—from the diminutive "meli" meaning "honey"—was Mayor of Athens for 30 years. And her husband, Panayiotis Harokopos, from whom she has long been estranged, is the Oxford-educated scion of one of Greece's wealthiest dynasties.

"I do not care," Mercouri told me, green eyes flashing, long-tapered fingers gesticulating, "that Never on Sunday makes a fortune. What I care most is that the picture is being seen everywhere, that people can now have a chance to judge my work and Julie's work, our work together.

A Long Career

"You know how long I've been acting?—fifteen, sixteen, seventeen years. On the stage here in Greece I have done Eugene O'Neill and all the plays of Tennessee Williams. And I have been in the French theatre. And in films I have done Stella and three, four others with Julie directing. But people heard nothing of me until Never on Sunday. No actress likes to work in darkness. Now at least I am known in your country. It is not so difficult for Julie to obtain financing. Perhaps before the year is out we get married.

DIRECTOR JULES DASSIN and actress Melina Mercouri relax during shooting of Phaedra, their fifth film together. To date, their most famous is Never on Sunday. Dassin and Mercouri hope to be married "before the year is out." Dassin is 50, directed many gangster-type films in Hollywood until April 1951, when he was placed on the Hollywood blacklist because a fellow director branded him a Communist before a congressional committee. With his wife and three children he went to Europe. After using up all his savings, they lived a frugal existence in Paris for almost five years. Although his talent was acknowledged, European producers were afraid to hire him because they were afraid American exhibitors would blacklist his films. Finally he was given a chance with Riffi, a thriller which was an immediate success. After that producers rushed to hire him. Recently he signed a four-picture deal with United Artists.

"I come from a hungry people. I have a hunger for everything—for life, for love, for work.

"You ask if Julie and I would like to settle in Hollywood. I don't know. Hollywood ignores you unless you make money. In Europe they at least applaud your efforts. I have no home in Greece. We travel between Paris and Athens. There is a rented house in Paris. But my roots are Greek. And if an actress goes to Hollywood, she loses all her roots.

"I ask you—how long would Brigitte Bardot remain French in Hollywood? Look at what happened to Sophia Loren in Hollywood. Look at what happened to Ingrid Bergman. She was once Swedish to her toes. Now she belongs nowhere.

What People Should Say

"I do not want to get lost. I want to find myself, to do better work, to have people say, 'Melina Mercouri, that blankety-blank Greek, how she can act!' "

Melina Mercouri is one of those fiery, emotionally tempestuous women, one of those intensely feminine passionate creatures who give tongue to thought almost instantaneously.

For example, on the set of Phaedra I asked her and Tony Perkins if they would list the ten best film directors in the world.

Quickly Perkins jotted down his ten names, then as an afterthought asked, "Do you intend to print this list?"

"Yes," I said.

Immediately he grabbed my notes, inked out the ten names he had written.

"Think I'm crazy?" he asked. "Suppose I want to do a picture with a director I didn't mention. He'd never forgive me."

Mercouri, on the other hand, declared quickly: "I give you ten names." And she rattled them off, omitting from her list the name of Willie Wyler, director of Ben Hur, Mrs. Miniver, The Best Years of Our Lives. For each of these films Wyler won an Academy Award.

Perkins was amazed. "You crazy?" he demanded. "How could you leave out Willie Wyler's name? Suppose he wants you for a picture sometime?"

Mercouri, a compulsive chain smoker, lit a cigarette. "If Wyler wants me for a picture," she shouted, "if he is any kind of a man, this list will not stand in my way. He will respect me for my opinion. Willie Wyler does not have the courage of a squirrel. In this life, Tony, sooner or later everyone must stand up and be counted. Billy Wilder is on my list. Julie Dassin is on my list. David Lean is on my list. But Willie Wyler is not. And that is my truth."

'I Am So Ugly'

Then, turning to me, she fiercely grabbed my left arm, her fingernails biting into the flesh. "Come," she commanded. "We go outside and you take my picture. I am very difficult to photograph. I am so ugly."

Outside on a promontory overlooking the Sea of Candia, I caught Melina Mercouri in my view-finder. "You're lovely," I said.

"Not in your camera," she answered softly. "I am lovely to you because you are looking at me the way Julie looks at me— with your heart." ■

'Breakfast Vitamins' Help You Start The Day With VITAMIN POWER

Breakfast time is the best time to fortify yourself with this full-power vitamin supplement—to help you feel your best and do your best. (Of course, Geritol BREAKFAST VITAMINS may be taken at any other mealtime).

How To Stay On A Diet Yet Not Be "Vitamin-Hungry"

Reducing diets mean lighter meals, less food intake, fewer calories. Your own reducing diet may completely satisfy your food-hunger—but in many cases, cutting down on food can also mean cutting away essential vitamins your body requires. As a result, you may be "vitamin-hungry" without suspecting it. Especially when you're dieting, it's important to fortify yourself with the vitamins you need every day. Geritol BREAKFAST VITAMINS supply a full vitamin formula that gives you all the vitamins you need take daily. Yet each Geritol BREAKFAST VITAMINS tablet has only one calorie. Here's the sensible breakfast vitamin tablet to help you stay on your diet and feel your best.

Long Beach Dancers Hit With Welk

The Long Beach couple edged closer to the dance stand, hoping that Lawrence Welk would recognize them.

There was a good reason why he possibly would. The pair, Barbara Boylan and Bob Burgess, both 20, had appeared before on his television program.

They had, in fact, won the televised dance contest Welk had conducted.

There were reasons why they would understand if Welk didn't recognize them.

They had won the contest in April. This was July 27, three months later.

This was Welk's opening night at the Hollywood Palladium, a night of pressures and a night that had nothing to do with his television program.

They would understand if he didn't recognize them, but he did.

He did more.

"Would you like to put on a dance exhibition?" he asked them.

They would.

"What shall it be — 'Calcutta?' " Welk asked, naming one of his records that sold more than a million copies and to which the Long Beach State College pair had danced before.

"If it's OK, we'd rather dance to 'Yellow Bird'," replied Bob, naming a new Welk record that was on its way up the popularity list.

"Wonderful," said the pleased Welk.

JUST, COINCIDENTALLY the pair had made up a new dance for "Yellow Bird." The exhibition was a smash hit.

"Wonderful," said Welk to the audience. "How would you like to see this young couple on our television program next week?"

Applause—loud and long.

After their television appearance, the couple went back to the Palladium and again were invited to give a dance exhibition.

After the dance exhibition, Welk said:

"Wonderful. This wonderful young couple now appears with us every week on our Saturday night television program."

That was how Barbara and Bob learned they had been

Eddie Foy Jr. in Thanksgiving Special

NEW YORK (UPI)—"I was 18 years old before I knew that a turkey had anything but a neck," said Eddie Foy Jr.

"That's an old joke. Older even than Currier and Ives. It's the kind of joke my old man used to tell, or a team like Harrigan and Hart. You know we're going to use Currier and Ives' prints as backgrounds for the sketches and musical numbers in our Thanksgiving show.

"In those days, a team would sing a chorus of a song, and then one guy would say: 'We've got a goat at our house; he hasn't got any nose.'

"The other guy would say: 'How does he smell?'

" 'Terrible.' "

An imp of a smile crossed Foy's face.

"COFFEE killed my father," he said. "Five hundred pounds of it fell on his head."

Okay, that'll be enough of that.

The show, produced by Saudek Associates on ABC-TV (Channel 7, Tuesday, 10 p.m. PST), well be mainly aired live (a medium in which Foy has had some considerable experience since the age of 4). It will be a revue titled "Old Fashioned Thanksgiving" and stuffed with nostalgia of the 19th century, which is about the best nostalgia you can get.

EDDIE FOY JR.

Foy can't remember having more than three or four Thanksgivings in the 18-room frame house in New Rochelle, N. Y., where the tribe of Foys lived. When "Eddie Foy and the Seven Little Foys" started in 1911, Eddie Jr. was 4; the youngest Foy in the act was 2 and the biggest little Foy was 13.

* * * *

"WE NEVER had Thanksgiving at home when we were kids. We had a lot of Thanksgivings and Christmases on the train. We worked about 40 weeks out of the year. We'd get arrested every Monday for child-labor-law violation. I don't think we ever came to trial, though. They used to call vaudeville 'the Sweat Shop.'

"When the act first started, I sang a song called 'Oh, Mr. Moon' that was supposed to be a hit at that time; I don't even remember it now.

"The next to oldest, Charley, would imitate my father. The youngest, Irving, was brought out in a parcel post bag. My father used to name his kids after his friends. My middle name is Felix, after Felix Issman, a real estate man who owned the property the Palace Theater was built on.

"My father had so many kids—he had 11—that people would ask him, 'Name the next one after me.'

* * * *

"ALL OF US were born in New Rochelle, the place about which Cohan wrote 'Forty-Five Minutes from Broadway.' We were the first show family there. Then the Barrymores came, Ethel and John. Then Cohan came.

"We have just donated our property, one acre at Seyman Ave. and Pelham Rd., to the city for a park. They put a fence around it and put the old man's name on it. The house is gone. I think they're going to put in benches and sand boxes. Peter Lind Hayes lives around the corner. His mother was married to my brother Charles. He calls me 'Uncle Eddie.'

"We were a half-Irish, half-Italian family. My mother was Italian. I married a Jewish girl. My kid is pure Irish-Italian-Jewish, so he's all mixed up, this poor bum. What does he do? He's an assistant casting director. He gave up acting—too tough."

"Well, how about yourself?" he was asked. "When you were young did you dream of growing up and being an actor?"

"No," said Eddie Jr. "I wanted to be a business man, or lawyer, or doctor, something like that. And I certainly never thought of movies or a thing like TV. Matter of fact, my oldest brother, Bryanie—he was named after William Jennings Bryan—advised me on TV when it first came in. "It'll never go," he said, "Never go over."

'SUR DEMANDE'

French 'You Asked For It' Canadian Hit

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Each week the Hollywood trade papers print a production schedule of the TV industry. Nestled among the westerns and whodunits is a ringer with the title, "Sur Demande."

What is "Sur Demande"? Why, it's the French version of "You Asked For It," the venerable series in which Art Baker and later Jack Smith fulfilled the heart's desire of viewers.

But what is a French TV show doing in Hollywood? I reached producer John Ettlinger to find out.

"Sur Demande" (literally, "On Demand") turned out to be French-Canadian. It is produced by Ettlinger's Medallion TV primarily for Canada's French-speaking population.

"We're also selling it in Switzerland," said the producer. "France is a problem. It seems there is a resistance to a Canadian accent on French TV. We hope to overcome it."

The Canadian accent is provided by Jean Coutu, a handsome actor from above the border who is also under contract to Walt Disney. He substitutes in narration scenes for Jack Smith in the American version, which is still seen in syndication in 75 cities.

HOW "SUR DEMANDE" came into being is a lesson in resourcefulness. Medallion had been making a quiz show called "View the Clue" for the French-Canadian market. The sponsor pulled out when the payola scandals struck.

Ettlinger had 60 days to come up with a successor or lose the account. One day he was having a drink with a friend who worked on "You Asked For It." They teamed on the idea: Why not convert it for French-Canadians?

Time was precious. Coutu, who had starred in a Canadian TV series, "The Plouffe Family," was flown down from Montreal. Bi-lingual writers were hastily hired.

"We had them stashed in a hotel on Sunset Boulevard," recalled Ettlinger. "A taxi was standing by to rush the script pages to the studio as soon as they were written."

The deadline was reached, and "Sur Demande" went on the air Jan. 20, 1960—35 days after it was first dreamed up. Ettlinger reports that it is in the 10 top-rated shows in Canada despite heavy opposition in its time slot.

Could this mean more production in Hollywood for foreign markets?

"I don't think so," said the producer. "We make some commercials in French for the Canadian market, largely because there are inadequate studio facilities in Canada. Most of the other major countries have studios where they can make their own films."

Schedule 'Three Kings' Opera

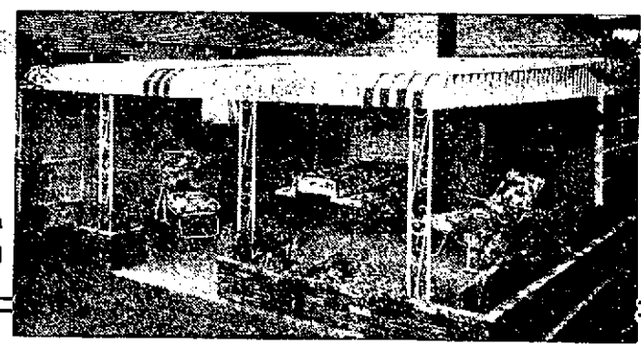

A two-hour opera, "The Love of Three Kings," will be presented by NBC-TV on Feb. 25.

Phillis Curtin, soprano, and Giorgio Tozzi, basso, head the cast. Alfred Wallenstein will conduct the performance.

The melodramatic opera by Itale Montemezzi will be presented in the English version by Joseph Machlis.

The story is set in medieval Italy. It concerns Fiera, portrayed by Miss Curtin, who is forced to marry a conquering king.

SPECIAL

HONG KONG TODAY—Christianity and Communism in the Crown Colony are shown in a half-hour color special at 2 p.m. on channel 4. Dr. Clifton E. Moore shows his slides and talks with retired missionary Dr. E. E. Walline.

AT THE SOURCE—Show preempted Thursday for Sam Rayburn tribute gets rescheduled at 2 p.m. on channel 2. The Rt. Hon. Hugh Gaitskell, British Labor party leader, is interviewed in London.

THE NATION'S FUTURE—Whether the U.S. would survive a nuclear attack is the live debate at 5 p.m. on channel 4, with Edwin Newman moderating. Author Herman Kahn believes victory possible, with CalTech geochemist Dr. Harrison S. Brown contending civilization would end.

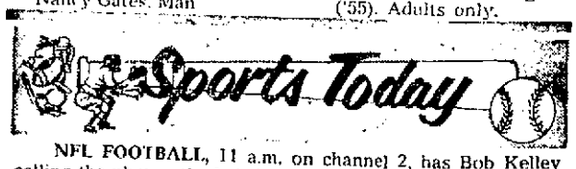

MEET THE PRESS—Sen. Barry M. Goldwater (R-Ariz.), one of leading candidates for GOP nomination in 1964, faces the panel in Washington at 6 p.m., in color, on channel 4.

DENNIS THE MENACE—Mr. Wilson is trapped into becoming president of Dennis' Pee Wee baseball league, at 7:30 p.m. on channel 2. Both the Bears and the Tigers of this episode will be Jay North's fellow players of the Bobcats of the Studio City Little League.

THEATRE 62—Jean Pierre Aumont, Ingrid Thulin, Teresa Wright and George Voskovec star in an hour-long color dramatization of "Intermezzo," the 1939 Leslie Howard-Ingrid Bergman movie, at 10 p.m. on channel 4. Married violinist falls in love with young piano student.

JANE BURGESS ponders sweet talk from Tennessee Ernie Ford during "The Jack Benny Program" at 9:30 p. m. Sunday, channel 2.

NFL FOOTBALL, 11 a.m. on channel 2, has Bob Kelley calling the play as the L.A. Rams meet the Green Bay Packers.

NFL FOOTBALL, 11 a.m. on channel 10 (San Diego), offers the Pittsburgh Steelers at New York Giants.

AFL FOOTBALL, 12:30 p.m. on channel 7, with the Buffalo Bills and Denver Broncos from Denver.

USC FOOTBALL tapes, 1:30 p.m. on channel 11, Bill Welsh describes Saturday's Trojan-Pitt game from Pittsburgh.

Pan and Fan Mail

We want to thank channel 11 and the sponsors of the program for the excellent "An Age of Kings," which we are enjoying tremendously.

In another vein, we ask that television programmers cease allowing so much violence to be presented in its inane plays, so many of which are viewed by children in formative years.

Violence, if absolutely necessary to a play, can be presented in such a way that it is shown to be morally wrong.

Surely, for instance, plays bringing to life U.S. and world history could be presented for children, as well as programs of music and art. Also, programs which would show actual living conditions of children in different countries should be interesting for entire families.

Television has such a wide scope that to continue to limit it to cheapness is a poor choice on the part of the people who control it.

Mrs. C. G. Carsten, Seal Beach

Your observations conceding the "sometimes" necessity of violence, Mrs. Carsten, are particularly refreshing. As an admirer of Shakespeare—I assume you are because of your comments on "Age of Kings"—you undoubtedly have encountered violence. In "Macbeth," for example, the elimination of violence would be tantamount to the elimination of the play. But Shakespeare, even in that classic, manages to meet your standards. He shows—vitally demonstrates—that violence is morally wrong. While many television programmers could also claim to meet this standard in their productions, there is a difference. The difference is in degree.

In "Macbeth," the stress is on the moral wrong of violence. In too many TV dramas, the moral wrong is last-second introduced as a kind of postscript.

* * * *

Congratulations on your brief, pertinent interview with George Nader. Don't you agree with him?

There is a tremendous need to influence television programs to "emphasize and dramatize the innate good in people," to give importance to "human dignity" and to "deal with life honestly."

Miss Hazel Snavely, Long Beach

I agree with him, Miss Snavely, to the extent that you quoted him. I don't however, believe that he presented any conclusive evidence supporting his theory that television "hypnotizes" its viewers.

* * * *

We just watched "The Danny Kaye Show." This is the type of program that makes TV worthwhile.

Mrs. R. L. Smith, Long Beach

I'm with you, Mrs. Smith. The Danny Kaye special was an excellent example of what a man with a great talent can do when he's given a free hand and six months' preparation time.

* * * *

We and our friends and associates consider Don Ameche's "International Showtime" to be the finest family-type program currently on the channels.

There is no violence evidenced; rather it is a thoroughly wholesome show for each and every member of the family from 2 through 102 years of age.

Yet, one after the other individual we know remarks on this fine program with an almost discoverer attitude since they and their families have had to come upon "International Showtime" quite by accident since no mention of it appears in the "Week's Top Shows" or "Special" box

Why, oh why, do you, as this area's TV editor, permit such a fine, wholesome family show as "International Showtime" to go unlisted, and therefore, unnoticed unless someone chances upon it or hears about via word of mouth?

Mrs. Alyce Adams, Long Beach

Our Sept. 10 issue, Mrs. Adams, heralded the upcoming Friday season premiere of "International Showtime" both in "Week's Top Shows" and in the "Special" box for the day. I agree with you that the show, which airs 7:30 p.m. Fridays on channel 4, is a fine one. We always carry it listed in our TV logs. But the fact is that its format, which basically is the presentation of circuses, remains the same. There is, from week to week, nothing extraordinarily different about the series which would qualify it for 'Special" or "Week's Top Shows." I happen to think that "Leave It to Beaver" also is an excellent family series. Its format, too, remains the same and, consequently, the program rarely finds its way into our "Week's Top Shows." Fortunately for both these series, their "same formats" are quality formats. Both, once seen, generally become viewing habits.

Bob Walker Jr. Makes TV Debut

Robert Walker Jr., 21, son of Jennifer Jones and the late Robert Walker, will make his television debut Dec. 6.

He has a key supporting role in Oscar Wilde's "The Picture of Dorian Gray," a CBS-TV "Golden Showcase" special.

Stars of the production include George C. Scott, Susan Oliver, John Fraser and Louis Hayward.

Sir Cedric Hardwick will serve as host for the David Susskind production.

CAROLYN JONES AND DICK POWELL
Have a Ball Taping Tuesday Program

BERT'S EYE VIEW

Welk Signs L.B. Pair

chosen as the regularly featured dancers on Welk's coast-to-coast television program.

Barbara, born in Alexander, Minn., lives with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William B. Boylan, at 3678 Ocana Ave. She has an older brother, Bill, and sister, Stephanie.

With her family, Barbara moved to Long Beach when she was 6 years old, attended Burcham Elementary School, Marshall Junior High, Millikan High, Long Beach City College and currently is a sophomore majoring in liberal arts at State College. She belongs to Tri Delta Sorority.

Bob, born in Long Beach, lives with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Burgess, at 3255 Cerritos Ave. He has an older brother, Bill, and two younger sisters, Betty, 16, and Barbara, 14.

Bob attended Longfellow and Burroughs Elementary Schools, Hughes Junior High, Polytechnic High and currently is a sophomore majoring in drama at State College. He belongs to Sigma Pi Fraternity.

He was a regular "Mouseketeer" on the Walt Disney television program, worked for 13 weeks on a Southland TV show, "Spotlight," had several small dramatic roles on "Climax," and appeared in a featured role on "The Donna Reed Show."

In common, the couple have been dancing together since they each were 13 years old, took lessons at and taught at a local dancing studio, date each other and others.

In common, each is very happy they're on the Welk show.

"IT'S MORE LIKE FUN than work," said Barbara.

"It's perfect," said Bob. "I'd turn down any offer to do a regular series television drama.

"I love to dance. That's really what's born in me.

"And the Welk show is perfect for me.

"I can go to school in Long Beach, work on the show, have my fraternity and all my friends.

"I don't want to move up to Hollywood and be a Hollywood character. I want to stay home and lead a normal life."

They're happy with Welk and he's happy with them.

His show has proven a great "showcase" for them and Welk's manager currently is in the process of lining up summer engagements for them. He's already booked them at the World's Fair in Seattle, Wash., for a two-day appearance.

There are a few drawbacks.

Because of time demands, Barbara has had to give up instructing youngsters at the local dance studio.

"I miss them," she said.

Both, returning from a tour of the Midwest with the Welk group, found a heavy backlog of homework awaiting them.

Welk, who wants them to "dance just like regular kids having fun," frowns on their inclusion of fancy steps and such things as "lifts" when they're performing on camera.

But the drawbacks are trivial in comparison with the fun and gratification from performing on the national video show.

So far, their performances have principally been in the swing and Latin dance departments.

Welk feels it is here that the Long Beach couple can draw more younger individuals. Letters and ratings prove he's right.

And Bob doesn't say he's wrong.

"But," he added, "just once we'd like to do a waltz. You're never too young or old for a waltz."

Now a Decongestant Suppository for PILES

Stops Rectal Pain and Itch As No Ointment Can

At last science has found an amazing decongestant suppository that unblocks internal & external clogged pile veins as it speeds healing of swollen & inflamed tissue. This wonder-working preparation, called HEMEX, relieves agonizing pain and itch even in the most stubborn cases. And, unlike ointments that ooze out, HEMEX Suppositories disintegrate slowly so that their proven medications work hours longer to put painful nerve endings to sleep while gently reducing and contracting swollen hemorrhoids. Don't suffer another minute. Start today to walk, sit and eliminate in comfort. Get HEMEX at all drug stores.

Durable Crooner Produces TV Series

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—Only one man in Hollywood can look back on 30 years as a singer, actor, producer, director, TV star and corporation president—and still look forward to a brand new TV series.

If you guessed Frank Sinatra, you're wrong.

He's Dick Powell.

His middle name is durable. Other crooners of the 1930s, with the exception of Bing Crosby, have disappeared. But Powell switched to dramatic acting, directing, producing and finally television.

As head man of Four Star Productions, Powell has cranked out 39 televisinn series, including two in which he was host and sometimes star, "Zane Grey Theater" and "Four Star Playhouse."

Both were half-hour shows and qualified as hits. "Zane Grey" ran five years and "Playhouse" was good for four.

This years' "The Dick Powell Show" is an hour-long anthology series, something new for the veteran show biz operator.

Powell is conforming. Television has given the back of its hand to half-hour programs. Networks are demanding the 60-minute format or nothing.

Quality seems to be no object. As long as they get a full hour show, the big brass is happy.

WHY?

"So the neworks can control programming," Powell said, as if that explained the whole thing. Asked for clarification, he went on.

"Sponsors could afford to buy an entire half-hour show in the past. This gave the money men an opportunity to run shows as they saw fit. But few sponsors are able to afford an entire hour. So the networks sell sections of the show to various sponsors and still remain in charge of production."

What does Powell mean by control?

"If the network is in the driver's seat, it can move a show around to any time slot it desires and the sponsors can't complain," he explained. "ABC came up with the hour series to build up the network, and NBC and CBS followed suit.

"I'm not sure about how popular the longer format is with viewers, but they're a heck of a lot more work than half-hour shows.

"They are not just twice as much work. It's more like four times the effort. In addition, script casualties are higher, and many hour shows cannot be filmed in the prescribed six days.

"We're spending a fortune on the new show. The sets are bigger, more extras are involved and the problems larger.

"It is more like making a 'B' movie than a TV show, but we still aim for quality. In a half-hour western you need eight cows. For an hour you need 40 of 'em. Everybody thinks bigger for an hour.

"Frankly, I don't like to work that much. But I'm doing it for the company and using many of the shows for pilot ideas for the future."

Actors Guild Protests Foreign TV

He spoke at the 29th annual membership meeting of the union at the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

A MAN'S GUIDE TO WOMEN'S HOSIERY

Do you know . . . there isn't a woman alive who doesn't welcome a Christmas gift of hosiery? If there is, we haven't met her. With a few pointers, you can easily speed down your whole list of feminine names.

Colors are deep and beautiful, and should match or accent wardrobes. For greater economy and longer service, hosiery should be purchased in multiples of the same shade, rather than in assortments. Write, phone or stop in and tell us her shoe size and leg length if possible (short, medium, long) and whether she prefers sheers or the more practical weights. Then leave the rest to us.

Bullums' exclusive BUFFLONS fine quality hosiery, completely proportioned, with seams or without, in fashion shades. Midge (8½-10), Ideal (8½-11), Regal (9½-11). Seamless: demitoe sandal heel. 6A. Pr. 1.35. Reinforced heel and toe. 6B. 1.25, with seams: dress or walking sheer. 6C. 1.35.

"YOU should complain!--I have to eat my cooking at lunch, too."

"Now we're in for it -- the chief says we're jamming his wave length."

1965 "BACKWARD, TURN BACKWARD, O TIME, IN YOUR FLIGHT." ELIZABETH AKERS ALLEN. ... WELL, JUST A BRIEF TURN! IT CAN'T BE PERMANENT, BUT THEN, WHAT IS?

GO! I JUST TALKED TO JOHNNY QUICK! HE TOLD ME ABOUT YOU, HOW YOU GOT THE ONLY DOCTORS IN THE WORLD WHO COULD BRING BACK THE EYESIGHT OF HIS WIFE MARLENE!

JOHNNY TALKS TOO MUCH!

JOHNNY QUICK HAS BECOME A POWER IN FIVE STATES! WHEN HE SNAPS HIS FINGERS EVEN OUR GOVERNOR, "SILK STOCKING SAM," THE "UNTOUCHABLE," SITS UP AND PLAYS HE'S A MAN!

JOHNNY SURE WAS ON HIS WAY UP WHEN I LEFT!

HE DIDN'T TELL YOU?

HE SAID THAT WAS YOUR SECRET!

GOOD! THEN LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY, SHALL WE?

I TOLD HIM ABOUT DANDY AND TEE AND ALL THE FRIENDS YOU HAVE HERE, BUT HE ASKED A FAVOR OF YOU!

A FAVOR? FOR JOHNNY AN' MARLENE AN' HER DAD, DAN DRIVE, I'D DO ANYTHING!

THEY WANT YOU TO COME TO VISIT THEM FOR THANKSGIVING! DANDY AND TEE WILL UNDERSTAND!

WOW! I'D SURE LIKE THAT! I'VE NEVER SEEN MARLENE'S BABY!

Y'SURE Y'WANT ME TO GO? I HATE T'LEAVE YOU FOLKS, S'PECIALLY AT THANKSGIVIN'!

OF COURSE! YOU'LL BE BACK BY NEXT SUNDAY!

WE'LL HAVE OUR THANKSGIVING HERE THEN!

GEE! IT SURE WILL BE WUNNERFUL TC SEE 'EM ALL AGAIN! THEY WERE MIGHTY GOOD TO SANDY AND ME!

I'VE HEARD FINE THINGS OF JOHNNY QUICK AND HIS WIFE!

Y'KNOW, I'VE NEVER GONE BACK, BEFORE, TO ANY PLACE I'VE EVER BEEN! THERE HAVE ALWAYS BEEN REASONS! BUT THIS TIME.....

Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.: © 1961 by News Syndicate Co. Inc.

THIS TIME, ANNIE, YOU WON'T BE USING AN' OLD ROWBOAT OR WALKING! YOU'LL BE FLYING! BE THERE IN A LITTLE OVER AN HOUR!

WOW! THAT'S MOVIN'! TOOK ME TWO WEEKS T'GET HERE!

YOU'T' GOIN' TOO, SANDY! I'LL BET YOUR OLD PAL ROGUE'S EYES'LL POP WHEN HE SEES YOU AGAIN, EH? GEE! WHAT A THANKSGIVING REUNION THIS'LL BE!

HAROLD GRAY

MARK TRAIL by ED DODD 11-19

ACTUALLY THE MEXICAN TURKEY WAS FIRST RAISED IN CAPTIVITY BEFORE THE EARLY SPANIARDS ARRIVED ON THIS CONTINENT

THE CONQUERERS TRANSFERRED SOME OF THESE BIRDS TO SPAIN, AND SOON THEY BECAME POPULAR IN FRANCE AND ENGLAND

IMMIGRANTS BROUGHT THEM BACK TO AMERICA ONCE MORE, AND THESE DOMESTICS WERE CROSSED WITH NATIVE WILD FORMS

SO TODAY WE CAN SELECT OUR TABLE BIRD FROM SEVERAL VARIETIES, SUCH AS...

WHILE A FEW FORTUNATE HUNTERS MAY FEAST ON ONE OF THE ELUSIVE WILD VARIETIES STILL FOUND IN REMOTE SECTIONS OF THE EAST AND SOUTHWEST

ONCE AGAIN, ON THANKSGIVING DAY LET US BE THANKFUL FOR OUR RICH HERITAGE OF NATURAL RESOURCES AND WORK TO PRESERVE AND PERPETUATE THEM
